Foreword

Faculty Publications 1957-61 is the first major compilation of the publications of the faculty of Western Michigan University. Compilations like this one are not unique. Nearly all the major universities, as well as many of the smaller institutions of higher education, have prepared them for a number of years. It seemed reasonable, when the enterprise was first planned, for Western Michigan University to publish the compilation as one of the Faculty Contributions of the School of Graduate Studies.

It is not the aim of this Contribution to provide data for comparing the numerical output of the different faculty members. There is no feasible way to weigh the quality of effort involved in, or scholarly merit of, one bibliographical entry against that of another. Rather, it is designed to inform all faculty members about the types of publications produced by the staff of Western Michigan University. An examination of the material that follows indicates that they are substantial in number and variety.

Every effort was made to poll every faculty member for his publications and to make complete and correct bibliographical citations. As with every bibliography, there are no doubt omissions and errors. The writer assumes full responsibility for them. Nevertheless, even with such transgressions, it is hoped that this Faculty Contribution will be enlightening and useful.

In general, the faculty publications are presented alphabetically by department. Where feasible, the entries for each faculty member are entered chronologically. Deviations exist where other modes of order seemed more appropriate.

A summary of the publications indicated the following:
