Each alumni contributor to the Dwight B. Waldo Memorial Stadium is receiving a medallion. This bronze medal is to be used as a token of admission to the Dedicatory and Homecoming game November 4, 1939, at which time Western State Teachers College of Kentucky is to play Western State Teachers College of Michigan. Coach Gary is ready to make good use of the new Stadium and prompt attention is being given to alumni mail containing donations to the $10,000 being subscribed by them.

Fellow Alumni:

The Dwight B. Waldo Stadium is to be dedicated Saturday, November 4. This is going to be a great event on campus and it is also one of considerable importance to the citizenry of the City of Kalamazoo and surrounding community. Those who have had a part in the financing and construction of the enterprise are to be present for recognition on the occasion of the Dedication program.

Mr. Murray D. Van Wagoner will represent the State Highway Department. He will undoubtedly tell about the construction of the new U. S. 12 highway and explain how that necessitated the reconstruction of the entire outdoor facilities of the Physical Education Department. Mr. Charles Weber who is the WPA representative of this district will call attention to a cooperative plan made possible by the Works Progress Administration. Mr. Dunlap C. Clark, chairman of a committee of the Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce, will speak for the planning which raised $25,000 in the City of Kalamazoo. There will be an opportunity for the chairman of the Alumni Stadium Fund Committee to go to the microphone. Will he care, or dare, to do so unless we carry our share of the load? The alumni quota is $10,000.

We, the Alumni Committee of Kalamazoo, want to urge the seriousness of our relationship to this general planning. It cannot be taken care of by itself and no amount short of the quota of $10,000 will suffice. To August 1st., 1421 graduates had contributed $3,578.25. Two graduates have given $200 each. There are some $50’s, some $25’s, some $10’s and some $5’s. A hasty scanning shows that $1.00 subscriptions have been the prevailing ones. In an endeavor of this kind, we all know that if we leave it to the other fellow it won’t be done. If each one of us does what he can, we surely shall have the desired amount by November 4. Won’t you please talk about this project to your acquaintances, write letters to your fellow alumni and, if at all possible, add to your own subscriptions to insure the success of the alumni of Western State Teachers College in this Memorial undertaking? At the bottom of page 5 is a blank form for your convenience.

Very sincerely yours,

“A DEBT-FREE STADIUM AT TIME OF DEDICATION”

The enthusiasm of the Alumni Stadium Campaign is mounting to an actuality such as is described on the face of the medallion, “It’s the Extra Drive that Wins”. We have been presented with copy that is factual, sincere, and appealing and a request has also come for an editorial on the Stadium Campaign. In the April issue, space on the editorial page carried a letter about the Alumni Stadium Fund and we are very glad to give further expression to the most outstanding challenge which has ever demanded the attention of the graduates of Western State Teachers College.

The Dwight B. Waldo Memorial Stadium is nearing completion and it is to be dedicated at Homecoming time this year. To describe briefly: On either side of the gridiron from goal line to goal line there is a reinforced concrete stand with a seating capacity of 7,500. The entire structure is designed to accommodate 15,000 people and its exterior of wash-finished concrete gives a pleasing stone-like appearance. The seats are California redwood painted an attractive shade of green. The railings around the boxes, which form a row along the front of each stand, are painted the same color. Each box is to be provided with eight chairs. Above the stand to the east, is a press box provided with the usual up-to-date facilities.

The stand on the west side rises from the ground level and houses a concession room with counters, public toilet facilities, coaches’ and officials’ rooms, locker and shower rooms for both home and visiting teams, a ground keeper’s room and boiler room. Runways with tiled walls provide entrance to the stadium on this side. Two further items of construction which should be mentioned are the electric scoreboard and the standards which support the loud speaker system.

A condensed statement of the cooperative planning necessary to secure money enough to reconstruct the out-of-doors physical education plant is as follows: The State Highway Department paid $32,000 for a right-of-way for the re-routing of US-12, the Upjohn Civic Trust of Kalamazoo gave $3000. A grant of $200,000 was made available by the Works Progress Administration. The Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce organized and conducted a campaign in the City and $25,000 was subscribed by the people of Kalamazoo. In these manners, $260,000 of the required $270,000 has been made accessible. The final allotment of $10,000 belongs to the alumni and it is this sum that is needed to make a debt-free stadium at the time of its dedication, November 4th.

The alumni of Western State Teachers College are in most of the states of the United States and in many foreign countries. There are fifteen thousand of them. Their respect for Mr. Waldo, Western’s first president, can well be expressed in contributions to the building of a stadium named in his honor. His long years of achievement, his personal interest in thousands of graduates, and his kindnesses to so many of them make remembrances of him expressed in so beautiful a thing as the new stadium seem most appropriate. A memorial to Mr. Waldo is what we all want to see.

A final factor challenges the admiration of the alumni. President Sangren has had faith enough, confidence enough, and courage enough to go ahead. It was he who planned with the State Highway Department, he said to the local Chamber of Commerce that if they would raise $25,000 he was confident the alumni would contribute $10,000, he approached the Upjohn Civic Trust of Kalamazoo, and he presented the merits of the project to the representatives of the Works Progress Administration. There is no state appropriation going to the stadium fund. All money for the undertaking must come from the above sources. In fact it shall all have come when the alumni complete their quota.

The urgency of the situation and the imperativeness of the need is well reflected in the recent writing of Dr. William Berry when he said, “The prestige that an alumnus receives from his alma mater is according to the status of the school not at the time of his graduation, BUT AT ANY LATER TIME WHEN SUCH PRESTIGE IS DESIRABLE.” The Western State Teachers College of November 4, 1939, will be the truest reflection of alumni interest that has ever been expressed.

For your convenience a form appears on the page opposite.

I. Dr. Charles H. Butler did his graduate work at the University of Missouri (the president of the University of Missouri is Dr. Frederick Middlebush who is a graduate of Western State Teachers College having received his Life Certificate in 1911). Before leaving the campus, Dr. Butler was principal of the University High School and head of the Department of Mathematics. He was born in the State of Illinois, and is in the Department of Mathematics at Western.

2. Dr. Roy C. Bryan came to Western State Teachers College from an assistant high school principalship in Covington, Kentucky. His assignment on the campus at Western State Teachers College is that of principal of State High School in which he succeeds William Cain. Dr. Bryan was born in Pennsylvania and received his Ph. D. at Teachers College, Columbia University in 1937.
13 WSTC Graduates Are Michigan County School Commissioners

Of the eighty-three counties in Michigan, thirteen are served by Western State Teachers College graduates who are Commissioners of Schools. Lynn H. Clark, Kent County Commissioner, is president of the Michigan School Commissioners organization. Other alumni who are serving counties in the state in the office of County School Commissioner are as follows: G. Ray Sturgis, '25, Allegan County; Edward Murdock, '28, Berrien County; Frank Flagg, '32, Cass County; Arthur L. Martin, '14, Cheboygan County; C. F. Titus, '27, Delta County; E. Burr Sherwood, '36, Iron County; Mary Ensfield, '06, Kalamazoo County; Mrs. Myrtle Murphy, '18, Montmorncy County; Lloyd Fry, '29, Newago County; Dirk H. Vande Bunte, '28, Ottawa County; Raymond Peake, '26, St. Joseph County; and George Schutt, '29, Van Buren County.

Following the regular session of the summer school, several of Michigan's county school commissioners pursued a graduate study course on the campus at Western State Teachers College, titled "Problems of the County School Commissioner." This course was approved by the Graduate Council of Western State and the University of Michigan. Two semester hours of credit were given.

Jackson Alumni Club Is Planning Rally at MEA Conference

The local Alumni Club in Jackson, Michigan is sponsoring a dinner meeting for graduates of Western State Teachers College on the occasion of the Michigan Education Association conference which meets in the City of Jackson this year. Thursday evening, October 12, at 6 o'clock is the time, and the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church is the place. All of Western State Teachers College graduates living in District III are invited to cooperate with the Jackson Club in this planning.

The other regional conferences in the state are to be held in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Petoskey, Iron Mountain, and Battle Creek. An invitation has recently come to Western to use exhibit space at the Regional Conferences. All details in this particular have not been worked out, but it is already known that Permit No. 24 is assigned to Western State Teachers College. While attending the conferences in the various districts, Western's alumni are invited to look for booth space designated No. 24.

1940 Seibert-Glasgow Trip Planned

Announcement has already been made that another Seibert-Glasgow trip will be made during the summer of 1940. This time the group will travel through the middle-west stopping at places of geographical and historical significance.

Those who accompanied Dr. Glasgow and Dr. Seibert on the occasion when the itinerary included Hudson Bay in the summer of 1938 found it so informational and enjoyable that they are still talking about it. The proposed traveling college course for next summer will be offered for a fee of approximately $150.00 which will cover transportation, meals, and camping facilities.

Pigeon River Course Again in 1940

Miss Hadley of the Biology Department announces at this early date that the Conservation Course at Pigeon River will be given again next spring at the close of the second semester and before the summer session begins. Enrollment in this group is limited to 30. The fee is $20.00 which includes all expenses—tuition, transportation, room, board, etc.—and the list will be concluded as soon as 30 have registered. The date of May 31, 1940, is given as the one at which all fees should be paid.

Alumni Luncheon, Diamond Contest, and Evening Party All Enjoyable

Exactly 190 were present at the luncheon in the Union Building on Alumni Day in June. It was a delightful hour with Ernest Chapelle, '16, and President of the Alumni Association, presiding. Dwight Tiefenthal, '37, played a cornet solo, Vivian Paulus, '38, and Alyce Bosker, June Peterson, and Elva Brimmer of the Class of '39 were the members of the women's quartet which presented the vocal numbers. Miss Louisa Durham, '31, and Assistant-Principal of the Lakeview School of Battle Creek, spoke for the alumnae of Western State Teachers College, and Mr. Fred Adams, '32, and President of the Kalamazoo Alumni Club spoke for the men. President Paul V. Sangren concluded the hour with interesting and timely comment concerning items of interest to members of the senior class, faculty members, and graduates who were present from many communities of the State. Many other states besides Michigan were represented.

Alumni-Varsity Score 8-5

The first Alumni-Varsity baseball game to be played on the new Hyames Field was a real contest. True the score was 8-5 and in favor of the Varsity but not without a battle. The Alumni played errorless ball and collected ten hits off the four Western moundsmen. The Alumni team was composed of Glenn Berkhausen, B. S., '34; Erwin Woods, A. B., '33; Harry Emery, B. S., '38; John Abel, A. B., '38; Albert Johnson, B. S., '33; George Miller, B. S., '36; Leon Phelps, B. S., '38; Francis Pellegrin, B. S., '32; Howard Kimball; Victor Vanderberg, B. S., '38; Verl Mershon; Francis Marquard, B. S., '34; T. Johnson, 24; and Ed. Abbott.

The annual Alumni Party was held in the Ballroom of the Union Building. Good music was furnished by an out-of-the-city orchestra, refreshments were served during the evening and, as usual, this occasion was an opportunity for much visitation and renewed acquaintances.

A Convention, the World’s Fair, and a Trailer . . .

The day after Commencement the trailer was packed. The destination was Swampscott, Massachusetts and the occasion was the annual convention of the American Alumni Council. All colleges and universities of the United States and Canada are eligible for membership and Western State Teachers College has had a representative present every year for the past decade.

Equipping a trailer for a trip is about like moving into a cottage. Because it was vacation the entire family could go and so everybody helped and we were on the way in the early afternoon. Before darkness overtook us we were through Detroit, across the Ambassador Bridge, and many miles into Canada. How custom’s officers would proceed with a trailer presented a new experience. It was easy. They were very courteous and we were soon on the way. The night of the first day of vacation was experience enough. We saw locks accommodating ocean-going vessels as they needed to be lifted to the level of Lake Erie or lowered to Lake Ontario.

On the Canadian side the horseshoe falls presented the first subject for picture-taking. The sun shown brightly, visibility was good, and the Maid-of-the-Mist was a worthy object for any camera. It was on the American side that we descended to the lower level to take an upward look at the falling water.

Speaking of photography, the City of Rochester furnishes an interesting opportunity to those who can stop long enough for a trip through the Eastman Kodak Company. We saw every process in the construction of the cameras we were carrying. The University of Rochester is located here and Syracuse, the neighboring city to the east also has a university.

Having visited the campus, there is another attraction in Syracuse and that is the Onondaga Pottery where Syracuse China is made. Visiting along the way takes time so the second night was spent in New York State.

We did not cross the Hudson River at Albany but went up to Troy and into the Green Mountains. Across Vermont by way of Bennington to Brattleboro is a beautiful highway. Granite rocks all along suggest the quarries of the state and then, too, at roadside stands in shapely jugs maple syrup may be purchased, or if preferred the product of the maple tree may be mailed to friends in molded forms of maple sugar. To the east, the state which is rightly titled, “The Granite State” is New Hampshire. We went to the capital city of Concord and then on into the State of Maine. In four states, the third day away from home, was experience enough and we spent the night on the rock-bound coast of The Pine Tree State.

Down the coast of the New England states is an interesting drive. There are so many points of historic and literary significance. How easy it is to feel acquainted with places never even visited before. The background of reading is an introduction, and environments of the past seemed familiar. We parked the trailer at Salem, six miles from the Ocean House where the convention was to be held and twenty miles from Boston. Six miles is not far to commute in that vicinity and 20 miles into Boston did not seem far. In fact Salem is conveniently near to Marblehead, Gloucester, Concord, Lexington, and many other points north and west of Boston. There was no time to spare in this locality on a hurried trip. Of course all of the sessions of the convention had to be attended and before and after them came visitation.

Alumni Council Convention

The American Alumni Council meets annually. More than 200 delegates were present. The University of Toronto, and the University of California were the most distant institutions represented. The colleges and universities of age and distinction in the eastern states found it easy to attend, while institutions in the middle west were enrolled as numerously as in former years. The attractiveness of the convention site always encourages attendance, and the work of the entertainment committee is important. Tours and sightseeing trips were arranged for delegates and very much appreciated by them.

To have an automobile was a de-
By Blanche Draper*

Members of Western State Teachers College faculty don't spend all their time with academic activities, or those allied thereto. Many of them have interesting hobbies which occupy their time and furnish much needed relaxation, when they're not engaged in preparing or giving lectures, quizzes and examinations, attending committee meetings, or doing the scores of other things which crowd the busy hours of faculty members at Western State.

These hobbies, among them photography, beetles, semi-precious stones, flower arrangements, and even moustache cups, carry them into many fields far from lecture room or office.

When Ray C. Pellett, dean of men, isn't occupied with his duties as dean, you may find him motoring, hiking, or seeking out beauty spots to photograph. But in which ever of these "extra-curricular" activities you may find him, you may be sure he has an eye out for beetles. For Mr. Pellett has been collecting beetles for years. He confines his attention to Michigan beetles, and no others find a place in his collection. He has at present between 300 and 400 of the possible 3500 or 4000 varieties to be found in the state. There are tiny ones, no bigger than a pinhead, and others which are an inch in length. There are water beetles, scavenger beetles, rhinocerous beetles, tiger beetles and many other kinds, all of them beautiful if you will but give them a chance to display themselves under the microscope.

Wherever he finds the beetles he collects them. As he gets time he identifies and classifies them, and he has them all mounted and filed in a case specially made for housing them.

Not only does he collect beetles but he defends them. He will tell you that even the potato bug is blameless, and that it was the pioneer farmer who was responsible for making the potato bug the culprit he is today. Mr. Pellett explains that originally the potato bug ate the morning glory vine. But when the farmer came along and dug out all the morning glories to plant potatoes, the poor little potato beetle was just naturally forced to eat the potato vine. And Mr. Pellett will go on still further and tell you the benefactions of many other beetles. Then when he gives you a glimpse at them through the microscope, and you behold their marvelous beauty—well, no matter how averse you may have been to beetles before, you weaken, and begin to understand how beetles may after all become an interesting hobby.

Flower Arrangements

* Miss Blanche Draper has been continuously employed at Western State Teachers College since 1918. For several years she edited the Teachers College Herald and, in addition, her contributions to journalism on the campus have afforded innumerable references in the history of the institution.
Approaches...

In the entire collection there is not a cup for a left-handed man. There is one so constructed that it could be used with either hand, but it is doubtful if one has ever been made especially for the use of the left hand.

—Hoekje

Members of the Quartz Family are almost everywhere on earth. Acquaintance with them furnishes companions in every land—they are so generally encountered, so permanent in their abode, so basic to the life of both plants and animals, and so attractive in their variety of appearances.

—Cooper

teaching students to read and speak Spanish, or traveling to remote sections of the globe, or concocting some dish that cooks of other lands originated, he may be found making flower arrangements. Foreign travel, and international cooking have long been among Mr. Greenwall’s hobbies. But more recently he has made a rather intensive study of flower arrangements, with the result that his ability along this line has attracted considerable notice.

Nothing affords him more apparent pleasure than to combine some almost un-noticed roadside blossoms with a bit of foliage into an exquisite arrangement, lovely enough to grace any room. And his is a hobby which furnishes pleasure to all who see his results, and at the same time gives inspiration to others to surround themselves with beauty at practically no expense.

Rare species of flowers in large quantities and great variety are not essential to beautiful and artistic floral arrangements, he points out. Nor are elaborate and expensive containers needed, he says. The simplest roadside blossoms, chosen for their lovely coloring and form, held in the most inexpensive container, perhaps homemade, selected because it is harmonious in line and color with the flowers used may be combined to make a most beautiful arrangement, he maintains. And he has demonstrated it times without number in the many attractive arrangements he has made for Western State functions.

Recently for a mid-summer reception for August graduates, Mr. Greenwall made arrangements of cat tails, which were especially effective against the pillars in the lobby of Walwood Hall.

The arrangement which he is shown completing here employed Brown-eyed Susans, combined with a bit of foliage and held in an inexpensive pottery vase.

Simplicity and harmony are the keynotes of flower arrangement, according to Mr. Greenwall. He also points out the importance of fitness to the place it is to occupy. He also emphasizes the importance of background. And just to be sure his arrangements always have the proper background, he has made some of beaverboard, one reversible, painted silver on one side and gold on the other, and another in neutral tones, which he places behind the arrangement when the background would be otherwise confusing or inharmonious. These, he said are so simple and inexpensive any one might make them.

And so summer or winter Mr. Greenwall finds great pleasure in flower arrangement, for he combines winter berries with what the average person would pass by as dead foliage. And the result is remarkably beautiful and may be used for a long period to brighten many a spot.

Moustache Cup Collection

John C. Hoekje, registrar, has a unique hobby which has attracted nation-wide attention, while it has afforded him no end of pleasure. He collects moustache cups. And although he has more than 300 moustache cups (and no moustache) he is still looking for more. And he especially would like to find a left-handed one.

Mr. Hoekje has been collecting moustache cups now for about three years, and his collection is considered by hobbyists as one of the most unique in the country. He has moustache cups from many parts of this country, and from several foreign countries including Persia, Austria, Japan, Germany, Etruria, England and Holland.

In his collection are cups no larger than demitasse size, and cups that will hold a quart. He has them in china, fine and fragile as Haviland, and those heavy enough for use in a lumber camp. There are plain ones, and mottoed ones, and some bearing the inscriptions, "Father," "Husband," "Brother," "Friend," and other designations.

Friends in every part of the country have sent him cups for his collection and the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars gave him a dinner of 49 moustache cups. In the collection is a pair of matching cups of two sizes, one for tea and one for coffee.

A Daniel Webster Cup

Mr. Hoekje has had much fun in the collection of these cups. Particularly interesting was his experience in acquiring a cup used by Daniel Webster. A man in Detroit had learned of Mr. Hoekje's hobby. This man had a Daniel Webster cup, but he preferred a canary. He wrote to Mr. Hoekje and told him about the cup and offered to exchange it for a canary. The authenticity of the cup was determined. The cup and the canary were exchanged, and now this Daniel Webster piece is one of the most interesting ones in the collection.

But still no left handed cup has made its appearance, although there is one in the collection which may be used with either hand. Mr. Hoekje is a bit doubtful as to whether one has ever been made. Last year Mr. Hoekje upon invitation displayed some of his cups at the New York Hobby show, and was made a member of the national organization of hobbyists.

Agate Hunting

Carl R. Cooper, alumni secretary, has a hobby which he shares with his ten year old son, Carl Junior. They collect semi-precious stones. For six years now, ever since Carl, Jr. was four years old, the two have been collecting semi-precious stones. Nearly a hundred of these have been polished and mounted in an interesting design suggested by the poet's line "sermons in stones." If one looks closely, there may be seen in the design, the cross, the crown, the chalice and the Last Supper.

The others are "housed" in a beautiful modernistic container designed by Mr. Cooper. A hollow copper core extends through the entire length of a tall cylindrically shaped container of glass. This may be used for a few spikes of gladiolas or other long stemmed flowers, or when not in use as a vase, the copper core is surmounted by a glass tube. Around the center are glass tubes filled with the stones first to be mounted or observed. The whole arrangement makes an attractive floor piece.

Found on Lake Superior Shores

The first agate in the collection was found at Grand Marais, Mr. Cooper states. Since that time the hunt has included the shores of Lake Superior from Batchawana Bay in Canada to Port Arthur and Port Williams on the Minnesota side.

Most of the agates in the collection are from Michigan, though they have moss agates from Montana and many western states. There are several Petoskey stones in the collection as well as thompsonites and chlorastolites. There is a sample of almost every birthstone in the collection. Among them are the amethyst, opal, moonstone, star sapphire, garnet, lapis lazuli, ruby, turquoise, bloodstone, topaz and fresh water pearls. There is rose quartz from the Black Hills of South Dakota, from Maine, North Carolina and other places.

Several foreign countries are also represented including Amazonite from South America, aventurine from Brazil, jades from New Zealand, China and Australia as well as California. There is also petrified wood, cinnabar, carnelian, lazuli variscite, coral, malachite, tiger-eye and jasper. Many stones have been contributed by friends and students who have been in Mr. Cooper's classes. In the hundreds of rocks in the collection there are sizes from tiny pebbles to beautiful specimens of heavy paper weight size.

Mr. Cooper states that although from boyhood he has collected stones which he used in imaginary baseball games when with broomsticks for bats he was always the batter, his first real interest in them as geologic formations came while he was a student in the late Leslie H. Woods classes in Geology at Western State.

These are just a few of the ways in which Western State's faculty members spend their leisure.

Union Building Completes Year's Activity

Walwood Hall and Union Building finished its first year recently. It is interesting to note some of the activities that have been carried on. The cafeteria served 84,754 meals. More than 10,000 private meals were arranged and the total of all meals served was 162,816. In the Soda Bar the total count of servings was 141,406.

Sixty-five is the average number of students who were employed. They worked an average of 16 hours per week to earn an average weekly wage of $4.81.

During the year a questionnaire was prepared to determine the extent to which students were using the Union Building. About half of those enrolled, 1,083 to be exact, returned the questionnaire and it was found that of this number 55% were using the cafeteria, 83% were visiting the soda fountain, 38% came to organization meetings, and 57% availed themselves of the use of the general lounge. Thirty-one per cent of the men used the games room while 41% of the women frequented the Women's League room. A large percentage have gone to the ball room for dances, lectures, and conferences.

Typical gatherings such as attracted a total of 298,670 persons together with other functions include adult education forums, parent-teacher association institutes, round table discussions, ministerial alliance meetings, debates, rural progress day, lectures, and conferences of many other groups. Attendance at such gatherings have numbered from 25 to 800.
A Convention

(Continued from Page 11) decided advantage. We found driving in Boston not too difficult and with an automobile it is possible to go many places and save much time. Out at Cambridge we had splendid guidance, had no difficulty in approaching the Boston Navy yard, saw Bunker Hill, the Paul Revere House, Old North Church, Faneuil Hall, and the narrow streets of old Boston. We drove to Plymouth, to the homes of Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, and to many other places of interest before and after the sessions of the convention.

The last day of June ended the convention and the homeward journey was begun immediately. Only suburbs of Boston were seen on our way to Providence, Rhode Island. From there we followed the shore of Long Island Sound to New Haven, Connecticut. Of course we wanted to see the campus at Yale. One hope of the itinerary was to see the campuses of Harvard, Yale and Princeton. Having taken a hasty look at the campus at New Haven, we hurried on to New York City, dropped the trailer at the Bronx and went at once over the new Whitestone Bridge to Long Island and the World’s Fair. In fact, the altitude of the bridge gave us our first look at the Trylon and the Perisphere.

New York World’s Fair

Accepting the invitation, “We invite the people of all the world to mingle in friendship and security, and to contemplate the marvels that can be wrought when the genius and labor of man unite to make this a better world in which to live,” we began immediately to enjoy the beauty and magnificence of it all. “The World of Tomorrow” as the theme, Constitution Mall, the Court of Peace, the Avenues of Patriots and Pioneers, the exhibits, the architectural design, and the colors in the night lighting were instructive, entertaining, and fascinating, indeed.

From the Bronx, we went directly to Broadway, stopped for a time at Columbia University then approached the Holland Tunnel by way of Riverside Drive. When on the New Jersey side of the Hudson, Princeton is not far away. The city is a beautiful place with quiet streets, numerous large trees, and many palatial residences. It seemed a fine setting for a university, and the campus was as impressive. Likenesses and differences of campuses makes a fascinating study. Ivyed walls, memorial gates, walks, trees, stone masonry, architecture, and types of campus patterns, are interesting contributions made by the physical and the material.

At Princeton some study of the maps was necessary. The hills of Pennsylvania make some routings less desirable than others. By way of Philadelphia and the Lincoln highway was selected and we were soon as far as Gettysburg. The next day brought us to Pittsburgh by noon and almost across Ohio by nightfall, and the next day was an easy journey from Fort Wayne, Indiana to Kalamazoo. Fourteen days, 2600 miles, and a most delightful circuit was made.

Where Seniors Are Going

Vivian Dietrich, president of last year’s Women’s League Cabinet, will be teaching kindergarten in Buchanan this year.

Willis Bullard, editor of the first all student Herald, will enter the Law School at the University of Michigan this fall.

Edna Baumgarden, active senior of last year’s Early Elementary Department, will receive her first experience as a teacher in the Grand Ledge schools.

One of last year’s active seniors, Robert Feather, may now be contacted at Watervliet, where he is teaching in the high school.

Jean Campbell, who has had an active college career as member of the Student Council, Kappa Delta Pi, and Later Elementary Club, has now begun her work as teacher in the Grand Rapids school system.

Friends of Shirley DeRosier will be interested to learn that she is teaching this year in Nahma, Michigan.

As a member of Student Council, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Student Science Club, Leon Burgoyne became a well known student of Western’s campus. This year he has left us to teach in the Caledonia High School.

Richard Kent, president of the Commerce Club during his senior year, has accepted a scholarship to the University of Michigan School of Business Administration for the coming year.

Last year’s Early Elementary Club president, Helen Callow, will be teaching third grade at Belding this year.

Leland Dean, winner of the 1939 Men’s Union Award, will spend this school year in Brighton as a teacher in the high school there.

Entering the Fennville school system this fall as a teacher is Elnora Strahan, a women’s debater while she was on campus.

Two of Western’s recent graduates entered into a long term contract this June when Stephen Liddicoat and Helen Ingersoll were married. Mr. and Mrs. Liddicoat will live in Barryton where he is a teacher of music.

After having spent a summer at the University of Chicago doing graduate work, Alberdeen Frick is teaching in the Home Economics Department of the Plainwell High School.

The co-winners of the 1939 Industrial Arts Union Award, Preston Bilz and Elmer Brune have been placed in the school systems of Decatur and Richmond, respectively.

Helen Franz and Dorothy Harris, two graduates of Western, have gone to join the Early Elementary Department of the Coldwater schools this fall.

Dale Morris, co-captain of last year’s football team and a regular halfback for three years, will begin his duties this fall as teacher and coaching work. Walter Oberlin, co-captain with Morris, and also a player on Western's team for three years as left end, is now coaching in Michigan Center.

Announcement of the placement of two graduates of the Women's Physical Education Department was made this summer. Angeline VanderRoest is not teaching in Sturgis and Mona Dunkelberger has accepted a position in Midland.

Every year some senior graduating from Western State Teachers College is awarded the State College Scholarship to the University of Michigan. Eileen Putney was the member of the 1939 graduating class to receive this award, so she is doing graduate work this year at Ann Arbor in the Department of English.

From the Department of English, Patricia Smythe is going to Tekonsha this fall to teach in the high school.

Donna Martin, first president of the Women's Dormitory and a member last year of the Orchestra; Kappa Delta Pi; Kappa Rho Sigma, and the Student Science Club, has accepted a teaching position for this year at Columbiaville.

For three years an outstanding football player at Western, Ray Bray has become a professional in that field. This year he is playing professional football with the Chicago Bears.

Arlene Rector while on campus was a member of the Forensic Board, Kappa Delta Pi and Tau Kappa Alpha. This year she is living in Constantine where she is a teacher in the high school.

Virgil Adams, one of last year's seniors may still be seen on campus this year. He is doing graduate work and teaching part of the day in Parchment.

From the Industrial Arts Department, Myles Runk has gone to Gobles to teach. He is taking the place of Lawrence Steenwyk, B. S., '38, who has accepted a position at Barryton. Runk will take over the coaching work.

Helen Sheffield, who was president of the Home Economics Club this past year is now teaching in White Pigeon.

John Kovtan may be reached this year at the School of Business Administration, University of Michigan.

The Commerce Department of the Dexter Public Schools has added Winifred Bothamley to its staff. She was a 1939 graduate and a member of the Brown and Gold staff.

Maurine Kooi, one of last year's seniors whom everybody remembers, has been placed in the Later Elementary Department of the Grand Rapids Public Schools.

A new teacher at Ortonville comes from the 1939 graduating class here at Western. He is Varl Wilkinson member of Kappa Delta Pi; Kappa Rho Sigma, Inglis Club, and a participant in college athletics.

Harry Trease will be in Ferndale this year teaching and coaching. Harry is a graduate of the Industrial Arts Department and was right end on the football team.

Another of Western's people doing graduate work at the University of Michigan during 1939-40 is Walter Clark.

Winner of the Kappa Delta Pi Award, Betty Olin can be contacted now in Lawton where she is a teacher in the Department of Home Economics in the high school.

An opponent of years’ standing and one that has always proven a most difficult one to subdue, and one that was one of three teams to defeat the Broncos in the 1938 season, has been selected as the honored opponent for the Dedication game of the new Waldo Memorial Stadium and the Homecoming game this year on November 4. This team is Western Kentucky.

The Western Kentucky contest is only one of eight sparkling games that have been arranged for the 1939 season with a big toughening up of the schedule. Two teams that were handed the worst defeats last year, and which over a period of years had not been able to defeat Western, were dropped from the slate for the 1939 season, and an eight game schedule was arranged through the addition of three university elevens—Ohio University, Miami University and the University of Toledo.

The addition of these three teams gives Western the hardest schedule that the Broncos have yet had, and the schedule will give the home fans plenty of action as five of the eight contests are slated for the new Waldo Memorial Stadium. From start to finish there is no place on the schedule that can be pointed out as an easy spot and the Bronco forces will be forced to play a stellar game in every contest to have any hope of winning a majority of the contests.

Toledo

Toledo, coached by Doc Spears, is one of the strong teams of Ohio and will be played in Toledo where the Rockets are always a hard nut to crack. Miami University’s eleven was among the highest scoring teams of the Buckeye state last year and reports from down Oxford way are to the effect that the Indians will be still stronger this year. Ohio University has long been noted for the driving power of the Bobcat aggregation. Don Peden, coach of the Bobcats, a former Illinois star, has had teams that in recent years have turned back such able and strong teams as the Navy and Illinois. It has always been among the leaders of its collegiate circuit. Both Ohio University and Miami were members of the Buckeye Conference, which broke up with the close of the last collegiate year. Western had joined that organization just in time to be in on the breakup, but has profited from its short membership very materially in being able to schedule these teams.

The three teams that defeated Western last year by single touchdown margins, Detroit, Western Kentucky and Akron are continued on the slate this year together with Butler and Iowa Teachers, with whose teams Western has developed a lively and interesting rivalry of recent years.

Miami will invade Kalamazoo for the first football game in the new Waldo Memorial Stadium, and the Redskins will have that fact, added to their own strength, to make the game something very much out of the ordinary. Coach Frank Wilton’s team, in itself, is an attraction any time.

Akron

Akron University, which defeated the Broncos last year 6-0, by showing great defensive power in the second half, will furnish the second home game. With the dedication of the men’s dormitory and the student health and personnel buildings at that time, the Akron contest promises to be of outstanding note. The Zippers retain much of their strength of a year ago and hope to see a number of highly touted sophomores bolstering the lineup.

November 4 brings the third game to the home schedule in Western Kentucky’s representatives from that splendid Teachers College in the near southland. The Kentucky Hilltoppers won from Western last year 13-6 for their first victory in a series that was started in 1922, but which has always been marked by hard play and close scores. Even greater strength is anticipated by the Kentucky Hilltoppers this year and they are even now hopeful of spoiling Western’s Dedication Day and Homecoming with another victory. All indications are that the 15,000 seating capacity of the football stadium may be taken for this game. All holders of Waldo stadium medallions will have admission to the stadium for the Dedication-Homecoming game by showing these medallions, which indicate that they were among the cheerful donors to the stadium fund. The Alumni have not yet reached their goal to insure a debt-free stadium on Dedication day.

Butler Plays in Kazoo This Year

Butler, with whom Western in the past four years has developed one of its finest rivalries, marked by close scores and fine sportsmanship, will furnish the highlight for Saturday, November 11, Armistice day. An exponent of the air game the Bulldogs will attempt their Armistice day celebration by filling the turf of Waldo stadium and the ordinary. Coach Frank Wilton’s team, in itself, is an attraction any time.

Akron

Akron University, which defeated the Broncos last year 6-0, by showing great defensive power in the second half, will furnish the second home game. With the dedication of the men’s dormitory and the student health and personnel buildings at that time, the Akron contest promises to be of outstanding note. Dr. G. Osborn to Succeed Dr. McCracken

Dr. Gerald Osborn, whose photograph appears on this page, succeeds one of the most beloved professors Western State Teachers College has ever had. Excerpts from former students of Dr. McCracken in recent mail most ably express the affection held for him by the alumni:

"... We keenly realize that nothing is permanent except change, and now, as the curtain falls on a long and helpful teaching career dedicated to the youth of yesterday and today, you have earned fully the high regard in which your students will always hold you."

"... Not only have I greatly admired you and your wealth of chemical knowledge, but I have realized that your influence extends much farther than the campus."

"... I'll bet you'll give the poor old trout a merry chase up and down those northern Michigan streams from now on."

"... I saw you recently on the campus. You hadn't changed a bit. You grabbed me by the arm and shook my hand. I was pleased, thrilled, surprised and a bit flustered. I just can't tell you how the visit ended, but I went away mumbling something to myself about everlasting allegiance to a great fellow like you."

"... I shall never forget our fishing trips, nor the time I broke a huge thermometer in the laboratory and that you gave it to me as a wedding present instead of charging me for it."

Similar mail comes for Dr. Smith Burnham, Dr. Henry Goddard, Lavinia Spindler, and others who are retiring.

It is, indeed, a distinction to be the successor of any great teacher, and Dr. Osborn is welcomed to continue the work of one of them. He comes to us from the campus of Michigan State College where he has been an assistant professor of chemistry. He was principal of a high school following his graduation in under-graduate work at Michigan State Normal College. While doing his graduate work in organic chemistry, his doctorate's dissertation included research in the field of "free radicals."

Deans' Offices Moved to New Building

The Health and Personnel building is finished and among the many other occupants of this fine new structure are the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women.
Not a Crossword Puzzle, But-
Let's Get Acquainted!

How many alumni can name these faculty men who have more recently come to the campus?

Did you know that, besides the sons of Michigan, the states of Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, West Virginia, and Wisconsin have sent us members of this group?

Where did they go to school?

In what departments are they working?

Graduates of five years — how many can you name?

Alumni of the class of three years ago — how many were your instructors?

Membership of the Class of 1939 — do you know all of these faculty members?

How many of these faculty members were on campus teaching at the time of the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Western State Teachers College in 1929?

This page is designed to show how important it is that the alumni of Western State Teachers College visit the campus as often as possible. In several issues of the Magazine we have tried to acquaint former graduates with changes taking place relative to the building program which is now going on. In this issue there is an attempt to acquaint us with additional personnel and the contributions they are making to education.

On previous pages in this issue may be found the names of the faculty members whose pictures are presented here. Some information about them may also be found. The photographs and the copy have corresponding numbers. Space, alone, forbids the appearance of many others. Future issues may contain more acquaintance material of this kind, if you please.
A BEAUTIFUL SETTING...

When the sons and daughters of Western meet with the people of Kalamazoo to dedicate the new Dwight B. Waldo Stadium they will be impressed with the charming setting of this new athletic layout.

Business men and school editors select Princess and DeLuxe Enamel because they know how important it is to give their creative efforts the right setting. Princess Enamel is used in this publication — DeLuxe Enamel was used in the 1939 Brown & Gold.

GREETINGS

The Consumers Power is more than a collection of plants, offices, lines; more than brick, steel, copper—its heart is in its great family of more than 5,500 workers who give life and being to its service. They are your neighbors and fellow citizens.

The prices of this company's services are today the lowest in history. The electricity that it took dollars to buy in the early days can now be had for a few cents a day. Services that are today the common enjoyment of all, couldn't be had at any price a few years ago.
