Distinguished Lectures on Africa-Spring 2012

Center for African Development Policy Research

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/africancenter_lectures

Part of the African Studies Commons

WMU ScholarWorks Citation
https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/africancenter_lectures/4

This Poster is brought to you for free and open access by the Center for African Development Policy Research at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Distinguished Lectures on Africa by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact wmu-scholarworks@wmich.edu.
WMU’s Center for African Policy Development Research presents

Distinguished Lectures on Africa

(Spring Semester 2012)

Health Outcomes of Inter-community Violence in Three Northern Kenyan Pastoralist Communities

3 to 4:30 p.m.
Monday, March 12
2028 Brown Hall

Dr. Bilinda Straight
Associate Professor of Anthropology
Western Michigan University

Bilinda Straight (Ph.D., University of Michigan, 1997) is an associate professor of anthropology at Western Michigan University. She works with Samburu pastoralists in northern Kenya on consciousness, cosmology, material culture, gender, health, and violence. She has published scholarly articles in a variety of journals and edited volumes. She is the editor of “Women on the Verge of Home” (SUNY, 2005), and author of “Miracles and Extraordinary Experience in Northern Kenya” (University of Pennsylvania Press, 2007). She has been the recipient of numerous grants and awards, including Fulbright and the National Science Foundation.

Ethiopian-American Relations during the Reign of Emperor Haile Selassie, 1930-1974

3 to 4:30 p.m.
Wednesday, March 28
2028 Brown Hall

Dr. Theodore Vestal
Professor Emeritus of Political Science
Oklahoma State University

Africa after 9/11: Rethinking U.S. Definitions and Policies

3 to 4:30 p.m.
Wednesday, April 11
1025 Brown Hall

Dr. David Wiley
Professor of Sociology
Former Director of African Studies Center
Michigan State University

David Wiley (Ph.D., Princeton) is a professor of sociology and African studies at Michigan State University. He served as director of the African Studies Centers at Michigan State University (1978-08) and University of Wisconsin-Madison (1972-77). His research has focused on Zambian urban housing and development; Zimbabwean (race relations, religious movements); Kenya (participatory fisheries management); South African urban environment; and African and less commonly taught languages in the U.S. and, currently, militarization in Africa. His most recent publication is “International and Language Education for a Global Future: Fifty Years of the U.S. Title VI and Fulbright-Hays Programs” (co-ed, MSU Press, 2010).

Co-Sponsors:
WMU’s Center for African Development Policy Research, Haenicke Institute for Global Education, Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Foreign Languages, History, Political Science, Sociology and Spanish, Timothy Light Center for Chinese Studies, Office of VP for Diversity & Inclusion, the University Center for the Humanities, and the Walker Institute of Race and Ethnic Relations.

For more information, contact: Dr. Sisay Asefa, CADPR director and professor of economics, sisay.asefa@wmich.edu

CADPR website: http://international.wmich.edu/content/section/15/116/