NORMAL SCHOOL
VOLUME XII 1922
HE class of 1922 can feel a genuine pride in this opportunity to perpetuate its memories of Western. It has been a pleasure to compile a digest of a great period in the history of this school. Materially we have increased in numbers, yet a far more satisfying index to the spirit of this student body has been the demonstration and development of student initiative, a growth more difficult of attainment but more lasting in its effect. But perhaps in the future our most plaeasurable recollections will be those of that time when it became our privilege to indicate in no uncertain manner our great esteem and appreciation for our President and his achievements for the cause of education.

Realizing that it was the duty of this volume to mirror these facts, our task has been a pleasure; and if in the years which are to come these pages will make the memories of these golden days an inspiration, then indeed our work will not have been altogether in vain.

DEDICATION

To Harper C. Maybee, who by his untiring efforts and virile personality is giving to this institution and community truer and greater incentives for the noblest things of life, we respectfully dedicate the Brown and Gold of 1922.
The State Board of Education has granted President Waldo a leave of absence for one year. This action is greatly appreciated by all who are familiar with the facts of the case. Members of the faculty have enjoyed absence for travel and study every seventh year, and every third summer term. Had this scheme been applied in the case of the President, Dr. Waldo would already have enjoyed leave for three years and seven summer terms. His longest absence for the whole twenty-three years of service as Normal School President has been three weeks.

The Western State Normal School without President Waldo is an impossible picture for the imagination. May the day be long postponed when the certainty and the dynamic force of his leadership must be permanently missed.

We most heartily congratulate President Waldo upon the opportunity for rest and travel which the State Board of Education has granted him. Students and faculty unanimously unite in the utmost good will to wish God-speed to his family and to him.

God-speed
During the past eighteen years Western State Normal College has grown until she now has more than fifteen hundred students. She has a faculty of eighty-five instructors, each an expert in his line. Miraculous growth! Yet not miraculous, for the good fortune of Western Normal has been in direct proportion to the foresight and progressiveness of those who have guided her destinies, together with the service which she has rendered.

We are proud of Western: of her zeal for service and progress, her excellent corps of instructors, her loyal students, her modern buildings and the beautiful hill on which they stand. But in our enthusiasm for these we would not forget our rapidly increasing army of workers in the field,—the alumni.

It is the alumni who go into the towns, villages, and hamlets of our state, spreading the gospel of Western Normal. It is the alumni who, having the perspective gained by distance and the passing of time, see Western in her true light and most truly appreciate her.

Many of our alumni are doing noble work,—have achieved and are achieving success. We are glad to know of their successes. We are indeed fortunate in being able to present these messages from a few of the alumni whose love for their Alma Mater has grown in fervor with the passing of the years.

THE BEGINNINGS OF ATHLETICS AT WESTERN

I am glad to have a word to the Brown and Gold about the time when I attended the Normal and when Western State Normal College was almost unheard of.

In 1906 when I entered the Normal, we gathered together about twelve or fifteen men and started out to make a football team. I was just out of high school and had played on the State High School Championship team the year before, so it was up to me to coach and captain the Normal eleven. Our suits were picked up here and there and we didn’t look much like a team. But we put up some very good games and had a very good schedule, playing such teams as Ypsilanti Normal, Ferris Institute, Mt. Pleasant Normal, and Kalamazoo College. We did about the same thing in baseball the next spring.

In 1907 Mr. Spaulding came to us and everyone knows how the Normal has grown in the athletic line and in every other way, since. I am rather proud of the fact that I was captain both of baseball and football for the first two years under Spaulding. The Normal is losing a great coach and a mighty fine fellow in "Spaul."

I have been in Port Huron since leaving Normal in 1909, as Director of Manual Training and Athletics in the public schools, except for two years spent in the service.

When I came to Port Huron I represented the Manual Training and Athletic Department alone. Now there are five in the two departments, three of whom are from the Western State Normal College. How does that make our school look?

BACK TO NORMAL

It is indeed an inspiration to every alumnus of "Old Western" to find himself again at the top of Normal Hill a few times during each of his after years; to look out over the wonderful north, east and south views, pass on into and through the busy gymnasium, pause a moment at the door of the quiet library where unceasing but cheerful toil seems to be the keynote, then on into the classroom of a former instructor or back to the gymnasium for an enthusiastic assembly, gradually feeling himself once more "Back to Normal."

This occasional visit keeps alive that flame of sincere optimism with which Normal’s atmosphere of contagious loyalty inoculates every student. It enhances in one's mind the school’s democratic ideals, her faith in every worthy student, and her spirit of progress which makes her a better school every day of her existence. It strengthens one’s faith in humanity to thus strike up a bond of mutual fellowship with the ever increasing body of heirs to Western’s ideals. It strikes that responsive note of patriotism within each graduate which carries over from every instructor to each new student. It makes Old Western a magnet, a virtual lodestone which brings out in each of us the equal of its own fidelity, courage and loyalty.

"Back to Normal, alumni! Let’s go!"

AN APPRECIATION

Some fourteen years ago I first reported at Western State Normal College for work in a summer session. I was so well pleased with my general treatment received from the faculty that I returned for more summer work and finally spent a school year on the campus, as a result of catching the Western Normal spirit, and finished in 1910.

While I have since studied in several higher institutions and have finished a University course, my mind goes back to Western as the place where I caught my first real inspiration to complete a college course and devote my life to teaching.

I appreciate the sound pedagogy, the thorough academic training, the fine lessons in democracy and most of all, the inspiration which comes from meeting real men and real women such as Western State Normal College has on her faculty.

Since my experience at the Normal was in the early days of her existence, I have had the satisfaction of seeing the institution go forward, each year bigger and better, until now she stands out as a real leader among the Normal schools of the Middle West.

May Western Normal move forward into ever widening fields of service; that is my wish and confident expectation.

GREETINGS FROM THE CLASS OF 1906

A member of the first class which completed a two-year course at Western State Normal School salutes you! The year was 1906. That will probably seem a long time ago to members of more recent classes. Those who belonged to that memorable class, like rather to think of what has been accomplished by our associates and of the wonderful growth of the institution which we all respect and love so well.

It takes years to get a perspective. Our class was small in numbers, but mighty in power. The faculty was not large but each instructor was the best to be found in the United States. The students all knew each other and we were like one big family. Most of us took the general life certificate course. Few others were offered. The first year we used the old college building which stood at the intersection of Lovell Street and Oakland Drive. When we went up on the hill the second year, we felt high in the world in every sense. There were two student organizations—the Amphictyon Society for women and the Riley Literary Society for men. The Choral Union gave its first entertainment in the present high school assembly room. Those were good years. We worked hard, loved our instructors and accomplished much. Our alumni have made good. Many are now superintendents, principals, and supervisors. Some have married.

You who are now enjoying the wonderful opportunities afforded by Western State Normal College, can scarcely realize your blessings, such as the splendid modern buildings, the wide range of subjects to choose from, the variety of organizations, and perhaps best of all, the opportunity to come in contact with the increased number of instructors and students. We do not envy you. We rejoice with you that our school has grown not only in numbers, but in opportunity.

It has been my good fortune to teach in three states,—Michigan, Washington and Minnesota. No matter where I have gone, the name and fame of Western State Normal College have been known and respected. The standing of our school is high. It is most progressive and democratic. Our alumni are scattered over many states and countries. All of them from the class of 1905 to the class of 1922 would like to express their appreciation of our Alma Mater, Western State Normal College, one of the best institutions in the world.

INTRODUCTION TO SCENIC SECTION

It is difficult to realize that the life history of Western Normal is covered by the short space of eighteen years. We are accustomed to consider age and tradition a necessary adjunct to great educational institutions; in fact, those institutions themselves rightly build many of their claims to greatness upon their noble histories and traditions. However, there is a greatness and a glory in the achieving as well in the achievement. While this is fundamentally an achieving school, yet Western can with equal propriety already lay claim to many achievements in the realm of education.

It is impossible for this scenic section to represent anything but the material growth of the school. This is a mere pictorial representation of the growth of that seed planted less than a score of years ago on the summit of Prospect Hill—the seed which eventually developed into the vigorous educational organism that is the present state of Western Normal. This scenic section should convey some idea of the no less remarkable and inspirational development that can not be caught by the camera's lens—the development in spirit, power, and influence that has taken place within the eighteen years of our President's administration.
The first session of the Western State Normal was held in the Central High School building during the summer of 1904. The faculty numbered nine and the students one hundred ten.

In the Fall of 1904, the classes were moved to the College building which then stood at the corner of Lovell Street and Oakland Drive.
Prospect Hill, as the Normal Hill was then called, did not present a hopeful appearance in 1900, as viewed from Walnut Street.

About this time, the "Little Theater" was known as the "Inventor's Manufacturing Company."
The Administration Building was occupied in the Fall of 1905.

The Gymnasium was completed in 1907. The ambitious students of those days reached the top of the hill by the long flight of wooden stairs.

Those students who were less ambitious used the cable-car, which ascended a sandy roadbed. There were no platforms at the terminals of this railroad in those days.
The Training School was occupied in the Fall of 1909.

The year 1915 saw the completion of the Science Building, which made possible the removal of the science laboratories from the Administration Building.
The Manual Arts Building was used for the first time in 1921.

To-day the ambitious and the weary student may ascend the hill side by side. Compare this picture with the preceding one of the cable cars.
Here we see the present institution. Concrete steps have replaced those of wood. And the unpaved hill of 1900 has become the beautiful campus of a great teachers' train.
Ah! Memories of sweet summer eves,
Of moonlit wave and willowy way,
Of stars and flowers, and dewy leaves,
And smiles and tones more dear than they!
"Practice is the best of all instructors."
"Scenes of many a hard fought battle."
"Giving to Memory help when she would weave a crown for Hope."

CLASSES
SENIOR COLLEGIATE

Since the establishment of the Bachelor of Arts degree four years ago, this course has been rapidly gaining in favor and membership. The Senior class was organized early in the fall term, but did not elect officers until the Student Association began functioning. At the fall election the following were chosen as officers for the ensuing year: C. E. Burklund, President; Dorr L. Wilde, Vice-President; Anne Moore, Secretary; and Paul Bowersox, Treasurer. Edna Otis, Jacob Frank and Paul Bowersox were elected as Council representatives. Upon the resignation of Mr. Bowersox, John DeHaan was elected to succeed him.

The Senior Class has endeavored throughout the year to maintain high standards of scholarships and co-operation. Several times the Juniors and Seniors have met for social gatherings. The program for Conservation Day was directed by the Senior Class. The class has also endeavored to assist all school activities to its best ability.

Mr. Sprau is the patron of the class; his timely advice as well as his valuable suggestions have been greatly appreciated.

IN MEMORIAM

Under continuing and often disappointing contests, moral, physical and mental, there worked out under the inexorable laws of human nature a splendid and complete young Christian gentleman. Doran Towers lived long enough to win out. The lesson of this young life is that this can be done by a man without being a prig, without failing to be a good fellow, and without bending to debasing environment.

JUNIOR COLLEGIATE

This year has noted a marked recognition of the upper classmen, for never before has Western State Normal designated its first and second year students as Freshmen and Sophomores. Although only a fourth of our present class was here last year, there exists a very strong bond of union among the members. We aim to encourage all students to continue through a four year course.

Due to the big organization movement of the Student Association, the classes were not organized until late in the fall term. During the winter term the Seniors gave the Juniors a party in the rotunda of the training school. The faculty members present were Mr. and Mrs. Sprau and Mr. and Mrs. Shilling. In the early part of the spring term the compliment was returned when the Juniors entertained the Seniors.

The class contains some very earnest and conscientious workers who have stood back of the school in all the big problems which have confronted it; we feel sure that this class will make itself known in the future.

SOPHOMORE HISTORY

Our hearts beat high with the desire to go forth and fill our places in the world, but as the time comes when we must leave Western we feel a sense of loneliness and regret, for we realize that the biggest, happiest moments of our lives are to be but memories.

Those first memories of enrollment days, of strange faces and new situations were followed by blurred recollections of activities, including mixers, student parties, and clubs, through which the many strange faces came to be friendly ones. Then, the thrills we experienced as the Squad fought for Western to bring honor to the Brown and Gold! Each student began to feel himself a part of the school.

Amidst all this activity the following class officers were elected: President, Edward Hoffenbacher; Vice-President, Grace Mitchell; Secretary, Helen Hartzel; and Treasurer, Mason Smith. As the year progressed we came into closer relationship with each other through the many opportunities given us, among which were Dr. Russell Conwell's lecture, "Acres of Diamonds" and the recital given by Cortot, the famous French pianist. "The Big Idea," the annual mid-winter presentation, and "The Power of Faith" made us proud of our first year at Western.

In the fall all returned with enthusiasm to make this the best year that Western had ever known. School organizations started off with a bang. Class officers were elected as follows: President, Mason Smith; Vice-President, Lodovine Fauri; Secretary, Georgia York; and Treasurer, Loree Harvey. School spirit and loyalty manifested itself in every organization. Enthusiasm was at its highest on election day, because every student felt himself responsible for the establishment of "The Student Association," an accomplishment which in the future will make our hearts swell with pride for Western. " Peg O' My Heart," the Choral Union Concerts, the evening with Ruth Draper, and Brown and Gold Day all contributed toward making this the best year that the school has ever known.

It is with regret that we leave. Though our paths are separated, we will never forget our old times' tie; and the loyalty, spirit and good fellowship of the past two years go on and our dearest memories will be of Western.
SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL LIFE DEPARTMENT

The aim of the Senior High School Course is to prepare students for the teaching of grades above the ninth. This course provides opportunity for specialization in a chosen line of work such as mathematics, science, history, or English.

The Senior High Department, though comparatively new, is one of the most progressive in the school; the instructors are of the best, and the students comprise one of the finest groups in Western Normal.

THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

Junior High Department! Of what do these words remind you in this year of 1922? Can you not see that line of sixty-four first and second year "Junior Highs," as the former are nearing the close of an eventful first year in college, and the latter are eagerly looking forward to those ideal situations, in which they expect to find themselves before many months have passed?

One of the most important parts of this department is the "Junior High Club." This club was organized during the Winter Term and honored Harold Hill, the only man of the department, with the presidency. Henrietta Barker was chosen Vice President and Blanche Denton, Secretary-Treasurer.

We will not soon forget the good times we have had, for example, the party at the home of Ethel Peters on Cedar St. It is certain that those who attended, still gasp in horror at the wonderful secrets disclosed during the game of gossip. Of course we haven't forgotten that cheery fireplace and the wonderful "eats."

The aim of our "Club" is to provide instruction as well as entertainment. It is toward this end that we are planning some worthwhile projects. We are getting in touch with some of the Junior High Schools of the country and hope by this means to become acquainted with real Junior High problems.

People of the Junior High Department, who go out as teachers should feel that theirs is a responsible position. Their work lies mainly with boys and girls of the 'teen age, that responsive moulding age. They should feel that they truly need Edwin Osgood Grover's "Recipe for Education."

To infinite patience add a little wisdom, carefully strained through profitable experience. Pour in a brimming measure of the milk of human kindness, and season well with the salt of common sense. Boil gently over a friendly fire made of fine enthusiasms, stirring constantly with just discipline. When it has boiled long enough to be thoroughly blended, transfuse it by wise teaching, to the eager mind of a restless boy and set away to cool. Tomorrow he will greet you an educated man.

LATER ELEMENTARY DEPARTMENT

That this department is constantly growing is shown by the fact that the enrollment has increased from one hundred to one hundred twenty-five members since last year. The growth has not been in numbers alone, however, for there has also been an increase in interest and pep; the Later Elementary group is known throughout the school for the enthusiasm of its members.

There is a great responsibility placed on the Later Elementary teacher, for during the time which a child spends in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades, there is a period of great habit formation. It is the duty of each Later Elementary teacher, then, to understand the traits of the children in her care, so she may encourage the desirable and inhibit the undesirable elements as soon as they appear. Since this department is so important, it is necessary that students in this group should receive a thorough and broad knowledge of the wants and needs of the children they are to teach. The aim of this department is to help them gain this knowledge.

The success of this department is due in a great measure to the cooperation existing between the faculty and the members. With a splendid record as an incentive, the future of the Later Elementary Department is assured.

EARLY ELEMENTARY DEPARTMENT

The Early Elementary Department claims the distinction of being the largest special department of Western State Normal. This department was organized in 1904 under the name of Kindergarten Department with an enrollment of five students. It has steadily grown until this year it numbers one hundred and fifty, and every indication points to greater numbers in the future.

Western Normal is one of the few Normal Schools in which the Early Elementary Department combines the Kindergarten and Primary work—grouping the kindergarten, first and second grades.

The training in this department is the same whether a girl is preparing to teach kindergarten, first or second grade. It offers such subjects as will enable the students to have a better opportunity for studying the younger children. The study of children and experience with them in real play and work situations, through observations and practice teaching, is an opportunity very much appreciated by all in the department. The students of the department have the privilege of practicing in Early Elementary grades of the Kalamazoo Public Schools if they desire to do so.

Miss Kern, Miss Coppens, Miss Spindler, Miss Campbell, and Miss Blackburn have been untiring in their efforts to make this graduating class of 1922 successful.

The Physical Education Department has grown very much in the last two years both in the number of students enrolled and in the scope of the work. The aim of the department is to fit teachers to direct physical education in the public schools.

The Girl's Physical Education Department has an enrollment of seventy this year, which fact shows that more girls are realizing that physical education has established a fixed place for itself in the public school curriculum.

The Men's Physical Education Department although organized only two years ago has already established its mark and has an enrollment of seventy-five energetic young men.

The department has two active clubs, the men's "W" Club and the women's Physical Education Association.

THE COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Commerce was organized at Western State Normal in the Fall of 1915. There were five students enrolled with one instructor and assistant. The department occupied a single small room in the basement of the Administration building and had for equipment only a few desks for the students and a desk for the instructor.

At that time the only subjects offered were Bookkeeping, Business Arithmetic, Law, Shorthand and Typewriting, besides the required courses of Psychology and Teaching. As time went on the department developed; it moved to larger quarters in the Science Building, expanded its courses and increased its faculty.

At the present time—just six years later—there is an enrollment of one hundred twenty-five with thirty-five graduates this year, and three special instructors. The course includes Office Management, Letter Writing, Economic Geography, Economics, Financial Management, Commercial Methods and Composition.

Next year, the course will be still further expanded by offering a major in either Accounting or Stenography and electives from other courses in school such as Mathematics, History, English Social Science, Modern Language, Physical Education and Speech. This will soon grow into a four-year course which will put the work of this department on an equal basis with Commerce work in Colleges and Universities.

The department has a live, active club, called the Commerce Club. During the past two years, the Department has assisted in managing and conducting the annual State High School Typewriting and Shorthand Contests.

In the department of Household Arts at Western State Normal many phases of home economics work are offered to girls who are interested in handling the problems of the home more intelligently. This department is becoming larger and stronger in the teacher training schools as men and women are seeing the need of training their boys and girls for more efficient home makers and more intelligent consumers. This is the department which connects school and home.

The Household Arts students at Western State Normal have valuable opportunities for gaining experiences in management by being generally in charge of many banquets, luncheons and food sales which are a part of the social activities of the school.

MANUAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

The beginning courses in printing, bench work and pattern making include investigations and discussions of courses of study, types of equipment and their arrangement in school shops as well as a study of the relative merits of different supplies and materials.

We thoroughly believe that the best type of Manual Arts is that type whose mechanical and industrial methods and processes conform as closely as possible to the accepted methods and processes of the crafts and trades. The cultural and social values are not necessarily weakened by dealing with practical problems. Therefore the content of our shop courses consists of real problems and they are worked out in a practical way.

The machine wood working courses include wood turning, pattern making and advanced cabinet making. The aim in these courses is to familiarize the student with use and care of wood working machines, various methods of furniture construction and practical pattern making projects that may be successfully carried out to completion in the foundry and machine shop. Shop layouts and the relative and commercial value of various types of wood working machines are emphasized. Some time is spent in the refinishing of new and old furniture.

The forge and machine shop work as offered in the Manual Arts course meets the requirements of engineering practice and is coupled up with methods best suited for teacher training.

The work includes planning shop layouts, purchase of equipment, courses of study and practical jobs involving the use of various modern machine tools.

The courses in Auto Mechanics deal primarily with the theory and fundamentals of gas motor operation. The shop work includes practical garage repair problems, motor overhauling, running and testing of motors on blocks, tire vulcanizing, battery and ignition work.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

One of the departments to show decided gains of growth this year is the Music Department. The Freshmen in this department number about twice as many as the outgoing Sophomores. Nearly all the students who go out of this institution to teach in graded schools avail themselves of the opportunity to do work either in the Teachers' Music Class, Elements of Music, or Harmony Class. These people include about one-half of the entire student body.

Our teachers, who rank with the finest musicians in the state, include Mr. Harper C. Maybee, Mrs. Bertha Shean Davis, Mrs. Frances Barrett Jones, Miss Leoti E. Combs, and Mr. H. Glenn Henderson. We hope that before many years pass we will have a four-year course, awarding a degree in Music.

Among the musical organizations sponsored by the department are: Music Study Club, Band, Orchestra, Senior Girls' Quartette, Junior Girls' Quartette, Male Quartette, Mixed Quartette, Sophomore Girls' Glee Club, Freshman Girls' Glee Club and Men's Glee Club.

All of these groups and individuals from our classes have appeared at civic clubs and have given out of town programs. The chorus—which sings at the May Festival of the Kalamazoo Choral Union is composed of a large number of students and local singers.

THREE DAYS IN THE ART DEPARTMENT

Have you ever visited an Art department, Mrs. Perkins? Well, I did last week and I never learned so much in all my life! You'd never believe they could do so many different things there if you did not see them with your own eyes. I'll start right in at the beginning and tell you some of the things I saw up at Western State Normal.

You probably have heard of Miss Rose Netzorg who is at the head of the department—well, she really is a lovely woman and the way she makes those students work, and all they do is a marvel. And of all the things they do—I was both pleased and shocked!

Early that morning they were working on greeting cards for Christmas. They were quite pretty but I'd like them better with red poinsettias and shiny snow on. I understand they sold them to Western students and in that way obtained a goodly sum with which to decorate the Art Department.

Next, I saw them at work on posters for the "National Thrift Week Campaign" and these were to be entered in a contest. The way those people could splash paint on was wonderful! Why, if I had been doing it mine would have resembled a camouflaged machine gun. I have since heard that one of these girls won the first prize of fifteen dollars.

Also, I visited a demonstration drawing class. Here the students seemed to be nervous especially when they were told to draw sketches of objects in "perspective" (what ever that is) on the black boards. They glanced at each other sidewise—and whispered things about the teacher. I saw two girls whose knees were shaking; poor things had ague, I suppose.

That afternoon, they began talking about Egypt and all those old countries whose people were dead long ago, and really, I couldn't see much sense to it. Miss Netzorg seemed so enthusiastic about Greek sculpture and the dynamic symmetry the Grecians used and I guess they used it all right, for it was "all Greek" to me. Well, I didn't care much for that kind of art so I decided to visit Miss Elaine Stevenson's room the next day.

So the next morning, I visited a Hand work class. They were doing much more practical things in there and the people seemed so friendly it reminded me of our Ladies' Aid Society meetings at home. They sat around tables and talked and visited while they worked. I would love to have had one of the bags they were making; it would have been so nice to gather eggs in.

I also visited an Assembly programme and they had scenery! Think of it—scenery for a school programme which lasted about forty minutes. It seems the children made it from brown wrapping paper. I call that a waste of time and paper—think of all the butter you could have done up with that paper!

I haven't time to tell you anymore now but you come over and I'll show you how to make one of those bags to gather eggs in.

DEPARTMENT OF RURAL EDUCATION

The Rural Education students have enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable year under the leadership of Dr. Burnham. There are a greater number in the department this year than ever before. Twenty students will receive a Life Certificate from this department. This shows an increase in interest in problems of the rural communities.

Each student has done his practice teaching at the Michigan Avenue school which is a modern rural school, giving the students the opportunity to meet conditions as they really exist. Miss Cleora Skinner is the critic teacher.

One way by which an opportunity for service has been presented has been for each student to choose a definite problem for special study and to report the results of his labors to the rest of the class each term.

On several occasions during the year, visitors have come in to give the class interesting and instructive lectures.

There has been a fine school spirit all the year. Every class member was also a member of the Rural Seminar, and took an active part in its affairs as well as in other school activities.

It is the hope of the department that still more people will become interested in this particular kind of work, thus making our rural communities better places in which to live.

LIMITED DEPARTMENT

The Limited course at Western State Normal School was organized to meet the needs of students who wished to teach before completing the Life Certificate course in any department. It is for young people who are determined, however, to have more than six weeks of Normal training before assuming the responsibilities of a schoolroom. Limited students come to Western Normal with the understanding that they may receive their certificate on the completion of a year and a summer's work, but may finish their course any time they choose. The department has made very rapid progress, and this year there are over a hundred students enrolled.

They have found, as every Western Normal student has, the pleasure of mingling with other students in their respective classes—the joy of securing results from ideal co-operation between the students and their instructors. Day after day as they build on the past, strengthening a weak link here in the cable of their experiences, building a new one there, there comes a satisfaction that only the life of a student can bring.

They have taken their place in the many activities of the school life. Perhaps it was in the Choral Union, the Y. M. or Y. W. C. A., or many other fields of endeavor. Rural Seminar is their very own organization, in which the Limited and Rural Life Certificate students may meet together once in every two weeks to discuss the many problems pertaining to rural life.

They are going into schools of their own next year; they are going to take to the communities which they enter the spirit of co-operation, of enthusiastic progress which they have met with and absorbed here. For a year or two they are going to give back to others what they have received in this year and summer, but best of all, they are coming back to Western Normal for a bigger and a still more fruitful year in the future.

The last few days of September of the year 1921 brought a great growth to Western. Up the sloping hills moved a throng of very strange green things, as it seemed to the sedate Seniors at the steps of the institution. The fall wind had brought in a much larger crop of green leaves than usual, and it was very puzzling to the expectant crowd waiting, because most of the trees about the campus had not yet shed their green foliage. Finally the throng pressed near its goal and a leader stepped up to a dignified and learned Senior, and asked, "Will you please show us the registration tables? You see we have never been here before." Thus was the mystery instantly solved and wise smiles spread over the countenances of the upper classmen. "Why these are Freshmen!" was the exclamation.

In this manner the Freshman Class of 1921 made its debut in Western Normal. Its numbers exceeded that of any former class, and later on exceptional people began to show their faces as wisely as the Seniors. There was much to be developed in that motley crew.
This class is a very unusual one. For the first time in the history of the school, the class elected, at the annual election on November 9th, a cabinet of officers who were all members of the female sex. (It is improper to call it "weaker sex" after such a display of strength.) The following were elected:

Helen Rose ........................................ President
Katheryn Ferguson ......................... Vice President
Greta Fisher ...................................... Secretary
Katheryn Williams ................................. Treasurer

Student Council Representatives:
Wilma Bakeman  Fay Allen  Florence Walsh

With such an exceptional and unusual coterie of officers, the Freshmen advanced upon the fort of school activities, shed their traditional colors with much dexterity, and demanded the attention of other classmen.

In athletics the Freshman Class has more than proved its worth. Several of its members should be given due credit for athletic prowess and the part they played in making this Western's most successful year.

The first big Freshman party was held January 21 in the gymnasium, which was transfigured with a beautiful aurora of grey and rose. This party was for Freshmen only, and the echoes of it are still heard about Western.

Then the mid-winter play demanded more talent than previously, and therefore the Freshmen graciously offered three of their finest dramatic members. Preston Matthews portrayed a fine "Jerry" for "Peg O' My Heart;" Mary Allen Tippet was charming in the role of Mrs. Chichester; and Blanche Beckwith made us all ask "Have you a little maid in your home?" (with apologies to the Fairy soap manufacturers).

Western Normal was then making tradition so fast that the Student Council started a school song contest. After the appeal for composers had gone forth, upper classmen began to say more wisely than they knew "Oh, let the Freshmen do it." The Freshmen did, with the result that the two finest songs accepted were products of Wilma Bakeman and Adelaide Hart.

When this article was written, the Freshmen had assumed the role of doing the unexpected at all times, and Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores, remembering their less promising first year, solemnly proved their boasted wisdom by prophesying a brilliant future for Western Normal under the leadership of the Amazons.
ORGANIZATIONS
THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

In the fall of 1920, the Booster Committee was organized by representatives from all organizations in an effort to provide some clearing house in which matters relating to the whole school would be cared for. The Committee accomplished a great deal in organizing school activities and promoting school spirit, but it was seriously handicapped in its endeavors, in that it had no legal status, nor was it truly representative of the student body. Realizing these limitations, when it was convened in the fall of 1921, it framed a constitution establishing a more equitable legislative system. This constitution was ratified by vote of the student body, November 9, 1921. It provided for a Student Council composed of representatives elected by each class, together with the presidents of the four classes and four officers of the Association elected by the whole Student Association.

The major part of the Council’s work for the remainder of the Fall Term was largely devoted to the matter of perfecting an organization, which included the appointing of the Brown and Gold staff and the Student Editorial staff of the Herald. During the winter term some outstanding projects were accomplished, together with many incidental current details. Among the chief accomplishments were the Charter System, requiring all organizations to become chartered by the Council, and the Point System, which, by providing a rating of student activities, attempts a regulation of student participation in them. In connection with its general policy of aiding in the development of greater school spirit, a school song contest was carried on which proved very successful in that it not only produced songs for immediate use but also paved the way for establishing a group of school songs.

The main work of the Spring Term has been to publish and issue to each student a student hand-book containing useful information about school life, and to revise the mechanism of organization of the Association. This, together with the establishment of tradition days such as Brown and Gold Day and Conservation Day and assistance in commencement activities, closes the first year of the Student Association successfully.

The Western Normal Herald, our weekly publication serves three purposes. First, it is the house organ of the school. By means of it all the students know what the others are doing and thinking. Through this publication we are united; being not fifteen hundred individuals but one body, fifteen hundred strong. Secondly, the Herald is used for advertising purposes outside of Kalamazoo. It is sent to High Schools and prospective students and they thus obtain an idea of what goes on here and form their opinion of the school. Thirdly, the Herald lives up to its slogan, "It puts the knot in the tie that binds." The real value of the Herald is realized to its fullest extent when one leaves the school and goes out into the world at large. When one is off in some small community endeavoring to carry out the theories obtained at Western, the end of the week is looked forward to with longing because it brings the Herald and lets a person know what their old friends are doing back on the hilltop.

In order to further the first purpose of the Herald, there has been created a certain section belonging exclusively to the students themselves. This is usually found on the third page and is headed "Personalities, Pep and Pleasantries." Last fall the Student Council realized the importance of the students' section and officially appointed a Herald Staff consisting of an editor in chief and three assistants.

Since the press is always one of the greatest of public influences the purpose of the staff has been to make the section of which they have charge not only indicative of the "public pulse" but representative of the best that is thought, hoped or fancied here.

This year the staff has functioned through the supervision and inspiration of Louise McBride, editor in chief, ably assisted by Mildred Gould, Cynthia Potter and Lawrence Bohnet.

The Women's League was formed a number of years ago because of the need felt by the girls of the school for a closer relationship. At that time there were only a few girls in Western's illustrious halls and the club could feel an intimacy which it is impossible to create now with over eight hundred girls in school. But for that very reason, we now feel the need for such an organization more than ever. It is easier to be alone in a crowd than in a small group. We do not want this to be possible at Western so the Women's League has "carried on" to help the girls to feel that they are members of one big family and an important unit in the conduct of school life.

To further this purpose, the Women's League began the year 1921-22 by welcoming the new girls as they came on the trains and escorting them to their proper destinations. By means of a Girl's Mixer the first week of the term, we tried to make the usual gloom of first days an unknown quantity. Later we held tea for all women at which we tried to promote friendship by informality, tea, wafers, and dancing. We were fortunate in finishing the Fall Term with sufficient surplus funds to purchase a day bed and two comfortable chairs for the Women's Club Room.

During the Winter Term we entertained the women of the faculty at an informal tea in the Rotunda of the Training School. This was enjoyable enough to be repeated many times. (Just a hint to forthcoming Women's Leagues.) The masquerade was one of the big functions and the variety of costumes displayed was marvelous. Dorothy Wheeler and Norma Sammet, dressed as snow men, carried off prizes for the most unique costumes. Florence Lyon, dressed as a clown, won the prize for the funniest costume and Miss Elaine Stevenson, in a Scotch costume designed from her regular wardrobe carried off the faculty prize. The picnic and a tea party for the Spring Term concluded the program for the year.
FORUM

The Forum is the oldest debating society on the campus. Its purpose is to promote interest in forensic activities and give students who are interested in public speaking and discussions of current topics, an opportunity to develop their abilities. The Forum believes that such development as is received from this type of experience is essential to a successful life. High standards of character and scholarship are maintained which automatically exclude all but worthy men from the society.

The Forum feels that it has accomplished a great deal in debating this year. Formal debates have been held within the organization, Professors Shilling, Burnham, and Wilds acting as judges. The principal topics for debate have been The Veteran's Adjusted Compensation Bill (HR1) and The Closed Shop. A team consisting of William Arnold, Luke Kelly and Loyal Phares defeated the Tribunal by a unanimous decision, on the question of closed shop in industry. This was the only inter-society debate the Forum has competed in during the season.

The organization has also had an active part in bringing Western State Normal into inter-collegiate debating. Many of its members tried out for the team, and three of them were retained on the varsity squad. The debating manager of the school is also a Forum man.

The social advantages that come to Forum members are evident. Although certain standards of dignity are observed during the business meetings, the members have very enjoyable times and many lasting friendships are formed, from the association of man with man. The Forum has informal programs, such as mock trials, impromptu debates, parliamentary drills, and occasionally light refreshments are served. A banquet was held at the Y. W. C. A., at which several members gave short talks and Professors Moore and Burnham gave addresses. An annual banquet is held in June.

The Forum believes that it fills a definite and vital need in the development of men to meet life's responsibilities. It believes that it fills a need which a man does not get from his books, for men cannot live to themselves alone. The Forum develops in a man the ability to be a man among men.

From the very outset 1921-22 has been a live year for the Senate. The purposes, standards, and traditions of the Senate as a women's forensic organization were maintained: the Scholarship Fund for debating was launched and given the most active support; and finally The Senate fulfilled its every duty as a leading factor in school life.

The Senate began work on the first day of school. The object of this session was to start immediate action in the drive for a thousand dollar fund to establish a scholarship and awards for debating. Around this drive the united efforts of all the forensic societies centered throughout the year. "The Witches' Whirlwind," which was the initial undertaking to raise the money, out-rivaled in variety and scope all doings of the year.

The regular club activities were, throughout the year, varied and valuable. Current events programs, debates on the proposed intercollegiate questions, "Resolved, that Congress should pass the soldiers' adjusted compensation act, H. R. I." "Resolved, that the principle of the closed shop is justifiable," also on the propositions, "Resolved, that professional subjects, such as psychology and education, contribute more to the training of teachers than content subjects, such as history and English," and "Resolved, that capital punishment should be made the penalty for first degree murder in Michigan," made instructive entertainments. Reports and a round-table discussion of the Disarmament Conference furnished the program for the open meeting. Miss Rousseau gave a talk on "What is Good Debating, and How to Judge a Debate;" after which much of the year was spent in an intensive study of debate principles and tactics through reports and discussions.

Inter-society relations were most genial. In the fall, The Senate accepted an invitation to the Tribunal meeting at which Mr. Bibby spoke on the bonus. Later on, The Senate was pleased to greet a sister organization, The Academy. One of the most pleasurable occasions of the year was the formal reception at which The Senate welcomed The Academy, even though the lights did act miserably and rudely interrupt the program. Though numbers prevent such a large sized debating society, these two find it possible to act as a unit in many ways.

The traditional social affairs were enjoyed as in other years. The Senate Alumnae luncheon was held in Detroit during the State Teachers' Convention. The Senate enjoyed the annual supper, picnic, and, best of all, the house-party which proved to be a glorious round of pleasures.

THE TRIBUNAL

The Tribunal is one of Western's young organizations for men, as it is now only two years old. However, we can also say that it is one of the older societies of the school, for many other clubs have been developed since the Tribunal became a reality.

Previous to 1920 there were but two debating organizations at Western, one for men and the other for women. Some of the students of that year realized that there was need for another men's debating society and believed that the existence of such an organization would be instrumental in creating a greater interest in debating and public speaking. As a result of their efforts a group of young men organized on October 25, 1920. They elected Rolland Maybee president and named their organization the Tribunal.

During the first year of the club's existence it expended most of its energy in making its place a permanent one among the older organizations of the school. Its first social event was a banquet which came as a termination of its first term of existence. By this time the club was made up of fifteen members. The Senate's challenge to a public debate on the question of the "Excess Profits Tax" was accepted. The Senate won by a two to one decision after a good debate. Lester Graf, Rolland Maybee, and Charles Starring represented the Tribunal in this contest. With Beryl Fox as president, the Spring Term of '21 was a happy period of the Tribunal's existence.

The Tribunal started its second year with Charles Starring as its president for the Fall Term. The weekly meetings furnished evenings of drill in parliamentary procedure, lectures by members of the faculty, and talks, both prepared and extemporaneous, by members of the club. The society celebrated its birthday by a banquet. Lester Graf was made president for the Winter Term. To start something of interest the Tribunal challenged the Forum to a debate which was won by the Forum after a hard fight. Donald Gorham, Dick Bietry, and Dean Flagg constituted the Tribunal's team for this debate. The Tribunal did its part in support of the Witches' Whirlwind and the Draper entertainment. It is proud of the fact that it could send so splendid a representation to the first inter-collegiate debating squad that Western has ever trained.

Of the nine charter members of the organization, six are still active members. With the numerous good men that have been taken into the Tribunal this year and that will be with the club next Fall it hopes to do great things and is very confident of even greater success in the future.

THE ACADEMY

In November, 1921, it was found necessary for another girl's debating society to be organized and as a result the Academy is now one of the flourishing societies of W. S. N. S. The name signifies all that it implies: high scholarship, interest, activity, and enthusiasm. Miss Rousseau is acting advisor and with her help this society is climbing upward and achieving real results.

Some of the very interesting discussions which have been made this year are on the different phases of the "Disarmament Question." Some of the questions which have been debated are "Resolved, that the project method of learning is the most successful method of teaching in the elementary grades" and, "Resolved that the closed shop should be established in American Industry" and, "Resolved that the U. S. and Canada should construct the St. Lawrence Waterway at once."

This year finds the Western State Normal participating for the first time, in intercollegiate debating. It marks the beginning of a great advancement in forensic work for members outside as well as those inside debating organizations. It is one of the most important collegiate advancements of the year.

Western Normal in the past has shown a great interest in debating, and through the joint enthusiasm of the four debating societies and the Student Council, intercollegiate debating became a reality this year. At one of the first meetings of the Student Council the Debating Manager, Luke Kelley was appointed. The Forensic Board was then created with the Debating Manager as chairman, two faculty advisors, and four representatives from the debating organizations. The Forensic Board has handled the questions of finances, awards and contracts, in a very creditable manner. The Debating Manager besides acting as Chairman of the Forensic Board, has arranged the debating schedule, conducted the tryouts, and secured the judges.

As debating schedules are made a year in advance, it was not possible to arrange debates with certain schools which we desired to debate, but we are fortunate to have been able to arrange one with the Michigan Agricultural College and two with the Detroit Junior College.

In these ranking debates, students acted as chairmen, and faculty members as judges. These preliminary debates gave many students opportunity for training which will be of great value to them in future work. All debates were open to the student body, and many people very profitably used this opportunity to become better acquainted with the art of debating.

The coaches, Miss Rousseau and Mr. Moore and the debating squad have jointly brought the Western Normal College through intercollegiate debating very satisfactorily and successfully.
M. A. C. DEBATE

A series of elimination try-outs, held early in March, resulted in the choice of two teams to act as Western's representatives. The first debate scheduled was with Michigan Agricultural College, and was held in Kalamazoo on April 5. Normal's team composed of Loyal Phares, William Arnold and Donald Gorham upheld the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the principle of the closed shop should be maintained in American Industry." The debaters representing M. A. C. were LeRoy Keely, Harry Smith, and Howard Mehennick.

An interesting feature of this debate was the introduction of the "expert judge" system, whereby the decision was made by one judge, Dean James P. Hall, of the University of Chicago Law School. The decision was in favor of M. A. C. In this, Western's first inter-collegiate debate, our team proved in a gratifying manner their ability to creditably represent their school in college debating. F. W. Moore, of the Faculty, had charge of the coaching of this team. This debate, though not a victory for Western, demonstrated the fact that we possessed first-class debating material, and awakened keener interest in the following forensic contests.
DETROIT JUNIOR AFFIRMATIVE

Detroit Junior College was our opponent in the dual debate, held on Thursday, April 20, 1922. In this event, the Brown and Gold was represented by two teams. The home team defended the affirmative side of the closed shop question, while the team going to Detroit argued for the negative. Our representatives at home were Richard Bietry, Mary Cryan and Donald Gorham, closing speaker. The Detroit team who met them here included Henry Platt, Jack Honeyman, and Donald Leonard, closer, each of whom did excellent work. The judges were Superintendent L. W. Stewart of Dowagiac, Principal C. E. La Furge of Lansing, and Professor A. J. McCulloch of Albion College. The splendid work of our team resulted in a victory for Western, as we won the unanimous decision of the judges.
To make this gratifying victory at home complete, our negative team, debating in Detroit, secured a two to one decision over their opponents. This team consisted of Naurine Wilcox, William Arnold, and Loyal Phares, closer, accompanied by F. W. Moore, their coach. Owing to illness, Miss Thelma Vogt was unable to debate, so Miss Wilcox, alternate, took her place. Miss Wilcox, who went in on a very short notice, capably represented her school. The judges at Detroit were Professor G. D. Wilner, University of Michigan, Professor J. P. Hathaway, University of Michigan, and Professor Carl Brandt, University of Michigan.

Western State Normal had every reason to be proud of the outcome of her initial dual debate; a victory at home and in Detroit. The Faculty and students of Western unite in congratulating the members of her teams, and their coaches, Miss Rousseau and Mr. Moore. To them must go the credit, not only of having completed a successful year’s work in debating, but also of having awakened a keener interest in that activity among the student body. The gratifying results of Western Normal’s first year in inter-collegiate debating augur well for her future forensic activities.
Y. M. C. A.

Coming back from the Lake Geneva Conference, held in the latter part of June, 1921, the cabinet of the student Y. M. C. A. had a real vision of the possibility of rendering a large service at Western, and the cabinet has been largely responsible for the accomplishments of the organization this year. The membership has been the largest of all men's organizations in the school, and the members represent every course and activity.

The program for the regular meetings held each Wednesday night was planned by Rolland Maybee and Edwin Oakes. In the winter term, the program reached its height, for it was carried out in a definite and detailed manner. The general theme for the term was "The Christ Way." The themes for the respective months were, "Christ's Scale of Values," "Be Christian," and "Stand for something and work for something worth while." In carrying out the details of this program, some of the speakers secured were Prof. Shilling, Smith Burnham, and Jud Hyames of the faculty; Dr. J. W. Dunning, Dr. M. L. Fox, and Rev. John Van Peursen, ministers in Kalamazoo; Ernest Giddings of Mattawan, Ray Drukker, Boys' Secretary of the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A., and Richard Hogue, Executive Secretary of the Church League for Industrial Democracy. Mr. Jacob Kindleberger gave an inspirational address at a banquet held at the city Y. M. C. A.

The "Morning Watch" has become one of the most vital parts of the student "Y" program this year. Each Thursday morning a group of the men meet for a half-hour of prayer and Bible study. This morning meeting was one of the important factors in the success of the work.

In addition to the interesting program in the regular meetings, and the "Morning Watch," the "Y" has done some specific bits of service for the school as a whole. One of these was the publication of the Student Directory with several new features. Then too, the "Y" together with the "Y. W." has done much to offer to the large percentage of the student body that does not dance, some social activities that would appeal to them. At first these parties were only for the "Y" members, but later they were thrown open to the entire student body with a marked success. The "Men's Mixer" has become one of the most enjoyable activities for men at Western. The event, held once each term, is attended by practically every man in the school.

The student "Y" has done a great deal to fill its place in offering to the men of the school a chance to develop the religious side of their lives, and has applied Christianity in a practical way by doing its utmost to bring about a finer spirit of fellowship in the student body. The "Y" officers are as follows:

President .................................. H. Loree Harvey
Vice President ............................. Marvin Anderson
Secretary ................................... Carl W. Balsam
Treasurer .................................... Donald Gorham
Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. has been known on Western's campus since the opening of its doors. It has always been a force enabling the girls to know one another better, both socially and religiously.

We have had some inspiring meetings this year. We have had many speakers from outside, and many friends of the faculty have given us enjoyable talks. The meetings which are held every Wednesday afternoon have been especially well attended and worth while. Our membership has passed the two hundred mark—the largest enrollment the Y has ever had. This was accomplished on the personal basis of membership, and every member can give as much as he desires for his dues.

One of the enjoyable events of the year, which every member would like to be able to attend, is the annual Y. W. C. A. conference, held at the wonderful camp at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. Four of our members were sent there last August—Thelma Vogt, Irene Dangremond, Helene Hirsch, and Jennie Hinken. The enthusiasm and vision which they brought back has been felt by the entire Y. Especially have the Y girls enjoyed the conference song, "Follow the Gleam." We are planning to send one of our members to the National Convention at Hot Springs, Arkansas this spring.

Of all the social gatherings which have been held, "Joy Night" is without a doubt the one most enjoyed. This is put on by the Y. M. and the Y. W. From this is raised the money for our Lake Geneva delegates. The "Y" parties which are given each term are times when much laughter issues from the "Gym." It may be the result of the Kiddy-Car race or the peanut chase.

The success which has been ours this year has been due to the cooperation which has existed between the members, the cabinet and those of the faculty who act as our advisors.

STUDENT SCIENCE CLUB

The Student Science Club of Western State Normal School was first organized in January 1921, and adopted a new constitution on January 1, 1922, under which it now operates.

The purpose of this club is to instill in all its members the spirit of investigation; to inculcate a love for the sciences and an interest in the study thereof; to develop a scientific attitude on the part of the students, and to present to them material which will be of practical value. It will readily be seen that its purpose is manifold.

By the division of the club into groups this definite purpose is most expediently accomplished. These groups meet regularly for study and experimentation. They are, namely: Physics, Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Mathematics and General Science. Each group has an appointed leader who is responsible for the program of work which is carried out among the members of the group.

The predominating feature of each bi-weekly meeting is a lecture by one of the instructors in some department of science, or by a student who wishes to present to the club the results of his study and experimentation. These lectures give a comprehensive view of general science not only to members but also to students who are interested in the sciences.

Much interest has been manifested by the large attendance at the regular meetings, and the club is flourishing. Membership consists of students electing one year of science, and now numbers sixty. The possibilities of this organization are great and warrant its permanency. It has come to stay.

The world trend toward science and the high position of leadership held by scientifically trained men seemed to be a compelling reason for the establishment of an honorary society, through whose influence it was confidently expected scientific attainment would be fostered.

Consequently, early in the school year, 1920-21 the Faculty Science Club began to plan for the organization of an honorary scientific society which should be composed of the honor students in science and mathematics in Western Normal. In April 1921 the organization was perfected and named Kappa Rho Sigma.

Conditions of election and membership: Any Sophomore, Junior, or Senior student, who has done excellent work in any science or in mathematics is eligible. He must be nominated by the head of his department and be accepted by unanimous vote of the Science Club. Elections are held in April of each year.

THE CLASSICAL CLUB

Among the oldest and most utilitarian of the clubs of Western State Normal is the Classical Club. This club may be considered the smallest but largest: smallest because its membership is limited to a small specialized department; largest because it is most representative of the body for which it functions. Until this year the membership has been limited to the students of the Latin department, but from now on its privileges will be extended to the students of Roman History and Mythology.

The aim of the organization is to furnish programs which are connected with the class subjects and which the limited class time prevents discussing there, for example, Roman institutions, Ancient Rome and the home life of the Romans. Occasionally a social hour is spent playing old Roman games, but for the most part the more serious phases are considered.

Each year’s work culminates in a banquet. This is carried on in true Roman style from the wearing of togas to reclining on banquet lounges at the feast.

The officers for this year aside from the faculty supervisors, Miss Zimmerman and Miss Kraft are:

President ............................................ Helen Sly
Vice-President .................................. Margaret Horner
Secretary ............................................ Jessie Hawley
Treasurer .......................................... Eretha Merrick
Reporter .......................................... Katherine McCarty
Social Chairman ................................ Alice Buys
LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The purpose of Le Cercle Francais is to promote conversational French and to study other sides of French life than can be touched upon in the class room. Thus the students obtain a better knowledge of the life and customs of France than they would otherwise have. The students of the advanced French classes are eligible to membership. The meetings are held the third Monday of each month and consist of talks, music, and dramatizations. Mrs. Hockenberry and Miss Tamin are the faculty advisors.

The programs of the organization for this year have been varied and exceedingly interesting. At the first meeting Miss Tamin gave a talk on the province of Normandy and the city of Caen which she illustrated by showing many views of that section of France. Mlle Schmidt of Kalamazoo College gave a talk on the province of Brittany at a later meeting. The annual Christmas party, to which all students in the French department were invited, was held in the rotunda of the Training School. The program consisted of Christmas carols and poems, colored slides of Nativity scenes by famous artists, and living pictures. Two very successful plays have been given this year: "Un Bureau Telegraphique" and "L' Anglais Tel Qu' On Le Parle." The organization has been very fortunate in securing some marionettes which will be shown at one of the meetings. The last meeting of the year was a banquet for all the members of the society. It was similar to the one held last year which in turn was one of the most successful undertakings in the history of the organization.

We have with us again this year a French student, Mlle Eva Merrienne, who came from Radcliffe College. She has been very helpful in plays and readings.

The members of the Cercle Francais who belong to the third and fourth year classes have availed themselves of the opportunity of attending the public meetings of the Kalamazoo Alliance Francaise. A series of lectures on "Les Salons" has been given at these meetings by Mr. Rene Talamon, a professor at the University of Michigan and an official interpreter at the Disarmament Conference at Washington.

THE "W" CLUB

The "W" Club was formed in 1920. Only winners of a "W" in football, baseball, basketball and track are eligible for membership in the club. The purpose of the organization is to promote clean athletics and a spirit of co-operation among the athletes of the school. During the present school year the club has been unusually active; a student party was given by the "W" men at the beginning of the winter term, later the "W" Club co-operated with four other clubs of the school in bringing Ruth Draper to Kalamazoo.

Meetings are held every two weeks on Tuesday night in the Men's Club Room. Business meetings with an occasional night for initiation are the rule.

Just at present plans are being made for a homecoming banquet for all the men at Western who have won their letters in any branch of athletics. This would bring all the men together at one time and should prove to be a decided advantage for the school and for the "W" men.

Officers for the year are Reed Waterman, President; John Gill, Vice-President; Paul Bowersox, Secretary; and E. P. Bennett, Treasurer.

W. H. Spaulding was presented with a "W" before his departure to Minnesota, thus making him an honorary member of this club.
The Commerce Club is the social organization of the Commerce Department. Its purpose is not only to promote a spirit of good fellowship among the Commerce students, but to help them to better understand modern business problems.

The meetings are held once a month. Several local business men have addressed the members on topics of special interest to students. Early in the year, three demonstrations of modern machines used in business offices were given. The club also secured Mr. Albert Tangora, former champion typist, to demonstrate typewriting before all those who were interested in this subject.

Probably the two happiest events of this year’s programs were the picnic and banquet. The picnic is an annual affair of the Club and was held in May. This year the students felt that a banquet should be given at the March meeting; they enjoyed a program of toasts and music including a supper served by the members of the Household Arts Department.

Through committees in co-operation with the faculty of the Commerce Department, the Commerce Club has done some effective work relative to the State Shorthand and Typing Contest held at Western in May.

This year has been a most successful one. The membership is larger than ever before and a keen interest in its work has been manifested. The future of the Club looks very promising.
LATER ELEMENTARY ASSOCIATION

In December, 1921, the Later Elementary Association began its fifth successful year as the social club of this department. The Association was organized for the purpose of interesting the members of the department in questions relating to Later Elementary work, and promoting friendship throughout the group. Every Later Elementary girl is eligible to join the Association and at present there are fifty-five active members.

The programs for our meetings are in charge of the chairman of the program committee. She appoints committees and arranges the programs with the view of bringing before the group the questions which are of the greatest value in Later Elementary work. Our programs consist of talks by Mrs. Davis and other members of the faculty, discussions of vital problems, games, music and dancing.

One of our meetings was a "get-acquainted" party given in the basement of the Training School. The grand march was led by Miss Stevenson of the faculty, after which a cafeteria supper was served. At seven o'clock the girls went in a group to a down-town theatre.

The party was chaperoned by Miss Shaw, Miss Stevenson, Miss Kraft, Miss Blackburn and Miss Barton.

On Thursday, March 16, the L. E. A. gave a roller skating party at Oakwood. In spite of the usual tumbles, this was one of the enjoyable parties of the season.

The Later Elementary Association has done a great deal in the past toward upholding the standards and traditions of Western State Normal. We have great hopes and plans for the future of the Association.

The Early Elementary Club is made up of about one hundred girls who belong to the Early Elementary Department. Meetings are held twice a month in the kindergarten room. Sometimes there are special meetings to make plans for a party, to make gifts for a sale, or to do some work for the school. Through these meetings every girl has the opportunity to meet other girls of the department and to gain a broader understanding of the problems of early childhood education.

This year the girls held their annual Candle Light Service which proved a great success. Then came a Christmas gift sale and later a candy, cookie, and flower sale at Easter time from which they obtained the money for the maintenance of the scholarship fund and support of the French orphan. This is the fifth year they have supported an orphan and the second year that they have offered the scholarship of one hundred dollars which they inaugurated in 1921. This year the Club had charge of the Student Valentine Party given during the winter term which proved a great success. They have had several parties by themselves at which the programs and "eats" have been of a high standard. The Freshmen are a peppy lot and they expect they'll do big things next year. The sincere hope of the club is that coming generations may carry on the work, thus far so nobly advanced.

RURAL SEMINAR

The Rural Sociology Seminar was the first student organization to be formed after the founding of the school in 1904. When the constitution was revised this year, the name was changed to Rural Educational Seminar. Its purpose is to study and to seek workable solutions to problems of rural life. All members of the Limited and Rural courses and other students interested in rural work are eligible for membership.

The meetings, held every two weeks during the year, have been varied and interesting. An effort has been made by the different program committees to bring before the club speakers who had something to give that would be of permanent value to the members. Music, in some form, has also furnished an enjoyable part of many of the programs.

The officers of the organization are elected at the beginning of each term. The officers for the winter term were: Vera Pickard, President; Romane Barnard, Vice-President; and Viola Beery, Secretary-Treasurer.
THE MANUAL ARTS CLUB

When one speaks of the Manual Arts Club he in a sense, means the Manual Arts Department of the Western State Normal because any person intensely interested in the department will belong to the club. This club perhaps is not very widely known at the Normal for it does not enter so much into the activities of the school as some of the others, and since all notices, announcements of activities are practically confined to the members and to the Manual Arts Building.

The organization of this club is good, depending on a constitution which is well-constructed, and having an active membership of about eighty or ninety members and an efficient set of officers.

The activities of the club are varied to some extent. The meetings are held every two weeks. At these meetings the larger part of the time is devoted to instructive entertainment, such as addresses by prominent men of the city, or educational movies. Often in connection with these meetings refreshments are served or a short dance is held in one of the shops. The students of the Art Department have a standing invitation to these meetings and are frequently present for the programs are interesting and beneficial to them also.

In addition to these activities every year the Manual Arts Club gives a party in the Gymnasium to the student body of the school. These are always among the best of the parties and are said by some who are not members of the club, to be the best every year.
HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Remember that chicken pie supper?
Did you like it?
The club enjoys preparing and serving what people like.
What is it they like?
Good "Home Cooking."
Can you recall the evening of December 8 when you walked into the Training School Lunch Room? The decorations were in red crepe paper and evergreen branches. The tables were covered with red candles with sprays of evergreen about them.
Was that all?
The eats!
The dessert of ice cream and cake was in keeping with the color scheme in the decorations.
Last but not least—
Remember the maidens in white dress and caps of red and white who waited upon you? Was not that the last note necessary? The world wants service. This is what was done—but—HOW was it done?
CO-OPERATION!
Every girl in the Household Arts Department put her heart and soul into her division of the work and put the thing through.
CO-OPERATION! LABOR! SUCCESS!
The club also netted a sum of which they are proud and after much consideration have decided to use the proceeds in starting a scholarship fund for the Household Arts Department.
The club desired pins this year but wanted them characteristic of the Household Arts Department, so they chose a pin with a spinning wheel design.
This year the members of the Home Economics Club have aimed to establish for the club a stronger framework, that the incoming members and officers could give their time and energy to gain a better understanding of the home economic field of study for it has many branches which are unknown to a great many people.

BROWN AND GOLD WE SING TO YOU AND IN OUR HEARTS YOUR STANDARDS HOLD. WE PRAY THAT

FORTUNES SMILE MAY FAVOR YOU, AND IN HER MANTLE YOU EN-DOFF HAIL, OH, WESTERN NORMAL

BACK OF YOU WE'RE STANDING FIRM OUR WATCHWORD EVER "LOYALTY" YES.

BROWN AND GOLD THE TRIED AND TRUE WE'LL DOFF OUR HATS TO YOU. WESTERN, WE'RE PROUD OF YOU.
The object of the Girl Scouts is to train for leadership and make better citizens.

The call for recruits this fall was well answered. Many of the old members returned, accompanied by a goodly number of tenderfoot scouts.

The troop was organized under the direction of Miss Hussey, who acted as captain. It was composed of thirty-two members organized into four patrols.

The following officers were elected: President, Anne Finlay; Vice-President, Helen Cansfield; Secretary, Marion Campbell; Treasurer, Mildred Guetschaw.

Some of the activities the scouts participated in were coasting, skating, bowling at the Y. M. C. A. and the making of Christmas wreaths.

A series of very interesting talks on Parliamentary law given by Lousene Rousseau, helped in giving the Scouts a better understanding of how to manage their business meetings.

In the Spring of 1921 the troop made a hike to Grand Rapids; the same hike was repeated this spring.

We hope that the Girl Scouts will have a large membership, and that they will progress as rapidly in the future as they have in the past.
THE BAND

The fall term of 1921 opened with the call for all men with musical ability, qualified to participate in the success of the school band to co-operate and retain the high standing of the organization of the previous year. This call was responded to by the old members and many new ones—thirty-two in all.

Work was started immediately, and the band made its appearance at the first football game of the season. Not only has it aroused the school spirit and put pep into the student body at games, thus showing our team that the school is behind them to the last man, but it has made many public appearances and has given fine entertainments out of the city. After organizing and drawing up a constitution the band was recognized by the Student Council as being one hundred per cent efficient.

The band is proud to say that through the untiring efforts and faithfulness of the leader, Virgil Altenburg, and the constant co-operation of each individual member that it is one of the most popular musical organizations of the school.

This year's organization is the most balanced that the Normal has ever had, being composed of saxaphones, bass horns, clarinets and all other instruments with which a good band is equipped. It has more than fulfilled the expectations of its supporters; it hopes that in the future years the band will grow with Western and continue to play its part in the life of the school.
THE MEN'S GLEE CLUB

As Western Normal is a progressive and growing institution, being bigger and better each succeeding year so the Men's Glee Club is becoming bigger and better each succeeding year. Perhaps no year has been so fruitful and satisfactory from every standpoint as this one. The club started out with a splendid peppy bunch of men all eager to make things progress. During the entire year's work the same bunch has been in fine spirits and with consistent attendance at the weekly rehearsals, it has been able to work up some unusually attractive and popular programs. One of the outstanding factors responsible for the success of the club's work has been that added life and vigor has been firmly implanted in the organization as a result of the selection of a fine group of musical hits which have now been added to the long list of Glee Club numbers. Another sign of progress has been shown by the fact that the club has given many more outside concerts this year than ever before.

To be able to present successful programs is the immediate aim of all musical organizations, if ultimate success is to be assured. To arrange such programs has not been difficult for the organization this year. They have consisted of quartet numbers, solos, vaudeville, and selections by the club at large. The Peerless Quartet hasn't any equal in any of the colleges of the state. Solos were both of an instrumental and vocal nature. As for the vaudeville acts, they were in a class by themselves, being far superior to that which is often seen in small-town vaudeville. In all, the club has been very fortunate in its ability to present high class popular programs.
MEN'S GLEE CLUB
THE SOPHOMORE GIRLS’ GLEE CLUB

The Sophomore Girls’ Glee Club, which is composed of Sophomore Music Students and talented Sophomores from other departments, has done some very fine work this year. Members of the faculty have taken pains to comment upon the improvement of this club over last year.

The members have quite overcome all stage fright, and present a very confident appearance in public. Indeed, they would be an attractive addition to any entertainment. Anyway, ask the gentlemen of the city luncheon clubs before whom the glee club did some of the finest work under difficulties (namely, a barrage of smoke). But smoke or no smoke the girls warbled bravely through it and cut the smoke screen with their clear notes and delicate harmony. However, many were the explanations that had to be made on their return to their afternoon classes. Evidently, some members of the faculty suspected a secret organization of women smokers, as four or five of the strongly perfumed girls walked to their seats. Two or three of the girls emphatically denied that HE ever smoked, and went home immediately to change into clothes lacking the mixed aromas of Fatima and Bull Durham, et cetera.

The club also sang in the training school amid whispered exclamations of “Oh, there’s my teacher;” “there’s Miss Wright, and Miss Mitchell,” etc. The girls immediately assumed a patronizing air and smiled angelically at the young adorers.

These are just a few samples of the character building programs these brave maidens have had to undertake, and here we add that the moulding of their temperamental lives would not have been successful had they not had the earnest and sympathetic coaching of Mr. Maybee, who has made their glee club days a thing of joy that will last forever.
FRESHMEN GIRLS’ GLEE CLUB

On any Thursday afternoon, after three-thirty, loiterers in the halls of the Administration Building may hear melodious sounds issuing from room 7A for which the above group, known as the Freshmen Girls’ Glee Club, are responsible. The glee club includes Freshmen members of the Music Department, as well as other Freshmen interested in music. With Mrs. Frances Barrett Jones as director, the girls have accomplished some very commendable and artistic work. They have sung before the Normal High Parent-Teacher’s Association, the Afternoon Study Club, the State Hospital, and some of the Kalamazoo business men’s organizations. The personnel of the glee club includes the following members:

Sopranos—
Alberta Rysdorp
Martha Brown
Adelaide Furtaw
Zella Pope
Florence York
Dorothy Albaugh
Ruth Butcher

Second Sopranos—
Edythe Hill
Winifred Rice
Stella Hammond
Mildred Owen
Natalie Greenbaum.

Contraltos—
Fern York
Eileen Cross
Gladyss Hein
Marguerite Wood
Adelaide Hart
Kathryn Whalley
Alta Hart
Ruth Adriance
Letha Godshalk
Margaret Wells
Mary Wilde

Wilma Bakeman, Accompanist

With the memory of a successful and pleasant year as members of the Freshman Glee Club, the Freshman girls look forward to greater accomplishments as Sophomores.
"Hail, hail, the gang's all here" might well be sung whenever the Sophomore Girls' Quartette lines up in formation at any entertainment in school or city affairs. The girls have done so much ensemble work this year that they almost decided that they would be old maids and go on singing together all the rest of their lives. They not only sing together, but they eat, sleep, and study together.

This Quartette has been a fine advertisement for Western State Normal. The girls have given programs in a number of southern Michigan towns as well as in Kalamazoo. They have also sung a great many times at the business men's clubs in the city, such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Exchange, and Lions. They have enjoyed banquets at a great many conventions which have been held here and have appeared on programs at the Kalamazoo music clubs. They represented Kalamazoo at the State Kiwanis Convention at Grand Rapids, and the result was that the Kalamazoo club got the prize. At the Lions' Club they were introduced as specimens of the work of the undertaker who had charge of the program.

The girls, however, do not claim credit if their work has been successful. They are wholeheartedly united in their praise of Mr. Maybee, to whom all their success is due.

The personnel of the Quartette is:
June Corbin, soprano, Grand Rapids
Lovella Schroder, soprano, Kalamazoo.
Dora Wright, contralto and reader, Niles.
Ruth Nichols, contralto, Kalamazoo.
and
Claribel Weimer, pianist-accompanist, Vicksburg.
Among other active musical organizations of the school is our orchestra, which has been unusually competent this year. Besides furnishing music for the Tuesday morning exercises, it has appeared on a number of local programs.

Splendid work has been done throughout the year under the able guidance and leadership of Professor Maybee, to whom much gratitude is due for his untiring efforts in bringing the orchestra up to the best of its capabilities, and in giving the members a vision of what is truly great in music.

The personnel of the orchestra is as follows:

First Violins—
Christopher Overley
Adelaide Hart
Neal Townsend
Leroy Maynard

Second Violins—
Theda Boag
Dorothy Bixby
Venice Driesbach
Malinda Udelle
Frieda Kutschinski

Violas—
Merinda Dudley
Martha Brown

Cellos—
Eulene Trimm
Norine Mack
Dean Flagg

Cornets—
Dorr Wilde
Harold Emerson

Trombones—
Morley Bakeman
Leonard Proctor

Clarinets—
Virgil Altenberg
Franklin Everett

Flutes—
Lawrence Boys
Ronald Shelters

Piano—
Wilma Bakeman
The Music Club of Western Normal is one of the most active and progressive organizations of the school. An attendance at but one meeting would fully convince one of this. Pep and enthusiasm are the outstanding features of the club. It is composed of the entire Music Department and includes the Men's Glee Club.

Mr. Maybee, Mr. Henderson, Mrs. Davis, Miss Combs and Mrs. Jones are the "guiding stars" of the organization. The clever suggestions and ready wit, added to the efficient guidance of these ne'er-to-be-forgotten friends, are keenly appreciated by the members.

Music Club meetings are held once a month. Each meeting has in store a splendid program. The various programs during the past year have been given by the music faculty, the Freshmen and Sophomore Girls' Glee Clubs, the Men's Glee Club and various talented individuals of both Freshmen and Sophomore music classes. These programs have always been of splendid calibre and have afforded the members of the Music Club excellent opportunities to hear and take part in what is truly good music.

Of course community singing was always a part of the program, and it was in this part that the true spirit of Western was always manifested. After the program there were always the most delicious refreshments and a good time, the real "best-time-I-ever-had" kind. Taking it all in all, a music student's education is sadly incomplete if he is not a "Music Clubber."

The officers of the club during the past year were as follows:

President .................. Florence Osborne
Vice-President .................. Grace Mitchell
Secretary and Treasurer .................. Mildred Axtell
THE KALAMAZOO CHORAL UNION

One of the largest musical organizations in this city is the Kalamazoo Choral Union. It had its beginning eight years ago, and since that time has been steadily on the increase, both in popularity and membership.

This society aims to train those who sing in the chorus and to educate the tastes of the public for the highest type of music. Kalamazoo, as a city, can feel very fortunate in having an opportunity to hear many of the great artists in the concert field today. The following artists have appeared here this year: Lucrezia Bori, the Spanish soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Leopold Godowsky, pianist and composer, and Jascha Heifetz, violinist.

This year after the manner of other years, the Christmas Oratorio by Saint-Saëns was given in December by a chorus of three hundred voices which was composed of both Normal students and townspeople. The Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra played an important part in making this number the success it proved to be. The soloists were from among Kalamazoo's best vocalists.

The Annual May Festival is the one big event of each year. It included three concerts; the first by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra assisted by Metropolitan artists; the second, by the children's chorus which sang "Singing Leaves" by Rathborn with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; the third and the dramatic climax was the presentation of Berlioz' "Damnation of Faust" by the chorus of three hundred voices, Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and Metropolitan Opera stars.

These achievements are the results of the work of one man who through his untiring efforts has turned a great vision into a reality. With Mr. Harper C. Maybee as director, and his accompanist, Mr. H. Glenn Henderson, a great transformation has taken place within the hearts of the people, bringing about the desire for that which enriches their lives.
PAGEANT—"THE POWER OF FAITH"

The fifth annual pageant to be given by the students of Western Normal was presented Friday evening, June the seventeenth in the beautiful natural amphitheater in Wattles' Glen. The pageant, "The Power of Faith" was built around the growth of religions, from the earliest form of nature worship to the rise and development of Christianity. The pageant was written by the book committee of the pageantry classes, and was produced under the direction of Miss Laura Shaw. Five hundred people participated in a series of beautiful dances, choruses, and sacrificial ceremonials. "Religion," portrayed by Josephine Rood, and the "Spirit of the Present" portrayed by Forrest Averill discussed at the end of each episode a particular form of worship.

In the opening episode the members of the Glee Clubs, attired as savage nature-worshippers, appeared from the beautiful background of trees. They hung gifts upon the tree branches and watered the roots all the while singing chants of praise. At the end of this episode the Senior Physical Education girls appeared as Nymphs and Dryads and gave a beautiful dance. Then came the portrayal of the ancient religions, first of which was the Babylonian with its worship of the sun god. Harry Smith took the part of Gilgamish and Lillian Holloway, Ishtar. George Tabraham as the Giant engaged Gilgamish in a conflict which left the latter victor.

The third episode presented the Egyptian worshippers leading the sacred cow to the foreground while hymns of worship were sung by groups from the physical education classes. Then followed the portrayal of Greek worship with Irene Sentz as the virgin Pythia. Junior Physical Education men appearing as Spartan soldiers heeded the will of the oracle and departed in peace. Boisterous Bacchanalian worship followed. Franklin Everett depicted Bacchus and the Junior Physical Education girls, the band of revellers.

While the shepherds were watching their flocks, the voices of angels were heard. These were the Glee Club Girls, singing the beautiful noels, announcing the birth of the Christ child. Wise men came bringing their gifts. "Christianity," portrayed by Margaret Doty and "Universal Brotherhood" portrayed by Howard Chenery entered and were greeted by "Religion" and the "Spirit of the Present."

Then, the religion of the Chinese was shown with Larned Goodrich, Burton Sibley, George Berry and Howard Chenery taking the leading parts. The religious worship in India was portrayed by Bernice Mouw. Then came Buddhism and Mohammedanism, followed by the Hebrew religion with John Thompson as Moses who read the Ten Commandments. The children appeared over the hilltop singing the beautiful Children's Crusade Hymn.

The book committee responsible for the pageant were Irene Sentz, Mary Garrison, Eleanor Aldworth and Mary Bottje. The business and properties committee were Lousene Rousseau, Reatha Eckert, Marion Ayres, Dorothy Miller, Eileen Rogers; costumes, Lousene Rousseau, Isabelle Walker, Alma Williams, Ruth Van Sickle, Constance Jones, Virginia Ralston, Euphrasia Aldrich and Genevieve Meulenberg.
WESTERN NORMAL PLAYERS

1921-'22 has been a great year for the Western Normal Players’ Association. Of course, the first big interest to occupy the Players was the initiation of new members. Oh, they’re great sport—these initiations. About the middle of the Fall term the club was royally entertained when the play “Fourteen” was given, with Ruth Nichols, Dora Wright and Theodore Blakeslee taking leading parts. Later these same people furnished part of the entertainment at a big student party.

Soon after this, interest of the Players and of the school began to center around the Mid-Winter Play—and by the time the big night arrived, everybody was going to see “Peg O’ My Heart,” her dignified English aunt and cousins, and her dog Michael. “Shure an’ it was a foine play.”

After the play there was not the usual lack of interest. First it was only a rumor, and then it became a reality. The Western Normal Players took possession of the old Manual Arts building, transformed it, and now “The Little Theatre” is the pride of the school. The grand opening took place the first week in May. Three one-act plays were given—two by the Players and one by the Masquers—and people are still talking about this epoch-marking event.

The Players have, more than in previous years perhaps, won the high esteem of every student of the school. Good luck to the Western Normal Players and “The Little Theatre.”

PEG O' MY HEART

The Western Normal Players presented the Mid-Winter Play, "Peg O' My Heart," to a capacity house at the Fuller Theatre on the evening of February 9. The play was produced under the direction of Miss Laura Shaw of the Speech Department. The stage-setting was in charge of Mr. Hugh Underwood, who very generously contributed his services.

Peg O' My Heart was repeated at the Centre Theatre, South Haven, on the evening of March 27.

The humorous as well as the pathetic phases of this clever drama were effectively carried out by the following cast:

OTEYOKWA CLUB

The Oteyokwa Club may be young, but what is youth but an abundance of spirit? Surely the Oteyokwa Club can now be said to be one of the foremost clubs of W. S. N. S. The organization, truly, is very young, having been started during the beginning of last year, but from then until now it has been increasing until at the present time there is a membership of over fifty.

The aim of the club has been to enable the students from the Upper Peninsula to get together and enjoy many informal parties. For this reason, the name, Oteyokwa, which is an Indian word meaning "the gathering of friends in a strange land," was given to the organization. The members are also continuing to uphold the Normal, just as its originators did.

Most of the meetings thus far have been social; among the special activities may be mentioned the Thanksgiving banquet and the party for the U. P. students of Kalamazoo College.

The officers of the Club are:

President .......................... Lodovine Fauri
Vice-president ......................... F. Vere Nimmo
Secretary ................................ Bernice Bair
Treasurer ............................ Arthur Bousu
IONIA COUNTY CLUB

It is the purpose of the club to promote a spirit of friendliness and helpfulness among its members. It is also the object of the club to encourage others to attend Normal. Although the society is new, it has already had several pleasant gatherings. The meetings are held once every month in the Student's Club Room where a social time is enjoyed by all.

THE TWIN CITY CLUB

Berrien County is third only in the number of students it has given to Western this year. Since we are so well represented it seemed but natural that St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, otherwise known as the Twin Cities and the two largest towns in the county, should seek to combine their members at Western into one big fellowship.

A few of us knew one another before coming, but now, through this organization, there are only a few of us who do not know our classmates from across the river. Our friendship has grown until the old spirit of rivalry between the two towns has been left entirely in the background and the famous Hatchet has been buried.

It was in the Fall of 1920 that our club was organized by a number of students who realized the need and potentialities of such a society. The rest of the number received this plan enthusiastically and the meeting of this club became the one time when we could see all the old friends from whom our work and our classes at Western separated us.

We hold our meetings on the average of once a month and we always have a most enjoyable evening. The time is spent in business, games, gossiping and dancing.

The one big social event of the year is our annual banquet held during Spring vacations at one of the Twin Cities. This banquet carries Western back to our home towns and makes them realize even more keenly the presence of our school as a factor in the lives of the youth in those communities.

Last year at this banquet, Maurine Miller, our former president, presided and many of the students responded with toasts. This year, the banquet will be held in Benton Harbor.

The officers of this organization are: President, Marie Eaman; Vice-president, Norma Sammet; Secretary-treasurer, Thelma Vogt, and program chairman, Ruth Mueller. These, together with the other members, are seeking to further the attendance of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph students at this college. Each year we are bringing more here. We are helping Western grow.

STUDENT PARTIES

Western Normal aims not only to provide the necessary work to prepare teachers for the public schools, but it also plans to make its students happy and to develop them socially. To this end Western is very generous in providing opportunities for recreation. A glance at the Social Calendar reveals receptions, teas, "gym" parties and musical and dramatic entertainments. Then there is a generous sprinkling of student parties in which the entire student body may participate. Music is furnished by Fischer's and dancing is the chief attraction.

The parties are in charge of the social committee and guests may be invited if permission is secured. Often the party is given over to some club; we have had a great many successful parties this year. At such times the play spirit reigns, and cares and lessons are forgotten. Friendships are made and some of our dearest memories of Western center around these parties. We all remember the "W" Club party when we danced in the snow storm, or the Manual Arts Ball, held in a Japanese garden which one entered by way of rustic bridges; or the Early Elementary Valentine party with its abundance of hearts and showers of confetti.

FACULTY RECEPTION TO STUDENTS

The Faculty Reception, one of the first social events of the year was held in the gymnasium Saturday evening, October first. At least one thousand students were received by the faculty members, who were stationed in the four corners of the room. Autumn leaves and fall flowers afforded effective decorations. Palms and ferns screened the platform where Fischer's Orchestra was stationed. The library was decorated in the same manner, and the soft light from shaded floor lamps added to the attractiveness of the room. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening, and entertainment was provided in the library for those who did not care to dance.

This reception enabled the faculty to meet the students in a social way. It also gave the homesick students a chance to forget their troubles and make new friends, and the old students an opportunity to renew old friendships and talk over vacation joys with one another.

The decorating was done under the direction of Miss Frances Kern, Miss Hussey, Miss Rudy, Miss Barton, George Tabraham, Harry Greenwall, L. H. Wood, and Paul Rood. Miss Mary Moore was in charge of the refreshments.
ANNUAL RURAL PROGRESS DAY

Western State Normal in its earliest history recognized the importance of trained teachers for the rural field. Thus in carrying out this conviction the Department of Rural Education was established at its very beginning. During the past sixteen years it has been the custom to set aside a day for the discussion of rural problems, in all its phases, by the leaders in rural education.

The Sixteenth Annual Rural Progress Day truly typified the spirit of the finest and best of all previous occasions. The vision of the rural leaders who took a part in the founding of this day has not been dimmed but has rather grown clearer with each succeeding year. The possibilities in this field are so far reaching and of such vital importance to the nation that the field and its problems have attracted some of the ablest thinkers of the present day.

Nature gave us a beautiful day this year, bright, warm and invigorating. The rural folk came out by the hundreds, eager to learn to give their best in the building of a program of action, that will help to intellectualize and make attractive country life.

The meeting of the Michigan Rural Education Society provided a new feature on the program. Addresses of outstanding interest were given by the following persons: Dr. M. S. Pittman of the Department of Rural Education of the Ypsilanti State Normal College who spoke on "A Program in Rural Education for Michigan;" Professor O. L. Hall of the Agricultural Department of Purdue University on "Factors in an Improved Agricultural and Country Life;" Mrs. Barbara Bartlett of the Public Health Nursing Department of the University of Michigan, "Health in the Rural Home;" Miss Flora Trites of the State Normal School, Winona, Minnesota, "Gilmore Valley Community." The Hon. A. B. Cook, Owosso, Master State Grange, presided in an able manner at the morning session. Miss Mary Ensfield, Commissioner of Schools fulfilled the duties of chairman at the afternoon session.

The climax of the day was the banquet for the former students of the Department of Rural Education and their friends. Miss Cleora Skinner, Critic Teacher in the Rural Department, presided as Toastmistress. In this capacity she was very pleasing. Many fine "toasts" were given. The occasion renewed the hearts of all, and we felt a oneness of spirit and purpose in the task of helping the boys and girls of rural places to feel and to know the joy of their environment.
WOMEN’S LEAGUE MASQUERADE

Six hundred girls attended the annual Women’s League Masquerade held in the gymnasium, Friday evening, January twenty-seventh. A great transformation had taken place in Western’s coeds. All classes, colors and conditions were represented. Egyptians danced with Turks and Japanese maidens with Dutch girls. Large numbers of children and their negro mamies were pursued by daring cowboys and Indians. Gypsies and dancing girls, old-fashioned lassies and maidens of snow, clowns, and farmers, added to the picturesqueness of the scene.

Prizes for the cleverest costumes were given to Norma Sammet and Dorothy Wheeler who were attired as snow men. Florence Lyons, transformed into a clown, carried off the prize for the funniest costume, while Miss Elaine Stevenson, attired in a Scotch costume, designed from her regular wardrobe, was awarded the faculty prize. Dancing was the main diversion of the evening. Other features were the solo dance given by Ruth Inman, and the grand march which ended with Frozen Joy.
THE WITCHES' WHIRLWIND

On Saturday, October 22, the three forensic organizations of the school at that time, the Senate, the Tribunal, and the Forum, united in giving a typical Hallowe'en festivity, the Witches' Whirlwind. Approximately a thousand students crowded the Administration Building and participated in all the weird pastimes which presented themselves from the time one entered the Cave of Winds until one had seen one's future husband and had visited the underworld.

In the main corridor students were given the opportunity to take a shot at their favorite faculty member, a shooting gallery having been established in the Co-op store. Inside the gymnasium there was dancing, and from the booths cider and doughnuts were dispensed.

All around the running track were booths where fortunes were told, and in the assembly room of the high school a motion picture show was in operation. A vaudeville show in the library proved popular. The Men's Glee Club gave the Pedaphone and the Music Girls presented "An Old-Fashioned Garden." Howard Chenery and Geraldine Blowers appeared in a one act play, "Lima Beans."

As a result of the evening's activity $200 were raised as a nucleus for the $1000 debating scholarship fund.

RUTH DRAPER

Under the auspices of the debating societies and the "W" Club of Western State Normal, Ruth Draper, internationally known for her original character sketches, appeared in a recital at the Masonic Temple, February 24. Only three cities in Michigan were able to secure her for this season, and as she returned to Europe in May, it will doubtless be some time before American audiences will again have the rare privilege of hearing this great artist, who is distinctly in a class by herself.

Her portrayal of the self-centered, empty-headed debutante and of "The Scotch Immigrant at Ellis Island" will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. Other numbers on the program were:

"A French Dressmaker."
"Three Generations in a Court of Domestic Relations."
"At An Art Exhibit."
"On the Porch of a Maine Coast Town."

As a result of the recital $200 were cleared for the debating and athletic scholarships.
Unbounded pep and school spirit were uncorked at the annual Men's Banquet given Thursday evening, December first, in the basement of the Training School, when the men of the faculty and student body gathered to do honor to the members of the football squad. The school colors were used for decorations. A football occupied the place of honor in the center of the speaker's table, and at each end were miniature goal-posts gaily decorated in the colors of the school. The menu was prepared under the direction of the Misses Moore assisted by the Household Arts department.

Mr. F. W. Moore presided as toastmaster of the event. His introductions were exceedingly apropos and his jokes particularly timely. The Men's Glee Club furnished plenty of pep. Leo Redmond, captain elect for next year's team responded to the toast "Next Year's Team." C. E. Burklund, "From the Side-Lines" bespoke the pride and loyalty of the school in the caliber and spirit of the Brown and Gold football team. Mr. Sprau of the faculty responded to the toast, "Goals." Coach "Bill" Spaulding recalled many personal incidents and caused much merriment in his "Tips Between Halves." Short responses were made by Dr. McCracken, Dr. Henry and "Buck" Read. The finale was given by President Waldo in a toast "Past and Future" in which he reviewed the history of athletics at Western and commended the team for their splendid work.
JOY NIGHT

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. gave their annual Joy Night entertainment Friday night, April twenty-first. About two hundred dollars were made, which will be used to send delegates to the Lake Geneva Conferences.

The program was opened by the Men’s Glee Club, which gave two numbers. The second number, which represented a typical country barber shop, was particularly entertaining. An old fashioned dance by the Training School followed. The Senate gave a play, “The Tale of Pokyhuntus”, a take-off in pantomime on the romance of Captain John Smith and Pocahontus. The “Locker Room Gang” entertained with a number of songs. The Rural Seminar gave a play entitled “Skeeter’s Corner”, a version of the methods of pedagogy they might apply in some school situations. The Junior Girl’s Glee Club as the “Merry Musical Maids” were very pleasing. The Hi-Y Club of Normal High put on a mock trial in the court of Punkinsville Center, with the audience as jury. When the curtain rose for the last number, a doll shop was revealed. The dolls of different kinds looked strangely like the girls of the Physical Education department. When the clock struck twelve, they came to life for a short hour’s revel. The Scotch doll, Irish dolls, Sailor dolls, Japanese dolls, and many other kinds, gave dances. Then when they heard the clock chime, they scampered back to their places on the shelf, and the curtain fell on a quiet shop.

THE Y. M. C. A. AND Y. W. C. A. PARTIES

It was a spirit of service as well as a desire for a good time that caused the Y. M. C. A.’s to put on the series of parties that have been somewhat of an innovation this year. Dancing is ever popular but in every group there is a large percentage who for one reason or another are not able to take part in this form of amusement. This often leaves them out of the social contacts which rightfully belong to every student. The “Y’s” have tried to fill this gap in Western’s activities by inaugurating a series of “good time parties” for which some very interesting programs have been worked out. Lively group, mass and partner games, along with fake athletic meets and vaudeville have been some of the features of these parties. Light refreshments were always served and a spirit of fun and good fellowship prevailed.
CONSERVATION DAY

The traditional Bird and Arbor Day was changed this year to Conservation Day with a consequent widening of its scope. The oration of the day by Edwin Burklund defined very ably the increase in these interests to include the preservation of all our natural resources of forest and field, and particularly the preservation of the best qualities of our race. In place of the usual class ceremony, the whole school united in a memorial to the ten boys who died in service during the Great War. The ceremony symbolized by the planting of ten white pines the consecration of the group to the carrying on of those principles of conservation for which these gave their lives.

ATHLETICS
William H. Spaulding has been elected football coach of the University of Minnesota. This announcement made January 1922, not only thrilled the hearts of the students and faculty of Western State Normal but every Teacher's College in the United States. Football fans of the entire Middle West were astonished that out of a hundred possible candidates, Mr. Spaulding was the only one to whom the position was offered.

It was in 1906, two years after Western State Normal had been established in Kalamazoo, that President Waldo picked Mr. Spaulding to develop the athletic activities of this school. The new coach had nothing in the way of material, equipment or prestige on which to make his start; the first few years were a struggle to obtain enough men to form the teams. Then too, there was the problem of purchasing uniforms and a field on which to play. It was a task that would have disheartened a coach of the finest caliber, but Mr. Spaulding was untiring in his efforts, and in 1913 his ambitions began to materialize.

In that year the football team went through the entire season without a defeat, winning from all colleges in Michigan except the University and M. A. C. In 1915 he developed an aggregation that fairly slaughtered the M. I. A. A. Colleges and could have coped with the University had a game been scheduled. In 1917, the Ann Arbor authorities gave Western Normal a place on their schedule and had a thorough scare. Spaulding's eleven outplayed Michigan all the way through and only a bit of luck on a mishandled punt allowed the Wolverine warriors to win, 17-14.

Western's phenomenal record is partially due to that great fighting spirit instilled into the teams by their coach. Mr. Spaulding is distinctly a man with a punch. When playing football with Wabash in 1904 and 1905, there was not a line in Indiana or Illinois that could stop him. He made the all-Western and was twice captain of the Little Giants. As a coach he has transferred that punch to players. Western Normal men play to win; they fight not only for their school, but they fight for their coach.

Although Western Normal regrets the loss of its popular coach, the faculty and student body as a unit wish him every success in his new position. Mr. Spaulding leaves behind him sixteen years of constantly growing athletic tradition. On such a firm foundation Normal's athletic growth will increase as time passes, and the tradition established by Mr. Spaulding will ever be maintained and constantly developed.
HERBERT H. READ

When Mr. William H. Spaulding, upon his promotion, left for Minnesota in the middle of Western State Normal's basketball season, the duties of this coach were immediately taken up by Herbert H. Read. Western Normal has been extremely fortunate in this apparent crisis. The continued growth of any organization depends upon having a man, who, when the occasion arises, can take the helm and guide the ship safely into port. Under Mr. Read's guidance, the basketball team went on at top speed and finished the season in high standing.

"Buck" was a member of Michigan's wonderful football team of 1902-5. He played in the back field with that most famous of all football men, Heston. Adding to his laurels earned as a football player, he also made the varsity baseball teams while a student at the University.

On leaving college, Mr. Read was elected coach at Kalamazoo Central High School. In 1908 he was promoted to head coach of Hillsdale College, but three years later the lure of the pen caused him to resign his position, and for two years he followed newspaper work.

It was in 1913 that "Buck" first came to Western State Normal. As assistant football coach he helped Mr. Spaulding build the teams that won such great renown in Michigan. For four years Mr. Read continued capably in this position, and then came United States' entrance into the world war.

Mr. Read responded to the call of the colors and attended the first officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan, being commissioned a 1st. Lieutenant as a line officer in the 86th Division. Later he was transferred to the 29th Division and ordered to France where he served nine months in the A. E. F.

On his return, Mr. Read again came back to Western State Normal and assumed new duties as an instructor in the Physical Education Department. Besides these responsibilities, he has given his best to assist Mr. Spaulding in building up Normal's athletic teams. His work with the recruits has given him valuable experience in judging new material.

Mr. Read is heart and soul for Western Normal. He represents in every phase of athletic endeavor, the experienced, well trained, tactful mentor. He is a coach to whom this institution may look with pride and confidence that the athletics developed here will always continue to advance, and that Western State Normal will ever hold its place in all the branches in which it is a participant.
JUDSON A. HYAMES

Judson A. Hyames is coach of the 1922 Western Normal baseball team. If a thorough knowledge of baseball is a necessary prerequisite in making a good coach, then Mr. Hyames is fully equipped. He is a man who not only knows baseball, but he can also don the old glove and show them how it is done.

It was in 1907 that Mr. Hyames first proved his stellar qualities as a baseball player. Under the management of Jimmie Callahan, who was then piloting the "Logan Squares" of Chicago, Juddy gave promise of a real ball player at shortstop. Indeed, he was offered a berth in the big leagues, but due to principles based primarily upon "Sunday baseball" Juddy refused these offers and went to Ypsilanti Normal as a student of major athletics.

After six years of teaching, including three years as the Superintendent of Schools at Bloomingdale, Juddy came to Western Normal in further pursuit of education. He was a member of the Normal team which defeated the University in 1915 by a score of 4-2.

Upon the completion of his course at Normal, President Waldo retained Juddy as a physical director in the Physical Education department. For three years he served in this department, and when the war came Juddy was chosen Camp Physical Director of Camp Custer, Michigan. Mr. Hyames, on entering upon his new duties, found himself in the biggest job of his career. Not only did he look after the corps of instructors to take care of the physical welfare of about 50,000 men, but he also found time to coach a baseball team which won the recognition of every training camp in the United States.

At the close of the war, Mr. Hyames was appointed State Physical Director of Y. M. C. A. work. He remained in this position until 1921 when he again returned to Western State Normal, taking up work in the Physical Education department. Juddy's chief duty was to take care of the high school, but due to Mr. Spaulding's promotion, it was natural that he should be chosen to direct our 1922 baseball team.

Mr. Hyames is a man who automatically wins the respect of everyone. A staunch advocate of clean athletics, a leader of men, possessor of a smile that instills determination to fight for him and a confidence among his players—for they realize that they are working for a man who really knows the game—Mr. Hyames has developed a baseball team for Western Normal which is one of its prides in major sports. If there is such a thing as character building in athletics, Mr. Hyames develops that individuality in all of his players which makes them representatives of true sportsmanship.
LAURENCE TAYLOR

Laurence Taylor is Western State Normal's track coach. A graduate of a nationally recognized physical education school, Mr. Taylor possesses the training and knowledge of his subject which makes him a valuable member of the Physical Education Department of this institution.

Track athletics, it can safely be said, is dependent upon physical preparation more than any other branch or major sport. Producing a track team puts upon a coach not only the task of teaching the main points to the participant, but of physically building the athlete to undergo the trying strain which is placed upon him during the few minutes under fire. Mr. Taylor works to develop men for this branch of athletics during the entire year and through his untiring efforts has produced some fine track teams for Western Normal.

Coach Taylor began his preparation in 1906, attending the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College where he was a student for three years. The sole aim of this institution is to develop physical education instructors; Mr. Taylor has valued his Alma Mater so highly that he has attended two summer sessions since 1909. He is very near a coveted M. A. in physical education, for after one more summer term at this institution it will be conferred upon him.

In 1909 Mr. Taylor came to Kalamazoo Central High School to take charge of physical education, serving in this position for twelve years. When the demand for a track team became evident at Western Normal, President Waldo induced Coach Taylor to take charge of the work in addition to his duties at Central high school. As track and physical education grew, it became necessary for Mr. Taylor to give his entire time to this institution and he became a full time member of the Faculty in 1921.

Track in Western Normal has rapidly passed through its stage of infancy and under Coach Taylor's guidance is becoming recognized more and more throughout the Middle West. Mr. Taylor has produced some wonderful track contenders, athletes who have even appeared in the try-outs for the Olympic meets with men of national renown. As Mr. Taylor understands the necessity of careful physical development in the making of a strong track athlete, and is painstaking and encouraging, he possesses every quality which in time to come will keep Western Normal active and recognized in this field of sport.

THE 1921 FOOTBALL SEASON

A squad of fifty men, including a great number of veterans, reported at Normal field on September 15, for preliminary football practice. From such splendid football material, Coaches Spaulding and Read developed a great scoring machine that made its power felt as the season advanced and in the last few games crushed teams that should have held Normal to an even score. During the season eight games were played and but two of these were lost. Those two were lost by the closest of margins and a bit of luck would have made the Brown and Gold victors in both.

The lid was pried off the 1921 season on September 24 by a 49-0 victory over Ferris Institute. This game proved a valuable workout for the Brown and Gold, giving many substitutes a chance to get under fire. The following week the team, accompanied by a crowd of loyal rooters, journeyed to Albion and won a hard fought battle, 20-9.

After these two opening victories the games tightened up. October 7, Notre Dame Freshmen came to Normal Field and engaged in a gruelling contest with the Brown and Gold. Normal scored a touchdown early in the game which proved enough to win, 7-0. This great victory was followed by a heartbreaking defeat at the hands of Chicago "Y" College, 7-3. In the last few minutes of play a Chicago man intercepted a forward pass, giving "Y" their only score. Normal tried desperately to overcome this lead and the final whistle blew with the ball but a few yards from the coveted goal. The M. A. C. game at East Lansing was anybody's battle all the way through. Breaks favored both teams at times, but fortune seemed to be with the Aggies and they carried off the laurel wreath by a 17-14 count.

Emerging from this mid-season check, Normal seemed to find itself completely and ran up big scores on the three remaining teams of the schedule. Earlham, from Richmond, Indiana, fought hard but was defeated, 42-7. Hope was completely outclassed in a 65-0 score and the much touted Milwaukee Engineers were crushed 62-10. In these three games Normal exhibited a class of football that seemed marvelous. The backfield, with perfect interference, carried the ball almost at will into the enemies' territory. Forward passing and punting featured in each contest. Indeed, it seemed doubtful whether any team in the State, outside the University of Michigan, could have held the Hilltop team in check at this time.

The 1921 football season was a success in every way. First, Normal had a team that made a great record by scoring 269 points to its opponents 40. Second, Coach Spaulding leaves Normal with every assurance of a strong team in 1922. But greatest of all was the boundless spirit and pep that were shown by the student body and faculty toward the team.
THE 1921 FOOTBALL TEAM

Captain Reed Waterman proved a worthy leader of the 1921 football team. For three years he has been the mainstay of the Brown and Gold line. His great fighting spirit, and determination to win, rightly places him on Western's all time mythical eleven. Normal will lose one of her best football players when he is graduated this June.

Paul Bennett, our speedy little quarter-back had much to do with the ground gaining for the Brown and Gold this year. "Sticks" delighted in making long oblique marches down the field. Besides, he could always be depended upon to play a heady, consistent game at the pilot position.

Paul Bowersox represents genuine football determination. For three years "Sox" worked hard for a permanent berth on the team. Though never making the first eleven he proved a valuable utility lineman, and while in the game fought hard for Western. Normal needs more players with the spirit shown by Paul.

No team is complete without some one to punt and forward pass. John Gill efficiently filled both important positions. His educated toe gained many yards, and his accurate passing resulted in a number of touchdowns for Western this fall. Aided by Cornwall and Bennett, "Johnnie" led the great interference that helped fleet-footed Potter in breaking through the enemies' first defense.

For three years Warren Smith has given valiant service to the Brown and Gold. His fighting spirit and willingness to work made a strong bid for a regular tackle berth. Smith could always be depended upon to fill any position on the line.
"One or two Redmonds is all I need at Minnesota next fall," remarked Coach W. H. Spaulding in speaking of Normal's big 281 pound center. "Tiny"—Western's pride—is going to lead the 1922 football squad next season. He is Normal's great defensive man; he plays about ten seconds ahead of his opponents.

It may be truthfully said that Gerald Brown was the best natured man on the Normal squad. No opposing guard was strong enough to cause "Brownie" to lose his smile. While in the game he fought hard and helped put up a stone wall defense.

Walter Cornwall's favorite pastime was in bucking the line. No defense could hold "Red" when Normal needed a few yards. Besides he occasionally delighted in distance running. His 95 yard run against the "Aggies" will long be remembered by M. A. C. as well as Western fans.

Harold Hulscher solved the problem that confronted the coaching staff at the beginning of the season. With only a little experience on last year's squad, he filled the position of tackle like an old regular.

Well provided with those qualities which make up a successful lineman, Bernard McCann was given a regular berth at guard. But misfortune smiled upon him, and he suffered a broken arm in the Notre Dame game which kept him out a greater part of the season.

Messenger possessed all the solid qualities which are so desirable in a lineman. Hard working and tireless, "Messy" could always be depended upon to play a consistent game at guard. His services cannot be estimated too highly.

Brown Cornwall Hulscher McCann Messenger
Although a great defense man, Rudel Miller excelled in the offensive game. Time and again, he would bring the crowd to their feet by a sensational leap into the air to catch a forward pass. The way he could take the ball from a crowd of defensive opponents seemed almost uncanny.

Harry Potter proved to be Normal's sensational halfback this fall. Western's fans believed Harry to be one of the best open field runners in the Middle West. In every game he would squirm through the line, shaking off man after man. His twisting and dodging, together with his high running made it possible for him to carry the ball for forty or fifty yards consistently.

When McCann was injured, Simmons filled this gap and played a wonderful game at guard. A heavy man, and a hard fighter, Simmons won the respect of Western. His ability to kick off was a valuable asset to the Brown and Gold.

Steady and consistent was Van Wingen, Normal's left guard. A hard tackler and exceptionally fast in getting down under punts, he made the Brown and Gold's left flank impenetrable. Injuries caused Van to slow up towards the end of the season; but otherwise, he was always in the best of condition, and recognized for his ability to go in and stay there through the entire game.

THE 1921–22 BASKETBALL SEASON

The big problem that confronted the coaching staff of Western Normal's 1921-22 basketball season was the matter of guards, both regulars of last year's squad having graduated. But with a veteran forward wall intact, coaches Spaulding and Read were able to concentrate their efforts upon the defensive positions and soon a smooth, well balanced team was in action for Normal, a team that won the hearts of Western and made possible one of the most successful basketball seasons in the history of the institution.

In the history of sports there have been a few teams which have gone through the entire season without a defeat, but in the majority of cases those teams have been composed entirely of veterans. Championship basketball is based on percentage, and Western's record places it among the best teams in the Middle West. From an unusually hard schedule of seventeen games, the Brown and Gold were defeated only in five battles. Although out-scored, Western was not out-classed in one of these contests.

Of the twelve victories, the Valparaiso contest was perhaps the most idealistic from the spectator's view-point. Out-scored in the first half, Western came back with an offensive that fairly dazed the invaders, leaving no doubt as to the superiority of the two teams. The McGraws, Hope College, and Detroit University proved worthy opponents, but could not cope with the marvelous team work of the Brown and Gold five. Undoubtedly the most interesting feature of these games was Western Normal's offensive playing—particularly its running guard attack. Time after time, when the forwards were unable to advance the ball well down under the basket they would draw their opponents' defense to the sides of the court, leaving the center of the floor open. With miraculous speed, Normal's guards would take advantage of this opportunity and race down through the opening, dropping in several counters by this method. The remaining eight games of the schedule were hard fought encounters, with the possible exception of the much bewildered Tri-State College when a Normal victory was easily predicted before the end of the first half.

In short, this year proved a splendid season for the Brown and Gold basketeers. The schedule was composed of high grade teams, and the type of games played gave Western State Normal students a chance to witness a high caliber of basketball at all times. As only one or two of this year's squad have played their last game, and with many new faces on the substitute list, Normal's prospects for a winning team for 1922-23 are exceedingly bright.
“W” MEN

Sam Boerman (Captain) has been three years on the team. Although his forebears hail from Holland he is a native of Kalamazoo, reared on celery. Sam started on Western Normal's team in 1920 as a back guard where he showed a lot of dexterity in taking the ball off the basket. He became a smooth worker at center and developed a good eye for the basket.

John Gill—one of the "Big Red Team" from the Capitol City. Johnny is Scotch, mostly, with a hint of the environs of Donnybrook Fair. He joined the squad in 1921, but did not become a regular until this year, when he made good with a vengeance. He is a clever and heady player and looked particularly capable in the Butler game of somewhat sad memory.

Paul Bennett—"Sticks"—is the speed boy from Muskegon. He came down from "The Sawdust City" to demonstrate how it was done. Paul is a four letter man, and greased lightning on the basketball floor. When he was hot—Oh, how he was hot, and when he not hot he was not. Meaning, when he was shooting baskets he looked like a million dollars.

Rudel Miller, "Roodle" is some forward. He is a Kalamazoo Central High graduate, but originally hailed from Comstock. One of the inhabitants of that village thought that it was destined to be a metropolis of Western Michigan. This is an historical fact. But "Roodle" on the basketball floor looks about the biggest thing that ever came out of that village.

Duncan Simo—"Duak" hails from a land somewhere between Scandinavia and the Bolshevik dominions, but his parents brought him over to the Upper Michigan peninsula to get him educated right. Negaunee is his present native town. Duncan did great work at forward during the season just closed, but had one peculiarity. He would never shoot more than three baskets in any game. This is an unsolvable mystery.

Oscar Johnson, is "the handsome Nordic" whose home town is Cadillac. Though a Freshman this year, he burst into basketball limelight in sensational fashion at guard. Oscar did some great scoring from this position and some great guarding as well.

John Henderson is a Freshman from the Soo. Johnny is a fleet-footed player who came to the front the latter part of the season and should go good next year. He handles himself well but could not locate his teammates for the short period he was in the game to get opportunity for a fair demonstration of his ability. "Watch 1923," says Johnny.

Wilbur Johnson, known as "Whip" is from Kalamazoo and a graduate of Central High School. Whip played most of the past season on the "Zephyrs," and then got a chance on the varsity. Wilbur is a willing fighter, particularly good at guarding. He promises to be a valuable all around player next year.
TRACK

Track in Western State Normal is an athletic activity coming rapidly to the front. The indoor track season was one of success in the main, and gave Coach Taylor an opportunity to judge the possibilities of his men for a strong outdoor aggregation for the Spring Term. Indoor dual meets were held with M. A. C. and Notre Dame Freshmen in which the Normal team made an exceptional showing. In the Indoor Relay Carnival at M. A. C. George Walker won the 40 yard special invitation dash from the best field in Michigan, including Ernst of M. A. C. In the pole vault, New and Andrews tied for second. The mile and half-mile relay teams consisting of George Walker, Preston Matthews, Randall Frazier, Towner Smith, and Paul Livingston broke the M. A. C. indoor track record, winning the mile relay from M. A. C. Freshmen and half mile relay from Ypsilanti. George Walker competed in the Illinois Relay Carnival; Hilliard Hulscher competed in the A. A. U. meet and did creditable work. With many promising men still in the workout under the direction of Coach Taylor everything seemed to indicate a strong outdoor track team for the 1922 season.

Coach Taylor announces the following men as having won their letter in indoor-track: Captain George Walker, Hilliard Hulscher, George New, Sherman Andrews, Towner Smith, Claudius Collisi, and Joseph Beyers.

The Normal-Earlham meet, the first outdoor meet of the season, at Richmond, Indiana, was one of the best in which Normal has participated. Last year the Quakers amassed a huge score against us and utterly outclassed us on our own field. This time we led them a merry race and the meet was in doubt until the last event before the relay Smith was Normal’s individual point winner, scoring first in the 220 and 440 yard dashes, and also participating in the one mile relay. Hulscher was second high point man for Normal, taking first in the shot and discus events. Normal proved to be much stronger in distance events than in previous years, Collisi and Mater winning points for Normal in both the mile and two mile runs. Joe Beyers proved his possibilities as a hurdler, taking second against Ivey, holder of the Indiana state record. Previous to this meet, George Walker, captain of the team and star sprinter, strained a tendon and was unable to take part. As a result Earlham took the long end of a 69-61 score.

A great victory was won over Ypsilanti, the next meet of the season, when Normal defeated the State Normalities by a decisive score of 74-57. Three Normal track records were broken in this meet. Towner Smith broke the 440 dash, lowering the Normal record to 51 flat. Hilliard Hulscher broke another record by throwing the discus 127 feet, 7 inches, while New and Andrews set a new record for the pole vault, clearing the bar 11 feet, 6 inches. The meet closed with one of the most thrilling relay races ever witnessed on the Normal field. The race was closely contested all the way. Livingston, H. Walker, and Matthews carried the field all the way, Matthews giving Smith, the last man to represent Normal, a slight lead. Smith was hard pressed all the way, but by a brilliant sprint at the finish, won out by a safe margin.
THE 1922 BASEBALL SEASON

Coach Hyames has had one of the largest baseball squads that ever worked out in a Western Normal diamond campaign, and interest in the sport has been wonderfully keen. With the season well under way, thirty men are working for a 1922 baseball letter. The players, at present, who get first call when a big game is on, are Potter, catcher; Messenger, Collins, Kruez, and Wheaton, pitchers; Coughlin, first base; Gill (captain), second base; Rudel Miller, third base; Marion Miller and Field, short-stop; Bennett, left field; Simmons, center field; and Gunderson, right field.

Enough games have already been played to indicate that the present squad is one of the best that ever represented Western State Normal on the diamond. Victories have been won over Hope College, M. A. C, Valparaiso, Albion, De Paul and Ypsilanti, while a game was lost to Notre Dame and Valparaiso. One bad inning caused the loss to the Irish 'Varsity, and the game with the Hoosiers was a pitcher's duel, 1-0.

Coach Hyames believes that an aggressive team is one that can hit, and has given special attention to the team's hitting ability. The result has been that Normal's batting order has caused considerable worry to every opponent pitcher. In every game, Normal players are found on the paths through their ability to hit the ball, and a Normal batting rally is threatened in every inning. With a little more polishing in the field, Normal is sure to finish the schedule with an exceedingly high average.

Western's schedule, this year, is the strongest in the history of the school. With as high as three and four games a week with some of the strongest colleges in the Middle West before them, it is necessary for the squad to keep going at top speed.

Coach Hyames is by no means giving all his attention to the present team. He is constantly working with the recruits, developing new material, not only for this year, but for the season to come which will keep Normal's diamond activities in high standing.

The loyal support accorded the team thus far in the season has eclipsed all previous history in the institution. The Faculty and student body are a unit in making this year one that will long be remembered. With the team hitting it off even better in the future than it has in the past, 1922 baseball activities at Western Normal promise to be one of great achievement under its new coach, Juddy Hyames.
Soccer

Soccer was very well organized this fall and the rivalry between the Sophomores and Freshmen was very keen. A series of three games between these two physical education teams was scheduled, but four games had to be played to decide the championship. The teams were very evenly matched and each game was a fight from start to finish, as the close scores will prove.

Miss Guiot coached the Sophomores and they received some valuable theoretical work as well as practical coaching. Miss Hussey coached the Freshmen and inspired them with the hope of winning against the veteran Sophomores. The Freshmen played very good soccer and showed some splendid team work. They have every chance of winning from next year’s Freshmen.

The first game of the season ended in a tie 1-1 with five minutes overtime. The Sophomores took the second game 2-1. The third game was a hard contest and at the end of ten minutes overtime the score stood 0-0. The defensive work of both teams was very good in this game. The fourth and most thrilling game of the season was won by the Sophomores who came out at the long end of a 2-1 score.

The lineup was as follows:

Freshmen
L. Ford
A. Finlayson
A. Wheeler
E. Broughton
M. Newton
B. Udell
H. Cansfield
M. Carpenter
H. Graham
S. Ringman
E. Frobenius

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Basketball went off with a snap and a bang this year. Much splendid material was out for practice in both the Freshmen and Sophomore classes. Miss Spaulding and Miss Guiot acted as coaches. The Sophomore Physical Education girls assisted in refereeing.

After ten weeks of strenuous practice each class elected a captain to lead them on to victory. The Freshmen elected Leota Ford, which showed that Freshmen are good judges of leaders. The Sophomores elected Coila Westgate who had proved her capability as a leader as last year's soccer captain.

A series of three games was scheduled between the Freshmen and Sophomore Physical Eds, but since the Sophomores won the first two, the third was rather unnecessary.

The first game was an easy victory for the Sophomores who came out with the long end of a 23-7 score. The second game was thrilling; indeed it was a real fight from start to finish. The Freshmen displayed very good guarding and had many shots at the basket but failed to score. The final score was 11-8.

The Physical Education faculty challenged the Sophomores to a game, and the Sophomores accepted. This game was very close, exciting, and rather rough. The game was won by the Sophomores 10-9.

FIELD MEET

The field meet is the culmination of the physical education work in the Spring Term. In this term track work takes the place of formal gymnastics and all classes meet down on the athletic field. The meet is open to every woman in the school. The general administration of the meet is in charge of the Sophomore Physical Education girls.

Last year the rivalry between the Juniors and Seniors was intense. The Juniors had some very good material but the Seniors had better. They also had more experience and easily piled up the score on the Juniors taking all the firsts and the seconds.

The results of the 1921 meet were Seniors 49—Juniors 10. Constance Jones was captain of the Seniors, while Nan Marsden led the Juniors.

G. Meulenberg, Sr. .................................................. 11 points
Feeling the need of a closer acquaintance with each other's problems, the girls in the Physical Education Department organized themselves into a club, to be known as the Western State Normal Physical Education Association. The meetings are held twice every month.

The object of this society is to awaken a wider and more intelligent interest in physical education; to acquire and disseminate knowledge concerning it; to labor for the improvement and extension of gymnastics, games, athletics and aquatics; and to further work in health and citizenship.

This past term the program committee, in order to provide programs which would be instructive as well as entertaining, presented Miss Rockwell of the public schools of Kalamazoo and Floyd Rowe, Superintendent of Physical Education of Michigan.

The success of all undertakings has led to the fulfillment of the aim of the association.

DEDICATION

To William H. Cain, wise counsellor, kind critic, and friendly companion of all the High School, we dedicate this portion of the 1922 Brown and Gold.
NORMAL HIGH SCHOOL

When our High School was founded in 1907 there was a real reason for it. The college department, believing in the age-old adage that "Practice makes perfect," desired a high school where students could get some practice teaching under the excellent supervision of the regular teachers. Also it was of great advantage to students who wished to secure a high school education. Connected with the Normal College in this way, better teachers could be secured than in a separate school. Many of them are teachers in the college. By the help of student teachers more attention could be devoted to the class.

The first year there were not many students, but the enrollment has gradually increased until now there are more than two hundred. The increase is due to the fact that the school has been a success. It has done things worth while and these things have encouraged students to attend.

A high school of this type, connected directly with a Normal College, a school within a school, has many advantages. The students have the use of the library, of the laboratories, the gymnasium, and all the other buildings of the college. Our football and baseball games are played on one of the best athletic fields in the state. We have many of the liberties that the college students have. All of this we have and more and it is because we are connected with a State Normal School that such things are possible.

Normal High School has many activities. Three major sports, football, basketball, and baseball hold prominent places. Our teams have done excellent work and have truly set forth the spirit of Normal High School. Our debating teams have been important factors in the State League for several years. Organizations and clubs are numerous and there is scarcely a student in the school who does not belong to one of them. These organizations have helped much to create a good feeling and promote a real school spirit among the students. Indeed the activities of Normal High School have been such as to make every student feel that this school is one of the best schools in the State of Michigan.

HISTORY

Byron has said, "History with all its volumes has but one page." The volumes in this history are four, one for each year in high school; the one page is the splendid way in which we have been so loyal to our class and to Normal High School.

The first volume of our set is named "Freshmen." In 1918 we enrolled in this wonderful school, carefully advised by our fine principal, Miss Baughman. That year we experienced the meaning of the expression "Presto chango" by being addressed as Mr. Smith and Miss Fitzpatrick, instead of the familiar given name by which we had known each other. For our leaders that year we elected: President, Allen Maybee; Vice-President, Dorothy Marks, Secretary, Mayme Stucky; Treasurer, Robert Martin. Our officers helped us in passing through that state of irresponsibility to the one of meeting problems as they arose—preparing us for our future years in high school. As Freshmen we entered into school activities with such vigor that the upperclassmen admired us (in this respect). We were represented on the basketball team that year by Dick Westnedge, one of Normal High's best athletes.

In the Fall of 1919 we began the second volume, "Sophomores." That year Miss Smith was principal. A change was noted in us that year as the fellows donned their long trousers and the girls put their hair up (bobbed hair was not the style then.) We chose for officers that year: President, Etna Fitzpatrick, who resigned during the Winter Term, Abram Betke, the Vice-President succeeding her; Treasurer, John Waldo.

That year we were well represented on the athletic teams; Allen Maybee represented us on the debating team that won second place in the State contest.

It was with the anticipation of soon becoming Seniors that the volume "Juniors" was begun. That year we were greeted by Mr. Cain as principal, a man who has helped us in every possible way to improve Normal High. The officers elected were: President, William A. Scott; Vice-President, John Agar to succeed Hazel Kenner who left school; Secretary, Mayme Stucky; and Treasurer, Dick Westnedge.

That year we were ably represented on the various athletic teams; Dick Westnedge captained the basketball quintet and we had two representatives on Normal High's championship debating team, Captain Allen Maybee and Winifred Axtell. That year our social function was the Junior reception to the Seniors. We will say that it is hard to see yourself as others see you but it was a pleasure for us to serve you.

Our last volume "Seniors" has been a very successful one. Mr. Cain is our principal and adviser. The officers are: President, Abram Betke; Vice-President, Doris Grant; Secretary, Evelyn Redmond; Treasurer, William Scott. The Class of 1922 has the distinction of being one of the liveliest and most loyal classes to be graduated from Normal High. Our members have played on athletic teams since our Freshmen year and this year Allen Maybee was captain of our football team. John Agar captained our basketball team. which was one of the finest in the history of Normal High; John is also captain of our baseball team. All three members of this year's debating squad were Seniors: Allen Maybee, captain, Etna Fitzpatrick and Winifred Axtell.

We have enjoyed a tobogganing party at the Country Club this year and are planning for a Senior picnic and a big Senior ball which will be, we hope, a fitting climax to our social functions.

Our goal is near and the 1922's will soon go into the world as alumni. There is none here we could have done without. Each one helped to make our class the best class to be graduated from the best high school in Michigan and we all will look back with loving memories to the four years spent upon the hill.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1922

Know All Men By These Presents: That we, the Class of 1922, of the Western State Normal High School, in the County of Kalamazoo and the State of Michigan, having completed our course of study in this High School and about to leave this institution of learning, wish to bestow some of our most precious possessions upon those whom we leave behind. So, being of sound mind and memory, we do hereby make, declare and publish this, our last will and testament.

We, Etna Fitzpatrick, Winifred Axtell, and Allen Maybee, having such talented ability do hereby bequeath our debating quality to next year's team. Stand firm, debaters, and win the state championship as we have done. I, Allen Maybee, leave my great executive ability to William Fooy.

We, Evelyn Redmond and Vera Russell make our last will and testament. We leave our ability to attract the attentions of the stronger sex to Florence Hoard and Stella Slager.

I, John Agar, do hereby bequeath my popularity to whomever may claim the honor, possibly Mortimer Daniels. To Clare Sheldon, I leave my great ability as an athlete. Handle yourself well, Clare, and don't fall down every time you happen to get a ball in your hands.

We, Robert Martin and Ralph Cook, having so many like qualities, make our will together. To Carl Snow and Henry Randall, we leave our dancing skill. Boys, cultivate the art, it is the one way of being popular with the girls.

We, Cleo Anderson and Allyne Kenyon, being in sound mind and body, do leave the precedents of being on time to anyone who is in the habit of being late. It is as easy to get to class on time as half a minute late.

Hear ye! hear ye! We, Pearl Harris and Orpha Larsen, bequeath our ambition to study to Pauline Gilbert and Redmond Huntley.

We, Myrtle Cross and Hermus Reva, leave our ignorance in history and civics to Sam Dunkley and Woodbury Ransom.

We, Dorothy Marks and Mary Felkner, leave our striking appearance to Eunice Swineheart and Ruth Holt.

We, Carleton Denny and Arthur Theil, leave our knowledge of physics to Oscar Rappaport and Theone Ransom.
We, Bernice Gould and Elinor Ross leave our musical voices to Harold Fleck and Teddy McHugh. Cultivate them well, boys, for the ability to sing is envied by everyone.

We, Erwin Hinga and Marion Kline leave our tennis championship to King Estes and Glenn Stroberg.

We, Louisa Stevens and Ruth Boyce, being in sound mind and body, do make our will together. To Kleetis Ruse and Arthur Tracy we leave our knack of drawing A’s on our papers.

We, Mary Kline and Cordelia Wilde, leave our genial nature and boisterousness to Goldie Crisman and Parkhurst Pontotoc.

We, Alta Coates and Margaret Denniston bequeath our love for shorthand to Marian Kalloff and Helen Hinkley.

We, Ruth Adriance and Dorothy Mainwaring, leave our advanced views to Dick Chapman and Jack Wooden. Look far ahead into the future, boys, and you will not make so many mistakes in life.

We, William Amos Scott and "Abe" Betke, being last to make our will, do so in all seriousness of thought. To Raymond Tomoff and Glenn Wells, the officers of the Class of ’23, we leave our good will and best wishes for success. Take care of the Class Will, fellows, and you will be remembered forever and aye.

We, the renowned and inspiring Class of ’22, in leaving Normal High School wish to leave to all those left behind, teachers, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen our sincere hopes that all may live a happy and prosperous life.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal this Fourteenth day of June in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-two.

PROPHECY

In future years for President great
We’ll have Allen Maybee from Western State.
For well-known, educated William Scott
A high school “Prof” will be his lot.
Dorothy Mainwaring with firm friends galore
Is soon to become the dean of Bryn Mawr.
In the Senate Chamber of ’38
Sits Etna Fitzpatrick, calm and sedate.
In the faraway Orient you will find Doris Grant
Teaching the children whose eyes are aslant.
Winifred Axtell on the Western plains
The wildest of bronchos she easily tames.
At the head of an orchestra great and grand
Myrle Cross directing with skillful hand.
And then Ralph Cook, so big and slow,
Will ever be wielding plow and hoe.
Abram Betke a noble judge will be
And weigh each plaintiff’s earnest plea.
The jolly John Agar, we are glad to hear
Will take up his tasks as a civil engineer.
Miss Pearl Harris, her teapot and cat,
Are doomed to a life in an old maid’s flat.
The "American Magazine" will never part
From Cordelia Wilde and her wonderful art.
Allyne Kenyon a rich broker will marry;
In New York City on Broadway she’ll tarry.
Miss Margaret Denniston, a White House resident
Will do office work for the future President.
Ruth Adriance will teach mathematics and science;
In her the student will put much reliance.
Miss Ruth Boyce, if she doesn’t do more
Will manage the city’s best "5 and 10" store.
Girls of the world will ever pine
O’er the cruel heart breaker, Marion Kline.
A rollicking rider from the West some day
Will whisk Alta Coates to a land far away.
If matters of science trouble your brain
Olin Gibbs will be able to relieve all the pain.
Mary Kline with her graceful feet
In fancy dancing will be hard to beat.
A sporty garage Robert Martin will own
To give our Roamer or Twin-Six a home.
A dignified teacher, you have heard it before,
Will be Miss Bernice Gould, with scoldings galore.
Miss Evelyn Redmond, so happy and free,
Will travel afar over land and sea.
If, in the Regent some day you happen to be,
Dorothy Marks, the noteworthy actress, you will see.
You have heard of great captains sailing the seas,
Hermas L. Reva will be one of these.
And Mary Felkner, a charming girl,
In London will marry a baron or earl.
Doctor Lee Dutton will attend all our ills,
Administering liquids and quinine pills.
And Elinor Ross, that quiet little dame,
Doing acrobatic stunts with a fine aeroplane.
A brilliant cartoonist Erwin Hinga will be;
His work we in all publications will see.
As gentle, patient, nurse we find
Cleo Anderson so soothing and kind.
And our friend, Miss Whitney.
In New York will drive a Red Cross Jitney.
SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Normal High School celebrated its first party of the year on October 17. The gymnasium was decorated with the school colors, green and white. Games and dancing furnished the entertainment of the evening.

Normal High had a winning football team and last fall the school decided to give a banquet to show the squad how much they appreciated their efforts. The entire student body with but few exceptions was in attendance. An excellent chicken pie dinner was served after which a splendid program was given. William Fooy was toastmaster; the program of toasts was as follows:

- Behind the Scenes: Coach Hyames
- The Bleachers: Etna FitzPatrick
- The Setting: William Cain
- The Actors: Ex-Captain Maybee, Captain-Elect Wooden
- The Epilogue: President Waldo

The annual Christmas party was held in the gymnasium. A beautifully decorated Christmas tree stood in the center of the floor, while red and green streamers hung from the balcony railing to the tree produced a lowered ceiling effect. Dancing took up the first part of the evening, after which the guests gathered about the tree and sang joyous Christmas carols. The presents, inexpensive toys, were then distributed, causing much merriment. These gifts were afterwards sent with the collection from the Training School to the children in the Kentucky mountains. After refreshments were served the orchestra played again and the guests resumed the dancing. At the close of the party all declared that they had spent a very happy evening and expressed the hope that many more such parties would follow.

On February 17, the gymnasium was again the scene of a party, this time a Valentine-Washington party given by the student teachers for their pupils. Preceding the party Normal High had been victorious in a basketball game with Grand Rapids Central which added much to the gaiety of the evening. The usual dancing was enjoyed by those who wished and for the others games were conducted in the library. During one of the dances, red, white, and blue balloons were dropped from the track and caught by the dancers, thus adding a patriotic feature to the occasion. At eleven o’clock the guests departed, highly enthusiastic over this social festivity.

The Fancy Dress Party which marked the passing of the old high school colors was eloquent testimony of the ability of the Pep O Committee. The decorations consisted of a beautifully green and white lowered ceiling with a scattering of green palms. Elsa Blair received the prize of a high school pennant for the most artistic costume, a black, red, and white page suit. The prize for the most original costume was awarded to Alfred Chase. Dancing was the chief amusement of the evening. The refreshments consisted of orange punch and dainty Molly Pitcher cakes. A clever singing and dancing act was put on by Betty Bachelor and her chorus girls. Everyone had an enjoyable time and expressed satisfaction with the way in which the party was handled.
The Pep O Committee which has been organized in Normal High School during the past year for the purpose of promoting school spirit and supporting school activities has been most successful. This committee is composed of the four class presidents, the yell master, and six people from the general student body.

Immediately upon its election, the committee started to fulfill its purpose for existence. They put on a contest for a new school yell and a school song. A contest to determine the most popular boy and girl in school was also held. It cost a penny to vote to support your favorite candidate with the privilege of as many votes as one wished. The proceeds from this went to purchase a high school banner. The next event of the season which the Pep O Committee had in charge was the Fancy Dress Party. In this, as in all other things they attempted, their efforts met with success.

It was interesting to note how much more enthusiasm there was in the mass meetings after they were taken over by the Pep O Committee. It is felt that a number of victories were due indirectly to their work. By the excellent work that it has done, the Pep O Committee has proven that it is an absolute necessity to Normal High.
FOOTBALL—1921-1922

For the first time in several years Normal High has had a football team and a regular schedule. A large group came out for the tryouts and a splendid team was drilled into fighting trim by Coach Hyames. The schedule was a very hard one for an inexperienced team, but the boys profited so much from hard work and good coaching that they surprised all the school by winning four games out of eight, of which two were cancelled because of weather conditions.

The 1922 basketball season has been marked by excellent team work and good fighting spirit. Again Coach Hyames deserves much credit for building up a first team from a group of men with little experience in basketball who had never played together before this season. The most exciting games of the season were those with Grand Rapids Central, especially the home game when Normal High won by a score of 24 to 18.

BASEBALL—1922

Normal High has had a full baseball schedule with such teams as Benton Harbor, Holland, Hastings, and St. Joseph. This is the second year that we have had a baseball team, but with Reed Waterman as coach, a first rate team has been developed. Six of the games on the schedule, which is a rather hard one, were to be played at home.

Normal High School was again represented in the Michigan High School Debating League. After winning the state championship last year, we fought our way through the preliminaries this year, only to be eliminated in the first round of the elimination debates.

The subject was once more an industrial question: "Resolved, that the principle of the closed shop in American industry should receive the support of public opinion." Normal High upheld both the affirmative and the negative sides of the question this year.

The first debate of the season was with Hastings, in that city, and resulted in a 2 to 1 decision for our opponents. The next three debates were won by unanimous decisions, the last of the teams to fall before us early in the season. Coldwater forfeited the next debate, and the eliminations were begun. In the first round of these debates we were defeated by Allegan. Our team showed unusual ability in this debate, but the judges decided, by a 2 to 1 decision, that Allegan was superior.

Out of the thirty-four students who were interested enough in debating to respond to the call for candidates, Allen Maybee, Winifred Axtell, Etna Fitz-Patrick, Stephen Lewis, William Foard, and Virgil Sears were chosen as the squad to represent Normal High. Both Virgil Sears and William Foard were forced to drop the team before the season began. Stephen Lewis, the only Freshman ever representing Normal High on a debating team, took part in the second Benton Harbor debate, and made a splendid showing. Etna Fitz-Patrick was the third member of the team in all other debates, and did some splendid work. Allen Maybee and Winifred Axtell were also on last year's team; their work this year showed a decided improvement over last year.

Miss Rousseau was again the coach of the team. It is under her splendid supervision that the team has made such a good showing for Normal High this year and all the previous years.
Normal High’s only debating society, the Council, with its purpose to foster and maintain an interest in high school debating has had a very successful second year of existence.

Under the very capable supervision of Miss Rousseau as faculty advisor several close and fascinating debates on closed shop, St. Lawrence waterway, student self-government for Normal High and a six year term for the president of the United States were held.

A very unique and novel system has been inaugurated in the club for the spring whereby it is divided into three teams under the leadership of Allen Maybee, Etna Fitz-Patrick, and Winifred Axtell. Points are given for the winning of debates, parliamentary law drill, programs, and money raising. The side which gets the largest number of points will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be given by the two losing teams.

The Council has backed our debating team both by taking care of visiting teams and by entertaining each team after the debate.

The Council is now one of Normal High’s peppiest and most wide-awake clubs and it is sure to improve with age.
In 1916-1917 the dramatic element of the Normal High School formed a society known as the Normal High Dramatic Society. Later the name was changed to "The Masquers." The society was to bring together all students with ability and interest in dramatics. It planned to study dramatic arts and subjects connected with the drama. As a result, two very excellent plays were given, "The Prince Chap," and "All of a Sudden Peggy."

Tryouts for the purpose of finding out the qualifications of new members were held on the occasion of the second meeting of the fall term. All those accepted into the club are required to obey the rules and by-laws as set forth in the constitution. Those failing to abide by these rules are subject to expulsion from the club.
The Hi-Y is an organization representing the Y. M. C. A. in high schools throughout the United States. Its purpose in all activities is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, the high standards of Christian character. The Normal Hi-Y Club, having met all requirements, is one of the affiliated clubs of Michigan.

The immediate purpose of the club is to serve the school. This year the club has had printed a Student’s Directory and Basketball Schedule which have been a great help in the school. The fourth annual Father and Son Banquet was held under the auspices of this organization at the Y. M. C. A. on the twenty-second of February. A fine supper followed by an equally fine program was enjoyed by eighty fellows and dads.

Meetings are held every Wednesday noon. At these meetings, the fellows are given an opportunity to hear good speakers or to take part in a lively discussion.

The Hi-Y stands for clean living, clean scholarship, clean speech, and clean athletics. It stands for a closer fellowship of students, for co-operation in the advancement of the school, for a deeper and more unified school spirit—in short for everything that tends to make Normal High School a finer, better school to work for and a school which we may at all times and places be proud to call our own.
THE HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

One of the best indications of a live high school is an active Glee Club. In this respect Normal High is very well represented by its Girls' Glee Club. This organization is made up of the high school girls who possess musical ability and who are willing to devote the time to practicing. The work is not only for the purpose of instruction in better chorus work, but also for the enjoyment afforded to its members and to the school at large.

In former years the Glee Club may have been larger. There are twenty-five members at present, but never has there been more efficient work done than this year. In the first place, Mrs. Frances Barrett Jones, the instructor, has taken a vital interest in making the Club a success. The number of rehearsals has been reduced to one instead of two a week; then more intensive work has been done in order to cover the ground. The Glee Club organized, electing Dorothy Mainwaring as President, Anne Peterson as Secretary and Treasurer, and Elizabeth Gorham as Librarian. The Club has had some very interesting numbers to work on, and among the most attractive is the "Singing Leaves" which the girls sang with the Children's Chorus at the May Festival.
THE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School with its newer educational ideals and its varied activities has been a source of inspiration to every student who has been fortunate enough to take part in these activities. As a reminder of some of the interesting experiments in the school during the past year a student in each grade has been asked to write up some project in which he took an active interest.
HEALTH INSTRUCTIONS IN GRADE I

Believing that an efficient citizen must be an efficient individual and that an efficient individual must be a healthy individual, health instruction is given to the Training School children from the beginning to the close of the elementary school. This knowledge is emphasized so that desirable health habits will be developed which will be active forces in keeping each child well and enable each to put forth his best effort and accomplish his strong worthwhile purposes.

These simple health rules are the ones emphasized:
- Brushing the teeth at least once every day.
- A full bath more than once a week.
- Drinking as much milk as possible, but no tea or coffee.
- Eating some vegetables or fruit every day.
- Drinking at least four glasses of water every day.
- A bowel movement every day.
- Playing part of every day out of doors.
- Sleeping long hours with windows open.

The children are weighed and measured each month and a report made to the parents. Special care as to food and rest is given to any malnourished child and it is necessary sometimes to change the child’s program so that the weakness may be overcome.

The teaching of health must be definite and positive with much opportunity for real expression on the part of the child. Many of the school subjects are most necessary and valuable in making the habit stronger. Physical training, art, manual training, domestic science, domestic art, civics, music, speech, composition are all used. Much dramatic play, original rhymes and plays, diet lists, poster illustrations by the children of the health rules are all valuable. The laws of learning work here as everywhere and a teacher must be alive to every situation whereby the bonds will be made stronger; good habits in personal cleanliness, right diet and proper rest are acquired only by daily practice in all that concerns these extremely important matters.

The Training School co-operates with the Child Welfare Association of Kalamazoo which maintains a Nutrition and Dental Clinic for the pre-school age child as well as for the child of school age.

The Child Health Organization of America, 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City, has many publications which are most helpful. By writing to the Supt. of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington D. C., one may receive many helpful suggestions as to ways of teaching this important subject.
THE SECOND GRADE LUNCHEON

The second grade children prepared and gave a luncheon to twenty members of the Faculty. The children planned and arranged all details. Committees were appointed and several weeks were spent in preparation. The menu was decided upon, napkins, posters, salt dishes, and table cloths were made, invitations were written and sent, and much time was spent in learning to make change.

The guests were given a tray and requested to pay for each article as they bought it. It was then reported that some were short changed but we added fifteen dollars to the Ballou Memorial Fund.

THIRD GRADE BOOKLET

The third grade children have completed a book on Kalamazoo and have forwarded a copy of it to the third grade of the Horace Mann school, Columbia University. The two grades maintain a regular correspondence. The third grade children of the Horace Mann school recently sent the Training School children a book on New York. The Kalamazoo booklet contains descriptions of the industries and activities of our city and is illustrated with pictures of our schools, prominent among them being the Normal school and its activities.

THE FOURTH GRADE PLAYHOUSE

The opening performance was given in "The Playhouse" February 16, 1922. It was a huge success as far as the stage carpenters, electricians, artists, and managers were concerned. The "Playhouse" was an empty wooden box placed upon a table. The theater consisted of two screens covered with wrapping paper. The actors were marionettes made and manipulated by the children. The play was "Rumplestiltskin." All the preparations for the play were made in the fourth grade language and art classes. It was presented as their contribution to the weekly Training School assemblies.
FIFTH GRADE ASSEMBLY

The thrilling romance of the development of our great West held the center of interest in the fifth grade during the winter term. In order to share that story with the other children in the Training School, an assembly on "The Westward Movement" was planned and presented.

The first scene showed the Indian warriors being driven farther and farther westward by miner and rancher and farmer. The Indians' fate was sealed when the stage coach rumbled across the stage bearing the makings of the white man's home, with his wife and little "papoose."

In the second scene the occupations of the West were impersonated by the children each one telling of his contributions to the building up of the land west of the Mississippi. Cattle and sheep, gold and silver, and irrigation with its dams and mills were presented by cardboard constructions.

Next came a review of the states in which the merits of each state were graphically described in verses written for the occasion by the children. Costumes much decorated to show the chief products of each state emphasized the great opportunities offered by this wondrous land.

A SIXTH GRADE PROJECT

The children of the sixth grade decided to follow in the footsteps of the sixth grade last year and add a goodly sum to the Fannie Ballou Memorial Fund. So they dramatized "The Pied Piper of Hamlin" for an assembly and for a public performance at one of the Parent-Teachers' meetings. They composed the dramatization themselves and with the help of their mothers made appropriate costumes. There were six scenes: The sewing circle of Hamlin, the Council Chamber, the rats leaving Hamlin, the townspeople rejoicing, the Piper leading away the children, and the townspeople lamenting. All the scenery was designed and made by the children themselves. Robert Gray did very well as the Pied Piper, Jean Gilman made a very lively grey mouse, David Tashjian took the part of the lame boy, and Thomas Howson gave the interludes. The girls of the room made a very quaint picture in their old-fashioned gowns at the sewing circle and the first grade boys and girls were adorable as the children of Hamlin. Between the scenes the seventh and eighth grade chorus, directed by Miss Combs, sang parts from the operetta. The production added one hundred ten dollars to the scholarship fund.
THE SEVENTH GRADE

In these days of the crowded curriculum, there is a real problem in finding a way to meet the individual needs of every student. We have children who can do much more than the normal child seated by the side of those who cannot even do average work; while one child would spend all his time in science, another in grammar, a third in geography.

In the seventh grade these needs have been met in several ways. There is, of course, certain definite work in the usual subjects. But instruction does not stop here. Optional classes have been started.

An optional class in typewriting, meeting outside of school hours, was organized. Regular instruction was given one half hour four days a week. At the end of the second term practically all the pupils who had entered the group were able to write an acceptable business letter by the touch system.

For the child who is slow a course in arithmetic has been started wherein outside of school hours, instruction may be had in work that was not thoroughly understood. For the child who does not find enough work to fill his time there are advanced courses. Only the student whose previous work has shown him to be above the average is admitted.

These classes are in a measure supplementary. For instance the seventh grade history class meets in the fall and winter terms and deals with American history from the time of discovery to Washington’s administration. The course in advanced history comes in the spring term and covers the same ground. But where the regular course mentions various settlements with their significance, the advanced course goes into geographic influences with their wealth of interesting and valuable material. Where the regular course must of necessity give a survey of the Revolution as a whole, the advanced course attempts to vitalize the subject with a thought for the people who hated and feared and loved in those days. The roots are not widened but deepened. A similar advanced course is given in arithmetic.

Finally, two periods of one half hour each in school time coupled with two periods of similar length outside of school are given over to miscellaneous activities in which the children are interested. The children may use this time for study, but a number have chosen to form groups in shop work, nature study, handiwork, science, athletics, and one to publish a school paper. The interests of the children have been utilized in constructive work.
OUR STUDENT GOVERNMENT

We have developed, in the eighth grade, a very splendid basis on which to run our government.

At the beginning of the fall term we wanted a means by which we could manage our affairs, and finally decided on the aldermanic form of city government. Our monthly elections are carried on according to parliamentary usage. Before voting for mayor, we always think of the person who is best able to manage such a responsible task. Each row elects an alderman, whose duty is to inspect the desks and see that they are kept in good condition. The mayor and aldermen compose the council. It meets and assigns each citizen a room duty to perform. Some of the duties are: taking care of the plants, and regulating the ventilation.

The government has proved very successful and gives us a chance to develop self-control. We learn to take responsibility; to express ourselves clearly before the room; and to put a motion. Under this system the boys and girls are able to carry on the work of the room quite independently.
A Daring Inadmiixture
(By Mollie from Cork)

Said ye Editor one day, "We need some wit and humor in this book—you might hand in some jokes."

"Hand in some jokes, you say?"

"Yes, hand in some jokes. That ought to be easy. And get something new—please. For features you might write up some of the notables here-about."

"Easy. Easy, you say? Well, most people like to see their names in print, but not their foibles. Then there are only twenty-five kinds of jokes in existence—every possible joke is but a version of one of the twenty-five—and they were known to the Greeks! Still, you can't down the Irish!"

Said the Chief to Pat one day, "I have a cabbage in my garden so big that a dozen chickens could hide under one leaf."

"Ptah!" said Pat, "Three cops have slept on one of my beats."

Daily Exercises for Practice Teachers

Rise 5 A. M.

Stand in the middle of the room; raise arms slowly overhead; take deep breath and say, "O for forty winks!" lowering arms in attitude of despair. Ten times. (Don't permit yourself to yawn! It will tire your jaws too much and you will be obliged to cut lectures.)

Extend body flat downward on floor; cover eyes with hands; kick heels; think of the lesson plans, observations, reading reports, critic meetings, and weep till eyes dry up.

Kneel, wring hands, meditate upon the superintendents and groan inwardly eleven times.

Assume sitting position, hands on hips, sway gently to and fro and concentrate on correcting test-paper until a generous frothing at the mouth sets in. Till exhausted.

Collapse on floor, grovel vigorously, think of your possible obituaries and shiver, shake, and tremble as a leaf. Gnash your teeth as in anger and determination. Ad. lib.

While cooling off try to wake your Freshman room-mate.

Note—Observe this simple regimen every morning before breakfast and you will reach that enviable stage of distraction conducive to evoke sympathy and an "A."
Razzberries

(Cultivated and cultured by W. Mason Smith on his Vicksburg farm. Spilled on Normal Field. Other characters not noted. Begins and ends with Smith speaking.)

"Another of those paper dolls—knock 'em down!"
"Yea doughnut! Waiter bring on the coffee."
"Hey Simmons!—Better get away from that water Simmons! Hey Spike, get Simmy off the end there, he'll break that bench."
"Coffee! Coffee!"
"Hey there pitcher, bet the mice bother you a lot at night. Don't take any rat poison."
"Better eat some celery and fish to develop your head."
"Heaving like a dirt shovel!"
"Get a lot of good support in there—could have caught that with a spoon."
"Ha Ha—Move your nose on the back of your neck so you won't have to get a looking-glass."
"Better pray! Look who's coming up!"
"Why don't they send for a Dean of Women out there?"
"Bet you take a domestic science course or rural."
"Bet the farm you grew on couldn't raise buckwheat without a der- nick."
"How many years before you finish that two year course up there? Your certificate will be life—it'll take a life to get it."
"Put your ears in your pocket—I want to see the game."
"Ought to put your name on that ball."
"Why don't you take up golf. All big leaguers do.—Got to get your doughnuts and coffee."
"Y' got everything today, Messie boy."
"They're lucky to get that foul off'n you! Keep a-working!"
"Look who's up! Pick up a green bat to match the grass and your ears!"
"Out! Keep steppin'—Left-right-left-right!"
"They gave you hair or brains—and you lost hair."
"Not a thing on the ball but the stitches! They'll bust one for you next time."
"Here comes the boy that dried snow and sold it for salt to get a start."
"Come on, wind up, you look like a watch."
"Hey, get a little control—you'll kill somebody."
"Simmy up! Somebody's goat is loose in the middle of the diamond."
"Fill 'em up and clean house! Go. 'em where we want 'em—get in there Simmy and bust one a mile."
"Pitcher's all shot! How did you strike 15 men out at Albion? Bet it was Sunday and they wouldn't play ball."
"Those fielders ought to have bicycles."
"Had somebody for you and eight others they might have a team."
"Feel for you—but can't reach you!"
"Don't get your feet tangled!"
"Bet you're praying for rain."
"Come on Messie! He couldn't hit a sign-board with a handful of rice!"
"Might as well pick up a cent when you see it."

Exit—Walter Mason Smith.
The class was analyzing an argument which attempted to blame the Republicans for the recent business depression. Rolland Maybee attributed the depression to "Democratic seeds."

"How do you account for the Panic of 1907?" he was asked. "Well you see, I was in Europe at that time."

Don Gorham: "O, I bet that's a freight train!"
Miss R.: "O, your observational powers are tremendous!"
Don: "Well, I guessed it was a freight train without seeing it. You know it might have been the Fruit Belt."

Don: "Going down-town, Phares?"
Phares: "Yeah. Got your car?"
Don: "I should hope to say not—why do you suppose I asked you if you were going down-town?"

A Few Ambitions

Maebelle Vreeland—to weigh 100 lbs.
George Berry—to be Professor of Porch Swingology.
Rolland Maybee—to have someone listen to him talk for two hours.
Barbara Blaine and Arline Bellows—to know as much as Mr. Sprau.
Edwin Burklund—"To sail on thee, O Silvery Cloud."
Dick Biery—to be Professor of Moonlight Strolloiogy.
Margaret Beall—to make them count her hats.
Thelma Vogt—to read all of the Library's books.
Loyal Phares—to tell how each candy-bar tastes.
Katheryn Williams—to study in the Library.
Louise McBride—to have long hair by fall.
Loree Harvey—to sell this stuff.
Virgil Altenberg—to make 'em blow.
Jake Frank—to measure his smiles.

Best Prize Story for 1922

"Well" said Miss L. G. R. of the faculty, "I think that was stretching it some, but I know of a better one than that. This actually happened and I'll vouch for it.

"A lady and her daughter were presented with a real, live turkey about Christmas time. They fattened it; got it already to kill; but, the thought struck them that it would be awfully cruel to wring his neck or chop his head off, so they found another way out—they just chloroformed Mr. Turkey. When he seemed quite dead they took him by the legs and soused him up and down in a big kettle of scalding-hot water about a dozen times. Then they picked every feather he had off and put him in the ice-box to cool.

"Next morning the mother went to the ice-box to get the turkey and make him ready for the oven. She opened the door and out walked Mr. Turkey, dreadfully naked but still very much alive!"

The Hill-top News

Weather. Difficult to chart.

News Item. At a recent meeting of the receivers and board of directors, the Western Consolidated Railway, Inc. Ltd., was reorganized and the cars washed. Henceforth the cars will run on their own nerves and a progressive time schedule. It was decided to have all the employees in uniform and snappy brown hats with a gold W on were purchased. Mr. Harry Potter will be engaged as train-caller if one of those loud speakers they tell about can be secured.

Scientific achievements. Johnnie Gill, standing on his left foot, and holding a rake in his hands, took two bu. of leaves off ½ of a tennis court in 2-3 of a day. It's a gay life.

Editorial. Mr. Gill is to be congratulated.

Financial News. A statement of capital, etc., of the Western Consolidated Ry. Inc. Ltd., has been filed with the State Secretary. It includes: 2 cars with doors, 1 window frames, 1 windows; 2 cables with 2 spools to wind them on; 3 9-12 platforms; one smoke station, and one smoke-stack.

Society. Those who enjoy their mother nature and ants are having picnics these days.

Personalis: Mr. John Gill, who was thinking of a farm near Holland, will take a Rural Course next year.

Miss Anna French will not have her hair bobbed since it is not a French style.

Entertainment: Three Musketeers; other warm nights—Library.

Jottings. Oscar Johnson who was told he looked like "The Sheik," and Johnny Oertstadt who received a $10,000 offer when he submitted his heavenly seraphic physiognomy in the basket-ball squad, will not go into the movies.

Lost—An inspiration '94 Edw. Van Kersen.

Notice—Mr. Paul Bowersox neglected to slip us the customary quarter and so, though we would like to say some real good things about him, in justice to the others mentioned, his name will not appear in this issue.

In Kalamazoo nature and the hand of man have combined to build a pleasant city. In pioneer days settlers were attracted to this spot because of the water power furnished by the Kalamazoo river and its tributaries, and by the fertile character of the valley and the surrounding prairies of the uplands. Now a prosperous city of 50,000 people with diversified, though harmonious, interests fills the valley and spreads its residences over surrounding hills. From several coigns of vantage about the city one may survey what appears like a great woodland so completely are buildings and public improvements shaded by forest trees, many of the oaks and elms being older than the city itself.

CONGRATULATIONS

to the worthy students of the Brown and Gold; of whom the community should be very proud because less than 1% of the population of the United States accomplish the honor and distinction of becoming a college graduate. Indeed the proud parents must be doubly proud of their children on such an occasion and no doubt want to express their feelings with a Gift supreme, a Gift that lasts, and will always be a remembrance to the recipient, of his Graduation. It is our pleasure to help you solve the Gift problem. Make it a Diamond Ring, Wrist Watch, Pearl Beads, La Valliere, Little-finger or Birth Stone Ring, Gentleman’s Watch, Birth Stone or Signet Ring, Cuff Links, Scarf Pin, Watch Chain, Belt Buckle, Gold Knife, and other Gifts that last. Summer Term will open June 26
Fall Term will open September 25

SOME ADVANTAGES

1. The Life Certificate may be earned by graduates of approved high schools in two years. This certificate gained at the Western Normal is now accepted in more than twenty states.

2. Western Normal School offers a four-year course of study leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Courses offered during the summer term may be counted as credit toward the Bachelor's degree.

3. Western Normal instructors (80 in number) have been trained in more than two score leading colleges, normal schools, and universities.

4. Western Normal graduates are in great demand. They are now teaching in every section of Michigan, in 35 states, as well as in Alaska, Canada, and Porto Rico.

5. The library contains 25,000 carefully chosen volumes, all selected in the past few years, and is growing rapidly. One hundred ninety periodicals are regularly received, and the library now includes 52 complete sets of the leading magazines.

6. The new Science building which with equipment cost $130,000, greatly increases the efficiency of the several departments of science.

7. The gymnasium (120 feet by 68 feet) is equipped with apparatus, swimming pool, showers, lockers, and running track. It is the largest normal school gymnasium in the Middle West.

8. We have a fourteen-acre athletic field. A splendid diamond, a first-class football gridiron, and one of the best quarter-mile tracks in the country are among the features. Bleachers with a capacity for 3,000 spectators have been provided.

9. The Student Loan Fund has served splendidly in assisting deserving students. Hundreds of loans have been made during the past years.

10. Young men who have completed the life certificate course receive from $1,200 to $1,800 the first year. Young women who have completed the life certificate course receive from $1,000 to $1,500 the first year. Graduates of the Normal are now holding important administrative positions in Michigan, including superintendencies, principalships, supervisorships, county normal directorships, and county commissionerships.

11. A two-year life certificate course in Commerce was organized at the opening of the school year in 1916. Graduates of this course are already in demand beyond our ability to supply.

12. Western Normal is the only institution in Michigan granting a special manual training certificate. A new manual training building costing $80,000 has just been completed. The normal school possesses manual training equipment valued at $25,000. Additions are constantly being made to this equipment.

13. The Normal Co-Operative Store furnishes books and student supplies at low prices. During the past year a business of more than $15,000 has been transacted.

14. The Normal Lunch Room serves 500 students daily. There are rooms for 1,200 students within easy walking distance of the school.

15. Expenses are reasonable. The tuition fee is $6.00 for 12 weeks for residents of Michigan, and $10.00 for non-resident students. To this is added a fee of $2.50 for the support of athletics and for subscription to the "Normal Record" and the "Western Normal Herald." There are many opportunities for remunerative work.

16. The buildings and equipment are all new. The inventory of land, buildings, and contents is $600,000. The Normal now owns nearly forty acres of land.

Three Million Dollars

THIS ILLUSTRATION IS A PICTURE WRITING. CAN YOU READ IT?

It says: Thomas A. Edison combined his genius with three million dollars and produced the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison—”the phonograph with a soul.”

Always remember this picture message.
Remember the man at the top, whose genius is responsible for it all, Edison the wizard, Edison the idealist.
Remember the three million dollars spent, the seven years he experimented, the untiring research which spared neither men, materials nor money.
Then you will understand why the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison is the ultimate development of the phonograph, why its RE-CREATION of an artist’s art and that artist’s living art are without difference.
Replicas of the original three million dollar model are in our store. You cannot estimate them in terms of other phonographs, in anything except price. They actually cost no more. We’ll put one in your home at once, and let you pay for it at your convenience.

NORMAL CO-OPERATIVE STORE
KEEPING UP OUR END

THIS Store, which to all intents and purposes, is a public institution, owes more to the public than merely having goods to sell. Therefore, it does its level best—

To maintain quality, for the satisfaction of its customers, and its own reputation.

To maintain stocks of wanted goods in full assortments.

To keep prices as low as possible, against their powerful tendency to rise.

To give good service—either over its own counters or to customers who take advantage of our efficient Mail Order Service.

That it succeeds, is due to unceasing endeavor, to careful planning, and to passing on to its patrons the fruits of efficient operation at modest prices.

We are always ready to correct a mistake; a transaction is not closed until the customer is satisfied.

Hear Them Again

Miss Spindler's Story—
A fond mother brought her little daughter to the Training School. The little one was placed where she belonged. When she came home her mother asked her how she liked the teacher.

Dr. Henry's Story—
Down at Illinois we gave the girls a test on their knowledge of manual training. One question was, “A gimlet is used to polish woodwork. True False.” Of course every girl underscored “true,” but they got it back on us when they tested our knowledge of household affairs. One question was, “Beef can be boiled tender in a camisole. True False.” I was among those underscoring the “true,” but I’ve learned better since.

Mr. Sprau’s Philosophy—
Well, if a crazy man with two guns and a butcher knife gets you in a corner, on the roof of the Woolworth Building and demands that you say the moon is made of green cheese, for pity sake’s SAY it. It won’t make any difference.

One day, down in Ohio, I was walking through the grounds of an asylum and one of the inmates came up and insisted that I take his picture. I didn’t have a camera with me; I did have a pair of field glasses. I took his picture with them, and that was all there was to it.

Miss Rawlinson’s Perennial story—
A youngster started in a district school. When he came home the first day, his mother said, “Johnny how did you like school?”

Johnny said, “I don’t know.”

“Did you do anything?”

“No.” After thinking a while he said, “Oh, a woman there wanted to know how to spell cat and I told her.”

Dr. Brown, in Rhetoric—“Mr. Morton, where would you go to find something about Jane Austin’s life?”

Co-ed—“I never thought that of you!”

Frosh—“Can’t help it. The water was frozen ice.

Test question—”Where was the Declaration of Independence signed?”
Test paper—“All over the bottom of the paper.”

Mr. Moore—“What kind of a world’s this we are in?”
DeBoe—“It’s an economic world.”

The Free For All Society for the Debate and Disposition of Anything was holding forth in the Main hall. Everyone presided at once. Refreshments consisted of Adam’s Ale quaffed from the bubbling fountain. Argumentation waxed strong, as a result the soldiers received no bonus and shops were opened in the daytime and closed at night. Clothes shops were declared essential to society on moral, economic and utilitarian grounds.

Miss Atta Chapman emerged from the Library to ask the group to decide on the proposition, Resolved: That short skirts should cover two feet.

It was agreed that it was a relative matter. The exact definitions, explanations, interpretation and arguments advanced are unavailable as the big gong sounded just then and the meeting adjourned.
After Dinner Economic Problems

"Trudie"—"How about the bobbed haired girls, would they get a job with you?"

Mr. Moore—"Oh well, Miss Cooley, I don't mind the bobbed hair. I really think it's a good idea. If the style keeps up we won't find so many long hairs in the butter.

Question—Where'll we eat? O'Neill's?

Flo. Burkhard—"Well Peg if you go down to O'Neill's you'll make everybody dizzy."

Peg Myers—"Huh, say Flo, you can go down there and they'll let you stick your face in the dough to make the animal cookies."

Fat—"Real evidence—me for instance."

Practical Psychology
A maiden living with A. Bellows
Has lovers (faith she did tellows).

Might mention that adding water increases the amount.

Miss Rawlinson—"The more you can reduce, the better."

General Foch in Kansas City
The streets and trees were filled with people,
Loyal America, come to attention
I have news that's worthy of mention.
General Foch is here from France,
Over the States to take a glance.
On Tuesday eve, November the first,
Into Kansas City our friends did burst.
The crowds were out and great noise made
By music that the bands had played;
The streets and trees were filled with people
And some boys even climbed the steeple.
At night a banquet he attends
And there he meets some soldier friends.
He was there for half a week,
And many people heard him speak.
When he went, the Legion men
Hoped that he would come again.
The train puffed out and away he went,
To talk about disarmament.

Hope-Normal Game

Hope College has come to-day
To try and take our laurels away,
But they'll have a merry time,
Now the time is drawing nigh
And all the boys are turned in high.
Finally we all get set,
Ready to make those Hope boys sweat.
The day was cold and breezy,
The teachers were fast and speedy,
The Dutchmen sure were in the dust,
With all their hope gone bust.
You should have heard the band a-playing,
And the Normal's, they were hailing,
So Hope College must come some other day.
If they want to take our laurels away

CRESCENT specializes in high grade photo-engravings for School Annuals. The plates used in this book were made by Crescent.

For the assistance of students and others in charge of the preparation of annuals, Crescent maintains a School Service Department which will furnish all information required for selecting suitable photographs, preparing copy and ordering plates.

We solicit correspondence from all interested in this class of work, and we will be glad to co-operate with classes and class committees to the end that the best possible results may be obtained at a minimum expense.

Fall
Off from the oak tree, so old,
The leaves came dancing red, brown and gold
Then sailing to and fro,
Down to the ground they go.
Then—into a pile they are put.
And burned to ashes and soot.
Poor little leaves.
—Elaine Davidson, Grade III.

Pussy Willow
Pussy Willow so soft and gray,
Aren't you afraid to come out and play?
Do you think the snow has gone to stay?
It may come back this very day.
You brave, Pussy Willows.
—Third Grade Children.

Spring
The snow and ice are going away,
The birds are coming every day.
Robins and bluebirds and wee little wrens,
Will be the third grade children's friends.

AND IN CONCLUSION—

We wish to state that this Brown and Gold represents more than the work of the Staff. Many people not on the Staff have devoted much of their time to its preparation. It is to those who have assisted us in securing material, in disposing of the more monotonous phases of the work, and in soliciting advertising, that we wish to express our deep appreciation. Especially are we under a debt of gratitude to our faculty advisers, Miss Spindler and Mr. Pennell, for their advice and co-operation, and to the Art Department for its invaluable assistance. Finally, we wish to urge every student to patronize those people who have given evidence of their interest and support by their advertisements in this book.
