

Western Michigan University
ScholarWorks at WMU

Family and Consumer Sciences News

Family and Consumer Sciences

4-15-2016

Little Dresses for Africa

College of Education and Human Development

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/familyconsumer-news>

Part of the Dietetics and Clinical Nutrition Commons, Education Commons, and the Fashion Design Commons

WMU ScholarWorks Citation

College of Education and Human Development, "Little Dresses for Africa" (2016). Family and Consumer Sciences News. 26.

<https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/familyconsumer-news/26>

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Family and Consumer Sciences at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Family and Consumer Sciences News by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact wmu-scholarworks@wmich.edu.

Little Dresses for Africa

April 15, 2016

On Saturday, April 2, Fashion Merchandising and Design students applied their clothing design skills to a good cause. Twenty students, who are members of MODA, the major's RSO, spent the day creating cotton dresses for children in African countries. Fabric for the dresses was donated by several generous FCS faculty. The dresses will be donated to Little Dresses for Africa, a nonprofit organization which provides relief to vulnerable children throughout the Continent of Africa and beyond.

Pictured: Fashion Merchandising and Design majors Tori Ford and Takudzwa Chiduma, coordinators of the Little Dresses for Africa project.