

12-11-2014

December 11, 2014: Undergraduate English Majors Submit Papers to the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium 2015!

Department of English

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/english_blog

 Part of the Creative Writing Commons, Digital Humanities Commons, English Language and Literature Commons, and the Linguistics Commons

WMU ScholarWorks Citation

Department of English, "December 11, 2014: Undergraduate English Majors Submit Papers to the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium 2015!" (2014). Gleanings: Department of English Blog Archive. 35.

https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/english_blog/35

This Blog is brought to you for free and open access by the English at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Gleanings: Department of English Blog Archive by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact wmu-scholarworks@wmich.edu.

Thursday, December 11, 2014

Undergraduate English Majors, Submit Papers to the Medieval and Renaissance Studies Colloquium 2015!

The Medieval and Renaissance Studies Consortium announces its sixth annual colloquium, an academic conference for undergraduates from participating Michigan colleges and universities. The colloquium will be held on April 11, 2015.

Hosted by Kalamazoo College; Kalamazoo, MI

Contact: Amy L. Smith

Department of English

asmith@kzoo.edu

Proposals due January 30th. Undergraduate students at participating institutions are invited to submit proposals for individual papers and panels on any topic in medieval and Renaissance studies. The Consortium encourages submissions from across the academy.

Generally, a student submits an abstract based on a major research paper he or she is writing or has written for a college course. Individual abstracts should be limited to 200 words.

The student then revises the paper for presentation at the conference. The version of the paper presented should be no more than 15 minutes long (usually about 7-8 double-spaced manuscript pages) and should present original scholarship.

Proposals for panels should consist of two to three papers; panel proposals should contain the names of panel's organizer, names of the presenters and individual abstracts for each paper.

Proposals will be reviewed by a committee from the participating colleges, and students whose proposals are accepted will present their work at the conference in the spring.

Posted by Grace Tiffany at 11:08 AM