Carol Symes teaches in History, Medieval Studies, and the Center for Global Studies at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign, where she is a Lynn M. Martin Professorial Scholar and the founding executive editor of The Medieval Globe, the first academic journal to promote a global approach to medieval studies. She is the author of the multi-award-winning book, A Common Stage: Theater and Public Life in Medieval Arras (Cornell University Press, 2007), and is the editor, with Caroline Goodson and Anne Lester, of Cities, Texts and Social Networks, 400-1500 (Ashgate, 2010), as well as the co-author, with Joshua Cole, of W. W. Norton’s bestselling Western Civilizations textbook. Symes founded the Education Justice Project’s Theatre Initiative, which developed out of her experience teaching and performing at the Danville Correctional Center.
