2-4-2012

Admitted Student Reception—Kalamazoo

John M. Dunn
Western Michigan University, john.dunn@wmich.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/dunn
Part of the Higher Education Commons

WMU ScholarWorks Citation
https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/dunn/505

This Speech is brought to you for free and open access by the Office of the President at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in WMU President John Dunn by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact maira.bundza@wmich.edu.
Good evening.

• I am enormously pleased to be here this evening to welcome you to Western Michigan University.

• First--thank you for braving the snow this evening. I take that as a sign that you are perfectly suited for the campus that two weeks ago was named America's 8th snowiest college campus by AcuWeather.com. We always work to improve our many national rankings. Think of this evening as part of our efforts to move up that AcuWeather list.

• As families, you've been on a long journey together to prepare for this point in your lives. Congratulations on a job well done. You've laid the groundwork for success. You are here because you know that great potential will be enhanced by making the right college choice. You have heard or read about the benefits of being a student at WMU--wonderful faculty, great instructional facilities and people who really care about our students in and out of the classroom.

• This university is focused on student success. We want you to succeed--to "Go West" to find and prepare for your personal frontier. Our entire university is devoted to helping our students realize their potential by offering an environment that is learner centered, discovery driven and globally engaged.

• Tonight is all about helping you understand what your next four years will be like as part of the Bronco family and a citizen of Kalamazoo--and we very much want you to be part of our community.
Let me brag a little bit. I want you to be aware of some of the critical pieces of information about WMU. Here are a few things you should know.

-WMU is a research university--one of just over 200 in the nation to win that designation from the Carnegie Foundation. Why is that important to you? It means you'll be taught by professors who are making the latest discoveries and are at the top of their game.

-We have an Honors College that is one of the oldest collegiate honors programs in the country and the credentials of our honors college classes equal or surpass those at the nation's most elite private colleges.

-We have nationally and internationally known programs that range from aviation and engineering management to vocal jazz, geosciences and medieval studies. In fact, if there were a "Final Four" for academic programs, WMU would have programs in the top slots every year.

-I mentioned our many national rankings. Among my favorites is WMU being called a Best Value University by Washington Monthly magazine and a "Best Bang for the Buck" college by the millennial website PolicyMic. Both of those lists appeared last summer.

-And finally, I want you to be aware of our most recent work in graduate and professional education. This fall, the first class of students will be welcomed into the WMU School of Medicine. And later this spring, we expect to formally affiliate with a private law school that will become the WMU Thomas Cooley Law School.
• I could go on and on about our academic resources. Making WMU your home also means having access to student life that is the best around. Every year, our students enjoy hundreds of music, theatre, dance and art events; hundreds of guest speakers; free admission to campus sporting events and a surrounding community that is alive with shopping, dining, entertainment and recreation events. It's all part of the total student experience.

  • Being a Bronco includes football Saturdays in Waldo Stadium and weekend evenings as a member of the Lawson Lunatics who make up what last month was named "the best student section in college hockey."
  • Bronco life also means having a chance to do the Polar Plunge to raise money for Special Olympics. If that sounds too cold, there are plenty of other service opportunities, and our campus community annually logs in more than 600,000 hours of service and volunteer work.
  • Being a Bronco means being part of a diverse and sustainable community. We're nationally known as a green campus that has built sustainability into every facet of campus life.
  • And for those of you who dream of becoming an entrepreneur, we have a new student incubator--the Starting Gate--designed to help students launch their own businesses.

This is all part of the total experience that comes with being part of the WMU community. Your experiences in and out of the classroom will spark your success.

• One of the great joys of being a university president is seeing students like you make a great decision. I'll be looking for you during Welcome Week on our campus next fall and I'll look forward to seeing you on campus after that. I'll be on the stage at Miller Auditorium to shake your hand when you receive your bachelor's degree a little more than four years from now.
• Again, thank you for being here this evening. Ask lots of question. I know you’ll be impressed by the answers you receive. Let me close with a reminder that whatever the weather or time of year, it's always a great day to be a Bronco!