Engler selects Chormann and St. John for board

Gov. John Engler has appointed a new member to the board of the WMU Board of Trustees. Richard F. Chormann, president and chief operating officer of the Kalamazoo Foundation and a WMU trustee since 1987, was reappointed. Their appointments on the eight-member board will be for two years.

"These community leaders have built successful careers that deserve lasting recognition," said Engler. "Designating them as trustees for our institutions of higher learning honors them for their many achievements in the community, or otherwise employs the ambition and wisdom with which they have each been blessed."

"We are now at a point where we must listen to student concerns and to deal with disruptive behavior," Haenicke said. "Your experience in dispute resolution is needed, and I appreciate your readiness to bring your expertise to our campus."

"We are as a school that serves essentially the community; and we expect to once again offer one of the lower tuition increases in the state," Haenicke said. "Tuition remains low because we are a school that serves essentially the community; and we expect to once again offer one of the lower tuition increases in the state."
Sixth annual Native American Pow Wow set for March 11-12

Native American dance, costumes, songs, food and art will be among the attractions of the sixth annual Pow Wow set for Saturday and Sunday, March 11-12, in the Student Recreation Center.

Nearly 6,000 people are expected to attend the event that will run from 1 to 11 p.m. Saturday and from 1 to 9 p.m. Sunday. The pow wow is sponsored by the Native American Student Organization, the Division of Native Affairs and the Campus Activities Board.

"Remember the Past: Preserve the Future," a theme of this pow wow, and that other will have a special focus on children. The pow wow originated on campus six years ago to provide Native American culture and its impact on modern American life and to encourage Native American students to continue their education.

Grand entries featuring dancers, singing, drumming and traditional ceremonial dress will open the pow wow at 1 p.m. each day. A grand entry also will take place at 7 p.m. Saturday. Following the grand entries, Native American dancers in several age groups will compete for cash prizes at various categories. The contests will begin on Saturday with children 5-6 years of age and progress during the day to older children, teens and adult dancers.

More than 40 Native American traders will be vending their goods far away as California and New Mexico as well as from Michigan and the surrounding states. The traders have Native American jewelry, arts and crafts and other pow wow memorabilia available for purchase. Food vendors will sell such traditional treats as wild rice, fry bread and Indian tacos.

The pow wow is open to the public. Admission is $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and $1 for children under 12. There is no admission charge for children under age 12 with a valid student identification card. For more information about the event, persons should contact the Native American Student Organization office at 7-2279.

Haenick to address alumni

President Haenick to discuss what's in store for the future at WMU during a program for alumni and friends Tuesday, March 21, at the Fetzer Center.

The event, which includes a continental breakfast, will begin with registration at 7:15 a.m. and conclude by 8:20 a.m. The topic of Haenick's presentation is "The Next 10 Years at WMU.

The breakfast is the final program in a series this year sponsored by the WMU Alumni Association called "Know Your Community, Kalamazoo!" The cost is $5 for alumni association members or $6 for non-members.

For more information, persons may call 7-3951.

Seminar in England offered

Students, staff, faculty and alumni are invited to participate in WMU's Cambridge Seminar this summer. In England, the in-session meeting is set for Thursday, March 16, at 211 Bernhard Center.

According to Helen Fawcett, director of international affairs, the seminar will run from July 6 to Aug. 5 at Cambridge University. It will be directed by Dr. Rolf Roos, Salisbury, England. For more information, persons may call 7-3951.

Recent statements made by a student group to the media and to the campus community misrepresent the facts of the events of the evening of Feb. 22.

This is what actually happened:

On Wednesday, Feb. 22, a professor of mathematics was conducting a mid-term examination in a classroom in Rood Hall. After the examination had started, a group of students entered the classroom, disrupting the classroom activity.

Standing between the professor and his students, the demonstrators began reading letters and making statements in front of the class, and making it necessary for the professor to call the campus police to come to his assistance. Our campus police responded to the call, and with the help of other administrators, who also had appeared on the scene, attempted to relocate the class to another room in Rood Hall.

The first attempt to move the class to the third floor was unsuccessful because the demonstrators entered the classroom and prohibited the administration of the examination to continue. Another attempt was made in yet another classroom, and this time the demonstrators prohibited some of the students from entering the alternate site by forming a physical barrier across the door. Finally, after three failed attempts to administer the examination, the class had to be dismissed.

During the next day, I instructed our campus police to bring formal charges under the Student Code against all students who could be identified as having participated in the disruption. Under the Student Code, the students are charged with disrupting "functions, processes and services of the University (that) must be protected, if the instruction is to be effective in discharging its responsibilities."

After identifications were made, several students were charged with violations of the Student Code and will be subject to established campus judiciary procedures. These procedures are currently on-going.

I have repeatedly pointed out that peaceful demonstrations are common in our society, and should be tolerated. However, I feel strongly that the University cannot and should not tolerate acts that violate the rules and policies that govern the University community and should be tolerated.

Conferees held at WMU this summer in England. An international seminar this summer in England. An international seminar will be held for alumni and friends Tuesday, March 16, in 211 Bernhard Center.

Alumni Association called "Good Morning, Kalamazoo!" The cost is $5 for alumni and $1 for children.

WMU is an equal opportunity/employer/affirmative action institution. This publication is weekly during fall and winter semesters and bi-weekly during spring and summer semesters. Offices that receive too many copies should return them to News Services by noon Tuesday of the week of publication.

Service, B-207 Ellsworth Hall, Western Michigan University.

Oliver St., Kalamazoo, MI 49008-5165. Postmaster: Send address changes to Western News, Kalamazoo, MI 49008-5165.
Project focuses attention on sexual violence

Members of the University community will spend the month of March focusing on sexual violence and preparing for the second annual Violence Prevention Line set for April 3-7 on campus.

The Clotheline Project is a display of shirts and images which tell the stories of survivors of sexual violence. Designed as a visual reminder of the effects of such violence, the display symbolizes an airing of society's "dirty laundry" and is intended to increase awareness and decrease the impact of sexual and relationship violence in society.

Many project partners, part of a national effort, is sponsored at WMU by Mortar Board, a national honors association for seniors, in collaboration with students, faculty, staff, and services, part of the Office of Student Life. Mortar Board launched the WMU project about a month ago. At this point in the project, a series of campus shirt-making sessions or book displays, which is national effort, is underway. The event, she notes, is timed to take advantage of April's designation as National Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Those interested in the issue of sexual assault also will be encouraged to participate in Kalamazoo's "Take Back the Night" march set for April 8, day after the clotheline exhibit closes.

On campus

MONEY MATTERS

— Ruth E. Mader's job is to keep the money flowing around the Bernhard Center. An accounting clerk in the center's office, she takes care of accounting aspects involving the office and such other areas in the building as catering, the public library, the games area and the counter in the lobby, "I'm the bill payer," she says.

Mader, who has worked at the University for 19 years and spent most of that time in the Bernhard Center. "I'm always interesting to me out what the bottom line is." She also answers the telephone and greets visitors in the office and pinches hits at the counter in the lobby. She's always there, ready to help the customer. "During her years at WMU, Mader has been active in the Clerical/Technical Organization, coordinating group bus trips to Chicago. When not at work, she enjoys quizzing, cross country skiing and walking.

On campus

Two refugees from the civil war in Bosnia will speak about their experiences Tuesday, March 16.

Adnun Zubcevic, a former psychologist and general practitioner in Sarajevo, and Dragana, a former Sarajevan journalist, will speak at 8 p.m. in the Lee Honors College. The event is free and open to the public.

Dragana Zubcevic and her daughter, Rubina, left Sarajevo in 1992 shortly after the conflict began. They spent two years as refugees in Croatia and Germany.

Adnun Zubcevic remained in Sarajevo, living without heat, running water or electricity and often without food. He was assigned to serve as a doctor in Sarajevo by the Bosnian military. In summer 1994, he took advantage of a lull in the fighting to walk out of Bosnia to Croatia, where he was reunited with his wife and daughter.

The Zubcevics now reside in Concord, Mass., where Dr. Zubcevic is a high school exchange student in 1974-75. It has been two and a half years since he has seen or spoken to his parents, who are trapped in the Sarajevo-occupied section of Sarajevo. He also left a brother in Sarajevo and is able to communicate with him when local telephone lines are working.

At the event at WMU is being coordinated by Peter A. Walker, English, who was Zubcevic's classmate at Concord Academy when he was an exchange student.

The Zubcevics also will meet during the week to discuss their experiences and the situation in the former Yugoslavia with faculty, staff and students in the departments of psychology and political science and the Office of International Affairs where they are visiting with the Lee Honors College.

Jobs

The following list of vacancies is currently being posted through the Job Opportunities Program by employment services in the Department of Human Resources. Interested eligible employees should submit a job opportunity transfer application or sign the appropriate bil sheet during the posting period.

S-1 and S-2 clerical positions are not required to be posted. Interested University employees may contact an employment services staff member for assistance in securing these positions.

For persons interested in faculty positions, there are openings in selected fields. A letter of application should be submitted to the appropriate dean or chairperson.

Employment services will be accepting external applications for clerical/technical positions March 27-31. Temporary clerical employees who would like to be considered for benefits-eligible positions should complete an application during that time.

(R) Administrative Assistant II, P-02, Continuing Education-Grand Rapids Regional Center, 94/95-339, 3-7/3-15.

(R) Replacement

WMU is an EQUA employer.
Thursday, March 9

Choose available through Gopher on the VMS cluster. Currently, there are three calendars (thru 28):

- Exhibitions: surgery by Bernice Strawn, Space Gallery, Knauss Hall, December.
- To view the calendars, type Gopher at the system prompt. At the next menu,
- Student recital, Robert Travis and Aaron Welch, both horn, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Friday, March 10

Doctoral oral examination, "A Study of the Effectiveness of the Michigan Certified Boardmember Award Program," Henry Bothwell, educational leadership, 3:30 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "State Terrorism in the Arab-Israeli-Palestinian Conflict: Social Constructionism and the Question of Power," Aman M. Awad, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

Psychology colloquium, "Research Methods and Statistics," Bradley E. Hultsna, psychology, 3:30 p.m.

- Western Michigan Big Band Festival featuring the Kalamaooz Big Band, Oseego Jazz Ensemble and WMU Jazz Orchestra, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 7:30 p.m.

- (thru 12) Performance: "Cats," Miller Auditorium: March 10, 8 p.m.; March 11, 6:30 and 9:30 p.m.; and March 12, 6:30 p.m.

Saturday, March 11

- Western Invitational Jazz Festival, Dalton Center, all day; closing concert, featuring the University Jazz Orchestra with guest artist Marvin Stamm, 8 p.m.

- Sixth annual Native American Pow Wow, Student Recreation Center: March 11, 1-10 p.m.; and March 12, 1-5 p.m.

Sunday, March 12

- Women's gymnastics, WMU vs. Ball State University, University Arena, 2 p.m.

- Concert, "Classics Lite," University Symphony Orchestra, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 3 p.m.

- Convocation, Converse on Parade, 3:30 p.m.

- Student recital, Richard G. Dietrich, percussion, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Monday, March 13

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Treatment Utility of the Therapeutic Reactance Scale in Relation to Single Session Hypnosis for Smoking Cessation," Gregory Vaughan, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Factors Influencing the Hiring of Women as Community College Chief Executive Officers," Diane Chadduck, educational leadership, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Sisters in the Hood," Deborah J. Burrell-Kitchen, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Concert, University Chorale, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 4:30 p.m.

- Student recital, Richard G. Dietrich, percussion, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Tuesday, March 14

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3 p.m.

- Lecture on the continuing struggle for justice in Africa, Jerry Herman, coordinator of the Institute of Government and Politics colloquium, 2:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Use of a Structured Interview to Evaluate the Validity of the Michigan Certification Model," Dr. E. Ulrich, sociology, 3:30 p.m.

- "Heritage Night" Feb.15 in the Bernhard Center: readings, dances and songs by African-American Females, Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "Public Choice or Public Spirit: Toward a More Comprehensive Theory of Regulation," Gary Kitts, public administration, 2:30 p.m.

- Doctoral oral examination, "The Impact of Mentoring on Leadership Among Young African-American Females," Joyce Montgomery, sociology, 2:30 p.m.