Board to meet Friday, July 26

A proposed 6.9 percent increase in tuition over fall 1990 is on the agenda for the Friday, July 26, meeting of the Board of Trustees. The meeting will begin at 9:45 a.m. in the Board Room of the Bernhard Center.

The tuition recommendation by President Haenicke was tabled at the board's June 28 meeting to allow time for public comment. The new rates would take effect with the start of the fall 1991 semester.

Other agenda items include recommendations on WMU offering two new doctoral degree programs, the awarding of construction contracts and personnel reports. In addition, the trustees will hear fiscal year-end figures on gifts and grants received by the University in 1990-91.

These board committee meetings also will meet Friday in 204 Bernhard Center: Budget and Finance Committee at 8 a.m.; and Academic and Student Affairs Committee at 9 a.m. All meetings are open to the public.

Enrollment increases 5 percent

A total of 8,135 students is enrolled in the summer session at the University, an increase of nearly 5 percent over last year's total of 7,763 students.

On-campus enrollment is up 520 students or 10.3 percent, to 5,570 students from last summer's total of 5,050 students. Off-campus enrollment, at 2,565 students, is down 148 students or 5.5 percent.

"Many students are seeking to complete graduation requirements, as suggested by the significant increase in the number of seniors enrolled in summer session," said Susan B. Hannah, assistant vice president for academic affairs.

A total of 2,183 seniors is taking summer session classes on campus, up 268 students or 14 percent over last summer, she said. The number of juniors enrolled is up by more than 100 students to 951 students.

"Because we anticipated greater demand from these larger junior and senior classes, we scheduled additional summer session sections," Hannah said.

The session began July 8 and ends Aug. 23. Classes for the fall semester begin Wednesday, Sept. 4.

Krawutschke elected to board

Peter W. Krawutschke, chairperson of languages and linguistics, has been elected to the 16-member board of directors of the Joint National Committee for Languages and National Council for Languages and International Studies. The organization represents more than 35 U.S. language and area studies organizations in Washington, D.C.

Two selected for Academic Leadership Academy

Two WMU administrators have been selected to participate in a professional development program sponsored by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek.

Faith Gabelnick, dean of the Lee Honors College, and Susan B. Hannah, assistant vice president for academic affairs, are among 15 persons from Michigan to participate in the Academic Leadership Academy this year.

The three-year program is being conducted by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. It is being coordinated in Michigan by the Presidents Council of State Universities.

The academy consists of an orientation seminar, which already has taken place, and several other parts. They include two three-day seminars to be conducted in Michigan this fall and winter and a wrap-up session next April, which will take place at Kellogg Foundation headquarters in Battle Creek.

In addition, each participant is assigned a professional mentor with whom each designs a learning plan. Participants also will have a leadership internship the following year.

Waldo's web

Four volunteers feted for fund-raising efforts

Two persons have been named "Volunteer of the Year" and were inducted with two others into the WMU Academy of Volunteers at a recognition dinner June 1.

Larry L. VanderBeek, president of Allied Mechanical Services of Kalamazoo, was named 1990 Volunteer of the Year and Charles H. Ludlow, retired vice president and treasurer of the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, was named 1991 Volunteer of the Year.

Also inducted as new members of the academy were Joyce L. DeRight, director of the Office of Admissions and Advising in the College of Education, and Carol A. Waszkiewicz, a teacher at Kalamazoo Central High School.

The Academy of Volunteers was established in 1985 to recognize the contributions of volunteers to fund raising at the University.

VanderBeek was recognized for his leadership as chairperson of the steering committee for the 1990 Mike Gary Athletic Fund. He directed a group of 85 volunteers who raised $350,000 for the Broncos.

The academy is intended "to groom aspiring and established academic officers to respond to changing needs and demographics at their respective institutions," according to program literature.

Participants from two other states, Minnesota and Wisconsin, are involved in the academy this year. Persons from two other regions in the nation will participate in the second and third years of the project.

tees from 1967 to 1987, was honored for his leadership this past year of the Kalamazoo area section of the "Campaign for Excellence." The Kalamazoo area campaign has raised more than $400,000 toward the total capital campaign goal of $55 million. Nearly all of the funds raised in the Kalamazoo area campaign were designated for the new business building. They allowed the University to qualify for a $500,000 challenge grant from the Kresge Foundation of Troy.

DeRight was recognized for the leadership she has provided for the faculty/staff portion of the "Campaign for Excellence."

Waszkiewicz was a member of the Board of Trustees from 1983 to 1990, and was chairperson of the board in 1989 when WMU launched its "Campaign for Excellence." She has played several important roles in the campaign, and was honored at the dinner for her volunteer service in the Board of Trustees solicitation.
