

WESTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY WESTERN NEWS

Volume 16, Number 10

November 2, 1989

United Way goal surpassed

We're over the top! As of Oct. 31, a total of $126,726.68 had been collected for this year's campus United Way drive. That's 101.4 percent of the $125,000 goal. Some 1,577 emeriti, retirees and active employees have contributed so far. Although the campaign officially ended Oct. 27, donations are still coming in.

WMUK-FM achieves goal in record fund-raising campaign

WMUK-FM (102.1), the broadcast service of WMU, has successfully completed its record fund-raising campaign.

WMUK ended its eighth annual fall listener support campaign, known as "OPUS VIII," two days ahead of schedule at 10:50 p.m. Friday, Oct. 27. The station had set aside nine days to reach a goal of $125,000, the highest fund-raising target in its history, by Sunday, Oct. 29.

Last year, WMUK achieved its campaign goal of $100,000 in just seven days, and immediately resumed its regular program schedule.

By the end of this year's campaign, 2,105 listeners had called with pledges totaling $125,210. The average pledge of nearly $60 was a record high for WMUK-FM. The station also achieved another record on Oct. 27 when total pledges for that single day equaled $20,880.

The National Public Radio news program "Morning Edition" raised the highest number of dollars for the station, with NPR's "All Things Considered" and WMUK-FM's "Jazz Scene" and "Grassroots" programs also receiving a good number of calls.

"Our listeners again demonstrated their support for our entire program schedule," said Richard P. Atwell, WMUK-FM. "We knew at the beginning that more people would need to support us, and at higher levels. Throughout the whole week that's just what happened. We extend our great thanks to all of our listeners who called and supported the service they use."

Computer scientist to be Visiting Scholar

Jorge J. Moré, senior computer scientist at Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois, will speak at WMU Thursday and Friday, Nov. 9-10, as part of the Visiting Scholars Program.

He will discuss "Algorithms for the Solution of Large-Scale Quadratic Programming Problems" at 4:10 p.m. Thursday. At 3:10 p.m. Friday, he will talk about "Trends and Challenges in Nonlinear Optimization." Both talks will take place in the Commons Room on the sixth floor of Everett Tower.

In the first talk, which is designed to be more technical in nature, Moré will analyze large-scale computer problems by means of a geometrical approach.

Senate to meet tonight

The Faculty Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, in the Fetzer Center. Agenda items include remarks by President Haenicke, a report on assessment and a report from the Ad Hoc Committee on Spring/Summer Programming.

Haenicke calls for review of undergraduate curriculum

President Haenicke called for a new debate on undergraduate education at WMU in his "State of the University" address at the 10th annual Academic Convocation Oct. 31.

"I am asking myself if we really look intensely enough at the quality of our undergraduate curriculum," he said. "I am not referring to the quality of instruction. I am referring to coherence, structure and the possibility of a common core."

In addition to Haenicke's speech, the convocation included the presentation of plaques to Alumni Teaching Excellence, Distinguished Faculty Scholar and Distinguished Service award winners (see picture this page).

In his address following the awards ceremony, Haenicke cited "horror stories" in the media and in scholarly literature of students who can't place the American Civil War in the right century or who can't find Mexico on a world map.

He said that the students aren't to blame for this lack of knowledge. "Students do not determine the university curriculum and the requirements -- we, the faculty, do that," he said. "Students do not tell us what needs to be known in a given academic field -- we determine that."

"While it is customary in academic circles to be amused or dismayed at the lack of knowledge in some of our students," he continued, "we must be honest and put the blame where it belongs."

Haenicke said that when universities began to rearrange curricula in the 1960s, many were intimidated by "the bull-horn chants of single issue pressure groups" and left behind basic academic standards.

"It is curious to see that many of the student radicals of those days have turned conservative by now, but the academy still suffers the heritage of their curricular 'innovations,'" he said. "I feel very strongly that we need a vigorous

Convocation to air on cable

The 10th annual Academic Convocation will air on Kalamazoo Community Access Television at these times: 10:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, on Channel 32; at 9 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, on Channel 30; and at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, on Channel 32.

'Let us enter a new debate on undergraduate education, to the benefit of our students. I think that if we do have a problem in education, the failure is largely ours. We determine the curriculum, we set the standards -- nobody else.'

--President Haenicke

new debate."

Haenicke listed several "core areas" in which he believes students must be educated:

- They must have a firm knowledge and understanding of our country's history.
- They must have a good command of standard English.
- They must know how society functions politically and economically.
- And they must have a basic understanding of scientific processes and methods.

"I believe in a strong core during the freshman and part of the sophomore year, and I believe that it can be delivered largely in lecture classes with a broad, general, introductory tenor," Haenicke said. "I also believe that through honest, collegial discussion and lively debate, we will be able to define such a core."

He said there are always obstacles to initiating such changes: turf, loss or gain of departmental credit hours, personal preference, vanity and convenience.

"These ugly monsters appear in every debate of educational issues on any campus, and shame on us that they do," he said.

But other obstacles are more important and honorable. Those include the debate over representation of our multicultural society in such a core.

"We can reach agreement on these critical differences of viewpoint and opinion, but they need to be debated widely again in the University -- frankly, without rancor, without accusations and without animosity," Haenicke said.

While he said he had many questions and few answers, he thinks the situation among students today is critical enough that the faculty can no longer avoid dealing with such issues.

"Let us enter a new debate on undergraduate education, to the benefit of our students," he said. "I think that if we do have a problem in education, the failure is largely ours. We determine the curriculum, we set the standards -- nobody else."

"Let us do what everyone, including our students, expects of us: Let us set high standards, and let us teach our students how to meet them."

Landscape staff members named Michigan Nurserymen

Three staff members in the landscape services area of the physical plant have been certified as Michigan Nurserymen.

Richard W. DeRoo, John Disbro and Joel Knox have earned the designation by passing a three-part examination. The program was developed by the Michigan Association of Nurserymen to identify dedicated individuals who are knowledgeable and experienced in their chosen vocation.

The three were tested in the areas of general horticultural information, identification of woody ornamentals and landscape design concepts.

ACADEMIC CONVOCATION -- Participants and award recipients at the 10th annual Academic Convocation Oct. 31 were, from left: (standing) Provost George M. Dennison; Richard F. Chormann of Kalamazoo, president of the WMU Alumni Association, who presented Alumni Teaching Excellence Awards to Leo J. Stevenson, finance and commercial law; Robert W. Felkel, languages and linguistics; and Alan S. Brown, history; President Haenicke; (seated) Jack Michael, psychology, who was presented with the Distinguished Faculty Scholar Award by Dennison; and Sally V. Pippen, residence hall life, and Lewis Walker, chairperson of sociology, who were presented with Distinguished Service Awards by Carol A. Waszkiewicz of Kalamazoo, chairperson of the Board of Trustees.

MEDALLION SCHOLARS PRESENTED -- A program to introduce this year's 14 Medallion Scholars took place in the Fetzer Center Oct. 23. Here, from left, Charles Carmichael and Bernadine Carlson-Carmichael, emerita in English, meet with Medallion Scholar Tonda L. Radewan and her parents Jane and Jeff Radewan of Battle Creek. The Carmichaels of Kalamazoo donated one of four new Medallions established this year. Each merit-based scholarship is currently valued at $22,000 over four years. Medallion Scholars from this year and other years, their parents, representatives of their donors, members of the Medallion Scholarship Committee and faculty and staff were invited to the reception, which was sponsored by the committee. Next year, the Medallion Scholarships are expected to be valued at $25,000.

Fox, Quinn named WMU 'Volunteers of the Year'

Russel N. Fox, vice president and general manager of Hurlertron Inc. of Danville, Ill., and Patrick M. Quinn, president and chief executive officer of Spartan Stores Inc. of Grand Rapids, have been named "Volunteers of the Year" by WMU.

Each is being honored for his work as a volunteer on behalf of the University and has been inducted with 15 other persons into WMU's Academy of Volunteers. The academy was established in 1985 to recognize the contributions of volunteers to fund raising at the University.

Fox led an effort by his company to install innovative Hurlertron systems valued at more than $120,000 on a printing press in the Printing Management and Research Center, a part of the Department of Paper and Printing Science and Engineering in the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences.

Quinn has led fund raising efforts for the University's program in food distribution, a part of the Department of Marketing in the Haworth College of Business, representing more than $220,000 in support over the past three years.

"Each of these special friends of Western Michigan University has made a unique and valuable contribution to the education of our students and the enhancement of excellence at the University," said Lee H. Wenke, president of the WMU Foundation. "This is one opportunity to say 'thank you.'"

"No great public university in the United States today has made its way to a level of excellence without the bounty of those who have learned to love it," said Richard Y. St. John, manager of community relations and legislative affairs at the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo and a member of the WMU Board of

Fox

Quinn

Trustees. He spoke at a dinner honoring volunteers Oct. 6 in the Fetzer Center.

Fox has been active on the Printing Management and Research Center advisory committee and the committee that raised funds for the $2.8 million Welborn Hall that houses the center. "His work over the past nine years transcends the dollar value of contributions he has sought and has become a personal ambassadorship on behalf of the University," said Arvon D. Byle, interim chairperson of paper and printing science and engineering in nominating Fox.

For the past three years, Quinn has been chairperson of the Blue Ribbon Fund Raising Committee for the food marketing program. "Because of Pat's prominence in the industry, he has helped keep WMU's food marketing program very visible on a national level," said Richard Neschich,

Stoltman earns national geography award

Joseph P. Stoltman, geography, has been named the recipient of the George J. Miller Award for Distinguished Service by the National Council for Geographic Education.

This most prestigious award bestowed by the NCGE has been conferred annually since 1932, except for three years when no award was granted. The recipients have been recognized as leaders in the field of geographic education who have made outstanding contributions over a period of many years.

The award was presented to Stoltman at the organization's meeting Oct. 14 at Indiana University in Pennsylvania.

Stoltman has been a member of the NCGE since he was an undergraduate in 1960. He served two terms representing the NCGE on the U.S. National Committee to the International Geographical Union. He also served two terms as president of the Commission on Geographical Education of the IGU and two additional terms as an IGU Commission member. He has represented the IGU Commission at 10 regional conferences and international congresses.

Stoltman

Stoltman has served on several NCGE committees over the years, and most recently was a member of the Geography National Implementation Project committees that designed and wrote "K-6 Geography: Themes, Key Ideas and Learning Opportunities" and "Geography in Grades 7-12: Themes, Key Ideas and Learning Opportunities."

The author of numerous articles for professional journals, Stoltman has written textbooks for such well-known publishers as Scholastic Inc., Scott, Foresman and Co. and Rand McNally and Co.

Most recently, Stoltman has been named co-coordinator of the Michigan Geographic Alliance, a statewide network of teachers helping other teachers enhance the quality of geographic education in the schools. He also was a member of the U.S. delegation for the United States-Soviet Union Geography and History Textbook Study Project and has been selected as a delegate for the 1990 African Initiative on Science Teaching.

Nov. 10 panel to focus on ethical issues in sports

"Ethical Issues in Sports" will be the topic of a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10, in 3760 Knauss Hall.

The panel, which is free and open to the public, is being sponsored by the Center for the Study of Ethics in Society.

Four persons from WMU will make presentations: Leland E. Byrd, intercollegiate athletics, on "Financing Programs: Should Athletes Be Paid?"; Kathy B. Beauregard, intercollegiate athletics, on "The Female Athlete"; R. Vincent Green, Office of the General Counsel and Vice President for Legislative Affairs, on "Drug Testing and Contractual Obligations"; and Harold L. Ray, health, physical education and recreation, on "Media and Sport: A Marriage in Trouble?"

WMU TKE chapter wins international recognition

WMU's Delta Alpha chapter of the Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) fraternity received three 1988-89 Achievement Awards at the organization's International Conclave in Indianapolis.

The local chapter was cited for membership recruitment because of its recent chapter growth, for chapter management because of its fiscal integrity and for public relations because of its philanthropic and University involvement, according to T.J. Hooten, Delta Alpha chapter president, who received the awards.

WMU's TKE alumni chapter also was recognized and granted a charter. With 85 active members, WMU's fraternity has the largest TKE chapter house in the United States. There are 281 chartered TKE chapters and 21 colonies. WMU's chapter was founded in 1952.

Six elected to WMU Foundation board of directors, board's officers re-elected to one-year terms

Six persons have been elected to terms of one to three years on the board of directors of the WMU Foundation, bringing to 46 the number of persons currently serving on the board.

The elections took place Oct. 6 at the foundation's annual meeting in the Fetzer Center. The new members are:

- Merrill H. (Gus) Armstrong of Stuart, Fla., president of Armstrong International Inc. in Three Rivers, Mich. The firm makes heating, air conditioning and environmental control equipment.
- Frederick W. Buckman of Ann Arbor, president and chief operating officer of Consumers Power Co. in Jackson.
- Vincent T. (Jack) Early of Kalamazoo, a senior partner in the Kalamazoo law firm of Early, Lennon, Fox, Thompson, Peters and Crocker.

- H. Howard Flint II of Bloomfield Hills, president and chief operating officer of the Flint Ink Corp. in Detroit. It is the largest American-owned ink maker in the nation.

- John W. (Jack) Lawrence of Richland, president of Lawrence Productions Inc. in Galesburg. The firm produces educational software and film and video presentations.

- W. Ed Tyler of Allenhurst, N.J., senior vice president of R.R. Donnelley & Sons Inc. in New York City, the nation's largest printing company.

"Each of these outstanding individuals brings something special to their service on our board and something special to Western Michigan University," said William U. Parfet, corporate executive vice president of the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo and chairperson of the WMU Foundation board. "We heartily welcome them to the board."

Parfet was re-elected to a second one-year term as chairperson of the board. Carl E. Lee, president and general manager of the Fetzer Broadcasting Service Inc. of Kalamazoo, was re-elected to a one-year term as vice chairperson. Parfet has been a member of the foundation's board since 1985 and previously served two terms as vice chairperson. Lee also has been a member of the board since 1985.

Three others, all WMU administrators and ex-officio members of the board, were re-elected as officers: Lee H. Wenke, associate vice president for development, as president of the WMU Foundation; Robert M. Beam, vice president for business and finance, as treasurer; and Helen J. Flaspohler, executive director of development, as secretary.

WESTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY WESTERN NEWS

Editor: Ruth A. Stevens; Staff Writers: Cheryl P. Roland, Michael L. Smith; Photographer: Neil G. Rankin

Western News (USPS 362-210) is published by the Office of Public Information, B-207 Ellsworth Hall, Western Michigan University, 1921 W. Michigan Ave., Kalamazoo, MI 49008-5165, weekly during fall and winter semesters and bi-weekly during spring and summer sessions, except during vacation periods. Second class postage paid at Kalamazoo, MI 49008-5165.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Western News, Office of Public Information, Western Michigan University, 1921 W. Michigan Ave., Kalamazoo, MI 49008-5165.

Western News is distributed without charge to faculty and staff members, retirees, members of the Parents Association and other friends of the University including students, who may obtain copies at several campus locations.

Deadline: Items to be considered for publication should be submitted to the Office of Public Information by noon Tuesday of the week of publication. Offices that receive too many copies -- or too few copies -- are asked to call 387-4100. WMU is an equal opportunity/employer/affirmative action institution.

Women's research group wins national award

A local group of researchers has been awarded a "Write Women Back Into History Award" by the National Women's History Project for its publication last year of a newspaper-magazine.

The Kalamazoo-based Women's History and Research Network won the award for "The History of Women in Education in Greater Kalamazoo," which was published this past March as a supplement to the Western Herald. The award is the first of its kind given by the National Women's History Project, a California-based non-profit educational corporation offering conferences, consulting services and women's history resources.

"The importance of having the publication in an accessible (newspaper) format was immediately noted by our organization," said Mary Ruthsdotter, project director.

Organizers already are at work on a second publication on the same topic to be produced in March 1990, National Women's History Month. The director of the 1990 publication is Mary Frances Fenton, education and professional development.

"Receiving this national recognition honors us all," she said on behalf of the Women's History and Research Network, an association of researchers from area colleges and the community. "Organizational networking is the key to the spread of knowledge about women."

The March 1990 publication will be co-sponsored by the network and WMU's Women's Center. Organizers are seeking articles that provide a historical look at the impact women of Southwest Michigan have made in leadership roles in education. The subjects of the articles must reflect the regional history of the six counties in the Greater Kalamazoo area: Allegan, Barry, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, St. Joseph and Van Buren.

Articles submitted will be reviewed by an editorial staff and must to 750 to 1,500 words in length and original work. The editors are seeking stories written by adult authors based on oral histories, diary selections, newspapers or library research. Photographs also are needed.

For more information, persons may contact the Women's Center at 7-2990 or stop by A-331 Ellsworth Hall. Articles are due in the Women's Center by Dec. 11.

On campus

PHONE FACTS -- It's that time of the year when Gertrude V. Peterson heaves a big sigh of relief -- the 1989-90 Faculty/Staff/Student Telephone Directory is out! Part of her job as assistant director for administration in the Department of Telecommunications is working with several areas on and off campus to pull together that publication. She works with the Office of University Publications, the registrar's office and the Department of Human Resources to get up-to-date information on faculty, staff, students, emeriti and retirees for the directory. She also concentrates on updating the general information in the front of the publication and coordinates the printing of the 12,000 copies with the publisher. Besides working with the directory, she spends her time monitoring and sending out the administrative and student telephone bills and tailoring the system to meet the communication needs of campus users. Peterson has seen a lot of changes in her 15 years at the University. ("I started out in a three month-temporary job with the alumni office and I've been here ever since," she says.) She began working with the University telephones when they were part of the public relations area and moved to the business and finance side of things when WMU installed its new telecommunications system two years ago and became the owner of its own "phone company." "I especially like it now because we have control over our own telephone switch equipment," she says. "We can offer so many more options to departments such as voice/mail, call processing enhancements and teleconferencing." Peterson, who serves in leadership positions with state and national telecommunications organizations, says she also enjoys the networking that is starting to take place among universities because many of them -- like WMU -- are getting into the telecommunications business.

Author, storyteller Julius Lester to speak Nov. 9

Author, lecturer and historian Julius Lester, whose "The Tales of Uncle Remus: The Adventures of Brer Rabbit" recasts a traditional favorite in contemporary language, will make two public appearances in Kalamazoo Thursday, Nov. 9.

Lester

At the first, he will speak on "The Author as Storyteller," beginning at 10 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Bernhard Center. The program includes lunch at 11:30 a.m. and a second session on the same topic, with audience questions, at 1:15 p.m.

At 7 p.m., Lester will read from "The Tales of Uncle Remus" at the Alma Powell branch of the Kalamazoo Public Library, which is located in the Douglass Community Center, 1000 W. Paterson St. A reception will follow.

Both events are open to the public. There is a $10 fee for the lecture, which includes lunch and coffee. Reservations can be made by calling the children's division of the library at 342-9837, extension 260.

Lester, the author of 14 books for children and adults, is a master storyteller with a background in black folklore whose "To Be a Slave" published in 1968 was the first book by a black author to become a Newbery Medal Honor Book. He has recorded two albums of original songs and produced and hosted a radio show for eight years. His book, "Long Journey Home: Stories from Black History" was a National Book Award finalist in 1972.

He has been on the faculty of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst since 1971, teaching most recently in the Near Eastern and Judaic Studies Program.

In "The Tales of Uncle Remus: The Adventures of Brer Rabbit," Lester strips away the benign acceptance of slavery that many believe characterized the original Joel Chandler Harris stories.

Lester's visit is presented in

Recreation professionals here

The Office of Campus Recreational Activities will play host to a state conference of the National Intramural and Recreational Sports Association Thursday and Friday, Nov. 2-3, at the Bernhard Center.

Representatives from Michigan colleges, universities and correctional institutions will attend the sessions.

Among those representing WMU will be Sally V. Pippen, residence hall life, and Theresa J. Landis, Employee Wellness Programs, who will participate in a panel discussion. The session, "Who's Programming What," will provide a look at campus offices involved in activities programming.

celebration of Children's Book Week by the Kalamazoo Public Library and the Joint Literature Conference Committee.

It is sponsored by the Professors McKinney and Baechtold Fund in the WMU Office of Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; the Arts Council of Greater Kalamazoo, a program of the Michigan Council for the Arts; and the WMU Plaza Arts Circle.

Telephone directories out

One of the most popular publications on campus -- the 1989-90 Faculty/Staff/Student Telephone Directory -- is being distributed this week.

Copies have been sent to all campus offices for faculty and staff and to residence halls for on-campus students. Off-campus students may pick up their free copies by showing a valid student identification card at the Information Center in the Seibert Administration Building, at the Office of Off-Campus Life in the Faunce Student Services Building or at the Department of Telecommunications in the Bernhard Center annex.

The first pages of the telephone directory include emergency numbers, directory assistance information, dialing instructions, a listing of WMU's fraternities and sororities, the University calendar and a "Where To Go for What and Who To Call for Help" section.

For more information about the directories, persons may contact Gertrude V. Peterson, telecommunications, at 7-0914.

Service

These employees are recognized for five, 10, 15 and 30 years of service to the University in November:

30 years -- Garrard D. Macleod, WMUK-FM.

15 years -- Lambertus Booy, physical plant-B/E maintenance; Judy K. Dunn, health, physical education and recreation; Ted G. Haaksma, physical plant-B/E maintenance; Lynda A. Rhodes, accounting; and Thomas G. Waltz, physical plant-custodial services.

10 years -- Patricia A. Banks, Sindecuse Health Center; Bert E. Carr, physical plant-L/G maintenance; Carol L. Converse, Valley III dining service; Linda K. Middlebrooks, residence hall custodial; Joan A. Morin, business library; and Jacklyn K. Skinner, Valley II dining service.

Sack Lunch Seminar set

"Supported Employment: Community Integration and Participation" is the title of the next Evaluation Center Sack Lunch Seminar to be presented at noon Monday, Nov. 6, in the B-429 Ellsworth Hall.

Corey Smith, grant coordinator for the McKercher Center, will discuss his role in the organization and development of supported employment in the state based upon the Oregon Model.

Media

Gerry W. Clarkson, geology, discusses the possibility of an earthquake like the one in San Francisco occurring in Michigan on "Focus," a five-minute radio interview produced by the Office of Public Information. "Focus" is scheduled to air Saturday, Nov. 4, at 6:10 a.m. on WKPR-AM (1420) and at 5:45 p.m. on WKZO-AM (590).

"WMU Forum," a program produced by media services for Kalamazoo Community Access Television, will air at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, on Channel 32. Host Ronald C. Kramer, sociology, will talk with C. Dennis Simpson, Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse, and Paul C. Friday, sociology and Criminal Justice Program, about drugs in America. The program will be repeated on Channel 30 at 10 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5, and on Channel 32 at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9, and 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10.

The first program of a seven-part series featuring experts speaking on "The Economics of Discrimination" will be aired on Kalamazoo Community Access Television in the next few days. The program, part of the Department of Economics' 26th annual lecture-seminar series, will feature Edward P. Lazear, the Isadore Brown and Gladys J. Brown Professor of Urban and Labor Economics at the University of Chicago, discussing "Laws and Policies Concerning Discrimination." It is scheduled to be shown on Channel 33 at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, and on Channel 30 at 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5. The program was produced by media services.

"Global Perspectives," a 30-minute program produced by media services, will air on Kalamazoo Community Access Television Channel 33 at 11:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 3. Lewis H. Carlson, history, and his guests Paule Miller, Herman U. Teichert and Dasha C. Nisula, all languages and linguistics, discuss international news and human interest stories from around the world. The interpretations are of news items originating from the SCOLA international news programs provided to the community by a grant from the Kalamazoo Consortium for Higher Education.

Obituary

Katharine M. Stokes, director emerita of libraries, died Oct. 21 in Sykesville, Md. She was 82.

Stokes joined the WMU staff as a librarian in 1948 and was named director of libraries in 1963. She was instrumental in quadrupling the number of volumes in the library during those years, and played an active role in planning Waldo Library and an addition that was completed in 1967.

A member of several state and national professional library associations, Stokes became a college and university library specialist for the U.S. Office of Education's Division of Library Programs upon her retirement from WMU. She retired from her position in Washington, D.C., in 1972.

Jobs

The listing below is currently being posted by employment services in the Department of Human Resources. Interested fringe benefit eligible employees should submit a job opportunity transfer application or sign the appropriate bid sheet during the posting period.

S-01 and S-02 clerical positions are not required to be posted. Interested University employees may contact an employment services staff member for assistance in securing these positions.

(R) Secretary I, S-04, School of Social Work, 89/90-173, 10/31-11/6/89.

(R) Replacement
WMU is an EEO/AA employer

Exchange

FOR SALE -- 1985-1/2 Ford Escort wagon. Four-speed manual transmission. $2,900 or best offer. Call 372-1296.

Senate

The Budget and Finance Council of the Faculty Senate will meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 7, in Conference Room A on the third floor of the Seibert Administration Building. Agenda items include a budget summary for 1989-90 and an update on telecommunications.

Calendar

NOVEMBER

Thursday/2

(thru 10) Open enrollment for hospital-medical insurances.
(and 3) State conference, National Intramural and Recreational Sports Association, Bernhard Center, all day.
(thru 10) Exhibition of wall hangings and weavings by Nancy Crampton, Kalamazoo fiber artist, 1240 Seibert Administration Building, weekdays, 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m.
Training seminar for supervisors, "Interaction Management," 204 Bernhard Center, 8:30 a.m.-noon.
Exhibition, "Video on Art, Art on Video," curated by Richard J. Keaveny, art, Gallery II, Sangren Hall, 11 a.m.-4 p.m.
Lectures, "What's 'English' About English Architecture?," Alfred J. Rowe, British architect: Red Room A, Bernhard Center, noon; and 3020 Friedmann Hall, 3 p.m.
Meeting, Research Policies Council of the Faculty Senate, Conference Room A, Seibert Administration Building, 3 p.m.
Spiritual Journey Series, "The Spirituality of the Social Gospel," Gary Dorrien, assistant professor of religion, Kalamazoo College, St. Aidan's Chapel, 3-5 p.m.; reception and evensong to follow.
Mathematics and statistics colloquium, "Block Triangular Matrices," Erik A. Schreiner, mathematics and statistics, Commons Room, sixth floor, Everett Tower, 4:10 p.m.; refreshments, 3:45 p.m.
Lecture, "A Hymn Melody for Swedish Saints," Ann-Marie Nilsson, Royal Academy of Music, Stockholm, 1129 Dalton Center, 4 p.m.
University film series, "Gospel According to St. Matthew" (Italy, 1964), directed by Paolo Pasolini, 2302 Sangren Hall, 4 and 8 p.m.
Meeting, Faculty Senate, Fetzer Center, 7 p.m.
Philosophy and international affairs lecture, "Man, Mind and Metaphysics," Prafulla K. Mohapatra, Fulbright Visiting Professor, Temple University, and professor of philosophy, Utkal University, India, 3770 Knauss Hall, 7:30 p.m.
*Gold Company's 12th annual Sneak Preview Concert, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.
*(thru 4) University theatre production, "Sweeney Todd," Shaw Theatre, 8 p.m.; matinee, Sunday, Nov. 5, 2 p.m.

Friday/3

Meeting, Commission on the Status of Women, Faculty Dining Room, Bernhard Center, 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.
Concert, student chamber ensembles from the School of Music, Dalton Center lobby, noon.
Philosophy and international affairs lecture, "Disembodied Existence and Survival: An Extension of Bernard Williams' Views," Prafulla K. Mohapatra, Fulbright Visiting Professor, Temple University, and professor of philosophy, Utkal University, India, 324 Moore Hall, 1 p.m.
*Hockey, WMU vs. Michigan State University, Lawson Arena, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday/4

Sixth annual Kalamazoo Invitational Goal Ball Tournament, Gary Center gymnasium, 7:45 a.m.-6 p.m.

Monday/6

(thru 21) Exhibition, paintings by Richard Loving, Chicago, Gallery II, Sangren Hall, weekdays, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.
"The Empire and the Word" seminar, "Exile and Redemption: Choosing Integrity while Facing the Issues of Death, Life and a Return to the Land," Donald F. Cooney, social work, and Donald Van Hoeven, Reformed Church in America campus minister, Kanley Chapel Social Room, noon.
Evaluation Center Sack Lunch Seminar, "Supported Employment: Community Integration and Participation," Corey Smith, grant coordinator, McKercher Center, Evaluation Center Conference Room, fourth floor, Ellsworth Hall, noon.
(thru 10) Peace Education Week; keynote address, "Redefining National Security," William Sloane Coffin Jr., president, SANE/FREEZE, North Ballroom, Bernhard Center, 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday/7

Peace Education Week sessions: "Peace Begins in the Home: Domestic Violence," Michelle Serlin, substance abuse therapist, Vintage Program, Red Room C, Bernhard Center, noon; "Re-Visions of Power," Gwen Raaberg, Women's Center, 105-106 Bernhard Center, 4 p.m.; "Women's Economics and Poverty," Viola Gaines-McMillon, chairperson, Rainbow Organizing Committee of Kalamazoo, 3750 Knauss Hall, 7:30 p.m.
Zest for Life Noon Hour Health Enhancement Seminar, "Female/Male Communication: A Question of Power," Shirley A. VanHoeven, communication, Red Rooms A and B, Bernhard Center, noon-12:45 p.m.
Meeting, Budget and Finance Council of the Faculty Senate, Conference Room A, Seibert Administration Building, 3 p.m.
Slide lecture on his work, Richard Loving, Chicago artist, 1213 Sangren Hall, 7 p.m.; reception following.

Wednesday/8

*Management and executive development seminar, "How to Control the Sales

Call," John G. Agno, president, Signature Inc., and Jon M. Huegli, president, Development Organization Inc., Ann Arbor, Fetzer Center, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Training seminar for supervisors, "Valuing Diversity," 105 Bernhard Center, 8:30 a.m.-noon.

Peace Education Week sessions: "Consuming the Earth: Student Consumers as Environmental Activists," Korie Bachleda and Jeff Blyveis, Students for a Sustainable Earth, Faculty Dining Room, Bernhard Center, noon; "Environmental Genocide: Greed, Apathy and Community Ethics," Mary Powers, Kalamazoo County commissioner, 105-106 Bernhard Center, 4 p.m.; "Social Hazards of Environmentalism: A Green Perspective," Maynard Kaufman, Southwest Michigan Greens, 3750 Knauss Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Meeting, Clerical/Technical Organization, Red Rooms A and B, Bernhard Center, noon-1 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "The Relationship Between Personality Type and Burnout in Michigan Community College Counselors," John M. Rinke, counselor education and counseling psychology, Tate Center, 3210 Sangren Hall 1:30 p.m.
School of Music Convocation Series concert, composer Scott Huston, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 2 p.m.

Anthropology lecture, "The Construction of an Ideal Hakka Christian Community," Nicole Constable, anthropology, 0116 Moore Hall, 3 p.m.

*Volleyball, WMU vs. the University of Illinois at Chicago, Read Fieldhouse, 7:30 p.m.

*(and 9) Concert of American dance and music, works by choreographer Jane Baas, dance, and composer Scott Huston, Dalton Center Multi-Media Room, 8 p.m.

Thursday/9

Training seminar for supervisors, "Interaction Management," 204 Bernhard Center, 8:30 a.m.-noon.

*Lecture, "The Author as Storyteller," Julius Lester, author, lecturer and historian, Grand Ballroom, Bernhard Center, 10 a.m.

Peace Education Week sessions: "Militarism Defined," Ronald C. Kramer, sociology, and Brian B. Smith, United Campuses Against Militarism, Red Room C, Bernhard Center, noon; "Economic and Social Costs of the Arms Race," members of the Kalamazoo Area Chapter of the Physicians for Social Responsibility, 105-106 Bernhard Center, 4 p.m.; "Campus Racism," student panel, 3750 Knauss Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "The Psychological Typologies and Learning Styles of Security Managers in a Large Industrial Organization," Michael Witkowski, educational leadership, Tate Center, 3210 Sangren Hall, 1:30 p.m.

Spiritual Journey Series, Joseph Campbell video, "The First Storytellers," Cornelius Loew, University professor, discussion leader, St. Aidan's Chapel, 3-5 p.m.; reception and evensong to follow.

Visiting Scholars Program lecture, "Algorithms for the Solution of Large-Scale Quadratic Programming Problems," Jorge J. Moré, senior computer scientist, Argonne National Laboratory, Illinois, Commons Room, sixth floor, Everett Tower, 4:10 p.m.; refreshments, 3:45 p.m.

University film series, "Amarcord" (Italy, 1974), directed by Federico Fellini, 2302 Sangren Hall, 4 and 8 p.m.

*Concert, University Jazz Lab Band, directed by Joe Lekan, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Men's basketball, WMU vs. Verich Reps (Ohio) AAU team, Read Fieldhouse, 8 p.m.; in lieu of admission, persons are asked to bring canned goods to donate to the Kalamazoo YWCA's Domestic Assault Program.

*Admission charged

Kalamazoo Invitational Goal Ball Tournament slated for Gary Center gymnasium Nov. 4

Catching a five-pound ball traveling at speeds of up to 45 miles per hour while not being able to see it might be considered extremely difficult to most people. But to the estimated 150 visually impaired athletes who will be competing in the sixth annual Kalamazoo Invitational Goal Ball Tournament, accomplishing such a feat is a piece of cake.

The tournament will run from 7:45 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, in the Gary Center gymnasium. It is sponsored by the Department of Blind Rehabilitation and Mobility. Up to 18 men's and women's teams from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Wisconsin and Ontario, Canada, will compete in separate divisions for trophies and medals.

The tournament will be played in a four-game, round-robin set-up, followed by an eight-team double elimination and a four-team single elimination consolation round. Trophies will be given to the top three teams in the elimination brackets, and to the winner of the consolation round.

Goal ball was developed in Eastern Europe by blind veterans following World War II. It came to the United States in the 1970s and is presently played internationally. The Western Michigan Lakers finished fifth in last year's national goal ball tournament and are ranked among the top three teams in the country.

The game is fast-paced and rigorous, and is similar to hockey or soccer. It is played on a gymnasium court similar in dimension to a volleyball court. The ball contains bells, so players can hear it.

Three players from each team are positioned at opposite ends of the court and face one another. The basic objective of the game is to roll the ball with enough velocity to force it through the three defenders at the other end of the court. If the ball is successfully blocked by the opposing team members, they become the offensive team and throw the ball back in an attempt to score. Teams score one point when the ball passes the baseline of the opposing squad.

In women's competition, the goal ball is slightly smaller and lighter. It weighs approximately 3.5 pounds, compared to the five-pound ball used by men.

Entries at $40 per team should be submitted as soon as possible. Both fully sighted and visually impaired teams are invited to play. For more information, persons should call Paul E. Ponchillia, blind rehabilitation and mobility, at 7-3455 or 327-2552.

Friday part of exchange

Paul C. Friday, sociology and Criminal Justice Program, participated in a professional exchange visit this fall to Germany with four other officials from the Kalamazoo Criminal Justice Commission.

Friday, who chairs the commission, organized the trip, which was financed by the German Marshall Fund with supplemental support from WMU and the University of the North Rhine in West Germany.

The group's members reviewed drug policies, police practices, police training and correctional programs in Germany. They met with German judges, prosecutors, police and corrections officials. The latest crime and offender detection technologies, not yet available in the United States, were shared with the officials.

Also participating were Richard Ryan Lamb, chief circuit court judge; James J. Gregart, Kalamazoo County prosecutor; Thomas N. Edmonds, Kalamazoo County sheriff; and John Ross, Kalamazoo Department of Public Safety chief.

A TON OF TUBAS -- The field at Waldo Stadium was a sea of shining brass Oct. 28 when participants in the School of Music's annual OctUBafest performed during football pre-game and halftime shows. Tuba and euphonium players from throughout Southwest Michigan gathered on campus for the event, which ran through Oct. 29. Other activities included a clinic, a recital and a concert in the Dalton Center.