Soviet scientists to speak on changes at home

"The Changing Soviet Union: Views of Two Soviet Scientists" is the title of a Department of Geography lecture to be presented at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 4, in 3720 Business Administration Hall.

Two representatives of the Soviet Academy of Scientists will speak: Victor Prevalsky of the Institute of Water Problems; and Sergey Ferronsky of the Soviet Geophysical Committee.

For more information, call 7-3410. Persons may contact Elcer C. Quandt, chairperson of geography, at 7-3410.

Blanchard here Thursday

Gov. James J. Blanchard will be on campus Thursday afternoon, Feb. 1, to confer with President Haenicke; visit the libraries, faculty, staff and students; and tour campus construction sites.

Library's circulating collection to move off campus

The 800,000-volume circulating collection of Waldo Library will be moved to the former Cracker Fan Co. warehouse, at 814 Gibson St. sometime in February, said Dean Charlene Renner, University librarian.

The transition is intended to save at least six months in the $1.7 million expansion and renovation of Waldo Library and to protect books and equipment that otherwise could be damaged during construction.

The warehouse is owned and operated by Public Warehouse Corp., a part of the Trinity Group Ltd., which is a local firm. The University will lease about 40,000 square feet of space for the transition; the warehouse as well as about 10,000 square feet for office space in an adjacent building.

Renner could not say exactly when in February the move would begin because it was unclear how long it would take to prepare the warehouse for use as the library's annex.

"It will take at least a couple of weeks to prepare the space," Renner said. "And then it will take six to eight weeks to complete the move. The facility is located off King Highway near Michigan and Kalamazoo avenues.

There will be two circulation points, Renner said. Students, faculty members and staff members will be able to visit the annex to request items or they may place a request at the library's circulation desk for them to be delivered by shuttle.

In addition, persons wishing a journal article or other such item can give the citation to a library staff member, Renner said. The item will be copied and sent by shuttle to the library or it can be mailed to the person making the request.

"We're currently planning to run five shuttles per weekday -- two in the morning, two in the afternoon and one in the evening," she said. "Persons who make a request in the morning should be able to pick it up in the afternoon. Shuttles will also run at least twice on Saturdays and Sundays.

No study space will be available at the annex, but some study space will remain at Waldo Library, Renner said. Students also can use existing study space in other branches of the library.

The goal is to have 60 percent of the collection back in Waldo Library by Oct. 1, said Evie Aksen, campus planning, extension and engineering. "The remainder of the collection is expected to be in place by the first of the year.

"The move also will preserve the sanity of library users as well as faculty and staff members of the library," Aksen said. "It's very difficult to work or study in an environment that's constantly being disrupted by construction."

Fulfilling fantasies

An enthusiastic group of participants turned out for this year's "Horny, Mitty Fantasy Night and Dress Down Dinner" on Jan. 27. About $25,000 was raised in the benefit for the Medallion Scholarships. In keeping with the timing on Super Bowl Eve, many of this year's fantasies for which participants paid $100 per person to indulge themselves revolved around an athletic theme. ABOVE: This group of "champions" comprised of current Medallion Scholars, volunteers and fantasy participants, included President Haenicke. AT RIGHT: Participant Bob Dulcy, right, got some pointers on his volleyball technique from Jaye Flood, assistant coach of the Bronco volleyball team.

Senator to meet tonight

The Faculty Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 28, in 3717 Business Administration Auditorium of the Fetzer Center. Agenda items include: remarks by President Haenicke; nomination of candidates for Senate president and vice president; a report and recommendations from the Ad Hoc Committee on Student Evaluation of Teaching; and a recommendation on a policy on intellectual properties.

WMU and its Board of Trustees will honor one of its distinguished past presidents -- James W. Miller -- with the dedication of his portrait at 7 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 6, at Miller Auditorium.

"This is a special opportunity to express our appreciation of and to President Emeritus Miller for his many contributions to this institution and his higher education leadership to our community and to the state," said President Haenicke.

Miller was president of WMU from 1961 to 1974. During that time the University experienced one of the most sustained periods of growth in its history. On-campus enrollment grew from 9,000 to 22,000 students; graduate programs increased in number, including the first doctoral programs; and more than $100 million was spent on 37 major construction projects.

The portrait will hang in a place of honor in the new Audubon Auditorium. It is the University's 3,500-seat auditorium that was named for him in 1971. Previously Miller was the University's first two presidents, Dwight B. Waldo and Paul V. Sangren, have portraits of his in buildings named for them.

This strikes me as a fitting tribute to President Emeritus Miller," said Geneva Jones Williams of Detroit, chairperson of the Board of Trustees. "Without his singular achievements, this institution would not be what it is today nor could it have the aspirations it holds for itself for the future.

The program on Feb. 10 will begin with a welcome by Williams. Haenicke will offer remarks and Cornelius Loew, University professor emeritus and former vice president for academic affairs at the University, will provide reflections.

Larry J. Blovits, the artist who painted the portrait, will make the presentation and Miller will respond. Blovits is an internationally recognized portrait and landscape artist who lives in Grand Rapids. His work has been shown in more than 100 juried regional, national and international exhibitions.

Miller, a native of Brockton, Mass., and a political scientist by training, was controller of the state of Michigan for five years and then secretary of the Board of Trustees at Michigan State University before coming to WMU as president. He holds degrees from Amherst College and the University of Minnesota.

He continued a lifelong pattern of public service while president, serving as a member of the Detroit branch of the Federal Reserve Board, the Constitutional Planning Commission and the Total Research in Management (TRIM) Committee among other statewide posts. After his retirement he served as a member of the Michigan Financial Crisis Council and the Commission on the Future of Higher Education.

Locally, Miller has remained active in community service, fine arts, mental health and public affairs. In 1984 he was named "Humanities Advocate of the Year" by the Kalamazoo Make Hay for the Humanities, an award reflecting service to a community that he and his wife, Jane, have called home for almost 30 years.

Renner reminded students that the Kalamazoo Public Library allows them to get library cards and use that library, and that the member institutions of the Kalamazoo Consortium for Higher Education allow reciprocal borrowing. Those institutions include Davenport College, Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo Valley Community College and Nazareth College as well as WMU.
Events planned for Black History Month observance

A speech by the former president of Uganda, a blues festival and a brown bag lunch are among events planned in observance of Black History Month at the University in February.

Godfrey L. Binaisa, who served as president of Uganda in 1979-80 after the overthrow of Idi Amin, will speak at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 9, in the Dalton Center Recital Hall. He will discuss "Africa-America: The Chains That Never Bound."

After Uganda received its independence from Britain, Binaisa served as its first attorney general from 1962 to 1971. In 1972 during Amin's reign to practice law in London. Binaisa spent seven years later, he was drafted by the Uganda Parliament as the country's leader. But after less than a year in power, Binaisa was overthrown in a non-violent coup d'etat upon the return of Milton Obote -- the man overthrown by Amin. Binaisa has been granted political asylum in the U.S. government and currently practices law in New York City.

The brown bag lunch series is scheduled for each Monday during the month, from noon to one p.m. in Room 160A of the Bernhard Center. Speakers and their topics will be:

February 5 -- Danny E. Sledge, Director, Division of Minority Affairs, on "Resurrecting Past Values."

February 12 -- Jeanne A. Bartula-Love, director of minority affairs at Kalamazoo College, on "Africa--America: The Chains That Never Bound."

February 26 -- Andrew A. Rivers, Office of the President, on "Blacks: Do's and Don'ts."

Leonard to cover affirmative action impact

"The Impact of Affirmative Action" is the title of a lecture-seminar series, among the events presented at WMU Westnedge Center during the month of February. The series begins Thursday, Feb. 7.

day of the week 01 of publication. (Gazette that receive 100 published by the Office of Public Information, WMU for news release. Any news is part of the Department of Economics' 26th annual lecture-seminar series, on "The Economics of Discrimination."

Leonard has published numerous articles in leading journals as the American Economic Review, the Journal of Labor Economics and the Review of Economics and Statistics. He is editor of "Unemployment and the Structure of Labor Markets," he has co-edited with many organizations, including the U.S. Employment Commission, the National Commission on Civil Rights and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

The lecture-seminar series is supported by the W.E.B. Du Bois Institute for Research Employment in Kalamazoo. It is directed by Emily P. Hoffman, economics.

Local drug situation is focus of Feb. 7-8 series

A two-part series of free programs designed to bring together community members to consider progressive approaches to the drug situation in Kalamazoo will be presented at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 7 and 8, in the West Ballroom of the Bernhard Center.

Nancy Amidei, a Washington, D.C.-based social work professor and advocate for the poor, will begin the series on Wednesday with a presentation on "Drugs and Poverty."

The panelists will be: Beverly A. Moore, social work, who is vice mayor of Kalamazoo; C. Dennis Simpson, School of Community Health Services and Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse; John Kenney, businessman and co-founder of "Citizens for Policy Reform," a local group that is involved with the nationwide Drug Policy Network; and Robert Granville, director of Safe House, a drug treat-ment/counseling center in Kalamazoo.

The second part of the series will be a panel discussion on "Drugs and Kalamazoo" on Thursday.

Patricia K. Criswell and Susan M. Kent, WMU graduate students in social work, will summarize a group exploratory study that examined current methods used by churches, schools and law enforcement agencies to combat illegal drug use. They will be joined by community representatives who are active in confronting drug use in Kalamazoo.

The panelists will be: Beverly A. Moore, social work, who is vice mayor of Kalamazoo; C. Dennis Simpson, School of Community Health Services and Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse; John Kenney, businessman and co-founder of "Citizens for Policy Reform," a local group that is involved with the nationwide Drug Policy Network; and Robert Granville, director of Safe House, a drug treat-ment/counseling center in Kalamazoo.

The second part of the series will be a panel discussion on "Drugs and Kalamazoo" on Thursday.

Patricia K. Criswell and Susan M. Kent, WMU graduate students in social work, will summarize a group exploratory study that examined current methods used by churches, schools and law enforcement agencies to combat illegal drug use. They will be joined by community representatives who are active in confronting drug use in Kalamazoo.

The panelists will be: Beverly A. Moore, social work, who is vice mayor of Kalamazoo; C. Dennis Simpson, School of Community Health Services and Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse; John Kenney, businessman and co-founder of "Citizens for Policy Reform," a local group that is involved with the nationwide Drug Policy Network; and Robert Granville, director of Safe House, a drug treat-ment/counseling center in Kalamazoo.

The second part of the series will be a panel discussion on "Drugs and Kalamazoo" on Thursday.

Patricia K. Criswell and Susan M. Kent, WMU graduate students in social work, will summarize a group exploratory study that examined current methods used by churches, schools and law enforcement agencies to combat illegal drug use. They will be joined by community representatives who are active in confronting drug use in Kalamazoo.

The panelists will be: Beverly A. Moore, social work, who is vice mayor of Kalamazoo; C. Dennis Simpson, School of Community Health Services and Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse; John Kenney, businessman and co-founder of "Citizens for Policy Reform," a local group that is involved with the nationwide Drug Policy Network; and Robert Granville, director of Safe House, a drug treat-ment/counseling center in Kalamazoo.

The second part of the series will be a panel discussion on "Drugs and Kalamazoo" on Thursday.

Patricia K. Criswell and Susan M. Kent, WMU graduate students in social work, will summarize a group exploratory study that examined current methods used by churches, schools and law enforcement agencies to combat illegal drug use. They will be joined by community representatives who are active in confronting drug use in Kalamazoo.

The panelists will be: Beverly A. Moore, social work, who is vice mayor of Kalamazoo; C. Dennis Simpson, School of Community Health Services and Specialty Program in Alcohol and Drug Abuse; John Kenney, businessman and co-founder of "Citizens for Policy Reform," a local group that is involved with the nationwide Drug Policy Network; and Robert Granville, director of Safe House, a drug treat-ment/counseling center in Kalamazoo.

The second part of the series will be a panel discussion on "Drugs and Kalamazoo" on Thursday.
Symposium to focus on future of faculty, balance between research and teaching

The balance between teaching and research in faculty work will be the focus of WMU's 12th annual Career Fair set for Thursday, Feb. 8.

More than 800 persons and representatives of 100 organizations are expected to take part in the fair, which will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Bernhard Center. The event is being sponsored by WMU's Career Planning and Placement Services.

Designed for all college and university students, the fair includes a public, the goal of the fair is to bring together representatives from employers and human services, science and engineering, business and government organizations.

In addition to meeting potential employers, participants will have an opportunity to attend a variety of workshops on career-related topics.

Associates workshops on job search, resume writing and interviewing techniques will also be available. In addition, there will be a career hand to critique resumes. All programs are open to the public free of charge. Professional dress is encouraged.

Plante & Moran named external auditor

The Kalamazoo public accounting firm of Plante & Moran has been appointed as the external auditors of the University for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1990.

The appointment, approved Jan. 19 by the Board of Trustees, is for a term of five years, subject to annual review.

The firm, which has been in existence since 1978, has been a part of the Plante & Moran chain of accounting firms since 1989.

C. Dennis Simpson has been named interim director of the new School of Community Health Services.

His appointment, which was made Aug. 15, 1989, was approved Jan. 19 by the Board of Trustees in addition to several other academic personnel changes.

The new school, which was approved by the Board last April, is comprised of five health services programs in the College of Health and Human Services: the Physician Assistant Program, the Special Program, the College Health and Human Services: the Physician Assistant Program, the Gerontology Program, the Program in Holistic Health and Wellness, and the Administration of Health Systems.

An opportunity to attend a variety of workshops on career-related topics.

Benjamin C. Wilson, Black Americana Studies Program, discusses the rising interest in black memorabilia on Wednesday, Feb. 7, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the 1420 First National Bank of Kalamazoo. The program, which is sponsored by the Special Program in Black Studies, will take place in the bulletin board room.

The program is open to the public and will be held as part of the University's Black History Month celebration.

The program will feature a panel discussion on the history and significance of black memorabilia in the United States, as well as a presentation on the role of black memorabilia in American society.

The program is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

Exchange

For sale — Two snowmobile suits: one, extra-large, $65; and one, medium, $35. (Tenure Track), 1-30/1-20, School of Allied Health Professions and Audiology, 89/90-263, 1/30-2/5/90.

(S-Ol and S-02 clerical positions are now available.

(S-03, Admissions and Record Operations, 90/90-276, 1/30/90.

(R) Assistant Professor (Tenure Track), 1-30, Management, 89/90-281, 1-30/2/5/90.

(R) Secretary Assistant, S-07, Telephone and Information, 90/90-260, 1/30/2/5/0.

(R) Police Officer, G-01, Public Safety, 90/90-298, 1/30/2/5/0.

(R) Assistant to the Dean, P-05, Administration, 89/90-301, 1/30/2/5/0.

Note: Please: Posing for 90/90-277, Utility Water Food Worker, F-1, Dining Services, has been filled.

(RE) Replacement WMU is an EEO/AA employer.

On campus

"It's a challenge to keep up to date on the technology," he says, "and it's exciting to see how things are changing." Cooper has his current position for four years and been in the Department of Engineering Technology for three years before that. He has both his bachelor's and master's degrees from WMU in industrial education. He says he does miss being in the classroom at times, but feels sharing his current work in industry with students to be a more effective way to transfer application or sign the appropriate bid sheet during the next budget period.

S-01 and S-02 clerical positions are now available. Interested employees should contact the WMU Human Resources Office, 90/90-260, 1/30/2/5/0.

The program is open to the public and will be held as part of the University's Black History Month celebration.

The program will feature a panel discussion on the history and significance of black memorabilia in the United States, as well as a presentation on the role of black memorabilia in American society.

The program is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.
AFSCME LEADERSHIP - The leadership this year for WMU's chapter of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) is elected from (left) Raymond G. Hallcock, physical plant-L&G maintenance, president; Jack H. Bouch, physical plant maintenance, vice president; (standing from left) Carl C. Deiss, physical plant-L&G maintenance, financial secretary; Judy K. Dunn, health, physical education and recreation, recording secretary; and Linda Jones, physical plant-L&G maintenance, chief steward. The membership's next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 1, at the union hall, 3625 Douglas Ave.

Dahlgren named to national directorate

Kenneth A. Dahlgren, political science, has been appointed as one of nine members of the Human Dominated Systems Directorate of the U.S. Man and the Biosphere Program.

The Man and the Biosphere Program is affiliated with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). Like many other countries, the United States has a National Committee for Man and the Biosphere, which is housed in the U.S. State Department.

The Man and the Biosphere Program is organized into five directorates. The overall mission of the program is to foster harmonious relationships between humans and the biosphere through an international program of policy-relevant research which integrates social, physical and biological sciences to address actual problems.

Calendar

FEBRUARY

Thursday 1

t (thru 28) Black History Month exhibition of pictures of historical black women, outside the Space Gallery, Knauss Hall.

t (thru 9) Exhibition of watercolor still lifes and pencil portraits by Victoria Littm Kalamazoo artist, 1240 Seibert Administration Building, weekdays, 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m.

*(and 2) Management and executive development seminar, "Managing Accelerated Productivity," David R. Allen, vice president, Insight Consulting Group, Santa Monica, Calif., Fetzer Center, 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

*(thru 9) Photography exhibition, Steve Nelson, Grand Rapids photographer, Gallery II, Sangren Hall, weekdays 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; slide lecture on his work, Thursday, Feb. 8, 1213 Sangren Hall, 7 p.m.

Public forum, WMU Presidential Task Force on Alcohol, 3770 Knauss Hall, 4-6 p.m.

University film series, "The Seven Samurai" (Japan, 1954), directed by Akira Kurosawa, 2021 Sangren Hall, 4 and 9 p.m.

Meeting, Faculty Senate, Kirsch Auditorium, Fetzer Center, 7 p.m.

Center for the Study of Ethics in Society lecture, "Moralism and Compromise," Martin Benjamin, Department of Philosophy, Michigan State University, 3760 Knauss Hall, 7-10 p.m.

*(thru 3) University theatre production, "The Madwoman of Chaillot," York Arena Theatre, 8 p.m.

*Concert, Hungarian State Folk Ensemble Miller Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Friday 2

Women's track, WMU vs. Ball State University and Central Michigan University, Read Fieldhouse, 4:30 p.m.

Student recital, Jeffrey A. Wardlaw, trombone, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 5 p.m.

*Hockey, WMU vs. the University of Michigan, Lawson Arena, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday 3

Women's gymnastics, Bronco Invitational, WMU vs. Ball State University and Central Michigan University, Read Fieldhouse, 7 p.m.

Sunday 4

Concert, University Symphony Orchestra, directed by Richard J. Suddendorf, and the chamber choir, "Prospero," with special guest, Robert L. Dickey, on the violin, Seibert Administration Building, 7:30 p.m.

Probationary member recital, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia professional music fraternity, Dalton Center Lecture Hall, 5 p.m.

Monday 5

Black History Month brown bag luncheon, "Restoring Past Values," Danny E. Sledge, Division of Minority Affairs, Red Room A, Bernhard Center, noon.

Evaluation Center sack lunch seminar, "Year Five Plan for the Joint Committee on Standards for Educational Evaluation," James R. Sanders, Evaluation Center, fourth floor, Elsworth Hall, noon.

*Musical, "West Side Story," Miller Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Faculty and staff retirements approved

The retirements of seven faculty members, includ- ing President Emeritus John T. Bernhard, and two staff members were approved Jan. 19 by the Board of Trustees.

Bernhard, who came to WMU as president in 1974, retired from that position in 1985. He continued to teach as a professor of political science and will retire with emeritus status from the faculty on May 1, 1990.

The other faculty members granted retirement with emeritus status, along with their years of service and effective dates, are: Gurbux S. Alag, electrical engineering, 12 years, effective Jan. 2.

Glancy, Management and executive development seminar, "The Secretary as a Successful Manager," Karen G. Bean, president, Resource Development Co., Fetzer Center, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; admission charged.

Mechanical engineering seminar, "Reliability Engineering," Dean Leonard Lamberson, engineering and applied sciences, 3064 Kohman Hall, 1 p.m.

Lecture, "Understanding the Influence: The Pushing of Alcohol Via Advertising," Jean Kilbourne, media critic and lecturer, Miller Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Chamber music concert, the Merling Trio and guest artists, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Wednesday 7

Human Subjects Institutional Review Board meeting, Conference Room C, third floor, Seibert Administration Building, 8:15 a.m.

School of Music Conversation Series concert, voice faculty recital, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 2 p.m.

Economics lecture-seminar series, Johnathan S. Leonard, associate professor, School of Business Administration, University of California at Berkeley: seminar, 3760 Knauss Hall, 3 p.m.; lecture, "Impact of Affirmative Action," 3750 Knauss Hall, 8 p.m.

Women's basketball, WMU vs. Central Michigan University, Read Fieldhouse, 5:30 p.m.

Center for the Study of Ethics in Society panel discussion, "The Case of Nancy Cruzan," on the first "right-to-die" case to be heard by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kirsch Auditorium, Fetzer Center, 7 p.m.

Lecture, "Drugs and Poverty," Nancy Amides, Washington, D.C.-based social work professor and advocate for the poor, West Ballroom, Bernhard Center, 7:30 p.m.

*Men's basketball, WMU vs. Central Michigan University, Read Fieldhouse, 8 p.m.

Thursday 8

12th annual Career Fair, Bernhard Center, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

*Symposium, "The Future Work of the Professoriate," Fetzer Center, noon-3:30 p.m.

Thursday and 9:30-5 p.m. Friday.

Meeting, Research Policies Council of the Faculty Senate, Conference Room A, second floor, Seibert Administration Building, 3 p.m.

University film series, "Dreams" (Sweden, 1955), directed by Ingmar Bergman, 2021 Sangren Hall, 4 and 8 p.m.

Slide lecture on his work, Steve Nelson, Grand Rapids photographer, 1213 Sangren Hall, 7 p.m.

Panel discussion, "Drugs and Kalamazoo," featuring community members who have been active in confronting drug use in Kalamazoo, West Ballroom, Bernhard Center, 7:30 p.m.

*(thru 11 and 15-17) University theatre production, "L'Ormondo," Dalton Center Multi-Media Room, all at 8 p.m. except Saturday, Feb. 11, at 2 p.m.

*Concert, University Jazz Orchestra conducted by Trent Kynaston and Jazz Lab Band conducted by Tom Knific, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

*Admission charged