

2023

Instructions to The Coroner

Josiah Zuiderveen

Western Michigan University, josiah.s.zuiderveen@wmich.eduFollow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/laureate>

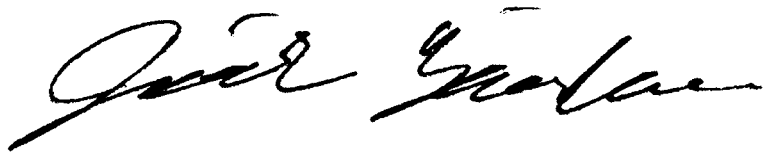

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Zuiderveen, Josiah (2023) "Instructions to The Coroner," The Laureate: Vol. 21, Article 15.Available at: <https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/laureate/vol21/iss1/15>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the Lee Honors College at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Laureate by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact wmu-scholarworks@wmich.edu.

JOSIAH ZUIDERVEEN

Instructions to the Coroner

After all of life's grand adventures are finished
Burn my body on a pyre like Vikings of old
My soul has journeyed on to brighter things
Don't take me to a cemetery.
Too cold and monumental.
Gather the dust and place me
Here.....
Among high grasses and trees.
Spread my coal-tempered ashes to ride wind-worn hills.
Put some of me in a water bottle,
Ride with me one last time.
There...
Where I went to rest my bike amidst the coolness,
Under the bridge where water rushes through this magic cove
Is where my powdered-carcass can ride the stream
Let me watch over that place still
And I will cause the wind to gently ruffle your hair
Blowing away cares and fears

Then walk
Among the dunes and rocky waters
I shall call to friends I ran ahead of
My soul shall sway with song singing
"Come, spend time in this magic cove,
And walk this windy sun-grass,
Or sit on the gnarled, broken trunk
Listening to the swirling waters under the trees.
Where the wind caresses your tear-stained cheeks
Let this wind hold you in your sorrow
Till you are ready to rejoin life's adventure without me."