

1990

Bingo

Liza Green

Follow this and additional works at: <http://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope>

 Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Green, Liza (1990) "Bingo," Calliope: Vol. 1990 : Iss. 1 , Article 9.
Available at: <http://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope/vol1990/iss1/9>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the English at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Calliope by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact maira.bundza@wmich.edu.

Bingo

A white cat is lying on the big green couch.
She's purring, she's happy,
she's dreaming.
She doesn't dream that she's running through a big green field after a mouse, running takes too much effort.
She doesn't dream of monarch butterflies
or bright yellow daffodils.
Those things are of no use to her.
She doesn't dream of catching
the big fat robin that visits the feeder each morning.
She really doesn't like the taste of robin.
She doesn't dream of being held close or cuddled.
She's far too sophisticated for that.
She dreams of a sunbeam shining on a green couch
in which a cat is lying.
Sleeping, dreaming.

Liza Green