Seven Ways of Looking at a Looking Glass

Aryn Huff

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope/vol1995/iss1/22
Seven Ways of Looking at a Looking Glass

I.
A cat walks in a circle for hours around a looking glass looking for the other cat.

II.
The beveled edges of the looking glass fracture the light and make tiny prisms on the wall.

III.
Lots of little looking glasses form a circle around the clock so you can fix your hair while you check the time.

IV.
$5.00 will buy cherry slushies for yourself and a friend. A few more will buy a looking glass in a plastic compact.

V.
Some public rest rooms have no looking glasses to keep from frightening the public.

VI.
A looking glass will double a room’s size until you walk into it.

VII.
A pink rabbit’s foot on a chain will bring you good luck, but a broken looking glass will bring you seven years of bad luck.

Aryn Huff