

1999

Color Doesn't Matter

Anne Prussing

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Prussing, Anne (1999) "Color Doesn't Matter," Calliope (1954-2001): Vol. 1999 , Article 15.

Available at: <https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/calliope/vol1999/iss1/15>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the English at ScholarWorks at WMU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Calliope (1954-2001) by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at WMU. For more information, please contact wmu-scholarworks@wmich.edu.

Color Doesn't Matter

I remember exactly when you left me;
a six-year-old fatherless.

I can see myself staring out of your bedroom window in our brick house on Firwood Avenue.
I can see the gas fumes trailing from behind your silver?--wait, red?
car.

I didn't know then that I wouldn't see or hear from you again until three years later when you so graciously "decided"
to be my dad again.

Forgive and Forget?

All I forgot was the color of your car.

Anne Prussing