Extend United Way Campaign

Peter W. Haab, Greater Kalamafoo United Way campaign chairman, has issued an urgent plea to "Our Friends at Western." Although the drive officially ended Nov. 1, workers are still striving to meet this year's goal to support 25 local agencies.

His letter follows: "I only wish I could speak with you individually. I would like to describe to you personally how the human care services of the Greater Kalamazoo United Way are YOURS. YOURS because they exist for your benefit and many of you are using them; and, as a resident of Greater Kalamazoo, you are YOURS to help direct and preserve."

"I must, now, ask you to dig in and help. The level of assistance available through these agencies is directly related to what you do."

"In the next few days, please do your share. Sign up now!"

Gabier Assumes State Presidency

Russell Gabier, Western's director of admissions, assumes the presidency of the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers this week.

He will move into the top office at the organization's 45th annual meeting of the Michigan State Community College on Nov. 11-12, succeeding Douglas Woeleley of the University of Michigan. The keynote address will be given by Dr. Peter Ellis, president-director at the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek. He is a former WMU administrator.

Nearly all the colleges and universities from throughout Michigan will be represented at the two-day conference.

Visiting Scholar

Here Next Week

Dr. Ali A. Mazuri, University of Michigan professor of political science, will be a Visiting Scholar here Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 12-13, sponsored by the Institute of International and Area Studies, the African studies committee and the department of political science.

He will speak at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in 3750 Knauss Hall on "World Culture and the Black Experience." His lecture will be repeated Wednesday in 3020 Friedmann Hall be "Alien the Year 2000." He will discuss "The Middle East and Black Africa" at a noon luncheon Wednesday December in the Graduate Student Center's faculty dining room.

Mazuri is former dean of the faculty of social science at the University of Zimbabwe in Uganda and a former fellow of the Stanford University Center for Advanced Study in Behavioral Sciences.

Investigation Continues

No new leads have been reported by University police in their investigation of the Oct. 9th fatal stabbing of Gloria D. Steele, a Kalamazoo sophomore, in her Stadium Drive apartment. Funeral services were held Monday.

Dowling To Direct "Playboy"

In Shaw Theatre Nov. 13-16

The classic Irish comedy, "Playboy," will have its first Kalamazoo area production in WMU Shaw Theatre Nov. 13-16. Vincent Dowling, artist-in-residence at Western, is directing the production.

"Playboy" is a 21-year veteran actor-director with the Abbey Theatre in Ireland. For the previous four years he was a member of Dublin, Ireland, and a 21-year veteran actor-director with the Abbey Theatre there.

First produced at Dublin's Abbey Theatre in 1907, "Playboy" is a play of protest. When it came to America in 1911, the cast was imprisoned on an immigration violation. The play is set in a remote part of Ireland at the turn of the century, and love, jealousy, murder, sport, laughter and duplicity mingle in this play.

Hardy Garner, Portage freshman, who recently played Hardy in "The Family Reunion," is cast as the playboy, Christy. Joe Anna Peterson, a Kent City senior, is cast as Christy's fiancé, Memorial. Pat Peterson is set as the Abbey Theatre's comedy and drama director. A total of 23 students will be featured in the production. The play is a part of the "Family Reunion." Ms. Peterson played major roles in several Western productions, including " uncover in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Miss Metcalfe in "Dark of the Moon," Singers Here—Dioonie Warwice, guest performer in concert Monday, Nov. 11, here in Miller Auditorium. Tickets are $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50.

H.S. Campus Day

Here Saturday

More than 600 seniors and juniors from approximately 200 Michigan high schools are expected to attend the third High School On Campus Day Saturday, Nov. 9, here at Western.

This special college information program for Southwestern Michigan high school juniors and seniors and their counselors is sponsored by Western's Admissions Office. Duncan A. Clarkson, associate director, is the program coordinator.

Visiting students will have an opportunity in the morning to view departmental displays relating to the many academic programs and student services available at Western. Clarkson said. Faculty and administrators will be present to answer questions pertaining to career programs and the University as a place to pursue an academic course. Lunch and the WMU-Central Michigan football game in Waldo Stadium complete the schedule of activities.

Senate Meets Tonight

The Faculty Senate will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in 1004 Adrian Trimpell's classroom in the Teaching/Research Building.

Annual Dad's Day Saturday

Western's annual Dad's Day is set for Saturday, Nov. 9, when the Broncos face Central Michigan at 1:30 p.m. in Waldo Stadium.

Fathers are the featured guest of the Western football players will be guests at a pre-game luncheon beginning at 11:15 a.m. at Lawson Ice Arena in the student recreation building, and a post-game program honoring the parents of the players will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the west ballroom, University Student Center. John T. Bernhard will give a welcoming address at the event. "Best Dad" and "Best Daughter" awards will be made.

Georgie, Alex and Adrin, the college's student-dad student tribute to dads and entertainers.

SING 'EM HERE—Dioonie Warwice, guest performer in concert Monday, Nov. 11, here in Miller Auditorium. Tickets are $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50.

H.S. Campus Day

Here Saturday

More than 600 seniors and juniors from approximately 200 Michigan high schools are expected to attend the third High School On Campus Day Saturday, Nov. 9, here at Western.

This special college information program for Southwestern Michigan high school juniors and seniors and their counselors is sponsored by Western's Admissions Office. Duncan A. Clarkson, associate director, is the program coordinator.

Visiting students will have an opportunity in the morning to view departmental displays relating to the many academic programs and student services available at Western. Clarkson said. Faculty and administrators will be present to answer questions pertaining to career programs and the University as a place to pursue an academic course. Lunch and the WMU-Central Michigan football game in Waldo Stadium complete the schedule of activities.

Annual Dad's Day Saturday

Western's annual Dad's Day is set for Saturday, Nov. 9, when the Broncos face Central Michigan at 1:30 p.m. in Waldo Stadium.

Fathers and families of the Western football players will be guests at a pre-game luncheon beginning at 11:15 a.m. at Lawson Ice Arena in the student recreation building, and a post-game program honoring the parents of the players will begin at 4:30 p.m. in the west ballroom, University Student Center. John T. Bernhard will give a welcoming address at the event. "Best Dad" and "Best Daughter" awards will be made.

Georgie, Alex and Adrin, the college's student-dad tribute to dads and entertainers.
Soviet Dancers Here Nov. 19

The Soviet Georgian Dancers, a group of 80 dancers, singers and instrumentalists, will make their United States debut tour and are scheduled for one performance at Miller Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 19.

London Librarian To Visit Campus

Kenneth C. Harrison, city librarian of black church and friends are cordially invited to attend the Harold M. Pitman Co., Chicago, to speak on the topic "Variations on International Themes" at 7:30 p.m. in the west hall of the University Student Center.

He has been involved with the liberation movement of black people for more than a decade. Some of his concepts and ideas have generated a new perspective on the role of the black church in the struggle for human rights. Rev. Cleage is the author of "The Black Messiah" and "BCN-New Directions for the Black Church."

Using the church as a power base and a practical program, the Black Christian Nationalist movement is a call to revolution for the liberation of black people.

Seek Postdoctoral Award Applicants

Postdoctoral research associate- ship awards ranging from $1,000 to $15,000 upwards have been announced by The National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences.

The programs provide scientists and engineers with opportunities for research in the fields of atmospheric and earth sciences, chemistry, engineering, environmental sciences, mathematics, physics and space sciences. Appointments are awarded on the basis of applicant's credentials and in some cases to senior investigators.

Application deadline is Jan. 15, 1975, with announcement of the awards in April. Further information is available from the Associate Director, Office of National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.

Aid Study Abroad

For those inquiring about travel and study abroad, the Office of Foreign Study, located at 2501 Student Services Building, will be established as a service to students with questions in this area. The Office offers information about the International Student Identity Card and Youth Hostel Card, as well as providing information about programs and possibilities around the World. An appointment can be made by calling 383-8181.

Art Center Show Open

Paintings by Paul Robbert, professor of art, are on display through Nov. 29 in the Art Center of the University's Main Gallery of the Kalamazoo Art Center, 314 S. Park St. The Center is open daily except Mondays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through November 29.

Seek P.B.K. Members

Relative to the application of WMU for the 1975 annual National Conference on the Administration of Research recently at The Abbey on Lake Geneva, Wis. The invitation conference was co-hosted by WMU, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Northern Illinois University.

The topic was "Social Science Data Bank and Newsnark" and "Social Science Citation Index."

Emeritus Professor Dies

Elise McCorlile, emeritus assistant professor of education, died Aug. 30 here in Kalamazoo. The former Portage science teacher was 74. She was associated with WMU, 1926-65. Funeral services were held in Florence, Ala.

German Study For Non-Majors

The German Academic Exchange Service has announced that 46 scholarships are available for German language courses to be sponsored by the Goethe Institutes in the Federal Republic of Germany next year. Applications are available to students who are not majoring in German, who are U.S. citizens enrolled in American colleges, have attended college for at least one year, and are able to prove higher proficiency in German for future research or study. Additional information is available from Dr. Frederic J. Mortimore, director, WMU Institute of International and Area Studies.

Faculty Readers To Present Wit

A cast of 13 Western faculty members will bring to life the humor and wit of post World War II writers, actors, publishers, artists and social scientists in the November-December issue of "Wits of the Round Table."

Sponsored by Eleanor Walton, associate professor of communication and humanities, it will portray the lively repertory which occurred daily at the Algonquin Club in New York for more than a decade. Some of those chosen for presentation include Robert Benchley, Robert Sherwood, Edna Ferber, Dorothy Parker, Helen Hayes and Alexander Woollcott.

Baritone Recital Friday

Joseph McCall, lyric baritone, is a guest-artist here today and Friday. He will present a recital at 9 o'clock tonight in Oakland Recital Hall, a master class tomorrow. He will be accompanied by pianist William Kroeger.

Addresses Library Group

Peter Malanchuk, assistant professor of social science librarian, recently presented a paper before the Michigan Social Science Librarians Association at the annual meeting in Kalamazoo. The topic was "Social Science Data Bank and Newsnark" and "Social Science Citation Index."

Mortar Boards Wanted

All WMU faculty who were members of Mortar Board, national honorary for senior women, during their undergraduate days are asked to call either Virginia Norton, assistant director of student activities, at 383-4015, or Jo Anne Williams at 349-0965.

Band Spectacular Here Friday Night

The annual Band Spectacular will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 8, in Miller Auditorium. This event combines in concert the University Wind Ensemble, Symphonic Band, Marching Band and Jazz Lab Band. Tickets are $1 for students and Miller Auditorium box office, all seating is reserved.

Memorial Recital Sunday

The late Julius Stulberg will be honored in a special memorial recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 10, in Oakland Recital Hall.

Mary Canberg, violinist, and Joseph Brach, pianist, both friends of Stulberg, will perform sonatas by Beethoven, Mozart and Brahms made available to Western's department of music.

Baritone Recital Friday

Joseph McCall, lyric baritone, is a guest-artist here today and Friday. He will present a recital at 9 o'clock tonight in Oakland Recital Hall, a master class tomorrow. He will be accompanied by pianist William Kroeger.

Lecture Series Opens Tonight

Jaramogi Ahebe Agyejaman (Rev. Albert B. Cleage), national chairman of the Black Christian Nationalist Church, will initiate the fall Black Student Movement lecture series at 7:30 tonight in the west hall of the University Student Center.

Two • Thursday, November 7, 1974 • Western News

Opening of Ann Arbor has been named the recipient of the 1974-75 American Library Association Memorial Scholarship for the student of Great Britain and present president of the Commonwealth Library Association. He is an expert on special aspects of librarianship in Britain.

From Coed Wins Pitman Award

Freshman Marilyn D. Moncrieff of Ann Arbor has been named the recipient of the 1974-75 American Library Association Memorial Scholarship for the student of Great Britain and present president of the Commonwealth Library Association. He is an expert on special aspects of librarianship in Britain.

To NSF Program

Dr. Charles F. Heller, professor of geography, is one of 15 biologists, sociologists, psychologists, geographers and anthropologists involved in the development of a National Science Foundation Chautauqua short course for college students today and Friday at the Hueston Woods, Ohio, Conference Center.

The course is entitled "Ethical Issues and the Life Sciences." They will meet again in March after four months of research and study.

To Present Wit

A cast of 13 Western faculty members will bring to life the humor and wit of post World War II writers, actors, publishers, artists and social scientists in the November-December issue of "Wits of the Round Table."

Sponsored by Eleanor Walton, associate professor of communication and humanities, it will portray the lively repertory which occurred daily at the Algonquin Club in New York for more than a decade. Some of those chosen for presentation include Robert Benchley, Robert Sherwood, Edna Ferber, Dorothy Parker, Helen Hayes and Alexander Woollcott.

Speaks At National Meeting

Daniel E. Hursh, WMU assistant professor of psychology, will present a paper during the Nov. 14-16 National Conference on Research and Technology in College and University Teaching at Georgia State University in Atlanta.

He will discuss 'An analysis of student preference and performance on written and oral quizzes.' WMU students, Deanne A. Lockhart and Randy Lee Sprau, will also present papers at the conference.

Research Conference

Three Western faculty members attended the 28th annual National Conference on the Administration of Research recently at The Abbey on Lake Geneva, Wis. The invitation conference was co-hosted by WMU, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Northern Illinois University.

The conference theme was "The Change of Increasing Demands and Limited Resources."

Representing WMU were: Dr. George T. Mallinson, dean of the Graduate College and professor of science education; and Drs. Richard T. Rinker and Sid Dykas, dean of the Graduate College. Mallinson was one of three host representatives.

Application deadline is Jan. 15, 1975, with announcement of the awards in April. Further information is available from the Associate Director, Office of National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418.
New President Addresses Academic Forum

Dr. Bernhard Lists

Three Challenges

In his first major address to the campus, Dr. John T. Bernhard, the new president of the University of Western Michigan, spoke Oct. 31 at the second in a series of distinguished Board of Trustees forums. The complete text of his remarks follows:

Ladies and gentlemen of the University community, I deem it appropriate to open this Forum today. Perhaps this is the appropriate occasion for the new president to reveal some of his thoughts concerning the future of the University. He will see, I am sure, because we are not merely feeders at the public trough, but that he will also see that we are people who contribute to the common welfare. This means that we have an obligation to the public; to the public officials for a redress of legitimate grievances, and to solicit their active support. It is all inclusive; but I do think it is our duty to face the challenge and participate in the process and to do whatever is necessary for the development of higher education and general citizenship.

In pondering the destiny of the modern university, I have decided to refer first to the general area, and then move to specific points directly affecting Western. To proceed directly to the campus, and the ripples of this phenomenon, I will try to set a theme based on demands for new facilities, whether they be social, economic, or educational. Inevitably, with this public reaction against the old favorable image of higher education as the important instrumentality for social, economic, and cultural development, and the loss of public confidence, we are truly committed to our cause.

In the 1960's, the decade of our political progress and the birth of a new generation of youth, it almost inevitably that eventually the public would ask probing questions about the operation of the universities and colleges throughout the land. With national emphasis on higher education and the loss of public confidence, we are all also facing a tighter fiscal control in higher education—including official demands for a more elaborate justification of operations requiring public funds. Michigan is certainly no exception!

Tied closely to this development is the strong public concern, emphasized by our actions, about the rising cost of education. Obviously here is our concern: How much is dollars—dollars as represented by available tax revenue, dollars as represented by public appropriations. Inevitably, with this public concern comes the human outcry: Is higher education really more important than other areas? Without our dedicated efforts, viz., a distinguished Board of Trustees, the high caliber faculty and staff that is here, today in American higher education, is all inclusive; but I do think it contains important elements to consider. Their dedication and their control, and the loss of public confidence.

Managerial Controls

It seems very clear that in the body politic there is a persistent demand for better management on college campuses. Please consider this statement and read more proposals dealing with a so-called "neo-management" in education. Comprehensive programs have been established in several states of the Union, and they may have met a tighter fiscal control in higher education including official demands for a more elaborate justification of operations requiring public funds. Michigan is certainly no exception!

We are undoubtedly facing a growing skepticism on the part of the general public about the values and the performance levels of higher education in America. Logically, we must ask the question: "Why?" Why this negative reaction occurred? While critics and scholars have not yet confirmed any one set of reasons by far another, there are at least a few straws in the wind that should draw our careful attention. First, it is important that we recognize this loss of public confidence has been evolving over a period of several years. Now we all recognize that there are at least a few straws in the wind that should draw our careful attention. First, it is important that we recognize this loss of public confidence has been evolving over a period of several years. Now we all recognize that there are at least a few straws in the wind that should draw our careful attention.

In our assumptions and our budget, we are truly committed to our cause.

First, the political challenge. In my judgment, we have failed to recognize, and to have the general public recognize, that education is a very public business. We are not merely feeders at the public trough, but that we are people who contribute to the common welfare. This means that we have an obligation to the public; to the public officials for a redress of legitimate grievances, and to solicit their active support. It is all inclusive; but I do think it is our duty to face the challenge and participate in the process and to do whatever is necessary for the development of higher education and general citizenship.

Thank you.
Now permit me to turn your attention to considerations of specific interest to Western Michigan University and your patience, will not allow me to cover more than a few of these. And, obviously, my comments may be qualified by the simple fact of my brief tenure on campus. Therefore, I hope you will bear with me and recognize that my conclusions may be tentative. With this understanding, I would like to underline the following items:

- The Crisis in Dollars
- Affirmative Action
- Collective Bargaining
- Enrollment
- Long-range Planning

The Crisis in Dollars

Inflation, shortages, unemployment, and a generally confused economy have contributed to our sensitive fiscal plight. In terms of statewide equity with other institutions, Western still has some catching-up to do; for example, five percent salary increase and staff enrollment, but was only 1.8 percent appropriation levied fiscal year equalized student! This translates to almost seven percent of the state appropriation level, but no firm assurances on these recent stories in the student newspaper with considerable interest. Since questions have been raised about whether such an increase was available for salary compensation, and the state appropriation defines such an administrative colleague to provide the background leading up to the determination that salary income would be increased by five percent salary increase plus a 1.6 percent salary increase level, the total request was lower than expected—as we all knew. Indeed, I am resolved to continue forcing

It is truly unfortunate that there has been so much misunderstanding about our budget deliberations. Recognizing the difficulties, and that most of the comments are based on honest and sincere interpretations of our fiscal situation. I have explored the background on the summer decision-making, and I am convinced that the following are the real factors that contributed to the fiscal allocation of dollars for this year:

- From the outset, it was our sense that we could only afford more than seven percent for salary increments. As a result, any level but no firm assurances on these recent stories in the student newspaper with considerable interest. Since questions have been raised about whether such an increase was available for salary compensation, and the state appropriation defines such an administrative colleague to provide the background leading up to the determination that salary income would be increased by five percent salary increase plus a 1.6 percent salary increase level, the total request was lower than expected—as we all knew. Indeed, I am resolved to continue forcing

It is truly unfortunate that there has been so much misunderstanding about our budget deliberations. Recognizing the difficulties, and that most of the comments are based on honest and sincere interpretations of our fiscal situation. I have explored the background on the summer decision-making, and I am convinced that the following are the real factors that contributed to the fiscal allocation of dollars for this year:

- From the outset, it was our sense that we could only afford more than seven percent for salary increments. As a result, any level but no firm assurances on these recent stories in the student newspaper with considerable interest. Since questions have been raised about whether such an increase was available for salary compensation, and the state appropriation defines such an administrative colleague to provide the background leading up to the determination that salary income would be increased by five percent salary increase plus a 1.6 percent salary increase level, the total request was lower than expected—as we all knew. Indeed, I am resolved to continue forcing

It is true that the costs of education have increased dramatically in recent years. The rising costs of both tuition and other expenses have placed a significant burden on families, students, and institutions alike. However, as we work towards finding solutions to these challenges, it is important to remember that education is essential for personal and societal growth. By investing in education, we are investing in our future and the future of our communities. As we continue to explore ways to make education more accessible and affordable, let us not lose sight of the value and importance of learning and knowledge.
Continued from Page 4

Prexy Talk

(Continued on Page 6)

Collective Bargaining

Shared governance is an esteemed and time-honored tradition in American higher education. While lines of practical jurisdiction between the faculty, trustees, and administrative administration have seldom been neatly drawn, a substantial body of vaguely defined "common law" has experience and good will—has matured over the decades. In recent years, the role of the participatory has been added to the traditional mix, with tentative and inconclusive results—at least at this stage of history.

However, another powerful governance factor has now surfaced upon the scene—namely, collective bargaining. As a form of employee representation, it is an innovation that has been introduced recently into the working relationships of the University. In my judgment, collective bargaining is a positive development that can be of great assistance to our University in creating an atmosphere that is conducive to learning and scholarship.

My point in discussing this matter here is that even those of you who may not support the concept of affirmative action may nonetheless realize the seriousness of the issue, and the extent to which our own plan may require us to change our traditional way of doing things.

I earnestly ask your assistance in furthering the development of such a program, and I sincerely hope that WMU and the University will heed our plea.

Collective Bargaining

shared governance is an esteemed and time-honored tradition in American higher education. While lines of practical jurisdiction between the faculty, trustees, and administrative administration have seldom been neatly drawn, a substantial body of vaguely defined "common law" has experience and good will—has matured over the decades. In recent years, the role of the participatory has been added to the traditional mix, with tentative and inconclusive results—at least at this stage of history.

However, another powerful governance factor has now surfaced upon the scene—namely, collective bargaining. As a form of employee representation, it is an innovation that has been introduced recently into the working relationships of the University. In my judgment, collective bargaining is a positive development that can be of great assistance to our University in creating an atmosphere that is conducive to learning and scholarship.

My point in discussing this matter here is that even those of you who may not support the concept of affirmative action may nonetheless realize the seriousness of the issue, and the extent to which our own plan may require us to change our traditional way of doing things.

I earnestly ask your assistance in furthering the development of such a program, and I sincerely hope that WMU and the University will heed our plea.

Collective Bargaining

shared governance is an esteemed and time-honored tradition in American higher education. While lines of practical jurisdiction between the faculty, trustees, and administrative administration have seldom been neatly drawn, a substantial body of vaguely defined "common law" has experience and good will—has matured over the decades. In recent years, the role of the participatory has been added to the traditional mix, with tentative and inconclusive results—at least at this stage of history.

However, another powerful governance factor has now surfaced upon the scene—namely, collective bargaining. As a form of employee representation, it is an innovation that has been introduced recently into the working relationships of the University. In my judgment, collective bargaining is a positive development that can be of great assistance to our University in creating an atmosphere that is conducive to learning and scholarship.

My point in discussing this matter here is that even those of you who may not support the concept of affirmative action may nonetheless realize the seriousness of the issue, and the extent to which our own plan may require us to change our traditional way of doing things.

I earnestly ask your assistance in furthering the development of such a program, and I sincerely hope that WMU and the University will heed our plea.

Collective Bargaining

shared governance is an esteemed and time-honored tradition in American higher education. While lines of practical jurisdiction between the faculty, trustees, and administrative administration have seldom been neatly drawn, a substantial body of vaguely defined "common law" has experience and good will—has matured over the decades. In recent years, the role of the participatory has been added to the traditional mix, with tentative and inconclusive results—at least at this stage of history.

However, another powerful governance factor has now surfaced upon the scene—namely, collective bargaining. As a form of employee representation, it is an innovation that has been introduced recently into the working relationships of the University. In my judgment, collective bargaining is a positive development that can be of great assistance to our University in creating an atmosphere that is conducive to learning and scholarship.

My point in discussing this matter here is that even those of you who may not support the concept of affirmative action may nonetheless realize the seriousness of the issue, and the extent to which our own plan may require us to change our traditional way of doing things.

I earnestly ask your assistance in furthering the development of such a program, and I sincerely hope that WMU and the University will heed our plea.

Collective Bargaining
Accreditation. He will serve through WMU were Harnett Creed, Margie Pongon State Park, Angola, Ind., the Midwest Association for College

tiClci anticipated in the board meetings of McCracken Han on "The Mechanfessor of art, as representative on demonstration," respectively, at the

In a long-forgotten and otherwise unremarkable little play entitled The National Association of university, health, physical education and recreization at Boyne Mountain. Also students appeared on the television of the Department of comment is that we have a fine heritage university, and no campus is able to strike a

Once again, the theme of vision prevails. We must recognize the enough to assess each student $1.50 per body. Ballots for the current refer-in Chicago and Madison, Wis. Fund-the student reaches the end of

and poetry and prose readings by WMU

Hoy and Ruth Davis guest of the WMU department of

The money was distributed to rec-of trustees, without the student is taking classes. The university, and 800 more were located outside the immediate major educational institu-

Each program will consist of three visits of two days in which she will discuss contemporary issues

tance. It is as follows:

"Who turns away from vision dies."

university. The word "vision" is often used for and received funds to sponsor

for and received funds to sponsor

At 4 p.m., Tuesday Nov. 12, in 3321 Brown Hall.

Get together the outside force that has been thrown out,

From "Changing Marriage Patterns"

But like the father who is fearful between "What is American about attorney, to assess each student $1.50 per of University facilities and/or borrow University equipment, tools, or ma-

Materials for their personal use, as "Geometry, Topology, and the Coloring of Graphs." He.

The institution should normally employ all personnel working in promotion of Western's best interests. Each Department, with the consent of the Department Chair-approved policies and the Faculty:

1. University policy prohibits all unauthorized use for personal purposes of University facilities, equipment, and/or materials by faculty and staff members. Each Department, with the consent of the Department Chair-for other constituencies in an effort to

"Piano Trio, Opus 67 in C Major."

Elected To National Post

lations and concerns with small groups daily. In the evening, Ms. David will appear before community-wide and the Coloring of Graphs."

"Kazoo Anthology' Program Tuesday

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be

Sponsored by the English department, the readings will be given by Herb Scott, Marty Gossman and the 1975 as one of the seven representa-

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be of the faculty and equipment only with the arrangement arrangements without written reimbursement of costs to the Special exceptions shall be approved by the Vice Presidents in council.

The institution should normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Dr. A. Bruce Clarke, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Western Michigan University, and Dr. Philip Hsieh, professor of mathematics, recently attended the International Congress of Mathematicians in Vancouver, B.C., Canada. Hsieh presented a paper on "Nonlinear Differential Equations with an Irregular Type Singularity."

Dr. A. Bruce Clarke, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Western Michigan University, and Dr. Philip Hsieh, professor of mathematics, recently attended the International Congress of Mathematicians in Canada. Hsieh presented a paper on "Nonlinear Differential Equations with an Irregular Type Singularity."

He also recently gave a series of lectures on recent developments in Ordinary Differential Equations at National Taiwan University, Ta-and/or facilities will be used in a manner inconsistent with the stated purposes of University facilities, or in a manner inconsistent with the purposes for which the University facilities are available.

Dr. A. Bruce Clarke, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Western Michigan University, and Dr. Philip Hsieh, professor of mathematics, recently attended the International Congress of Mathematicians in Vancouver, B.C., Canada. Hsieh presented a paper on "Nonlinear Differential Equations with an Irregular Type Singularity."

Dr. A. Bruce Clarke, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Western Michigan University, and Dr. Philip Hsieh, professor of mathematics, recently attended the International Congress of Mathematicians in Canada. Hsieh presented a paper on "Nonlinear Differential Equations with an Irregular Type Singularity."

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.

Math Colloquium Set

Dr. Joseph Buckley, associate professor of mathematics, will give the Math Colloquium at 4 o'clock today in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower. The topic will be "On the Order of the Anticomplementary Group of the Tetrahedron." The colloquium will be

Kazoo Anthology," a program of poetry and prose readings by WMU faculty members, will be presented at 8 o'clock today in the Math Colloquium, Everett Tower.

the institution's facilities shall provide for re-

The institution shall normally employ all personnel working in and with the institution's facilities; arrangements to use these facilities by assistants privately employed in connection with a faculty member's private outside activities should be cleared with the administration.
Published Children's Literature Review

Two Kalamazoo children's literature specialists are co-editors of a new Michigan Children's Literature Review," just issued by WMU.

Dr. Jon C. Stott, associate professor of English at Western Michigan University and Cheryl McKenna, head of the Children's Room at the Kalamazoo Public Library, collaborated on the publication. It contains review articles and brief notices about current and standard books for children.

A director of the National Children's Literature Association, Stott began the "Review" as the result of frequent requests for book lists from viewers of his regular program on WOTV, Grand Rapids. "So many people have written requesting information about children's literature that I felt it would be worthwhile to compile in depth information for those interested," Stott noted.

Ms. McKenna has taught courses in story telling at WMU and is director of literature for the WMU School of Librarianship. She is a Western Michigan graduate and holds a Master of Library Science degree there.

The "Review" is free to all those who send requests to Dr. Stott, WMU English department.

Korean Conference Friday, Saturday

The fifth International Conference on Korea, sponsored by the Center for Korean Studies, Institute of International and Area Studies, will be held here in the Board of Trustees Room, University Student Center, this Friday and Saturday.

One of the most prestigious scholarly gatherings sponsored overseas by this institution, the biennial conference attracts outstanding international scholars coming from East Asia, South America, North Korea, and the United States. Dr. C. I. Eugene Kim, program chairman and WMU professor of political science, has invited many to present papers at this conference, entitled: "Korea's Role in Japanese Colonial Rule," a highly recognized scholar as John K. C. Oh, Spencer J. Palmer, Gregory Henderson and Chung-sik Lee, to name but a few.

Participants from throughout the United States, Canada, Japan and Korea will be represented. WMU faculty appearing on the program include, in addition to Kim, Dr. H. Byon Earkart, associate professor of religious studies; Andrew Nahm, professor of history, and Doretta E. Kimmorlo, department of communication and Mass media.

WMU faculty and students are encouraged to attend sessions beginning at 9 a.m. Friday and Saturday; registration forms may be obtained from Kim or on Friday and Saturday at the Conference Registration Desk, 2nd floor, University Center.

President John T. Bernhard will speak at the conference following dinner Thursday, Oct. 28.

Nahm is discussing "Themes of Popular Songs and Poems in the Korean Folklore: The Korean Pacifist Poets." Ms. Mortimore is reading "Dr. Su Shin Seokcho and the Korean National Consciousness."

To Show, Discuss Winning Film

Ron Spatz will show and discuss his award-winning film, "Lull," the first of the English department's lunch-time programs, at noon Wed., Nov. 14, in the University Center, Room 3325 Brown Hall.

Spatz's films have been shown at national and international film festivals and on educational television. He is also the author of drama, fiction and poetry. His play, "The Wheelchair," was produced at the Herbert H. Lehman College and the University of Iowa.

This lunch-time program is free and open to the public. Bring a brown bag lunch, coffee will be available.

New Zealand To Visit Here

Dr. Craig Duncan, chairman of the department of geography at the University of Waikato in Hamilton, New Zealand, will be the guest of the center for a vocal recital for American medical students studying there.

Return From Mexico Recital

Mary Sue Hyatt, a graduate assistant in voice from Ruffsdale, Pa., has recently returned from Guadalajara, Mexico, where she performed a vocal recital for American medical students studying there.

WESTERN NEWS • Thursday, November 7, 1974 • Seven

Students Earn $1.3 Million In '73-74 Off-Campus Jobs

WMU students earned more than $1.3 million during the 1973-74 school year from off-campus jobs only through the University Office of Student Financial Aid and Scholarships, according to Dr. Ed- ward Harkenrider, director of the office.

The $1,378,089 amount earned from off-campus jobs was earned over six times the amount in the previous school year. Not included is $32,862 earned from jobs in WMU's federally supported Work-Study Program.

Harkenrider attributes the whopping increase in off-campus student jobs to a more active approach within his office, enabled by staff additions. Gary L. Belliveau, coordinator of student employment, and Ronald Lutz, responsible for off-campus student job placement, have been added this year.

There are 21 students in this pilot program which will be expanded if more funds are obtained according to Harkenrider.

The changes are the result of a new approach being used by his office as: sending letters to community employers telling of WMU's student employment services; requiring the renewal of student job applications every two weeks to provide maximum assistance to students actively seeking work and minimal assistance to those who are not; discouraging students from seeking work for: and initiating student pools to handle temporary jobs such as babysitting, instead of having students do jobs, and selling—yes, selling.

Funds are often in the form of shortage of students for such temporary jobs, earning about 40 cents an hour.
Broncos Host CMU in Grid Home Finale

Western Michigan's football team has lost five of its last six outings and faces another tough assignment here Saturday against a Central Michigan team that owns a 7-1 record and seven straight wins. Kickoff time for the home finale at Waldo Stadium is 1:30 p.m. and this is also the annual Dad's Day game.

The Broncos bowed by a 31-0 count last Saturday on the road to nationally-ranked Miami University as their regulars missed the contest with assorted injuries. Even with this handicap and the final score, Coach Bill Doolittle felt his club played with more consistency than in the previous week's 26-3 setback against Ohio University.

On the plus side this week will be the return of quarterback Pepper Powers, who engineered two of Western's three victories this fall, to full practice. He led the Ohio game with bruised ribs.

Defensively, Doolittle will have to turn to former starter Dwight Walt on. The Cincinnati, O., junior sustained a broken bone in his hand at Ohio and ranked third on the club in tackles entering that contest. Either of two sophomores, Mike Quinlan and Frank Cleary, will fill the void left by Walt's spot.

With rushing and scoring leader Dan Matthews still on the doubtful list, the club is again expected to employ fullbacks Jim White and Joe Wade at the running back spots. Wade, a senior, redshirted at Miami and Wade 43 on 12. Marc Robinson ran back four kickoffs for 117 yards.

Central Michigan is playing its final season of College-Division football and ranked in the top ten nationally on both wire service polls last week.

MAC Harrier Meet Saturday

Western's cross country team heads into a final week of practice in preparation for the season's main attraction, the Mid-American Conference Championships, to be held this weekend at Central Michigan In Mt. Pleasant.

The Broncos returned from a somewhat disappointing performance at the Central Collegiate Championships at Indiana University where Coach Jack Shaw's club finished eighth from among 15 competing teams. Freshman Tom Dilts once again led the way for the Brown and Gold. The former All-Stater was clocked in 24:34 for five miles, finished 12th, and was thus recognized as an All-Conference selection.

Swim Entries Due

Men's intramural swimming meet entries are due at noon Friday, Nov. 8. The Fraternity Meet is Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 7 p.m. in the Gay Pool. Residence Hall and Intercollegiate meet entries are due Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. in the Gay Pool.

All teams will be limited to one team relay entry. An individual may enter a maximum of two individual events and one relay event per day. An individual may enter a maximum of two individual events and one relay event per day.

Job Openings

Below is a listing of the position openings currently being posted by the University Personnel Department, for current University employees.

Regular full-time and regular part-time employees interested in applying for these positions should submit a Job Opportunity Program application form to the Personnel Department during the posting period.

Project Coordinator-Instructional Support Services, College of Education-Dean's office—posted 11/6/74

Secretary, C-4 (H-6) Dance Department—posted 11/4/74

Secretary, C-4 (H-6) Foreign Student Affairs—posted 11/1/74

Secretary, C-5 (H-5) Psychology—posted 11/7/74

Orienteers Win National Meet

A four man team of ROTC students from Western won the first place trophy in the second annual National Upper Peninsula Open Orienteering Meet held recently at Marquette.

Timothy J. Mason of Attica, James L. Fisher, Brown City, Michigan, Steve James, Osceola, and Donald Sturz, Portage, won the top award in the senior novice category. In addition, Sturz and Mason won second and second place honors, respectively, in individual competition. The team is coached by Capt. Robert Woodworth of WMU's military science department.

Orienteering is the rapidly growing outdoor sport in which teams and individuals test their skills with a compass and map through unfamiliar terrain. Awards are given for those who find certain fixed points on the ground in the shortest time.

Western's ROTC orienteering team's next meet is this weekend at St. Bonaventure University, Olean, N.Y.

University Chorale To Perform Nov. 17

The University Chorale will present its premiere concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 17, free to the public in the Laura V. Shaw Theatre.

The Chorale was formed for the purpose of providing a select group of 32 voices of the combined chamber repertoire, and is under the direction of Mel Ivie. All of the students in the Chorale are also members of Western's Grand Chorus which was described as "Magnificent" at Christmas time. The ensemble is touring southern Michigan November 13 through November 18 and has been invited to perform at the Midwest Music Conference in Ann Arbor earlier in the month.

Bach's "Cantata Number 150" will be one of the featured works on the premiere concert. It will involve a chamber orchestra and soprano soloist with the Chorale. Other early composers to be performed include Jacob Handi, Palestrina and Monteverdi.

Chorale accompanist Mike Yachman will perform a movement from Beethoven's, "opus 81a" on the organ, and contemporary compositions including "Hymn to St. Cecilia" by Britten and "Reincarnations" by Barber also will be performed.

Tighten Gary Center Security

Effective Monday, Nov. 16, persons must present valid University identification to enter the Gary Physical Education Center. The hours of I.D. presentation will be maintained from 5 p.m. until building closing; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sunday, 1-5 p.m. Only the northeast and northwest entrances to the building will be available for participants' access to the facility.

This policy is being implemented in an effort to minimize the number of thefts occurring in the Gary Center locker room area.

We regret the inconvenience to University personnel, stated the announcement. We will appreciate your cooperation and understanding in our efforts to better serve the University community.

Presents Metric Report

Dr. John Lindbeck, director of WMU's Center for Metric Education and Studies, presented a report to the Education Sector Committee of the Canadian Metric Commission recently in Montreal. He spoke on the implementation of metric programming, and activities of the various national educational sector committees.

Lindbeck chairs the coordinating committee on education and industrial training for the National Metric Council. One of the aims of the council is to maintain a liaison with metric sector committee activities in Canada.

Addresses Kentucky Conference

Dr. Michael B. Atkins, assistant professor of industrial education, will address the Kentucky Industrial Education Association November 2-3 at Louisville. His illustrated lecture will concern the application and implementation of metric conversion to the instruction practices in technical subjects.