WMU Considering Multi-Million Dollar Fund-Raising Campaign

A feasibility and directional study for the WMU development programs was received by the University's Board of Trustees here Jan. 17.

"The overall objective is a multi-million dollar fund-raising effort to be conducted for a period of approximately 10 years," explained Dr. Myron L. Coulter, WMU vice president for Administration.

The Board authorized the University administration to negotiate positive working agreements with the professional firm of Brakeley, John S. B., Inc., New York. According to the understanding that final agreements will be returned for approval of the trustees at their Feb. 21 meeting.

"For some time, Western Michigan University has been conducting the need to secure additional forms of support to augment our current resources to provide a margin of excellence in a number of our programs," said Coulter. "In order to determine the University's potential for a development program, it was necessary to investigate the potential through a feasibility study. Therefore, the Brakeley firm was retained last summer to assess the University's potential to mount a major development campaign. This study has continued." A detailed report of the feasibility study, the Board of Trustees has decided that the University should undertake a major fund-raising program.

Coulter added that the program will be implemented by the University's Development and Alumni Office. "It is anticipated that the program will get underway this spring, culminating in a capital campaign within the next several years," he concluded.

Sabbatical Leaves Approved for 39 Faculty

Western's Board of Trustees approved sabbatical leaves for 39 faculty members during the 1976-77 academic year, starting July 1.

The leaves, ranging in length from one to nine months, will allow faculty members to pursue scholarly work, teaching, or other academic activities. The leaves are awarded annually to selected faculty members based on their contributions to the university and their potential for further growth.

Among the recipients are professors from various departments, including the departments of English, history, and biology. The leaves will enable them to conduct research, write books, or travel to study abroad.

The concept of sabbatical leaves is designed to enhance the quality of teaching and research at the university by allowing faculty members to focus on scholarly activities without the pressures of teaching and administrative duties.
