Nita Hardie will speak on "Politics and Change Making" at the next public meeting of Western's Commission on the Status of Women at noon Thursday, Feb. 20, in 159 Student Center.

The new telephone number for the College of Applied Sciences' counseling office is 383-0545.

The doctoral examination of Alcid M. Pelletier for the degree of Doctor of Education will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 21, in the counseling conference room, 3109 Sangren Hall. His topic will be: "The Revolving Door Syndrome." All interested persons are invited to attend.

As of Feb. 20, the Computer Center has announced that all users files not accessed since Dec. 20 will be transferred to magnetic tape and purged from the disk system. The access date is updated by reading, updating or running the file.

In order to recover a purged file, a user must request that it be reinstated through the PLEASE command or a written notice to the manager of Computer Center Operations.

Bernhard Says Proposed Budget Is 'Unacceptable'

WMU officials indicated today that they intend "to bend every effort in Lansing" to get a greater increase in their 1975-76 state appropriation than the "unacceptable level" that has been recommended by Gov. William G. Milliken.

President John T. Bernhard noted that the Governor's recommended operating budget of $34,379,000 for Western only provides $1,484,000 or 4.5 per cent in net new money as compared to WMU's 1974-75 state appropriation of $32,895,000.

"Actually, the Governor's recommended budget provides only 3.2 per cent or $1,084,000 in new money for all salary increases, price level increases for equipment and supplies and any programmatic changes since he has specifically earmarked $340,000 for projected cost increases in utilities and $60,000 for implementation of our new College of Health and Human Services," explained Dr. Bernhard.

"Obviously, this is a disappointing and an unacceptable level to maintain the viability of our total program," he said. "We intend to bend every effort in Lansing to get a greater increase."

Bernhard pointed out that the Governor's recommended budget is "only the first step in a very long and involved series of steps in the state appropriations process that typically goes into July." He indicated that the next steps are a series of both legislative and fiscal agency hearings in Lansing, prior to floor action in the legislature and final approval by the Governor.

Appoint Two Trustees

Gov. William G. Milliken Tuesday reappointed one Western Michigan University trustee and named a new one.

Dr. Julius Franks, Jr., 52, a Grand Rapids dentist, was reappointed and J. Michael Kemp, 31, a Kalamazoo attorney, was appointed to the Board. Both appointments are for eight years and both require State Senate confirmation. Kemp replaces Philip N. Watterson of Cascade; he had served on the Board since it was established in 1964 and his current term had expired Dec. 31, 1974. Dr. Franks also is an original WMU trustee.

Kemp received his B.S. degree with honors in history from Michigan State University in 1965 and J.D. degree with honors in 1968 from George Washington University.

He is associated with the Kalamazoo law firm of Howard and Howard and recently was elected Republican county chairman. Kemp and his wife, Connie, have two children: Jeff, 6; and Julie, 3.

Dr. Franks, a former University of Michigan All-American football player, received his bachelor's degree in 1947 and his dentistry degree in 1951 from the U. of M. Originally from Hamtramck, Mich., he moved to Grand Rapids in 1951 when he started his dentistry practice there. He has four children: Cheryl, 20; Robert, 18; Beverly, 16; and Frederick, 15.

Fifth Mediterranean Institute Planned

WMU's fifth Mediterranean World Institute is set for July 22-Aug. 18. A unique traveling seminar, the institute comprises 40 students and faculty who will jet to Europe, and then travel via tour bus to a Mediterranean cruise aboard the S.S. "Achille Lauro," a 24,000-ton liner that will stop at eight Mediterranean ports of call.

Shipboard lectures on Ancient and Medieval/Modern Mediterranean Civilizations, plus excursions to important sites and monuments at each port of call net student participants up to four credit hours in Liberal Arts 504. Instructors are Dr. Paul L. Maier and Dr. H. Nicholas Hamner, both of the department of history. University faculty and staff personnel are welcome to participate.

Total cost for the tour is $1399, plus taxes. Additional information and application forms are available from the Honors College or the department of history offices at WMU.

PLANT TALK—Karen Doyle, a WMU junior in biology from Grosse Pointe, takes advantage of the semi-tropical climate and a special station in Western's greenhouse. She has stopped to chat with a few of her friends. The 70 degree temperature is a pleasant contrast to the chilling cold outside this week.

Plan Special Affirmative Action Series

A program designed to alert WMU staff members to the need to actively work toward the implementation of the University's new Affirmative Action Plan has been scheduled for Feb. 25-26 on campus.

Resource personnel from the Battle Creek Civil Rights office, the Chicago regional office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Women's Bureau in Lansing, and WMU staff will participate in two half-day sessions both Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 25-26, in the East and West Ballrooms of the University Student Center.

In a letter to all University academic and non-academic administrators, WMU President John T. Bernhard noted that attendance is voluntary, but he encouraged "maximum participation."

"Inasmuch as three of the four programs will take place during the work day for approximately three and one-half hours, it will be necessary to release staff without penalty in such a manner as to not disrupt the smooth operation of your department," he said.

To prevent closing of small offices to allow all staff to attend a session, an additional program is scheduled for 7-9 p.m. Feb. 26 in the Student Center.

The affirmative action plan was adopted by the WMU Board of Trustees at the Dec. 17, 1974, meeting.

Western Trustee YFCA President

WMU Trustee Mrs. Mildred Johnson recently was elected the first woman president of the Muskegon YFCA, the 3-year-old merged YMCA and YWCA in that city.

A former member of the Muskegon YWCA board and past president of the state chapter of the American Association of University Women, she will conclude a 2-year term next month as president of the local historical society in Muskegon.

She recently learned of her inclusion in the London publication, "Who's Who in the World of Women." Mrs. Johnson also was cited in the 1966 edition of "Who's Who."

Mrs. Johnson is the immediate past vice president of the WMU Alumni Association.

Hardie Recital Feb. 17

Baritone, Thomas Hardie, will present a free public solo voice recital at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 17 in Oakland Recital Hall. He will be accompanied by pianist Steven Hesla, both are faculty members in the WMU department of music.

Hardie will perform a variety of music literature including Henrich Schuetz's "Cantata for Four Trombones and Piano," and a Ned Rorem song, "Flight For Heaven." He also will do a Handel aria and some French Chansons.

Engineering Open House Wednesday

As a part of National Engineers' Week, Western will hold an open house from 3-9 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 19, in the Engineering and Technology Building.

Highlighting the free public demonstrations and tours will be a 3 p.m. keynote address in room 3034 on "A Breakthrough in Emissions Technology" by Jose F. Regueiro, Muskegon. He is manager for emissions research at Teledyne-Continental Motors.

His talk will deal with a new combustion concept, supported by unique carburation and ignition systems, in Continental Motors' new Red Seal engine. The engine, which will be shown, meets 1975 emission standards without add-on devices.

Other presentations will include "The Engineering of Paper" by Dr. Raymond L. Janes, head of WMU's department of paper science and engineering, at 4:30 p.m. in 1610 McCracken Hall. Tours of the Louis Calder Paper Research and Development Center will be offered. The Fourdrinier paper machine will be in operation throughout the afternoon, actually making paper.

Visitors will have a choice of three presentations at 6 p.m.—"Windmill Power—Facts and Fantasies" by Richard C. Schubert, associate professor of mechanical engineering at WMU, in 2112 Engineering and Technology Building; "Getting Acquainted with Minicomputers" by William McCabe, associate professor of electrical engineering, in room 3056; and "Industrial Engineering Applications in the Health Care Field" by Carl R. Lindenmeyer, assistant professor of industrial engineering, room 3056.

Starting at 7 p.m., the topic "Automotive Emissions—The State of the Art" will be discussed by two members of WMU's transportation technology department, LaVerne Krieger and James VanDePolder. Their presentation will be in 1081 Engineering and Technology Building.

Dr. Franklin K. Wolf, associate professor of industrial engineering at WMU, will give a presentation on "Computer Skills of the Industrial Engineering Graduate" at 7 p.m. in room 2050. At the same time, L. D. Ryan, associate professor of mechanical engineering, will discuss "The Energy Crises and Solar Energy" in room 2112.

The final 7 p.m. lecture-presentation in room 3037 will be given by Gene Kaiser, director of electrical research and development, Consumers Power Co., Jackson. His topic will be "New Sources of Electrical Energy."

Demonstrations of equipment

throughout the afternoon and evening will include measuring the effects of the catalytic converter, designing with the computer, computer applications to industrial engineering and drafting, a PDP 8 minicomputer and numerical control machining.

Black History Week Continues

Black History Week continues here on campus tonight with a special concert at 8 o'clock in Kanley Chapel by the AfroAmerican Chorale, directed by Dr. Romeo E. Phillips of Kalamazoo College. Admission is free and the public is invited.

There will be a film festival from 7-9 p.m. Friday in 3770 Knauss Hall. Again, the public is invited at no charge.

A panel will present research papers dealing with black music at 2 p.m. Sunday in Kalamazoo's North Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Alvin Poussaint, M.D., associate dean of students at Harvard University's Medical School, will speak Wednesday, Feb. 19, at the concluding program.

Nationally recognized for his expertise in race relations, he will give a free public talk at 8 p.m. in 3750 Knauss Hall on "Children of Crisis: The Effect of Racism on Personality Development, Minority and Majority Groups." He also is national treasurer of the Medical Committee for Human Rights.

His visit is co-sponsored by the WMU School of Social Work and Black Americana Studies.

That afternoon, Poussaint will meet with Black Americana Studies personnel and talk on "The Role of the Black Psychiatrist and the Black Psychologist," and with the School of Social Work to talk on "Separatism and Beyond."

Women's Scholarship Deadline March 1

The League of Women Voters of Kalamazoo has announced a March 1 deadline for applications by WMU women students for the annual Arden J. Elsasser Memorial Scholarship.

Valued at $150, the award is open to both undergraduates and graduates who are majoring in political science, have a grade average of "B" overall, and are at least second semester juniors.

Applications should be sent to the chairman of the WMU political science department. The winner will be announced about April 1.

Two Faculty, Two Emeriti in Hospital

Two faculty members, Dr. Richard T. Burke and Dr. John J. Josten, who were seriously injured in separate December automobile accidents, recently were transferred to Mary Free Bed Hospital, 920 Cherry, S.E., in Grand Rapids. Burke is in Room 326 and Josten is in Room 303.

Two emeriti faculty members are ill and in Kalamazoo's two local hospitals. They are: Dr. William R. Brown, emeritus professor of English, Borgess Hospital; and Miss LaVerne Argabright, emerita associate professor of biology, Bronson Hospital.

Schmaltz, Straw Get Top Posts

Two WMU faculty members have been elected to the top two leadership positions in the north central section of the Geological Society of America (GSA).

Dr. Lloyd J. Schmaltz, professor and chairman of the geology department, and Dr. W. Thomas Straw, associate professor of geology, were elected chairman and vice chairman, respectively, in a recent mail vote of the approximately 1,000 members in 10 states, plus Ontario, Canada. Their 1-year terms in office will begin in mid May. Both men are GSA fellows.

The Society membership includes professional geologists, including educators, researchers and personnel in the applied areas of geosciences. The 10 states in the north central section are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Schmaltz is completing a 3-year term on the GSA north central section's management board, but will now continue to serve on that council as an ex officio member. He is the immediate past president of the east central section of the National Association of Geology Teachers. Straw currently is president of the Michigan Basin Geological Society, an affiliated society of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Expand AV Center Campus Facilities

The Audiovisual Center has expanded its services and facilities for students and faculty, according to James Robinson, Center manager.

The A-V Equipment Room on the ground floor of Waldo Library has been moved to and consolidated with the facilities at 2420 Dunbar Hall. The change will permit use of the room four nights a week with new hours from 7:45 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 7:45 a.m.-4:45 p.m. Fridays.

The office in Dunbar Hall will be supervised by Martha Krause, head of A-V equipment services. All A-V equipment which is loaned out for a week or less will be handled through her office.

Long-term distribution and maintenance of equipment will continue at the A-V office in Waldo Library under the supervision of James Buchanan. Other services, including the University's film booking office, film library, preview facilities and projectionist services, will remain in the Waldo Library office. The telephone number for the new equipment room is 383-8005.

House Gallery Art Shows Opens Saturday

The first art show of winter semester at The House Gallery, the WMU student-operated gallery at 840 Steers St., is scheduled to open with a public reception from 6-9 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15.

The show consists of paintings by WMU students Mrs. Susan Small, Michel Mitch and Dennis O'Boyle. It will run through Feb. 26. Gallery hours are from 12-4 p.m. Monday-Friday. The Gallery has been in operation for two years, presenting the works of graduating seniors and other art majors.

Asian Studies Forum Today

An Asian Studies Forum will be held at 3:30 this afternoon at the Honors College lounge in Hillside Apartments. Three WMU students—all former Peace Corps volunteers—will provide "Peace Corps Perspectives on Asia."

Speakers and their topics are: Chris Busick, Nepal; John Gula, India; and Carl Hirth, Thailand.

The Western News

The Western News is published by the Office of University Information each Thursday when classes are in session during fall and winter semesters.

Created to disseminate news to the entire University community, distribution is by mail to faculty, staff and emeriti, and students may pick up copies at several on-campus locations. Items should be submitted by noon Monday for publication.

University Information office hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday. Telephone: 383-0981. Martin R. (Joe) Gagie, Director; Patricia M. Coyle, Associate Director.

Annual Dance Department Concert Features Three Miller Performances February 21-22

Western's department of dance will present its annual concert Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21-22, in Miller Auditorium.

Dance selections include jazz, contemporary and "avant-nue" works, choreographed by students and faculty. All dancers are members of the University Dancers and tour company and will perform at 8 o'clock both nights, with a special matinee at 2 p.m. Saturday.

All student's works selected for this year's program were auditioned last semester in the dance department's "Studio Evening," a time set for faculty and students to preview work in progress.

Winners include: Pam Vogel of Dearborn; Frank Folino of New Buffalo; and Patti Keller of Grand Rapids. They also had their dances chosen for performance at last year's dance concert. Other student winners include: Kathryn Geib, Tom Gooperman, Diane Reynhout, Jill Halperin, Karin Engstrom and Karen Smith.

Faculty selections will feature Loretta McCray's work "Opus 40" and Clara Gamble's "Solo Flight No. 1, Through a Silver Chime" and a second work, "Evove," which was previewed last fall at the College of Fine Arts convocation. A variety of musical accompaniments also will be used including live music from WMU's musical group, The Brass Offering, and tape selections, including classical and environmental pieces.

Children's Theatre Here Feb. 21-22

Public performances of the WMU Children's Experimental Theatre (CET) production of "I Touch You; You're Touched" will be presented at 4 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, and at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, in the Arena of Shaw Theatre.

As has been the case in previous CET productions, the audience will be seated on the floor and will participate in the show. General admission tickets are 50 cents and are on sale at the Shaw Theatre box office; call 383-1760 for reservations.

TOP LAWMAN—Sgt. David Kakkuri of WMU's department of public safety was cited this week as the winner of the Kalamazoo Exchange Club's annual "Lawman of the Year" award. He was recognized for his quick actions at a bicycle-car accident on campus last Oct. 24; Kakkuri and a University maintenance department groundskeeper, Basil Cooley, applied pressure to a deep cut on the student bicyclist to stop extremely severe bleeding until and after the ambulance arrived. He also was cited for his "outstanding devotion to the performance of his duties and the supervision and leadership of personnel assigned to work under his direction."

Faculty / Student Luncheons Continue

The faculty-student dialogue luncheon which meets each Wednesday noon at the Wesley Foundation on the WMU campus will consider "The Foreign Student Program at WMU" on February 19. Lon Gerould, director of the Foreign Student Affairs office, will present the opening statement.

"Foreign Study and the WMU Student" will be the topic of the February 26 program, presented by Vicki Grove, coordinator of Foreign Student Services at Western.

Local 1668 Elects 5 New Officers

Western's Local 1668 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees have elected new officers.

They are: James Jarmer, president; Anthony Van Staverson, vice president; Judith Dukes, secretary; Vera Goodeve, treasurer; and Jack Roach, chief steward.

Local 1668 is the University's bargaining unit comprised of approximately 515 food service, custodial, grounds and skilled trades employees.

Display Japanese Prints in Knauss

A collection of Japanese prints, on loan from the Johnson Humrickhouse Memorial Museum, Coshockton, Ohio, is currently displayed here in Space Gallery, 2700 Knauss Hall, now through Feb. 27.

The gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. It is presented by the WMU College of General Studies, Humanities Area.

Chorale, Wind Ensemble Plan Joint Concert

The department of music will present a special combined concert by the University Chorale and the University Wind Ensemble at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, in Miller Auditorium. These two ensembles are under the direction of Mel Ivey and Carl Bjerregaard, respectively.

This combined concert provides a unique opportunity for performance of major works which require both voices and winds. Three of these compositions have been programmed, including "El Sol" by Carlos Chavez. The "Symphony of Psalms" by Igor Stravinsky and the "Apotheosis" from the "Funeral and Triumphal Symphony" by Hector Berlioz will be performed. The University Chorale also will perform "Lark" by Aaron Copland, and the University Wind Ensemble will play "Adagio" by Joaquin Rodrigo.

This same concert will be presented in Muskegon on February 19 and in Grand Rapids on February 22. These concerts represent the first time in the University's history that a band and choir have toured jointly.

Latin American Lectures Begin

Dr. Dale Harpstead, chairman, department of crop and soil sciences, Michigan State University, will give the first in a series of lectures on Latin America today here at Western.

He will speak at 11 a.m. in 370 Wood Hall on "The Relationship Between Nutrition and Population to Varying Agricultural Systems." His topic at 7:30 p.m. in 3760 Knauss Hall will be "How Can an Adequate Nutrition Be Attained in a Subsistence Society?"

Harpstead's free public lectures are sponsored by the Latin American Studies Program of WMU's Institute of International and Area Studies. Other speakers are scheduled for Feb. 20 and Feb. 26.

Honors College Plans Tobogganing Party

A tobogganing party at Maple Glen City Park, sponsored by the Honors College, will take place from 1-5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22.

A two dollar fee covers tobogganing, dinner, refreshments and transportation from the Honors College.

Besides tobogganing, facilities for ice skating and cross country skiing also are available. Interested persons should bring their own equipment.

Anyone interested should sign up and pay at the Honors College by Monday, Feb. 17.

Western Debaters 2-4 at Kent State

Western's debate team had two wins and four losses in the annual Kent State University debate tournament this past weekend at Kent, Ohio. Team members were Mary Ashman of Grand Rapids and Rosemary Walker of Kalamazoo, both freshmen.

They debated the topic "Resolved: that the power of the presidency should be significantly curtailed." The debate team is supervised by Dr. Chester Hunt, professor of sociology, and coached by James Markan, graduate assistant in general studies.

African Archeology Series Wednesday

One of the foremost experts on African archeology, Prof. Thurstan Shaw of Cambridge University, England, will visit here Wednesday, Feb. 19, for a series of discussions and a free public lecture.

He will speak on "Africa—Why Was It Called Backward?" at 7:30 p.m. in 3770 Knauss Hall. During the day, Shaw will confer with faculty and students about his years of field experience and published works. His visit to WMU is sponsored by the department of history.

Anthropology Sets Two Tuesday Talks

Dr. Tom King, a leading authority on legislation to protect prehistoric and historic cultural resources, will be presenting two lectures here on campus Tuesday, Feb. 18.

At 1 p.m. in Room 116 Moore Hall, he will speak to the anthropology department's Cultural Resource Management class on the topic of archeological legislation. King also will give a more general lecture on "Public Archeology" at 8 p.m. in 116 Moore Hall. Public attendance is welcome at both lectures.

Math Colloquium Wed.

Dr. Jan Kmenta, a member of the economics department faculty at the University of Michigan, will conduct a public mathematics colloquium here Wednesday, Feb. 19.

He will speak at 4 p.m. in the Math Commons Room, 6th floor, Everett Tower, on "The Nature of Statistical Models of Economic Behavior." Refreshments will be served at 3:30 p.m.

Track Meet Here Tonight

One of the toughest weeks of the indoor season faces Western Michigan's varsity men's track team as it hosts Northern Illinois here tonight before heading to Cleveland, O., and the site of the 35th annual Knights of Columbus meet on Saturday.

The Broncos will put their 46 consecutive meet unbeaten streak on the line against NIU, with competition scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. in Read Fieldhouse.

Coach Jack Shaw's thinclads are coming off a strong performance at the Michigan State Relays last weekend, which saw the distance medley relay team of Steve Brown, Bob Cornwell, Bob Norman and Dan Landman qualify for the NCAA championships with a clocking of 9:53.3.

First-year performers Curtis Long and Darrell Williams both turned in outstanding efforts in the 25-team affair, and Shaw was full of praise for the whole Bronco contingent. "I was very pleased with our team performance, it was the best we've run in my five years here."

Long posted a 60-yard dash time of :06.1 to also qualify for the nationals, and in doing so, tied the all-time school record held by former Olympic relay gold medal winner Ira Murchinson. Williams, a native of Grand Rapids, leaped 6-11 to break the school record of 6-9 1/4 in the high jump, and is just an inch away from NCAA qualification.

Cagers Journey To Ohio Sat.

Western's varsity men's basketball squad found itself one-game removed from the Mid-American Conference lead with a full week of practice to get ready for Saturday's game at Ohio University.

After weekend activity, Miami climbed to the top spot with a 6-3 record and is followed by Bowling Green, 6-4; Central Michigan, 4-3, with both WMU and Toledo at 5-4. A narrow 62-60 setback at Eastern Michigan cost the Broncos a share of the league lead.

Overall, the Broncos stand 12-8 and can match last year's entire victory count with a win Saturday. Earlier in the season, WMU stopped Ohio, 71-66, in Read Fieldhouse and the Bobcats are presently 9-9 overall and 4-5 in the MAC. Ohio sustained an 82-74 setback against Toledo Saturday, their first home loss after six victories.

Hockey Broncos Skate at Chicago

Western's ice hockey Broncos journey to Chicago Saturday to skate against the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

Coach Bill Neal's squad went into last night's game with St. Clair, Ont., with a 17-3 mark after last Saturday night's sudden death overtime 3-2 victory over favored Bowling Green on Ohio ice.

St. Clair is one of only two teams to defeat WMU this season; that was by a 6-2 count in Canada on Thanksgiving eve. Results of last night's game were not known at press time.

Swimmers Host Central Michigan

WMU's varsity men's swimming team hosts Central Michigan at 1 p.m. Saturday here in Gabel Auditorium at the Student Recreation Building.

They went into last night's meet at Notre Dame with a 7-4 record. Results of the meet at South Bend were not known at press time.

Reading Hour This Afternoon

WMU students who participated in the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League's recent Oral Interpretation Festival at Hope College will perform at the coffee reading hour at 4 o'clock this afternoon in 1114 Brown Hall.

Refreshments will be served at 3:30 p.m. The reading hour, presented by the department of communication arts and sciences, is open to all interested persons.

To Lecture on Fiction

Dr. Stephanie Demetrakopoulos, assistant professor of English, will conduct a free public colloquium on "Views of Older Women in 20th Century Fiction" at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 19, in the 10th floor lounge of Sprau Tower.

To Seek Division I Hockey Status

Western will make formal application for membership in Division I of the Central Collegiate Hockey Association for 1975-76 competition.

Athletic Director Dr. Joseph T. Hoy has announced that this action recently was approved by the University's Athletic Board of Control.

The Bronco squad, which currently owns a 17-3 record, recently won a second straight Division II championship, compiling a perfect 8-0 record and outscoring Lake Forest and Buffalo, 76-26. Present Division I members are St. Louis University, Bowling Green and Lake Superior and these three clubs along with WMU will compete in post-season tournament play at the St. Louis Arena in early March. Ohio State University also is a likely candidate to join Division I ranks next winter.

Solo Recital Friday

The department of music will present soprano Joyce Zastrow in a solo faculty recital free to the public at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 14, in Oakland Recital Hall. She will be accompanied by pianist Mary Jane Rupert.

Western Coed Defends Crown

Western's defending women's national table tennis champion, Janice Martin, successfully defended the regional portion of her title by winning in regional competition at Central Michigan University last week.

She now moves on to the national competition portion which is slated for April 24-26 at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

Meanwhile in regional bowling competition, the Bronettes bowling team placed second to Central Michigan. CMU will now represent this region in the national competition.

Women Cagers Home Friday

Western's varsity women's basketball team entertains Marshall University at 7 p.m. Friday here in Read Fieldhouse. The junior varsity will be idle that night.

However, both squads will play here Saturday in Oakland Gym. The jayvees will take the court at 10 a.m. and the varsity will play at noon. Their Saturday opponent will be Aquinas College.

Women Gymnasts Beat Eastern Ill.

The WMU women's gymnastics team finally copped their first victory of the season Saturday, defeating Eastern Illinois, 62.90 to 54.0. Valparaiso University dropped Western by a score of 68.90 to 62.90.

Western Wrestlers At Wayne State

Snapping a two-meet losing string will be Western Michigan's wrestling objective on Friday evening in Detroit against Wayne State University.

In each of WMU's last two outings, a 22-17 setback against Miami and a 18-17 loss to Notre Dame, the outcome wasn't decided until the final match.

Coach George Hobbs' team currently stands 4-6 and has one meet left at Eastern Michigan after the upcoming activity.

Publish Book On Local Program

As the result of a Latin American Conference held March 29-30, 1973, here at Western, the WMU Institute of International and Area Studies has published the book "Chile and Peru: Two Paths to Social Justice."

Edited by Dr. Leila Bradfield, chairperson of Latin American Studies at WMU, the 154-page paperback is now on sale for $2.85. The book's title, the same as the theme of the conference, was chosen because of the intense interest in two unusual governmental experiments taking place in the countries.

Band Concert Sunday

The University Symphonic Band will present its winter concert free to the public at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 16, in Miller Auditorium.

The ensemble is directed by Carl Bjerregaard.
