

Campus Briefs

An open forum on WMU's parking regulations and policies will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26, in 2750 Knauss Hall, sponsored by the Student Forum of the course Communication Arts and Sciences 236.

* * *

Faculty and staff members are urged to comply with recent requests to up-date their employee record information file; the next call could be an emergency and current information is needed to speed up the location process. Changes should be reported as soon as they occur to Fred Hunt, Jr., 1333 Administration Building.

Concert of Dance Friday, Saturday

Western's department of dance will present its annual Concert of Dance on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 22, in Miller Auditorium.

There will be three performances—one at 8 p.m. Friday and two on Saturday at 2 and 8 p.m. General admission tickets are $2; they may be purchased from the Miller Auditorium ticket office. Reservations can be made by phoning 383-0933.

Set Skating Party

The WMU Alumni Association has scheduled a skating party for Kalamazoo area alumni, their families and friends from 4-5:45 p.m. Sunday, March 2, in the University's Lawson Ice Arena.

Debate Mark 2-6

Western's debate team had two wins and six losses in the annual DePauw University Debate Tournament this past weekend at Greencastle, Ind.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE—The eighth presentation of Children's Experimental Theatre, "I Touch You—You're Touched," will be presented at 4 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, and at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, in the Laura V. Shaw Arena Theatre. Performers in the production are: Jim Kienitz, Jill Van Lanningham, Tim Stanton, Mark Wisniewski, Robin Nott, Beth Johnson, Steve Gelenger and Diane Reed.

Trustees Meet Here Friday

A review of residence hall residency requirements and the 1974 Annual Fund report are on the agenda for the monthly meeting of the WMU Board of Trustees to be held at 1:45 p.m. Friday (Feb. 21) here in the University Student Center.

A campus utilities conservation report, personnel appointments, land acquisition and the naming of some campus streets also are on the agenda.

It will mark the first meeting for Western's new trustee, J. Michael Kemp, a Kalamazoo attorney, who was appointed last week by Gov. William G. Milliken.

Offer Part-Time Students Assistance

Persons who would like to attend Western part-time and need financial assistance should check out WMU's new Incentive Grants Program for undergraduates.

Begun last July with $6,000 funding, only $400 has been used so far under this program, according to Janie P. Brooks, admissions counselor. It is designed to aid Kalamazoo area residents who have never been enrolled or not recently enrolled at Western and who desire to begin or resume part-time course work.

Additional information about this grant program should phone WMU's undergraduate admissions office, 383-1950, to make an appointment with an admissions counselor.

Inauguration Set for Spring Commencement

Dr. John T. Bernhard will be inaugurated as the fifth president of Western Michigan University at the annual spring commencement here April 26 on campus.

The ceremony will be kept simple, at the request of Bernhard, because of the state of the economy, said Dr. Russell H. Seibert, emeritus vice president for academic affairs and professor of history, who is chairman of the inaugural committee appointed by the WMU Board of Trustees.

No honorary degrees will be awarded at the April commencement because it would detract from the importance of the inauguration itself and make the total commencement ceremony too long, explained Seibert.

Other members of the inaugural committee are: Dr. Myron L. Coulter, vice president for administration; Dr. Julius Franks, Jr., Grand Rapids, trustee; Marlon Gerould, president, Administrative/Professional Association and director of foreign student affairs; Dr. Laurel Grotzinger, president of Faculty Senate and professor of librarianship; Mrs. Mildred L. Johnson, Muskegon, trustee; Ms. Judy Layne, Associated Student Government vice president for academic affairs; and Dr. John E. Sandberg, dean, College of Education.

Chem. Lecture Monday

Dr. Vincent Massey, professor of biological chemistry at the University of Michigan School of Medicine, will conduct a chemistry colloquium at 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 24, here in 5280 McCracken Hall. He will discuss "Mechanism of Flavoprotein-Catalyzed Hydroxylation Reactions" during the free public lecture.

Collective Bargaining Vote Next Week

Western's teaching faculty will vote Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 26-27, to determine whether they want to be represented by the WMU chapter of the American Association of University Professors as their exclusive representative for the purposes of collective bargaining.

Voting will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days in 2305 Sangren Hall. The election will be conducted by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC).

There are 848 faculty members who are eligible to vote, according to the MERC order describing the proposed unit.

Requests for absentee ballots will be ruled on individually by MERC. Those requests should be sent directly to MERC by letter or telegram stating the reasons for the absence from campus. Faculty should contact either Ernest Frey, Ted Kieffer or Robert Whittaker at MERC, 14th Floor, State of Michigan Plaza Building, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

All mailed ballots, in order to be counted, must be received by MERC by the close of business Tuesday, Feb. 25. Arrangements already have been made for absentee ballots to be sent to faculty on sabbatical leaves or approved leaves of absence for this winter semester.

As defined by MERC, those eligible to vote are: all regular full-time and part-time WMU teaching faculty, including rank faculty in

Set Guest Lecture

Dr. Gary Elfring, bio-statistician for the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, will speak at the math colloquium at 4 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27, in the Math Commons Room, Everett Tower. His topic will be "Group Sequential Procedures."

Red Cross Cites Western

The recent on-campus blood drive, sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, netted a total of 910 pints of blood, according to Mrs. Marion Hagman, blood program director of the Kalamazoo County chapter of the American Red Cross.

In a letter to Dr. Stephen R. Mitchell, vice president for academic affairs, Mrs. Hagman noted that approximately one-fourth of all blood donated in Kalamazoo County each year comes from the University community through three blood drives held on campus.

Mitchell kicked off the February drive by donating the first pint of blood.

Appointed National Orientation Officer

Norman Russell, assistant to the vice president for student services and director of orientation programs at Western Michigan University, has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the National Orientation Directors Association (NODA).

Russell has served on the national steering committee of NODA for the past three years. As secretary-treasurer of the 28-year-old, 500-member organization, he will be responsible for the routine on-going activities of the nationwide organization.

Schedule Summer Seminar in France

Based on the theory that the best way to learn the French language is by going to France, Western's department of modern and classical languages is now accepting applications for its Seminar in France—1975.

The 8-week course will be offered June 26 to Aug. 19 for interested graduate and undergraduate students. The travel-and-study program calls for the first four weeks in class at the University of Grenoble. The remaining time is divided between a class visit to Paris and free time in which students may travel where they choose.

The fee for the program is $930, which includes the round trip flight from Chicago, tuition at the University of Grenoble, and room and board, with the exception of the free time period. The deadline for applications is Feb. 28, according to seminar director Lindsey White, assistant professor of French. Additional information is available by calling him at 383-4047.

Archaeology Lecture Tuesday

Cal Cummings, chief of the Division of Archaeology, Southwest Region, National Park Service, will speak on "Governmental Agencies and Archaeological Resource Management" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25, here in 116 Moore Hall, as part of the anthropology department's bi-weekly colloquium series.

Elect 24 Faculty Senators

Seventeen faculty members have been elected and seven more have been re-elected to the WMU Faculty Senate.

Their terms will expire in the spring of 1978. The results of a special election in the department of music for a replacement for Dr. Robert R. Fink, professor and chairman, will not be known until later this month, according to Dr. Henry A. Raup, professor of geography and chairman of the elections committee.

New senators are: Dr. John Sheppard, associate professor of accountancy; Dr. Joseph M. Kana-mueller, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. Louise Forsleff, professor, Counseling Center; Dr. Gilbert T. Mazer, associate professor of counseling and personnel; Vera J. Russell, assistant professor of directed teaching;

Dr. William W. Combs, professor of English; Dr. Edward L. Galligan, professor of English; Dr. Adrian C. Edwards, professor of general business (finance and law); Dr. Walter J. Brunhumer, professor of history; Dr. Howard R. Poole, Jr., associate professor of instructional communications; Beatrice Beech, assistant professor, Library;

Plan Two Middle East Programs

Dr. John Kolars, professor of geography at the University of Michigan, will present two lectures about the Middle East when he visits the WMU campus Wednesday, Feb. 26.

He will speak on "Defining Minorities in Greece and Turkey" at 11:30 a.m. in 159 University Student Center. Later, in 311 Wood Hall at 3 p.m., Kolars will discuss "Nomadism in the Middle East." Both free public lectures are sponsored by WMU's Institute of International and Area Studies and the geography department's Middle East Visiting Scholars Program.

Wins Pugno Scholarship

A WMU junior from Farmington, Mich., Beth Reigner, has received the Pugno Scholarship for the 1974-75 school year. The award, presented by WMU's College of Business to an outstanding student in the business curriculum, provides for Miss Reigner's tuition. She is majoring in secretarial administration.

Offer Oceanography Summer Assistance

There are $300 grants available for WMU students who are interested in a field course in oceanography Aug. 10-29 in Pigeon Key, Fla., sponsored by Central States Universities, Inc. (CSUI).

The course will emphasize field investigation of various biologic and geologic aspects of the shallow-water marine environment, said Dr. George G. Mallinson, WMU professor of science education and dean of the Graduate College, who is Western's CSUI institutional representative.

Pigeon Key is the University of Miami field station in the Florida Keys, located about 100 miles south of Miami and 50 miles from Key West. The town of Marathon is only one mile away.

Enrollment in this five quarter hour credit course is through Bowling Green University's Geology 496 "Field Course in Modern Marine Environments." The $385 tuition fee includes dormitory housing. Applications must be submitted no later than April 1.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mallinson in Western's Administration Building, Room 2310.

Conduct Academic Services Workshop

A day-long workshop for the Academic Services staff of Western was held on campus Wednesday, Feb. 19, to "help develop a better understanding of the role each plays in supporting the programs of the University."

In focusing on the role of Academic Services, participants explored the concept of open education and its implications in higher education.

Workshop participants included staff members from the Computer Center, the University libraries, Archives and the Division of Instructional Communications.

Release Results of Advisory Surveys

Two separate surveys on summer hours have been conducted among Western's clerical/technical (C/T) employees and the University's supervisory and administrative staff members.

Both groups favor summer hours, reported Stanley W. Kelley, director of employee relations and personnel, who noted that both surveys were strictly advisory.

WMU adopted "summer hours" of 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a half hour for lunch for both spring and summer sessions last year on an experimental basis only. Previously, Western observed summer hours of 7:30-4:15, with a 45-minute lunch break, for only the summer session.

According to the C/T Employee Relations Advisory Committee's survey, 290 responded affirmative to the question, "Did you like our summer hours?" Thirty-five said no; nine were indifferent; and seven did not respond.

Asked if they would like "summer hours" again this year, the C/T group replied, 167 for all year round and 119 for spring and summer. The 7:30-4 work day, with a 30-minute lunch hour, was the most popular for the academic year, 141, and for spring and summer, 246. Preferred starting time for the lunch hour was noon, 195, and 11:30 a.m., 145.

Eighty of 106 supervisory and administrative staff favor summer hours and 83 of 104 feel it is good for the University and good for employee morale, according to the survey conducted by the Personnel Office.

A slim majority of administrators and supervisory personnel does not feel the current schedule should be changed for the academic year. Only 13 of 106 voted against summer hours for 1975. The question of summer hours for both spring and summer terms is favored for both terms or all year by about 2-1 over summer only or not at all.

Approximately three-fourths of the supervisory and administrative staff feel that employees do not abuse the short lunch hour. Most of the general comments were concerned that non-traditional hours can confuse students and the public and that care should be taken to provide more service to students and the public.

C/T comments included requests for uniform hours throughout the campus; a 4-day, 10-hours per day schedule; staggered working hours to help traffic congestion, energy conservation and ecology; establishment of a standard working hours policy at least a semester in advance; departments should be open during lunch and evenings; and set working hours without yearly reviews.

The Western News

The Western News is published by the Office of University Information each Thursday when classes are in session during fall and winter semesters.

Created to disseminate news to the entire University community, distribution is by mail to faculty, staff and emeriti, and students may pick up copies at several on-campus locations. Items should be submitted by noon Monday for publication.

University information office hours:
8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday.
Telephone: 383-0581.

Pianist Lorin Hollander Coming To Miller Auditorium Feb. 27

The final regularly scheduled program of the International Concerts 74-75 season will take place in Miller Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27, when the College of Fine Arts presents American pianist Lorin Hollander.

Only 30 years old, Hollander has played with more than 50 American symphony orchestras and has appeared more on television than any other classical performer. In addition to this concert performance, Hollander will participate in a two-day residency program sponsored by the department of music.

Inheriting his musical ability from his father, a former first violinist with Toscanini and the NBC symphony, Hollander began his study of the piano at age four and in 1955 at age 11 enrolled at the Juilliard School of Music, New York City. That same year, he made his debut at Carnegie Hall with the National Orchestral Association.

Concert program selections will include Aaron Copland's "Piano Variations," the Beethoven "Sonata in E Minor, op. 90," Bach's "Chaconne," Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin" and the Prokofiev "Sonata No. 7."

Physics Professor Bradley Dies

Funeral services were held yesterday for Dr. George E. Bradley, 50, WMU professor of physics, who died Saturday afternoon.

Former head and chairman of the physics department, he was very active in efforts to bridge the gap between science and religion. He was a member of the science and theology discussion group, sponsored by the Danforth Foundation, and also was a Kent Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education.

He received his A.B. degree in 1945 from Miami University of Ohio, and M.S. in 1947 and Ph.D. in 1952 from the University of Michigan. He was a National Science Foundation Fellow at Harvard University, 1959-60, and was president of the Michigan Physics Teachers, 1964-65. His specialty was nuclear physics. He came to WMU in 1951.

Bradley is survived by his wife, Jean, and son, John. A memorial fund has been established at the First Congregational Church.

Latin American Series Continues

Dr. Andrew Whiteford, nationally-known anthropologist and author, will present two free public lectures on Latin America here today.

At 2 p.m., he will discuss "Problems of Development in Latin America" in 4540 Dunbar Hall. A slide-illustrated lecture on "Research in a Traditional City in Columbia" is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Honors College Lounge, Hillside Apartments.

Throughout his career, Whiteford has travelled in Mexico and Columbia, conducting research in urban anthropology. His findings have been published in his book "Two Cities of Latin America," a comparative description of social classes in two selected communities in the countries. Although now retired, he is currently teaching anthropology at Michigan State University in place of his son who was Available tickets are priced at $3.00, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 at the Auditorium ticket office.

Principal-Frosh Conference Thurs.

Approximately 200 high school administrators and teachers from throughout Michigan will take part in the 35th annual Principal-Freshman Conference here Thursday, Feb. 27.

The one-day session will give WMU freshmen an opportunity to confer with former principals and teachers to discuss ways in which high school personnel can be of greater assistance to future first year students. The conference also will aid University officials in designing new programs which will help freshmen adapt to college life.

Conference headquarters will be located in the second floor lobby of the University Student Center, but the principal-freshman meetings will take place in classrooms and meeting rooms throughout the campus.

Wind Ensemble, Chorale To Perform

A special combined concert by the University Chorale and the University Wind Ensemble will be presented free to the public at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, in Miller Auditorium.

These two ensembles are under the direction of Mel Ivey and Carl Bjerregaard, respectively. This combined concert provides a unique opportunity for performance of major works which require both voices and winds.

Three of these compositions that have been programmed include "El Sol" by Chavez, "The Symphony of Psalms" by Stravinsky and the "Apotheosis" from the "Funeral and Triumphal Symphony" by Berlioz.

Display Student Art on Campus

The exhibition, "11 Printmakers," which continues through Feb. 28 in Western's Gallery II in Sangren Hall, includes the recent works of 11 WMU graduate and undergraduate art students.

recently injured in an automobile accident.

The next lecture in the Latin American studies program will be given Feb. 26 by Dr. Leslie Rout, associate professor of history, Michigan State University, at 7:30 p.m. in 3760 Knauss Hall. His presentation, "Race Relations in Brazil Since Emancipation," will be slide-illustrated.

Rout served as visiting professor at both Harvard and Northwestern Universities and recently received the University Teacher-Scholar Award from MSU. He participated in the "Black Man in the Americas" television series for which he won the State of Michigan Creativity Award in 1970.

Rout's visit to WMU is co-sponsored by Western's Latin American Studies and Black Americana Studies programs.

V. Lynn Wilson

Win Whitney Young Awards

Two WMU students are recipients of the fourth annual Whitney Young Scholar Awards presented by the WMU School of Social Work and Office of Minority Student Services.

V. Lynn Wilson, a Detroit senior in sociology, received the undergraduate award for writing an essay on "The Implications of Trans-racial Adoption."

John Davis of Pahokee, Fla., a graduate student in social work, received a graduate award for his essay, "Proposal to Implement a Voter Registration Program for Pahokee, Fla."

The awards are the culmination of a competitive proposal essay writing contest for WMU social work students. Each winner will receive $200. Davis also will be awarded $500 to implement his essay proposal in Pahokee this summer.

The recipients of the Whitney Young Scholars Awards are selected on the basis of the essay, plus potential for leadership in social work and social welfare. The awards are named for Whitney Young, the late executive director of the National Urban League, who drowned in Africa in early 1971.

Show Watergate Political Cartoons

Dr. David F. Sadler, professor of English, will present a slide show, "Wallowing in Watergate," at a noon-time program on Wednesday, Feb. 26, in 3324 Brown Hall.

He has collected a large number of political cartoons that depict the events surrounding Watergate. His slides will present the evolution of the Watergate controversy as seen by a number of political cartoonists.

Sadler's interest in political cartoons goes back a number of years. His Ph.D. dissertation, a study of the popular image of Theodore Roosevelt, included some work with political cartoons. A former chairman of the English department, Sadler has been at Western Michigan since 1955.

The noon-time program is sponsored by the English department's committee on instructional development. All students and faculty are invited to bring a sack lunch and participate in an informal discussion. Coffee will be provided.

Job Openings

Below is a listing of the position openings currently being posted by the University Personnel Department, for current University employees.

Regular full-time and regular part-time employees interested in applying for these positions should submit a Job Opportunity Program application form to the Personnel Department during the posting period.

Set Foreign Language Placement Evaluation

Western's department of modern and classical languages has announced dates for the foreign language placement evaluation for spring session and advanced registration for fall semester 1975.

The evaluation will be given at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25; Wednesday, March 12; and Thursday, March 13, in 1117 Brown Hall.

The evaluation is conducted for students who have studied a foreign language in high school and wish to continue studying the same language at Western. These students must have their language skills evaluated if they have not previously done so, according to Peter W. Krawutschke, assistant professor of German and placement director of the department. The evaluation may be completed in about one hour.

WMU Journeys To Kent State

Western's varsity men's basketball team travels to Kent State Saturday for another important Mid-American Conference game.

Coach Eldon Miller's Broncos are in the thick of the tightest league basketball race ever. They hosted Bowling Green last night; results of that game were not known at press time.

WMU snapped its road jinx last Saturday in a 7-state regionally televised game at Ohio University, 76-72. The Broncos hadn't won in the MAC on the road since 1972.

Hockey Broncos At Lake Superior

Lake Superior was the last team to inflict a defeat on Western Michigan's ice hockey team which presently owns a 19-3 record. The Broncos will be in Sault Ste. Marie this Friday and Saturday evening for the third and fourth games of this series.

The matches here saw the visiting Lakers post wins by counts of 7-2 and 5-2, picking up three short-handed goals in the process. Since that time, WMU has racked up seven straight wins including a 11-1 home decision from St. Clair College last week and a 14-3 victory at Illinois (Chicago Circle).

Lake Superior owns a 14-13-1 record and tied Bowling Green, 7-7, and then earned a 6-5 win over the same team last weekend.

Wrestlers Hope To Even Mark

The WMU wrestling team ended a short two match losing streak in a big way Friday by defeating Wayne State University, 36-13.

The Broncos, now 5-6, will host Mid-American Conference foe Eastern Michigan at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Gary Center to finish the dual meet season.

Against Wayne State, WMU took seven of ten matches, including three pins. Recording pins were Warren Watson at 142, Gary Martin at 150, and Bill Cox at 190. Cox's win left him with a 12-1 record, including nine pins. Other winners for the Broncos were 118-pounder Joe Perrone, Bob Read, 134; Mark Sands at 167, and heavyweight Mike Keen.

Swimmers Close At Home Saturday

Last year's Mid-American Conference runner-up Miami University will be Western Michigan's final 1975 dual meet opponent at 1 p.m. Saturday in Gabel Natatorium.

Last weekend, the Broncos took nine of 13 events en route to a 66-47 victory over Central Michigan. This left Coach Diget's club with an 8-5 record and assured a winning record for the second straight year.

Men Gymnasts Host MSU, NIU Tuesday

Western Michigan's men's gymnastics team will be part of an 11-team field this Saturday at the Titan Invitational in Oshkosh, Wis.

Following this meet, Coach Fred Orlofsky's club returns home for a Tuesday double dual meet with Michigan State and Northern Illinois. Competition at Gary Center is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. The Broncos are 3-3 for the season.

Track Elite Here Friday, Saturday For Central Collegiate Title Run

Six runners who took Central Collegiate Conference indoor championships in 1974 return to defend their titles at the 49th renewal of this meet on Friday and Saturday here in Western's Read Fieldhouse.

Included in the entries are Eastern Michigan's Stan Vinson, the 1974 NCAA indoor 600-yard run winner, and Mike Sands of Penn State, who finished third in the quarter at the same meet. Either one of this pair could dethrone Mike Monroe of Southern Illinois in the 300.

Other defending titlists include EMU's Clarence Chapman in the 60 sprint, Bronco half-miler Steve Brown, Mike Gahagan of Notre Dame for the 1,000 run and two-miler Wally Rodriguez of Toledo. In addition, Drake University returns its winning two-mile relay unit intact.

Twenty teams are expected to be in Kalamazoo with defending titlist Eastern Michigan and Penn State the co-favorites.

The most competitive event on the program could be the mile where 12 men have run 4:10 or faster. Jim Deren of Eastern tops the list at 4:06. Greg Stremmel of Penn State is the CCC cross country champion.

Possibilities in the two and three-mile races are Tim Zumbaugh of Bowling Green, a cross country All-American; and Michigan freshman Mike McGuire, with a fine 13:42 over three miles to his credit.

The best field event competition should center around the high jump. Bill Hancock of Southern Illinois is a seven-footer while Bronco freshman Daryl Williams and Doug Gibbs of Michigan have both leaped 6-11.

Southern Illinois also has the long and triple jump favorites as Lonnie Brown and Phil Robbins have respective efforts of 25-1½ and 53-6. Robbins was runner-up at the 1974 Indoor CCC's. WMU's Curtis Long is a threat in the 60.

The 35-pound weight throw should be a rematch between Western's Tom Meyer and Larry Satchwell of Northern Illinois. Satchwell won the WMU Relays and has a best performance of 59-7 while Meyer captured honors at a dual meet here last week with a heave of 58-2¾.

Bronco sophomore Chuck DeWildt finished second among the pole vaulters in 1974. His top effort this winter is 15-6 while Eastern's Hooker Wellman and Gary Hunter of SIU are both 16-footers.

Other competing teams include Central Michigan, Kansas, DePaul, Illinois State, Indiana State, Kent State, Kentucky State, Loyola, Wayne State and Western Illinois.

The admission price for each session is $1.00. Friday preliminaries start at 6 p.m. with field finals beginning one hour later and running finals at 8 p.m. Saturday field activity commences at noon with the balance of the program starting at 1 p.m.

Women Cagers Host Central

The WMU women's basketball teams wind up the home portion of their schedule this weekend with contests against cross-state rival Central Michigan University on Saturday.

The jayvees will play at noon; the varsity will try to keep its unblemished home mark of seven victories against no losses intact at 1:30 p.m.

Coach Fran Ebert's squad has posted a 2-4 road mark.

The road has been the only problem for Western's junior varsity, one that many feel is WMU's strongest ever. Their sole loss came at the hands of come-from-behind Ohio State. Standing at 10-1 on the year, Coach Sue Lewis' women have proven themselves a state power.

After this week's action, the teams will meet each one more foe, Grand Valley/Calvin, before the varsity heads to Michigan State for state tourney competition.

State Bowling Tourney Here

Saturday at 10 a.m. and noon here in the University Student Center bowling lanes, the Broncette bowling team will host the Michigan Intercollegiate Bowling League tournament. Teams of both men and women will be competing.

Western's women bowlers, coached by Harriet Creed, are presently atop the MIBL standings, tied with Muskegon Community.

Women's Track At Home Today

The women's track and field team will be hosting an open invitational tournament in Read Fieldhouse today, with preliminary heats scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

Coach Jean Friedel expects Jackson Community College, Central Michigan University, Michigan State, Eastern Michigan, along with individual competitors or AAU-sponsored teams, to compete.

Women Swimmers In Season Finale

Western's women's swimming team travels to old nemesis Oakland University today in their season finale before eyeing post-season regional berths at Central Michigan University Feb. 28th.

The two teams met back in December here at the Gary Center Pool in a triangular meet in which Western bested Valparaiso, but couldn't get by Oakland, 67-45.

Since that time Coach Norma Stafford's tankers have compiled a 9-3 record while shattering virtually every team record held at WMU.

Change Gym Schedule

The WMU women's gymnastics team, in a re-scheduling move, picked up a meet at the University of Michigan today and dropped the Saturday home contest with Michigan State.

Coach Diane Dorgan's women will close their schedule next weekend at Central Michigan University.

Asia Week Participant

Dr. H. Byron Earhart, WMU associate professor of religion, will be the featured speaker during Asia Week, Feb. 17-22, at Brigham Young University. He will lecture on new Korean and Japanese religions and participate in a panel discussion on Asian religion.
