Residence Hall Policy Change Action By Trustees Expected

The Board of Trustees is expected to act on a proposed residence hall policy change at its monthly meeting at 1:45 p.m. Friday (March 21) here in the University Student Center.

As introduced at last month's meeting, the plan would eliminate the regulation requiring freshmen and sophomores to live on campus and it would establish an Auxiliary Fund Reserve to protect the University's fiscal integrity in the payment of its bonded indebtedness.

If adopted, the plan calls for an increase of $1.00 per credit hour in Western's tuition rate; the current cost for resident undergraduates is $20 per credit hour.

The Trustees also will discuss the 1975-76 student housing rates and the out-of-state student fee rate for next year.

Student Registration

WMU students who plan to attend classes during the spring session should advance register as soon as possible, according to Mary K. Leamy, director of registration.

She notes that an advantage of advance registration, and one which depends on a large turnout, is the ability of academic departments to predict needs and apply resources where student demands require them.

Michigan Jr. College DECA Conference

The eighth annual Michigan Junior Collegiate Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) Career Development Conference is being held today and Friday in the Student Center.

More than 120 junior college DECA members from eight Michigan community colleges are participating in 19 different competitive events during the two days. They come from Muskegon, Grand Rapids, Lake Michigan, Macomb, Monroe, Delta, St. Clair and West Shore community or junior colleges.

Nearly 70 businessmen and women from the Kalamazoo area are judges for the competitive events.

WMU vice president for student services, Thomas Coyne, presented welcoming remarks at the opening session, 1 p.m. today.

The conference is co-sponsored by the WMU distributive education department and the Michigan Department of Education. Dr. Raymond A. Dannenberg, chairman, WMU distributive education department, and state advisor for Michigan Junior-Collegiate DECA, is head of conference planning.

Faculty Recognition Dinner April 15

The annual Faculty Recognition Dinner will be held at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, April 15, in the North Ballroom, University Student Center. Dinner reservations, at $5.25 each, may be made with Robert L. Culp, Gary P.E. Center, 383-1780.

Plagiarism Charge Found Justifiable

"In accordance with a recommendation presented to me on February 18, 1975 by the Faculty Grievance Committee, I wish to inform the University community that a charge of plagiarism against a faculty member was duly considered by the committee, was found justifiable, and appropriate administrative action has been taken.

"Also in accordance with committee recommendations, all names related to this specific case will remain confidential."

John T. Bernhard
President

Gabel Pool Reopened

The Gabel Natatorium pool at Western, closed since February 26 because of a potential danger of a 3x5 foot underwater observation window breaking, was re-opened last Monday.

After the water level was lowered to below the window, the tempered glass was replaced with a stainless steel plate which will remain in place until the glass manufacturer can make a tempered glass window capable of withstanding the water pressure.

The Gabel pool was closed when it was learned that pool observation windows made by the same manufacturer as Western's had broken in two pools in New York.

Papermaker Award to Kukolich

Dr. Stephen I. Kukolich, professor of paper science and engineering, has been named "Papermaker of the Year" by the Michigan Division, Paper Institute Management Association (PIMA).

Cameron Wins Ludwig Award

Carlton H. Cameron, senior vice president, St. Regis Paper Co., Battle Creek, has been announced as recipient of the 1975 Earnest E. Ludwig Award, presented by WMU's Paper and Science Engineering Alumni Association of Western Michigan University.

Cameron, a resident of Marshall, is a former three-term president of the Paper Technology Foundation, Inc., at WMU. The award is named in honor of the late Earnest E. Ludwig, the first full-time executive secretary of the foundation, 1960-64, and the award was started to honor persons deemed to have followed Ludwig's example of outstanding contribution and dedicated service to the department.

Military Ball Eventful

Western's annual military ball, sponsored by the military science department on March 15 in Galesburg, was attended by 78 persons. Lt. Col. Samuel W. Focer, Jr., head of the military science department, was master of ceremonies.

Notable guests included Dr. W. C. Fitch, dean, College of Applied Sciences; Dr. Frank Scott, chairman, department of industrial engineering; Dr. Donald W. Nantz, director, academic counseling, College of Applied Sciences, and their spouses.

Diane Imel of Midwest City, Oklahoma, a Kalamazoo College graduate who took ROTC courses at Western last fall, was sworn into the U.S. Army as a 2nd Lieutenant, during the ball.

Mrs. Gladys Rowe Dies

Funeral services were held Wednesday in her native Traverse City for Mrs. Gladys L. Rowe, associate professor emerita, who died Sunday at a Kalamazoo hospital.

Mrs. Rowe first came to Western in 1924 and served five years as a teacher at Western's training center at Richland until going to Michigan State University as a supervising teacher in home economics. She remained there until 1938 when she joined the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, Vocational Education Division, as a consultant in home economics and family life education.

Mrs. Rowe then rejoined Western's faculty in 1950 as an assistant professor and taught here until her 1967 retirement.

She served as president of the Michigan Home Economics Association, 1951-53.

Mrs. Rowe received a B.A. in 1924 and an M.A. in 1955, both from Michigan State University.

Her husband, Bernard Rowe of Richland, and a brother, David Love of Traverse City, survive.

The Western News

The Western News is published by the Office of University Information each Thursday when classes are in session during fall and winter semesters.

Created to disseminate news to the entire University community, distribution is by mail to faculty, staff and emeriti, and students may pick up copies at several on-campus locations. Items should be submitted by noon Monday for publication.

University Information office hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday. Telephone: 383-0981. Martin R. (Joe) Gagie, Director; Patricia M. Coyle, Associate Director.

Stott Elected CLA Secretary

Dr. Jon C. Stott, WMU associate professor of English, recently was elected secretary of the executive board of the Children's Literature Association (CLA) at its national conference in Williamsburg, Va.

In his position, the highest elected office of the association, Stott will chair all executive board and general membership meetings, and will serve as executive secretary in the absence of the executive secretary.

A member of the CLA's founding board, Stott has been active in it since its inception in 1973. He is a consulting editor of the organization's journal, "Children's Literature—the Great Excluded," and has represented the association at many conventions and meetings.

He has been a member of Western's faculty since 1968. Stott has written several articles on children's literature, has regular review segments on WOTV and WMUK-FM, and is editor of the "West Michigan Children's Literature Review."

Filmmaker To Visit Western Tuesday

Renowned filmmaker and anthropologist Dr. Paul Hockings of the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, will give two presentations here on campus Tuesday, March 25.

At 3 p.m. in 118 Moore Hall, he will talk on "The Use of Film in Documenting Cultures" as part of the anthropology department's colloquium series. At 7:30 p.m. in 2750 Knauss Hall, he will show his widely-acclaimed documentary on life in a rural Irish community, "The Village," together with a short lecture on "The Irish Village in Film and Literature."

Hockings has done anthropological research in South India and in Ireland. He is the creator of several documentary anthropological films and the author of a recently published book on "Principles of Visual Anthropology."

The events are being sponsored by the department of anthropology, the department of English and the Division of Instructional Communications.

A public reception will be held on the 10th floor of Sprau Tower following the evening lecture.

To Discuss Child Abuse Tonight

Dr. Vincent DeFrancis, director, Children's Division, American Humane Association, Denver, Colo., will speak on "Protective Services and Community Responsibilities for Neglected and Abused Children," at 8 o'clock tonight, March 20, here in 3750 Knauss Hall, sponsored by the WMU School of Social Work.

Since 1954, DeFrancis has directed the American Humane Association's national program to stimulate and promote more adequate protection services for neglected, abused and exploited children. Prior to his present position, he served 10 years as executive director of a child protective program in New York City. Since 1962, he has been a member of the University of Denver's School of Social Work faculty as a lecturer in the course, "The Law of Family and Child."

At 1:30 this afternoon, he will discuss "The Role of the Social Worker in Protective Services" in 2301 Sangren Hall.

Organist Holloway To Perform Sunday

Organist Clyde Holloway will present a guest recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 23, in Miller Auditorium, sponsored by the department of music and the University's cultural events committee.

Dr. Holloway is a member of the music faculty at Indiana University. His recital here will include compositions by Lubeck, Bach, Franck and Messiaen.

He also will present a master class, open to the public, at 9 a.m. Monday, March 24, in Miller Auditorium. Both the concert and the Master Class will be free of charge.

Women Meet Today

Legislation for and about women will be discussed at a public meeting of the WMU Commission on the Status of Women at noon today, March 20, in 159 University Student Center.

Speaking will be Drue Kramer of the 46th District office of State Rep. Howard Wolpe.

Preservation Hall Jazz Band To Perform April 2 at Miller

The world famous Preservation Hall Jazz Band will be at Miller Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 2, in the final event of the 1974-75 Patron's Choice series.

The band is currently on tour from its home in legendary New Orleans, where the members of the group all took part in the birth in this American art form. Each member has memories of the days when "Jass," as they spelled it at the turn of the century, was taking form and shape from a separate kind of music.

They were in the bands that marched to and from the cemetery for funerals, in the wagons that

Seek Judiciary Student Members

Applications are now being accepted for the 1975-76 Student Judiciary Committee.

All interested students may pick up applications in the Office of University Judiciaries, Student Activities, Minority Student Services, University Student Center Board, and all residence halls.

Applications should be returned to the Office of University Judiciaries, 2110 Student Services Building, no later than Friday, March 28.

Six Appointed To Alumni Board

Six alumni recently were appointed to three-year terms on the 24-member WMU Alumni Association board of directors.

They are: Donald R. Brems, Midland; Dr. C. Bassett Brown, Benton Harbor; Gordon A. Elferdink, Sarasota, Fla.; Joan K. Gebauer, Grand Rapids; Anitta Orr, Detroit, and Wayne Siegel, Arlington, Tex. Both Brown and Orr were reappointed to their second terms on the board.

Recycle Your Pencils

Remember to re-cycle pencils through Waldo Library's reference department. A success at first, the number of pencils donated for recycling has dwindled greatly in the past few months. Wood, graphite and rubber is conserved this way.

drove up and down the French quarter streets and battled it out when two bands met at a corner.

The band that will appear here on campus includes Cie Frazier, drums; Allan Jaffe, tuba; Percy Humphrey, trumpet; Willie J. Humphrey, clarinet; Sing Miller, piano, and Jim Robinson, trombone.

Tickets are $5.00, $4.00, and $3.00 and may be reserved by calling the Miller Auditorium box office.

Job Openings

Below is a listing of the position openings currently being posted by the University Personnel Department, for current University employees.

Regular full-time and regular part-time employees interested in applying for these positions should submit a Job Opportunity Program application form to the Personnel Department during the posting period.

Title Catalog Tech., H-04, University Libraries—posted 3/12-3/18

Secretary I, H-04, Central Food Office—posted 3/14-3/20

Secretary Administrative, H-08, Alumni Development & Affairs—posted 3/14-3/20

Secretary I, H-04, Placement Center—posted 3/18-3/24

Tutor Aide II, H-07, Ed Leadership—posted 3/19-3/25

Secretary I, H-04, Communication Arts & Sciences—posted 3/20-3/26

Gives Korean Talk

Dr. C. I. Eugene Kim, WMU professor of political science, presented a paper at the recent Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society held at the University of Chicago. Kim, who has just completed a book-length study on "The Military Rule in South Korea," spoke on "Political Orientations of Military and Non-military Party Elites in South Korea."

Cliff Keuter Dance Company To Visit WMU March 24-26

The Cliff Keuter Dance Company will be in residence here on the campus Monday through Wednesday, March 24-26.

The residency, sponsored by the department of dance and the College of Fine Arts, will include a beginning and intermediate technique class both on Monday and Wednesday, as well as two special sessions—one on movement for the actor at 6:30 p.m. Monday and an improvisation class at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. All sessions will be held either in Walwood Union or Oakland Gym. For specific details, contact the department of dance.

In conjunction with the residency, a public concert will be presented at Miller Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 25. Tickets are $3.00 for general admission and are available at the Miller Auditorium ticket office.

Formed in 1969, the Cliff Keuter Dance Company has been praised for the excellence of its dancing and for its provocative nature of Keuter's choreography. His movements are quick and quirky, filled with surprises. Energetic and often acrobatic, it tends to originate in the lower torso to work its way out in all sorts of spirals and turns.

Critics have applauded the witty and humorous elements so apparent in much of his work; however, at the same time, the more serious works in the Company's repertoire has striking intensity and strength.

The WMU residency is being sponsored with the support of the National Endowment for the Arts and the Michigan State Council of the Arts.

Religious Directory Now Available

The Office of Religious Activities now has available the 1975 edition of the "Kalamazoo Directory of Religious Organizations, Fellowship Centers and Leadership."

The 22-page pamphlet provides a listing of churches by denomination with minister or leader and the locations and telephone numbers for each. In addition to an index at the back of the publication, it includes a section on special assignments in the Kalamazoo area such as hospital chaplains, directors of religious organizations and leaders of local religious clubs.

Over 1000 of the directories are distributed each year by Welcome Wagon hostesses and Newcomers Club to new families in the area. Copies of the directory also are sent to funeral homes, nursing homes, ministers and public service agencies in the area. Motels and hotels receive copies in order that travelers will have help in locating the church of their choice.

The Office of Religious Activities undertook this venture supervised by Jan Purtell, Kanley Chapel secretary, as a service to the students of WMU, the churches and the people of Kalamazoo. Additional copies of the directory are available by contacting the Office of Religious Activities, WMU, Kanley Memorial Chapel.

Poetry Reading

Richard Hugo, director of creative writing at the University of Montana, will read selections from his own poetry at 8 p.m., March 31, in 3321 Brown Hall, in a free public reading, sponsored by the WMU English department.

Currently serving as a Visiting Professor at the University of Colorado, he is author of four books of poems and will have another published this spring. Hugo has twice won the Helen Bullis Award from Poetry Northwest magazine and has received the Theodore Roethke prize for his poems.

He received both his bachelor of arts and MA degrees from the University of Washington and in 1967-68 went to Europe on a Rockefeller Creative Writing Fellowship.

Resources Directory

The Counseling Center has updated the "Directory of University Career Referral Resources," which it compiles and sends to department libraries. Additional copies are available on request.

If departments have corrections or additions to the directory, notify Jo Nicollette, Counseling Center, 383-1850.

Condic Returns From Yugoslavia

Joseph Condic, assistant professor of humanities in Western's College of General Studies, has returned to Kalamazoo after six weeks of study and conferences in Yugoslavia.

He spent a week at the University of Zagreb working with internationally-known nuclear physicist, Dr. Ivan Supek, who was a visiting scholar to WMU a year ago. Condic has been translating Supek's latest book, "Science, Knowledge and Humanism," from Croatian into English.

During his visit, he participated in a symposium on science and peace at Pugwash University. Conference delegates heard scientists and scholars from throughout the world discuss the ethical implications of science and the role of scientists in actively working for a peaceful world.

While there, Condic represented WMU in a post-graduate course on the philosophy of science and ethics at Dubrovnik University. He has an invitation to return to Yugoslavia in 1976 to lecture on "A Theory of Causality Derived from the Aristotelian Tradition" at the Inter-university Centre there.

Publish Cain Article

An article written by Dr. Mary Cain, professor of teacher education, has been published in the January-February issue of the journal "Elementary English."

Entitled "The Literate Children of British Primary Schools," it describes the developmental language-reading program for young children used in many British schools. A condensed version of Dr. Cain's article has been selected to appear in "The Education Digest."

To Address Cleft Palate Association

Dr. Clyde R. Willis, WMU professor of speech pathology and audiology, recently presented a paper at the annual meeting of the American Cleft Palate Association in New Orleans.

The paper's co-authors are Dr. Ralph Blocksma, chief of plastic surgery, and Dr. Michael Reed, senior resident in plastic surgery, Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids. Its topic is "Evaluation of Teflon Implants in the Treatment of Velopharyngeal Insufficiency," a study of 40 patients treated between 1969-74 and the operation's effectiveness.

WMU Bicentennial Committee Must Be Informed of Projects

The University Bicentennial Committee needs the assistance of faculty, staff and students in identifying special projects they may be planning for the bicentennial.

Organizations and individuals developing such activities should complete a short questionnaire obtainable from the dean's office, College of Fine Arts, 1044 Moore Hall (383-0793). These questionnaires should be returned by March 28.

In mid-April a listing of University projects currently underway will be published.

Describe WMU Program At National Meeting

Four WMU faculty members from the teacher education department described a WMU program with three school districts, designed to develop individualized learning and elementary teaching practices, at a recent national conference in New Orleans, La.

Dr. James Bosco, professor; Dr. James W. Burns, associate professor; Ronald A. Crowell, assistant professor; and Dr. Richard L. Harring, associate professor, discussed the development, implementation and impact of the two year in-service education programs with public school districts at Fremont, Grand Haven and Mona Shores.

The conference, conducted by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, also explored ways of providing more effective approaches toward the professional development of teachers.

Salute Concert Series Promotion

"Up the Arts," the campaign to promote Western's 1974-75 International Concert series, has been saluted by Arts Management, a national news service in New York City for fine arts administrators and patrons.

"Long and careful pre-planning, on-target promotion, and an easily remembered and heavily publicized campaign slogan" are recognized as "key ingredients" for the success of the series in the front page story of the November-December issue of the newsletter. The article states that the campaign "stimulated new campus-wide interest in the arts."

Dr. Robert Holmes, dean of the WMU College of Fine Arts, comments, "We're delighted with the results and we've insured continuity of the series. Everyone now knows about it and the cost of promoting future series will be much less."

sity projects currently underway will be published.

Appointed by President Bernhard last December, the committee is coordinating and developing special campus and community projects. It will work with city, county, state and federal organizations to produce a truly meaningful and comprehensive celebration.

The committee is seeking suggestions concerning special ways the WMU community can participate in the bicentennial, not only as a University community of 25,000, but also as individuals.

Comments may be sent to any committee member: William Appel (music), David Curl (teacher education), Penny David (humanities), Carl Doubleday (music), John Houdek (history), Robert Johnston (art), William Kowalski (assistant vice president, administration), Robert Luscombe (assistant dean, College of Fine Arts), Paul Robbert (art), Peter Schmitt (history), Robert Smith (theatre), Mark Spink (instructional communications) and Janet Stillwell (dance).

Chemistry Colloquium

Dr. Nicholas Winograd of the Purdue University chemistry department faculty will speak at a public chemistry colloquium, 4 p.m., Monday, March 24, in 5280 McCracken Hall. His topic: "X-Ray Photo-electron Spectroscopy (ESCA) as a Tool for Surface Analysis."

Winograd's research interests involve the study of electrode surfaces using electron and internal reflection spectroscopy and the measurement of fast chemical reaction rates.

A graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, he earned a Ph.D. from Case Western Reserve University in 1970 shortly before going to Purdue.

S.B.A. Center Open House

The fourth in a series of open houses for "non-traditional" women students will be held Tuesday, March 25, from 12-noon to 2 p.m. at the Susan B. Anthony Center in the Canterbury Center. The purpose is to encourage informal faculty/student discussion and to acquaint students with the center and its services.

The last open house in the series will be April 9, 7:30-9 p.m., at the SBA Center.

7 Athletes Win Gary Scholarships

Seven WMU athletes, representing a like number of sports, were cited last night as winners of 1975 M. J. "Mike" Gary Scholarships in recognition of both athletic and academic achievements.

Recipients are: Mark Lundell, Southfield junior, in biology, football; Jim Kurzen, Dalton, Ohio, junior, in earth science, basketball; John Borsos, Kalamazoo senior, in American studies, track; Lee Weitzman, Detroit junior, in sociology, ice hockey; Mike Hurley, Albion junior, in political science, golf; Den Lueneburg, Escanaba senior, in accounting, tennis; and Bob Cole, Kalamazoo senior, in Spanish, soccer.

They were honored at the third annual Brown and Gold Athletic Banquet here in the Student Center.

BRONCO WRESTLER Gary Martin, pictured above, recently won the Mid-American Conference 150-pound mat title for the second consecutive year, not the swimming crown as was erroneously reported in last week's Western News. The story last week was correct, but the headline was incorrect.

Faculty/Student Seminar

A faculty/graduate student seminar on "Public Policy, Planning, and Substate Regionalism" will be given by Dr. Robert W. Kaufman, director, WMU Institute of Public Affairs, 3:30-5 p.m., Tuesday, March 25, in 3020 Friedmann Hall. It's open to faculty, staff and students.

The Institute of Public Affairs helped draft the by-laws of Region III and has carried out several studies and projects for it.

Math Talk Today

Dr. Kuang-Yen Shih, professor of mathematics at the University of Michigan, will conduct WMU's public mathematics colloquium, at 4 o'clock today, March 20, in the Math Commons Room, Everett Tower.

His topic: "Automorphic Functions and Galois Extensions." Refreshments will be served at 3:30 p.m.

On March 27, Dr. James Riley, associate professor of mathematics at WMU, will speak on "The Teaching of Mathematics to Young Children," at 4 p.m. in the Math Commons Room.

Faculty Women Luncheon

The Faculty Women's Club luncheon will be held 12:15 p.m., Saturday, April 12, in the West Ballroom, University Student Center. Reservations for the event to honor retiring faculty women will be sent out soon.

To Discuss Sports Financing Tonight

A free, open panel discussion of sports financing at WMU will be held at 9 o'clock tonight, March 20, in the lounge of LeFevre Hall, Goldsworth Valley.

The Valley Two Community Faculty/Student Forum will consider the question: "Is the Present Imbalance of Funds Allocated to Men's Intercollegiate Sports Inappropriate in Respect to the Funding Received by Intramurals, Women's Intercollegiate Sports and Recreation at WMU?"

Panelists will include Dr. Joseph Hoy, athletic director; Elliot Uzelac, head football coach; Ruth Ann Meyer, assistant athletic director; Charles Landrum, WMU varsity football player; and Dr. George Beech, professor of history.

Women Gymnasts Complete Season

Western's women's gymnastics team recently closed their season at the Central Michigan University State Invitational Meet.

The Bronco gymnasts finished fourth behind champion Michigan State and runners-up Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan. The University of Michigan rounded out the final standings. Western's women did not finish within the top six in any event in the meet. In the All-Around competition, WMU's Augusta Lipsey placed 10th.

The Western women ended their season with a 2-7 won-lost record. Char Wiehe is the lone graduating senior on the squad assembled by rookie coach Diane Dorgan.

Add In-Service Sessions

Two additional sessions have been added to the series of in-service training classes for bargaining unit supervisors, according to David Donahue, manager of In-Service Training.

The new dates are Monday and Tuesday, March 24-25, in the University Student Center and will deal with the topics "Role Playing" and "Simulated Situations."

Anthropologist To Speak

Renowned filmmaker and anthropologist Dr. Paul Hockings, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, will give two presentations here on March 25.

At 3 p.m. in 118 Moore Hall, he will talk on "The Use of Film in Documenting Cultures" as part of the anthropology department's colloquium series. At 7:30 p.m. in 2750 Knauss Hall, he will show his widely acclaimed documentary on life in a rural Irish community, "The Village," and give a short lecture on "The Irish Village in Film and Literature."

Both events are sponsored by WMU's departments of anthropology, English and instructional communications.

Arena Season Finale April 1-5

The University Theatre will present its final Arena Theatre production of this season, "Five on the Black Hand Side," at 8 p.m. April 1-5.

Written by black playwright Charlie L. Russell and set in Harlem with an all black cast, this comedy is said to possess a life energy which evokes rolling laughter of regeneration and life and serves to clarify both the hope and the challenge in a contemporary life.

Tickets are general admission and priced at $2.00. The Laura V. Shaw Theatre box office is accepting mail orders only this week; the box office will open for reservations and walk-in sales Monday, March 24.

Plan Tuba Night

Program Tuesday

"The Tuba" and "Tuba Music Galore" will be the themes of a special free public tuba evening beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 25, in Oakland Recital Hall.

Guest artist J. Leslie Varner will talk about "The Tuba"; his lecture will include facts on the various tuba models—how to choose them and how they sound.

Varner is a professor of tuba at Ball State University and a special clinician for the Custom Music Company and Rudolf Meinl Tubas. He is actively involved with the development and design of new instruments.

At 8 p.m., "Tuba Music Galore" will begin. Works for solo euphonium, solo tuba, tuba trio, tuba quartet, tuba ensemble, tuba and narrator, and tuba and tape will be performed. Styles of music including rock, jazz, avant-garde, and classic will be heard. WMU's tuba professor, Robert Whaley, will perform along with the WMU Tuba Ensemble and the Kalamazoo Tuba Quartet, in their premiere performance.

Meridian J. C. Chorus Here

The Meridian Junior College Gospel Chorus of Meridian, Miss., will be featured in "A Night of Music" at 7:30 p.m. March 26 in Western Michigan University's Kanley Chapel.

The free public program, sponsored by the WMU Undergraduate Admissions and Minority Student Services offices and Black Business Students Association, is part of the group's two day visit here.

They will appear with the Young Gospel Singers of Kalamazoo at next Wednesday's performance and entertain the students at Lincoln School during their stay.

The chorus was organized in January of 1974 to commemorate black religious music during Black Awareness Week. Directed by Henry E. S. Granger, the 30-voice group has performed throughout Alabama, Mississippi and Michigan.

Philosophy Lecture

Dr. Wade Robison, professor of philosophy at Kalamazoo College, will give a free public lecture at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 26, in 3020 Friedmann Hall. He will speak on "Hume's Ontic Commitments."

The talk is sponsored by the WMU department of philosophy.
