

Campus Briefs

The Office of Research Services will be closed all day Friday, April 11, and on Monday morning, April 14.

The Student Employment Referral Service (SERS) is a service available to students and faculty/staff. Its main objective is to assist students in finding employment. Also, there are four sets of pools which include students who are experienced in sewing, odd jobs, secretarial work and background in babysitting. If you are in need of filling either a part-time position now or a full-time position for the summer months, contact the SERS office on the third floor of the Student Services Building.

The WMU philosophy department will present "Toward a Phenomenology of Feminist Consciousness" by Sandra L. Bartkey of the University of Illinois at 6:30 p.m. Monday, April 14, here in 3750 Knauss Hall. The public is invited.

The annual Faculty Senate dinner meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, April 17, in the South Ballroom of the University Student Center.

The annual Faculty Recognition Dinner will be held at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 15, in the University Student Center. Reservations at $5.25 per person should be made with Robert L. Culp, 383-1780.

Closing out last week's "Spring Fling," the Bike-a-thon, sponsored by Goldsworth Valley III, raised $3,400 for the American Cancer Society.

The doctoral examination of Dorothy J. Buchan for the degree of Doctor of Education was held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 9, in the ERC Conference Room. Her topic was: "A Survey of Selected Institutional Goals by Presidents of Michigan Community Junior Colleges."

The doctoral examination of Margaret J. Neill for the degree of Doctor of Education was held at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday, April 9, in the ERC Conference Room. Her topic was: "Institutional Research, Development and Evaluation in Michigan Community Junior Colleges."

The doctoral examination of Thawat Burirug for the degree of Doctor of Education will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 16, in 3106 Sangren Hall. His topic will be: "Related Factors in Organizing Instructor Manpower Needs in the College of Education in Thailand."

The doctoral examination of Donald Leslie Osborne for the degree of Doctor of Education will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday, April 17, in 3106 Sangren Hall. His topic will be: "A Study of the Relationship Between Race, Sex, Attendance Standardized Achievement Test Scores, and Suspensions."

Concert Saturday In Oakland Hall

Pi Kappa Lambda, the professional music honor society from the department of music, will sponsor a free public concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 12, in Oakland Recital Hall.

To Hold Tenure, Promotion Decisions Pending Contract

Recommendations for tenure and promotion of teaching faculty members will not be taken to the WMU Board of Trustees until contract provisions have been arrived at, according to an announcement made by Dr. Stephen R. Mitchell, WMU vice president for academic affairs.

In his letter to deans and department chairmen, he said, "In view

LAST SIGN? — Last Thursday's snowfall was an unexpected vacation for many WMU employees, but it wasn't for Buster Howe (above) of the Physical Plant grounds crew and others like him; it only meant more work—the task of clearing 40 miles of sidewalk, 4 miles of steps and 18 miles of roadway on campus. Hopefully, it was the last sign of winter. (WMU Newsphoto)

Blood Pressure Tests Free April 17

Volunteer registered nurses, the Michigan Heart Association and WMU health education students will provide free blood pressure screening tests Thursday, April 17, here on the WMU campus.

The tests will be conducted from 11 a.m.-3:30 p.m. in the main entrance foyer of Sangren Hall.

Pat Palazzolo, a WMU senior in health education, is coordinating this health education field work project.

Set Year-Round Hours

Effective Monday, April 28, the standard working schedule year round for WMU employees will be changed to 7:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m.

That change—starting and ending the work day 15 minutes earlier than what is presently in effect—was announced by Robert B. Wetnight, WMU vice president for finance. Special groups, especially those covered by contracts or the University police, may have a different shift time, he said. However, all offices and regular operations will follow this new schedule.

Wetnight noted that the revised of the bargainable aspects of tenure and promotion, the University will withhold tenure and promotion decisions until specific provisions regarding these subjects have been resolved through contract negotiations.

"The completed files for the candidates will be held in my office pending the contract," Mitchell continued. "If some further departmental or college action would be required under a new policy, the files will be returned for the necessary action or consideration."

He asked them to take immediate steps to notify tenure and promotion candidates of this decision, explaining that these matters clearly fall within the bargaining subjects mandated by Michigan law.

Last year, the WMU Board of Trustees promoted 60 teaching faculty members. They also approved an extension of the probationary period preceding final tenure reviews from four to six years. Therefore, only a very few faculty members—who were hired in mid year—would require tenure decisions this year as exceptions to the new rule.

Invite Campus To Inauguration

The Board of Trustees of Western Michigan University cordially invites all students, faculty and staff to attend the inauguration of President John T. Bernhard and the spring commencement at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 26, here in Read Fieldhouse.

"The inauguration of a new president is always an occasion of unusual importance in the life of a University," commented Dr. Russell H. Seibert, emeritus vice president for academic affairs and chairman of the Trustees' inaugural committee.

Official delegates have been invited to the inauguration from the universities and colleges in the Michigan Council of State College Presidents, the Mid-American Conference and the three local colleges—Kalamazoo College, Nazareth College and Kalamazoo Valley Community College.

schedule has been approved by President John T. Bernhard after reviewing various possibilities, each with its advantages and disadvantages.

"This schedule is a logical compromise between a number of conflicting needs," Wetnight observed. "Some people prefer to start early and quit early; others do not. A need to be open during most of the universally accepted workday, in order to meet the needs of students, prospective students and many sectors of the public, is satisfied. Rush hour traffic in the community surrounding the campus will be reduced."

Cite Children's Theatre Play

University Theatre staff member Lyda Stillwell and her Children's Experimental Theatre VIII company will be traveling to Oshkosh, Wis. this weekend to represent the state of Michigan in the Regional Theatre Festival.

Entitled "I Touch You—You're Touched," the show was presented here in the Arena of Shaw Theatre Feb. 17-22. During that run, the president of the Michigan Children's Theatre Association, Thelma McDaniels, viewed it, and that organization subsequently chose the WMU production as the winner over several other entries to represent the state in the Region III Theatre Festival competition.

The Regional Festival features productions of representatives from the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. Each state has been invited to send a company which will perform for children as well as delegates, and each production will be publicly critiqued.

Members of the "CT" cast include WMU students Robin Nott, Mark Wisniewski, Stephen M. Gelenger, Jim Kienitz, Jill Marie VanLandingham, Diane Reed, Beth Johnstone and Tim Stanton. Accompanying the cast and director Stillwell to the Festival are stage manager Christopher Rous and production associates Julie L. Strieter, Krista Marie Forrester, Karen Raymond and Robin Burdick.

Campus Garden Plots Available

Application forms are now available for persons interested in having a garden plot this summer here at the University Farm, located about five miles from campus near the corner of Parkview and 12th Streets.

Each plot measures 30x30 feet, which is enough space to raise more than $300 worth of vegetables, according to Jan Purtell, treasurer of the Campus Gardening Association. The charge per plot will be $3.00 for students and $5.00 for non-students.

The land will be plowed and staked. Some tools will be available and a committee has been formed to investigate obtaining water at the site.

Applications can be obtained at the Student Activities Office, Married Housing Office, Off-Campus Housing Office or the WMU department of agriculture. Forms should be returned with a check to the Campus Gardening Association, Box 342, Student Activities Office, WMU. People will be notified through the mail of their plot locations just as soon as the ground is plowed and staked.

Duet Recital Friday

Baritone Thomas Hardie and mezzo-soprano Mary Sue Hyatt will perform a free public recital of duets at 8 p.m. Friday, April 11, in Oakland Recital Hall.

Encourage Students To Register Now for Fall Because of Changes

Advance registration for classes at Western Michigan University is now in progress for fall semester, the registration office reminds students.

Mary Kay Leamy, director of registration, stresses that advance registration increases the chances of receiving desired classes, noting that approximately 85 percent of those students who advance register are placed in requested classes.

"It is particularly important to advance register for fall semester since we have decided to discontinue the traditional 'final day,'" Leamy said. "The overwhelming number of students, over 5,000, who waited until the final day of registration last fall caused a tremendous overload on our capacity to adjust course offerings to meet demand and thus, many students were disappointed by not receiving desired classes."

For fall semester the "final day" will be replaced by an "open house" request period, from 3-9 p.m. August 27, and 9 a.m.-4 p.m. August 28 in Read Fieldhouse. Following no alphabetic or classification schedule, students will pick up a permit to register and complete a course request card and "mark sense sheet" for the courses desired. Students will be assessed and will be required to pay for the requested schedules before leaving the Fieldhouse.

However, the availability of courses will not be guaranteed, according to Dennis Boyle, University registrar, and students will not know whether they received the courses requested until they pick up their schedules on the first day of classes, Tuesday, Sept. 2, 1975.

Annual Concerto Concert April 20

The department of music will present the University Symphony Orchestra and the annual Concerto Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 20, in Miller Auditorium. Featured soloists for this concert are outstanding senior music students from WMU. Admission is free to the public.

The Concerto Concert will be dedicated to the memory of Julius Stulberg. The University Symphony will play Leonard Bernstein's "Overture to Candide" and will conclude the program with one of Professor Stulberg's favorite works, the "Finale" from the Symphony Number 2 by Jean Sibelius. Stulberg began the tradition of the Concerto Concert over 20 years ago.

This year's soloists are soprano Susan B. Anthony, flutist Bonnietta York Benn, violinist Audrey Lipsey, percussionist Tony Lavender, cellist Janet Neumann, and tenor Jeffrey Stamm. The Concerto Concert winners are selected through auditions heard by a panel of WMU music professors.

If requested classes are not received, students must participate in the drop-add procedures.

Women's Chorus Concert April 17

The Women's Chorus, under the direction of Willard Hahnenberg, will give a free public concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 17, here in Kanley Chapel.

Two students in the chorus will have the opportunity to conduct during the program. They are seniors Janet Bills and Mary Clare Barker.

Faculty Woodwind Quintet To Perform

The Faculty Woodwind Quintet will conclude the Winter Friday Night Chamber Music series with a free public program at 8 p.m. April 18 in the Oakland Recital Hall.

Members of the quintet include Charles Osborne, flute; Robert Humiston, oboe; Daniel Kyser, clarinet; William Allgood, bassoon; and Neill Sanders, horn.

Draper-Siedschlag Celebrate Anniversary

Residents of the Draper-Siedschlag dormitory complex at Western are in the midst of a week-long 25th anniversary celebration, which began April 6 and continues through April 14.

Activities in the complex have included a square dance, a dress-up dinner, the "Absurd Olympics," and a formal dance, "Spring Dawning," is scheduled for Saturday, April 12. A program presenting the past year in review will be held Sunday, April 13, to conclude the festivities.

Opened in 1950, the two buildings were named after Lydia Siedschlag and the late Blanche Draper, former faculty and staff members, respectively.

Alumni of the dormitory complex are invited to participate in the celebration. Further information may be obtained by calling 383-2966.

Set Foreign Language Tourney

A foreign language tournament, sponsored by Western's modern and classical languages department on Saturday, April 19, is expected to attract about 225 students from at least 22 Southwestern Michigan junior and senior high schools.

The WMU tournament, first held in 1968, is now staged every two years. Students enter four different classes according to their years of language study and participate in contests designed to display their comprehension and correct usage of language in a prepared recitation of poetry.

The contests are intended to test the students' speaking, reading and linguistic abilities in either French, German, Latin or Spanish, and to encourage interest and proficiency in the learning of the classical and modern foreign language.

A secondary purpose is to familiarize the students with language programs and facilities at the University level in the hope that some may be encouraged to continue language studies beyond high school.

A highlight of the program will be a number of presentations of short plays by the students, spoken in a foreign language. Trophies will be awarded to students winning individual competition and to the group presenting the "best" play.

To Celebrate Debate Anniversary

The Golden Anniversary of intercollegiate debate competition at WMU will be celebrated Saturday, April 19, with a 6:30 p.m. dinner in the east ballroom, University Student Center.

Actually, intercollegiate debate began at Western in 1922 under the coaching of the late Dr. Floyd Moore of the economics department faculty and Miss Louise Rousseau of the speech department faculty, when on April 5 a team from Michigan Agricultural College (now Michigan State University) beat a team from Western. Dr. Moore retired in 1959 as professor emeritus.

Reservations at $6.50 each should be made with Mrs. Deldee Herman, associate professor emeritus of communication arts and sciences, at 1214 Eldridge, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49007 (phone 616/344-7478) before April 15.

Moore was succeeded as men's debate coach by Dr. Carroll P. Lahman who served 18 years as intercollegiate coach until leaving Western in 1940. Lahman, of Mount Morris, Ill., plans to attend the dinner. He is a charter member of the Michigan Speech Association which this year also observes its 50th anniversary.

All past and present Western debaters are invited to attend the event, which begins with a 5:30 p.m. reception in the faculty lounge.

One highlight of the program will be the presentation of a national Distinguished Alumnus Award to Dr. H. Gardner Ackley, a 1936 WMU graduate and debater for three years, by Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensics fraternity.

He has been a Distinguished University Professor at the University of Michigan since 1970. While on an extended leave from the faculty, he served on the President's Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson beginning in 1962, finally chairing that body. He was named ambassador to Italy in 1968, serving for two years.

WMU debating alumni scheduled to attend the dinner include Dr. Paul Briggs, a 1934 graduate and superintendent of the Cleveland, Ohio, Public Schools; Dr. F. Carl Ostrander, a 1928 graduate, past president of the American Dental Association and a faculty member, University of Michigan dental school; and C. Carney Smith, a 1933 graduate and noted insurance executive of Alexandria, Virginia, among others.

A short program of selected three minute talks by alumni representatives of different periods in the life-span of debating at Western follows the dinner.

'Canterbury Tales' Closes UT Season

A delightful and rollicking musical adapted from the works of Geoffrey Chaucer, "Canterbury Tales," will be the final offering of the University Theatre this regular 1974-75 season. It will be presented in five performances at 8 p.m. on April 15-19 in the Laura V. Shaw Theatre.

Described as "a lively and bawdy collection of musical vignettes..." "Canterbury Tales" is adapted from Chaucer's work in which a group of pilgrims en route to Canterbury is joined by the host of the "Tabard Inn" and a poet. All agree to tell stories on the way to and back from Canterbury.

Sophomore Randace L. Rollison and junior Lance Tucker have the lead roles. Most of the other cast members are cast in dual or multiple roles; they include Gloria Boucher, William B. Langlois, Steven Grandelius, D. Neil Bremer, James Thacey, Cynthia Kania, James A. Kroll, Kathy Williams, Mark S. Wisniewski, Roseann Hamill, Herbert E. Thompson, John Hardy Garner, Paul D. Kelly, John P. Andersen, Anne Terease Fox, Jan DiStefano, Tom Barnes, Angela Bearden, Glenn Edward Nadboralski, Mary Ellen Patterson, Deborah Seymour, Tim Stanton and Debora Lea Treece.

Dr. David Karsten is directing with Dr. Vern Stillwell as scenic designer and technical director. William Haefner Spinning is choreographer and Pamela M. Pierce is vocal director. Costumes, makeup and properties are being handled, respectively, by Jill K. Peterson, Barbara L. Thompson and George Fleming. Andersen and Mary Kay Wisniewski are assisting the director.

Reserved seat tickets are $3.00 and are available through the Shaw Theatre box office. Telephone 383-1760 for reservation.

The Western News

The Western News is published by the Office of University Information each Thursday when classes are in session during fall and winter semesters.

Created to disseminate news to the entire University community, distribution is by mail to faculty, staff and emeriti, and students may pick up copies at several on-campus locations. Items should be submitted by noon Monday for publication.

University Information office hours:
8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday.

International String Workshop August 3-16 at Exeter, England

An International String Workshop, co-sponsored by WMU, will be held Aug. 3-16 in England.

Presented by Western and the American String Teachers Association in cooperation with the European String Teachers Association, the workshop will center at Exeter in southwest England.

Two of the 14 distinguished workshop faculty are from Western's music department faculty: Dr. Gerald F. Fischbach and Phyllis Rappeport, both associate professors. Fischbach is the workshop coordinator.

There also will be daily master classes and chamber music ensemble activities for participants with personal coaching, with emphasis on sampling rather than perfecting. A string orchestra will be part of the ensemble offerings. The workshop includes a series of lectures, discussions and concerts devoted to the relationship of music to the visual arts, emphasizing the technical and aesthetic elements and principles shared by both fields.

Workshop participants will hear and perform at Exeter in concerts, recitals and in chamber music presentations. They will also have time to tour nearby points of interest, including seaside resorts and Plymouth.

Enrollees can earn three hours of graduate or undergraduate credit from WMU. The cost is $435 for graduate credit, $420 for undergraduate credit, and $375 for non-credit; these include tuition, room and board. Transportation, with reduced fare charter flights available, can be arranged through Francis Sheehy, Performing Arts Abroad, 202 E. Michigan Ave., Kalamazoo, Mich. 49006, with round trip fare $325 from the east coast. Such reservations should be made at least 60 days prior to departure.

Application to attend the workshop should be made to the WMU Division of Continuing Education, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49008. A $50 deposit must be sent with each application and cannot be refunded after May 15. All fees must be paid by June 16.

Castel, Gibson, New Issues Press Publish History of Congress, 1774-1945

A history of Congress from the beginning of the American Revolution to the end of World War II has been written by two members of Western's history department faculty, Dr. Albert Castel and Scott L. Gibson.

The 185-page book, entitled "The Yeas and the Nays: Key Congressional Decisions, 1774-1945," has just been published by WMU's New Issues Press.

It contains descriptions and analyses of more than 200 laws, treaties, Constitutional amendments, and other Congressional actions of major historical significance. These include the House and Senate votes on these measures, plus breakdowns of the roll calls according to party affiliations and geographical sections.

Each of the book's 10 chapters is introduced by a survey of the national political situation and an account of important institutional developments in Congress during the period covered by the chapter.

Copies of "The Yeas and the Nays: Key Congressional Decisions, 1774-1945" can be obtained at WMU's Campus Bookstore, through Kalamazoo bookstores, or directly from the New Issues Press, WMU, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49008.

Math Awards Program Tuesday

WMU's rescheduled annual undergraduate mathematics awards colloquium will be at 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 15, in the math commons room of Everett Tower.

It had previously been scheduled for Thursday, April 3, but a heavy snow storm forced postponement of the event.

Dr. Phillip S. Jones, University of Michigan math professor, as originally scheduled will speak on "Fictitious Mathematics."

Elementary English Conference Friday

The first annual Elementary English Conference, sponsored by Western's English department, will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Friday, April 11, here in the University Student Center.

WMU faculty and students may attend the conference free.

Nancy Stone of Kalamazoo, adjunct assistant professor of English at WMU and author of two children's novels on Michigan history, will be the keynote speaker. She will speak generally about writing for children and outline some of the events involved in the writing of her two books, "Whistle Up the Bay" and "Wooden River."

The conference will feature a series of lectures, discussions, exhibits and workshops on language and literature for the elementary classroom.

Reservations for the luncheon at $3 each should be made with Dr. Jon Stott, conference chairperson, WMU English department, phone 383-0945.

Open House Today

An additional open house for non-traditional women students at WMU is scheduled at the Susan B. Anthony Center in the Canterbury Center on campus from noon to 2 p.m., today, April 10.

Informal discussion with women faculty, S.B.A. Center staff and other women students is encouraged at these open houses. Coffee and tea are provided.

Set Math Colloquium

A graduate student working toward a Ph.D. in mathematics at Western, Saul Stahl of Kalamazoo, will speak at a public mathematics colloquium, 4 p.m., Thursday, April 17, in the math commons room, Everett Tower, WMU. His topic: "Self Dual Embeddings of Graph."

Job Openings

Below is a listing of the position openings currently being posted by the University Personnel Department, for current University employees.

Regular full-time and regular part-time employees interested in applying for these positions should submit a Job Opportunity Program application form to the Personnel Department during the posting period.

Wind, Percussion Conference Friday

The seventh annual Spring Conference on Wind and Percussion Music, sponsored by the department of music, will be held Friday, April 11, in Miller Auditorium.

This year the conference will feature guest conductor Frederick Fennell, a Michigan Composers Day honoring four outstanding composers from the state, a guest ensemble, the Ann Arbor-Huron High School Symphony Band, and an All-Star band comprised of band members from throughout Michigan. Clinic activities will begin at 10 a.m., with concerts throughout the afternoon. The Conference will culminate with an 8 o'clock concert that evening.

Persons desiring more detailed information on the Spring Conference, may phone the Department of Music at 383-0919. All activities will be free of charge.

Collegiate Singers Perform Sunday

The Collegiate Singers, under the direction of Mel Ivey, will present a free public program of choral works at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 13, in Oakland Recital Hall, sponsored by the department of music.

Nancy Spanninga and Sue Hill, two students who study conducting with Ivey, will direct during the concert.

'Studio Night' Here Friday

Demonstrations in bronze casting, vacuum forming, clay, welding, stone and plaster will highlight "Studio Night," from 6:30-10 p.m. Friday, April 11.

Sponsored by the WMU art department, the demonstrations will be in the sculpture area, Sangren Hall on campus.

Invite Emeriti To Commencement

The emeriti of WMU are invited to attend the winter commencement and presidential inauguration ceremony at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 26, in Read Fieldhouse.

If you would like to attend, please write Dennis Boyle, registrar, or call him at 383-1630 so that a ticket in the reserved section may be sent to you.

City Planning Dept. Requests Assistance

The Kalamazoo City Planning Department has contacted WMU seeking its assistance in locating an unknown male student who was given too many copies of a city zoning map by mistake last week.

The student requested a copy of the map; when he returned to pick up the copy, he was given the mylar map and five extra copies by mistake.

That student is asked to contact Mrs. Wade in the City Planning Department, 381-5000, extension 220, as soon as possible.

Semester's Last Rock Concert April 21 Will Feature Browne, Snow in Read

WMU's final winter semester rock concert will feature Jackson Browne and Phoebe Snow at 8 p.m. Monday, April 21, in Read Fieldhouse, sponsored by the student concert committee.

Browne broke into the music scene in 1967 performing his own songs in balladeer-type clubs in New York City and Los Angeles. In 1968, he began to gain some attention for his songs and, after returning to Los Angeles, he concentrated on writing. His work was soon recorded by several artists, including Johnny Rivers, Linda Ronstadt, Brewer and Shipley and The Byrds.

After recording his first album for Asylum Records in 1971,

Browne appeared nationally in clubs and in concert tours with Joni Mitchell during the spring of 1972. His most recent tours were in 1973, when Browne headlined a 40-city national tour with Linda Ronstadt and then again in the fall of 1974, an additional 40-city tour with blues guitarist, Bonnie Raitt. Both tours played to sold out houses.

Joining Browne at WMU will be recording artist, Phoebe Snow whose latest hit "Poetry Man" is currently number seven on the hit charts in Billboard Magazine. Tickets went on sale Monday, April 7, at the Miller Auditorium ticket office. Ticket prices are $5.00 for general admission.

Track Team To Tennessee

Relay competition in seven events is the main point of emphasis for WMU's varsity men's track team this week as it participates in the Dogwood Relays today through Saturday in Knoxville, Tenn.

This also will mark the initial decathlon activity of the season for junior Dale DeBruin, who was runner-up for 1974 Mid-American Conference honors after finishing third at Dogwood.

Last Saturday, WMU extended its unbeaten dual string to 49 meets since 1965 by scoring 96 points at Ball State while the host Cardinals finished with 53½ and Indiana State, 52½.

Following the weekend competition, the Broncos will be in Mount Pleasant next Tuesday for a dual engagement with Central Michigan.

Bronco Gridders Back to Basics

A gradual rate of improvement had been achieved by Western Michigan's football team prior to last Saturday, but Coach Elliot Uzelac and his staff now have the squad returning to work on basics.

"We had a three day layoff due to the snow storm and the lack of activity was evident in Saturday's scrimmage," explained the first-year Bronco coach. "We weren't ready to play that day, especially the defense. Up until that point, we liked what we had seen in regard to improvement."

The coaching staff planned to conduct five practices this week with another game-type scrimmage set for Saturday. Another scrimmage situation involving option football is slated today.

Western's Bowlers Hold Narrow Lead

The WMU women's bowling team retained a precarious one-game grip on first place in the Michigan Inter-collegiate Bowling League after last Saturday's action at Michigan State.

Western swept the Eastern Michigan three-game series and took one of three from Muskegon Community College. Following the weekend action, Coach Harriet Creed's keggers hold the top position of the MIBL standings with a 37-11 seasonal record.

The bowlers will close the season at Eastern Michigan University on April 19 when they take on second-place Central and Michigan State.

Women Thinclads To Michigan State

The WMU women's track and field team travel to Michigan State University to compete in the first outdoor meet of the 1975 season this Saturday.

The meet will mark the first opportunity Coach Jean Friedel will have to view the performances of several new additions to the squad. Joining the thinclads are veterans Carol Sheldon and Ann Platte from the basketball team, and Augusta Lipsey, the standout sophomore gymnastics performer. New to the team are Pam Clysdale and Diane Blake; Blake also participated in WMU's basketball program this season.

People To People Invite Cagers To Tour Scandnavia in August

Coaches and players of Western's varsity men's basketball team will conduct a fund raising effort for the purpose of a three-week European visit this summer on behalf of an invitation extended by the People-To-People Sports Committee.

The proposed trip will take place in August with competition scheduled in Finland, and possibly one other Scandinavian country.

"Friends of mine in the coaching profession who have made similar trips have indicated it was one of their greatest experiences in basketball," commented WMU Coach Eldon Miller. "This will be great for our program and particularly for our players to experience international competition and travel."

"This is a separate fund raising effort conducted apart from University or Athletic Department projects such as the Gary Scholarship Fund," stressed Athletic Director Dr. Joseph T. Hoy. "All funds must be raised from outside the University and the trip is contingent on the efforts of the players and coaches."

Contributions on behalf of the European trip, however, will be coordinated through the Annual Fund

Tennis at Purdue

Western Michigan's varsity men's tennis team plays the first of three 1975 matches against a Big Ten opponent today at Purdue University.

Coach Jack Vredevelt's Bronco club stopped Grand Valley State, 9-0, this past weekend to boost its overall record to 5-4.

Office and contributions are tax deductible. Checks should be made payable to Western Michigan University.

Plan Backpack In Mountains

A group of 30 WMU students and up to five faculty will embark April 26 on a nine day excursion to backpack and camp in the Great Smokey Mountains National Park in Tennessee.

WMU's Honors College, which is sponsoring the trip, notes there is room only for up to four more faculty participants, with cost information available from the Honors College.

Leading the backpackers will be Mary C. Brown, assistant professor of women's physical education, who recently conducted several workshops on necessary equipment, clothing, menu planning and trail cooking to prepare participants for the expedition.

Each person is expected to carry an average 30 pounds of food and equipment including sleeping bags, with all food brought from Kalamazoo. Brown estimates food costs at no more than $15 a person.

WMU junior tennis player Tony Lamerato is the defending Mid-American Conference No. 1 singles champion and also won a No. 1 doubles crown as a freshman.

Four Philosophy Faculty Honored

Four WMU philosophy department faculty members have been chosen to participate in the 1975 summer seminars for college teachers, sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Only 120 were selected nationally for the June 16-Aug. 8 seminars.

Dr. Joseph Ellin, department chairman, will study at Tufts University with Dr. Hugo Bedau on "Social Justice: Distributive, Retributive and Compensatory."

Dr. Arthur Falk, associate professor, will study at Calvin College with Dr. Alvin Plantinga on the topic "God and Necessity."

Dr. Gregory Sheridan, associate professor, will study at Princeton University with Dr. Richard Rorty on "Revolts Against Epistemological and Metaphysical Dualisms."

Judith Wilson, assistant professor, will take part in a seminar at the University of California at San Diego on "Skepticism and Rationality" with Dr. Keith Lehrer of the University of Arizona faculty. She had also been selected for a seminar at Notre Dame University, but had to turn it down because of the conflict with the one she chose to attend at San Diego.

The purpose of the summer seminar program is to give university and college teachers the opportunity to work with distinguished scholars in their fields to sharpen understanding and improve their ability to transmit it to college students. In addition to the seminar work, they may pursue personal study of their own choosing.

Accepting Seibert Fund Applications

Faculty and students are again reminded of the existence of the Russell H. Seibert Fund for undergraduate students. It is not too early to file applications now for the coming summer or next fall.

Support is provided undergraduates for various kinds of scholarly activity such as research or undergraduate assistantships. Information and application forms are available at the Honors College together with a list of deadline dates.

Students are urged to discuss the Seibert fund with their faculty. Department chairpersons have information on the fund.

Establish Bradley Physics Award

The George E. Bradley Physics Award has been established by the WMU department of physics to recognize the outstanding physics teaching assistant each year.

The award is named in honor of the late Dr. George E. Bradley, professor and former head and chairman of the WMU physics department, who died Feb. 15 at age 50.

Interested persons should send their contributions to the George E. Bradley Award, in care of the Annual Fund Office, WMU, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49008.

Give Multi-Ethnic Seminar

Dr. LeRoi R. Ray, Jr., professor and director of Western's Black Americana studies program, recently conducted a seminar on "Problems and Approaches in Multi-Ethnic Education" at Grambling, La., State University, sponsored by the elementary education department there.
