Chiara, professor of teacher education; Dr. Theodore L. Carlson, professor of economics; and Dr. James W. Miller, president emeritus. (WMU Newsphoto)

To Close Parts of Two Campus Streets from April 28-Sept. 1

Parts of two WMU campus streets will be closed from April 28-Sept. 1 during the construction of the Western Avenue expansion.

The major changes involve the closing of VandeGiessen Road from Howard Street north to a point south of East and West Shaw Lanes; and the closing of Western Avenue from in front of Building D in the Elmwood Apartment Complex to VandeGiessen Road.

During the construction, Arcadia Road will be opened to two-way traffic and parking will be prohibited on both sides of that campus street to facilitate the traffic flow. Also, traffic exiting the Read Fieldhouse parking lot onto Oliver Street will be permitted to turn left (east) onto Stadium Drive; however, no Stadium Drive traffic will be per-

Access to Miller Auditorium parking lots will be from Howard Street, just east of the pedestrian overpass, throughout the construction period. The Knollwood Avenue to Auditorium Drive route also will remain open during this period.

Every effort will be made to provide access to Parking Lot No. 23 on the south side of Western Avenue, across from the Elmwood Apartments. Access to Parking Lots No. 22 and 24 for Elmwood Apartment residents will be provided by Arcadia Road to VandeGiessen Road to either Moore Drive or East Shaw Lane.

Access to the Wood Hall and Maybee Music Building parking lots will be provided by Arcadia Road or by Auditorium Drive to West Shaw Lane to VandeGiessen Road.

Summer Hours Under Study

"The possibility of continuing the summer hours practice is currently under study," said Robert B. Wetnight, WMU vice president for finance, in response to several petitions and letters that have been sent to the University administration concerning office hours.

In a recent statement, Wetnight indicated a new work day schedule of 7:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., effective Monday, April 28. However, no reference was made to summer hours.

An announcement on these hours will be forthcoming, he said.

University Names Negotiating Team

Four persons have been named to the University's collective bargaining negotiating team, Dr. Stephen R. Mitchell, WMU vice president for academic affairs, announced today in a letter to deans and department chairmen.

Team members are: Robert Beecher, University controller; Robert Huston, labor counsel; Dr. John Nangle, associate director of the Office of Institutional Research; and Dr. Barbara Sherman, assistant for academic planning and budgeting in the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Mitchell indicated the appointments were made following consultation with WMU President John T. Bernhard and the University's Board of Trustees. He also reported that Huston will serve as the University's chief negotiator.

"The persons named above will comprise the University's basic bargaining team, although others may be included on an ad hoc basis as particular issues are being discussed," Mitchell said.

Elect Bargaining Steering Committee

A 9-member steering committee has been elected by the Bargaining Council of the WMU chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

Officers and members of the steering committee are: Mary C. Brown, assistant professor of physical education for women, chairperson; Dr. James H. Powell, associate chairman and professor of mathematics, vice chairperson; Dr. William W. Combs, professor of English, recording secretary; Lynwood Bartley, assistant professor of humanities; Beatrice Beech, assistant professor and humanities librarian; Dr. Robert Bowers, professor of economics; Roscoe A. Douglas, associate professor of mechanical engineering; Robert Johnston, associate professor of art; and Dr. Conner "Bill" Otteson, professor of marketing.

They will integrate the work of the Bargaining Council and coordinate that work with the AAUP negotiating team, said Dr. Mary Cain, professor of teacher education and vice president of the AAUP executive committee.

Set Library Break Hours

The WMU libraries will operate under a revised schedule of open hours during the break between winter semester and spring session, April 25-May 5.

All libraries will be open until 5 p.m. Friday, April 25, but all libraries, except Waldo Library, will be closed Saturday and Sunday, April 26 and 27. Waldo will be open April 26 from 10 a.m.-5 p.m., but closed April 27.

Also, all libraries will be open until 5 p.m. Monday-Friday, April 28-May 2, and all except Waldo will be closed Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4. Waldo will be open until 5 p.m. May 3.

The schedule of operation for the libraries for spring session will be announced in the April 24 edition of the Western News.

Elsasser Award To Nancy Diehl

Nancy J. Diehl, a WMU senior from Grosse Pointe Park, has been named recipient of the Arden J. Elsasser Memorial Scholarship in political science at WMU. The award was established by the Kalamazoo League of Women Voters.

A political science major with a minor in general business, she plans to enroll in the Wayne State University Law School next year and specialize in criminal law. She has compiled straight A grades in her first seven semesters at WMU.

The scholarship memorializes Mrs. Arden J. Elsasser, a 1967 WMU cum laude graduate who died in 1969. She gave distinguished service to the League of Women Voters and made significant contributions to the Kalamazoo community.

The $300 award is made annually to a woman undergraduate or graduate student majoring in political science at Western on the basis of outstanding academic achievement and a record of community and political activity outside the classroom.

Mediterranean Study Deadline Friday

Several places are still available for WMU's July 22-Aug. 18 Mediterranean World Institute, but the application deadline is Friday, April 18.

Participants will jet from Chicago to Germany and Switzerland, and then via cruise ship to ports of call in Egypt, Lebanon, Israel, Turkey, Greece and Italy. Cost is $1,399 plus taxes, and students may earn up to four hours academic credit. Faculty and staff also are welcome.

Because of CAB requirements for charter flights, this Friday is the deadline for applications. Instructors are Dr. Paul Maier and Dr. Nicholas Hamner of WMU's history department, where information flyers and applications are available.

The Western News

The Western News is published by the Office of University Information each Thursday when classes are in session during fall and winter semesters.

Created to disseminate news to the entire University community, distribution is by mail to faculty, staff and emeriti, and students may pick up copies at several on-campus locations. Items should be submitted by noon Monday for publication.

University Information office hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday.
Telephone: 383-0981.

To Install Ratliffe as President At State Speech Conference Here

WMU will host the 50th anniversary spring conference on the Michigan Speech Association (MSA) Friday and Saturday, April 18-19, here on campus.

A highlight of the conference will be the installation of Dr. Sharon A. Ratliffe, associate professor of communication arts and sciences at WMU, as president of the 500-member association. She has been first vice president the past year.

WMU President John T. Bernhard will extend the welcome following a 7 p.m. Friday banquet in the University Student Center to open the conference.

A number of WMU faculty, in addition to Ratliffe, will have important roles in the conference. Dr. Charles T. Brown, professor and chairman, department of communication arts and sciences, will speak on "Interpersonal Communication in a Future Shock World" at 11 a.m., Saturday in 3760 Knauss Hall, and Mrs. Deldee M. Herman, associate professor emerita, and Thomas F. Pagel, assistant professor of communication arts and sciences, will direct tours of the department and University Theatre facilities. Mrs. Herman is also conference local arrangements chairperson.

The first general meeting is at 9 a.m. Saturday in Shaw Theatre, followed by sectional meetings in Knauss Hall and Shaw Theatre at 9:30 a.m.

One of these 9:30 a.m. sessions, on "Children's Experimental Theatre: A Performance," features a play cast with eight WMU students directed by Lyda J. Stillwell, assistant professor of communication arts and sciences, in the Arena of Shaw Theatre. Early elementary school children will be a part of the audience for the play designed for such an age group.

A number of charter members of the MSA and former presidents will be honored during the conference, including several former WMU faculty members and WMU alumni. A 4 p.m. Executive Council meeting in 2217 Brown Hall closes the conference on Saturday.

Midwest Business Communicators To Meet Here This Weekend

Dr. Richard A. Hatch, WMU associate professor of business education and administrative services, will chair the Midwest regional meeting of the American Business Communication Association (ABCA) April 18-19 here at Western.

Hatch is vice president midwest of the association, which has about 1,000 members, mostly in the U.S. and Canada. The organization is comprised of teachers of business and organizational communication, and practitioners of business communication in industry and government.

He expects about 75 persons from Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Ontario, Canada, to attend this weekend's meeting in the Student Center.

In conjunction with the ABCA meeting, a workshop on business communications for community college teachers will be held 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m., Friday, April 18, also in the Student Center. This workshop is co-sponsored by the WMU business education and administrative services department and the ABCA.

The ABCA meeting begins 7 p.m., Friday in 159 Student Center with a free public talk by Clyde Witt, general manager, Angle Steel Division, Kewaunee Scientific Equipment Corp., Plainwell, on "How a Businessman Looks at Communication."

At 9 a.m. Saturday, Dr. Carol A. Ryan, assistant professor of management, and Dr. Ronald DeYoung, associate professor of business education and administrative services, both of WMU, will speak on "What You Can Teach Your Business Communication Students About Oral Presentations Even Though You're Not Really a Speech Teacher," in 159 Student Center, as part of the ABCA program.

Other speakers will talk on such topics as "The Improvement of Teaching Through Theatrical Devices" at 11 a.m. and "Stimulating the Business World in the Business Communication Classroom" at 1:30. The ABCA regional business meeting at 3 p.m. closes the event.

Western's 1974-75 hockey team averaged 7.84 goals per game.

Industrial Education Cites Top Senior

Steven W. Anderson, a WMU senior from Paw Paw, has been announced as recipient of the 1975 Scholar/Craftsman Award as the outstanding senior in Western's industrial education department.

Anderson, an industrial arts major, is presently student teaching at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Hines, Ill., near Chicago, working with blind, spinal injured and veterans with drug and alcohol problems. He teaches woodworking, metalworking and plastics skills to these military veterans.

Present Newell IMA Certificate

Dr. Gale E. Newell, WMU associate professor of accountancy, has been awarded the Certificate of Distinguished Performance by the Institute of Management Accounting (IMA), Ann Arbor, Mich.

In the announcement of Newell's honor, IMA Chairman J. G. Underwood, said, "It is our belief that the excellent grades you received on the examination represent an important indication of your personal abilities in the field of managerial accounting."

The presentation will be at the annual conference of the National Association of Accountants June 22-25 at Anaheim, Calif.

To Conduct Old Music Concert

Audrey Davidson, assistant professor of humanities at Western, at 8 p.m., Sunday, April 20, will conduct the Society for Old Music in a concert in the Kalamazoo Valley Community College auditorium.

The program, entitled, "The Splendor of the Baroque," will hear Barry Ross, Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra concertmaster, as guest artist. Compositions by Monteverdi, Schuetz and Biber are featured.

Tickets are $2 each.

Foreign Language Tournament Saturday

Some 230 students from 20 high schools and junior highs in west Michigan will compete in a foreign language tournament here on campus Saturday, sponsored by Western's modern and classical languages department.

The tourney is not open to the public.

Set Math Talk

A Fulbright scholar, who is currently a visiting professor at Michigan State University, will speak at a free public mathematics colloquium at 4 p.m., Thursday, April 24, here in the Math Commons Room, Everett Tower.

He is Mehdi Behzad of Arya-Mehr University, Teheran, Iran, who will speak on "Graphs and Their Spectra." Refreshments will be served at 3:30 p.m.

Lectures at Notre Dame

Dr. H. Byron Earhart, WMU associate professor of religion, gave two lectures at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., yesterday.

He spoke on "Japanese New Religions: Old Wine in New Bottles"; and on "Japanese and Korean New Religions: Comparison and Contrast," illustrating the lecture with slides.

Two Spear Awards Given

Two students are recipients of the 1975 Marion R. Spear Award given annually by the WMU department of occupational therapy.

They are, George Dean, a senior from Twin Lake; and Ms. Anne C. Read, a graduate student from Seattle, Wash.

Established in 1938, the award is traditionally presented to the senior or graduate student who has demonstrated an unusual amount of professional interest and perseverance in achieving his or her goal and who demonstrates the potential for making future contributions to the profession, explained Dean R. Tyndall, professor and chairman of the occupational therapy department.

The award is named in honor of Marion R. Spear of Cherry Valley, N.Y., founder of the Kalamazoo School of Occupational Therapy, 1922-44, and first director of the curriculum at WMU, 1944-58. She is a WMU emeritus associate professor.

C/T Committee Has Vacancies

Currently, there are a couple of vacancies on the WMU Clerical/Technical Employee Relations Advisory Committee (ERAC), Wanda Fankhauser, ERAC chairman, has announced.

Interested C/T employees should apply for the vacancies by contacting her in the Property Control Office, 383-6093.

She explained that ERAC members are selected to broadly represent the geographical and classification spectrum of the C/T employees. The committee meets monthly with the University's personnel department to discuss concerns of all C/T employees, Fankhauser said.

Name Advisory Committee For Physicians' Assistants

State legislators, physicians, hospital administrators, community leaders and students are among 27 persons appointed to an advisory committee for Western's physicians' assistants (PA) program.

In making the appointments, Dr. Stephen R. Mitchell, WMU vice president for academic affairs, said, "We are bringing together key community personnel representing the medical profession, health care facilities and other community agencies to advise us on policy matters related to the program objectives."

"Also, through the committee, we hope to clarify the role of the Physicians' Assistant as the new member of the health care team and to encourage community support for the project," he added.

Western's is one of 19 American Medical Association-approved PA baccalaureate degree programs to train assistants to the primary care physician in the United States and only one of two such programs in Michigan; the other Michigan program is at Mercy College in Detroit.

"Our program is part of the national effort to increase access to primary and ambulatory care," stressed Dr. Mary E. Hawthorne, interim director of WMU's PA program. Western's program was initially funded by the Bureau of Health Manpower Education, National Institutes of Health; its first class of 17 was graduated last August.

Dr. George G. Mallinson, dean of the Graduate College and director of the program at WMU, will serve as committee chairman. Members are: State Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo; State Rep. Howard Wolpe of Kalamazoo; Robert Azar, executive director, South Central Michigan Health Planning Council, Battle Creek;

Dr. Alfred Hamady, M.D., Battle Creek Community Hospital; Merwyn Scholten, Michigan State Medical Society, East Lansing; Dr. William A. Decker, M.D., medical superintendent, Kalamazoo State Hospital; Dan Finch, administrator, Bronson Methodist Hospital, Kalamazoo; Martin Verzi, administrator, Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo; Dr. Robert Grekin, M.D., president-elect, Kalamazoo Medical Society;

Ms. Margaret Miller, Kalamazoo County Commission; Moses Walker, director, Douglas Community Association, Kalamazoo; Dr. Patricia Zelkowitz, M.D., and Dr. Charles Zeller, M.D., liaison with SMAHEC for Borgess and Bronson Hospitals, respectively;

Dr. James Amlicke, M.D., Dr. Edward Carter, M.D., Dr. Robert S. Gove, M.D., Dr. James H. McCarthy, M.D., William Murrain, WMU director of minority services, Barry Myers, WMU senior class PA student, Dr. Clarence Nyce, M.D., Larry Rick, WMU junior class PA student, and Robert Swander, 709 S. Westnedge, all of Kalamazoo;

Michael Davis, graduate of the WMU PA program, Portage; Richard Fitzpatrick, Hilltop Advertising, Inc., Battle Creek; Dr. Richard Kik, D.O., Richland; and Robert Stafford, Upjohn Company, Portage.

The committee's first meeting is at noon Monday, April 21, in the University's Student Center.

Wins Clausung Scholarship

Jeffrey L. Runser, a senior at Bridgman High School, has won the 1975-76 Clausung Corp. scholarship to Western for next fall.

The scholarship, renewable for up to four years if Runser maintains adequate grades at WMU, while working toward a degree in industrial education, has a total value of $1,200.

Plan Backpack To Isle Royale

An intermediate backpacking course, consisting primarily of a trip to Isle Royale, is being offered by Western's department of physical education for women.

Although the course will be conducted from Aug. 23-Sept. 1, a pre-trip class meeting will be held at 9 p.m. Wednesday, April 23, in 2470 Dunbar Hall. If space is still available in the course, a second pre-trip meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 20, also in 2470 Dunbar Hall.

Course enrollment is limited to 24 students. Interested students should enroll in PEGN 175 for one credit hour during the fall pre-registration period which is underway now until July 21. Prerequisite is PEGN 133—Orienteering/Backpacking or equivalent experience.

Participants are expected to supply their own equipment and food. The $55 fee covers campsites and transportation from Kalamazoo to Isle Royale and return. Course instructor will be Mary C. Brown, assistant professor. More information can be obtained by contacting her.

Participates in Law, Women Conference

Allene W. Dietrich, instructor in the social science area of the College of General Studies, recently served as a panel member at a three-day Conference on Women and the Law at Stanford University.

The panel discussed the problems of sex discrimination in elementary and secondary schools, how to deal with sexism, how to gather public support for reform, and how to use available laws.

Kalamazoo was represented on the panel because of a complaint filed by the Committee to Study Sex Discrimination (CSSD) with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in June, 1973. It charged that a set of elementary school textbooks used in the Kalamazoo Public Schools discriminated against females. Dietrich was co-author of the study on personnel practices and policies, and she testified in Washington, D.C.

Baseball Home Openers Here

Mid-American Conference baseball play commences here over the weekend as Western Michigan takes on Kent State on Friday and Ohio University on Saturday in a pair of 1 p.m. doubleheaders at Hyames Field.

Coach Bill Chambers' Broncos were impressive Tuesday when they swept a doubleheader from Michigan State by 10-1 and 3-2 scores at East Lansing.

Bronco Golfers Host Tri-State

The Western Michigan varsity men's golf team makes its final local appearance of 1975 hosting Tri-State College of Angola, Ind., at 11 a.m. Saturday at Lake Doster Golf Club.

This course is located five miles East of Plainwell on Highway M-89.

Coach Merle Schlosser's Broncos took team honors at the University of Toledo Tournament on Monday as Stymie Poore was the individual medalist with a 69.

Western Runners In Ohio Relays

The varsity men's track team will be in Columbus, Ohio, on Friday and Saturday for its first appearance in many years at the Ohio State Relays.

Relay activity will be the main emphasis for WMU and Coach Jack Shaw expects the best showings to come in the 440 and 880 events, where he will enter a team composed of Ken Pettis, Don Prophet, Halbert Bates and Curtis Long.

Led by Long's three first place finishes, Western extended its unbeaten dual meet record to 50 straight Tuesday by trampling Central Michigan, 103-62, at Mount Pleasant.

Faculty Golf Entries Due

Entries for the spring faculty golf league are now being accepted at the Intramural Office, 101 Gary Center. Play will be conducted Wednesday afternoons at Ridgeview Golf Course, 10360 W. Main.

Two man teams will begin play Wednesday, May 7.

Deadline for entry is noon Friday, April 25. A $3.00 entry fee must accompany each individual entry.

Spring Grid Game Saturday

Five weeks of practice for Western's football team will end with the annual Spring Game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Waldo Stadium. Admission is free to the public.

New Coach Elliot Uzelac and his staff will match the No. 1 offensive and defensive units together against the balance of the squad and the contest will be played under game type conditions with the exception of kickoffs. Personnel changes will be made with the top platoons as the session progresses.

Bronco Netters Host Triangular

Tennis teams representing Toledo, Kent State and Henry Ford Community College will be here Friday and Saturday for a series of three-way dual meets hosted by WMU.

Friday competition at the Ellsworth Courts begins at 3 p.m., while Saturday activity commences at 9 a.m. and at 1:30 p.m. Coach Jack Vredevelt's Broncos oppose Kent State Friday and Toledo and Henry Ford the second day.

These also will be the first of nine dual engagements within the Mid-American Conference for the Broncos, who now stand 5-5 for the season after a narrow, 5-4, setback at Purdue last Thursday.

Schedule McCracken Power Shutdown

Electrical power will be shut off in McCracken Hall for transformer servicing for several hours on Monday, April 28. Power will be restored prior to 3:30 p.m. that same date.

"We demonstrated great improvement both offensively and defensively in last Saturday's scrimmage," remarked Uzelac. "It was a fine performance except for some penalties and fumbles."

The squad will work out twice this week prior to Saturday. A goal line scrimmage was held Tuesday and a third and long scrimmage situation was planned for today.

Offensively, letterman Pepper Powers and first-semester freshman speedster Solie Boone have been splitting quarterback duties.

Intramural News

Art Student Helps RSVP

A WMU art department graduate student from Grand Rapids, Elizabeth A. Conrad, has designed a new fold-up paper poster for Kalamazoo's Retired Senior Volunteer Program, donating her services.

She estimates she spent more than 20 hours designing the eye-catching red and yellow poster, with only a small amount of art supplies charged to the project.

About 2,000 of the posters have been printed and are being distributed around the Kalamazoo area. The poster features yellow print on a red background and is keynoted by the large logo, RSVP, across a bottom panel.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program is national in scope and pointed toward persons over 60 who want to help their neighbors, community and country. There are no education or income requirements to join.

An RSVP volunteer might assist a teacher for a day at a care center, spend some time with the homebound, help hospital patients, or serve as a driver for Meals-on-Wheels, which brings prepared food to shut-ins.

The Kalamazoo Retired Senior Volunteer Program is headquartered at 123 Connors Hall, Nazareth College.

Many Students Seeking Jobs

The Student Employment Referral Service (SERS) has many applications on file from various qualified students who can do just about any job, and will be attending WMU spring and/or summer.

If you have a job opening in your department or even around your house—be sure to contact the SERS in the Student Services Building in the Office of Student Financial Aid and Scholarships, telephone 383-1806.
