A REPORT OF AN INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE
AT THREE RIVERS COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

Robert E. Sickles, Ed.S.
Western Michigan University, 1981

This report describes an internship experience completed in the central administrative offices at Three Rivers Community Schools, Three Rivers, Michigan, during the summer of 1981.

The purpose of the internship was to enrich the intern's experience and understanding of the role and responsibilities of an assistant superintendent. To accomplish this, the intern was actively involved in the daily activities of the assistant superintendent. Valuable practical experiences were acquired by placing special emphasis on the areas of negotiations, employer-employee relations; employee selection and evaluation; and preparing a school system to be staffed and physically ready for a new school year. In addition, the intern had numerous opportunities to work with other administrators by observing their methods of operation and discussing with each their leadership philosophies and perceived responsibilities. Many of these experiences reinforced what the intern had learned through completed course work at the university.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the administrative staff at Three Rivers Community Schools for their assistance and support during this internship. Special thanks are extended to Mr. Don Iott, assistant superintendent and on-site supervisor, for his sincere interest, trust, and cooperation during this learning experience. I am also indebted to Mr. Ron Reece, superintendent, and to Ms. Diane Hoyt, secretary, for their varied assistance.

Special appreciation is extended to my advisor, Dr. Richard Munsterman, for his advice in preparing me for this internship.

I am also grateful to my wife, Cheryl, for her encouragement and continuing patience throughout the process of attaining this educational goal.

INFORMATION TO USERS

This was produced from a copy of a document sent to us for microfilming. While the most advanced technological means to photograph and reproduce this document have been used, the quality is heavily dependent upon the quality of the material submitted.

The following explanation of techniques is provided to help you understand markings or notations which may appear on this reproduction.

1. The sign or “target” for pages apparently lacking from the document photographed is “Missing Page(s)”. If it was possible to obtain the missing page(s) or section, they are spliced into the film along with adjacent pages. This may have necessitated cutting through an image and duplicating adjacent pages to assure you of complete continuity.

2. When an image on the film is obliterated with a round black mark it is an indication that the film inspector noticed either blurred copy because of movement during exposure, or duplicate copy. Unless we meant to delete copyrighted materials that should not have been filmed, you will find a good image of the page in the adjacent frame. If copyrighted materials were deleted you will find a target note listing the pages in the adjacent frame.

3. When a map, drawing or chart, etc., is part of the material being photographed the photographer has followed a definite method in “sectioning” the material. It is customary to begin filming at the upper left hand corner of a large sheet and to continue from left to right in equal sections with small overlaps. If necessary, sectioning is continued again—beginning below the first row and continuing on until complete.

4. For any illustrations that cannot be reproduced satisfactorily by xerography, photographic prints can be purchased at additional cost and tipped into your xerographic copy. Requests can be made to our Dissertations Customer Services Department.

5. Some pages in any document may have indistinct print. In all cases we have filmed the best available copy.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

The internship was conducted by working primarily in the central administrative offices at Three Rivers Community Schools in Three Rivers, Michigan. Time for the internship began June 22 and terminated July 31, 1981.

Three Rivers is located approximately twenty miles south of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Although the majority of the residents work at area businesses, farming, small machine shops or the new General Motors plant, many commute to either Kalamazoo, Sturgis or areas in Indiana for employment.

At the time of the internship, the population of the school district totaled 2,947 students. The district offered seven elementary schools, one junior high school and one senior high school. The administrative team included one superintendent, an assistant superintendent, a community school director, a transportation director, a food service manager, nine building principals, two assistant principals, an athletic director and a shared-time vocational education director.

Before the internship could actually begin, it was necessary for the intern to meet with his advisor, Dr. Richard Munsterman. The purpose was to select a school district and an administrator with whom to carry out the internship. Three Rivers Community Schools was selected because of its proximity to the intern's home and to Western Michigan University. Although these were important considerations, the primary reason for this choice was the intern would have the opportunity to work with Mr. Don Iott, assistant superintendent. Other people had already counseled the intern that Mr. Iott was an administrator "who got things done". The intern was eager for the opportunity to work with this assistant superintendent.

After an initial meeting with Mr. Iott, a design for the internship was completed. Although the intern would be spending a majority of the time with Mr. Iott, considerable experiences would be gained by working with other administrators within the system. Targeted areas of work or experience were as follows: contract negotiations, employee selection and evaluation, leadership styles, school finance, preparing a school system to be staffed and ready for a new school year, elementary education, athletics, transportation, food service, and community education.

To complete the requirements for the Educational Specialist degree, a student must decide between the merits of completing a written research project or participating in an internship. Although the intern has been an assistant principal in a Kalamazoo area high school for the last two years, seven years prior to this, the intern was a distributive education teacher at both the secondary and post-secondary levels. Central to all vocational educational areas is the emphasis and belief in the value of "hands-on" experiences as an effective learning tool. As a result, because of the intern's background and strong belief in "learning by doing", the administrative internship was chosen as the appropriate learning experience.

By selecting the internship experience, the intern felt confident in his ability to not only become knowledgeable with the role and responsibilities of an assistant superintendent, but also of administrative operations and skills basic to any administrative position. Finally, it also coincided with the intern's career goal of becoming an assistant superintendent or business manager.

The intern was exposed to many valuable experiences during the six weeks. Although the intern cannot claim to be an expert in any of the proposed experience areas, a general understanding of the role and responsibilities of assistant superintendent was attained.
CHAPTER II

PROSPECTUS

To begin the internship, a written prospectus was required. After receiving input and guidance from Dr. Munsterman, university advisor, the following prospectus was submitted:

INTERN: Robert E. Sickles

SPONSORING ORGANIZATION: Three Rivers Community Schools

FIELD SUPERVISOR: Mr. Don Iott, Assistant Superintendent, Three Rivers Community Schools

UNIVERSITY ADVISOR: Dr. Richard Munsterman, Department of Educational Leadership, Western Michigan University

MAJOR FOCUS OF EXPERIENCE: To develop and broaden conceptual, human and technical skills as they relate to the position of assistant superintendent of a public school system

DURATION: Six weeks commencing June 22, 1981

RATIONALE:

For the past eight years, the intern has been employed by Gull Lake Community Schools, Richland, Michigan. During these first six years, he was a distributive education teacher. The intern's responsibilities included teaching marketing skills and coordinating co-op students. Since the fall of 1979, the intern has been the assistant principal. His responsibilities with this position focus on handling discipline related problems, teacher evaluations and advisor for various groups.

Although the intern has experienced many of the problems today's building principals face, he still feels inadequate in relating these problems to those experienced by central administrators. While the intern often works with discipline matters, parents, teacher problems, athletics, student organizations etc., a central administrator has different daily concerns. As a result, the intern looks forward to this internship as it will provide him with the opportunity to work closely with a central office administrator. The intern also looks forward to this project as it will give him experience working with unfamiliar people in an unfamiliar setting.

In order to gain as much as possible from this internship, the intern sought opinions from administrators both in and out of his school system. Many recommended Mr. Don Iott, assistant superintendent, at Three Rivers Community Schools. As a result, the intern talked with Mr. Iott about this internship and he agreed to work with him.

Other than building principals and assistant principals, the lead administrators at Three Rivers Community Schools are the superintendent, assistant superintendent and community school director. Working with the assistant superintendent will give the intern an opportunity to become familiar with all three of these positions and how they compliment each other.

in the Three Rivers system.

A.M. The intern began the morning by reviewing information from Mr. Iott's personnel files.

A.M. Mr. Iott and the intern met with Mr. Dale Fuling, principal at Andrews Elementary School. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss making changes in the handbook for elementary students.

A.M. The intern met with Mr. Iott to share the completed report concerning the comparisons between the teacher, secretarial, and custodial contracts. Mr. Iott was pleased with the results. (See Appendix B.)

P.M. The entire afternoon was spent with Mr. Jack Newby, food service manager for the school system. During the meeting, discussion focused on vendors, commodities, menus, satellite programs, milk programs, equipment and personnel.

July 23

A.M. The intern had a lengthy meeting with Mr. Jacobs, principal at the high school. Since the intern was a past distributive education teacher, Mr. Jacobs wanted information on organizing and running a profitable school store.

A.M. The intern attended a meeting with Mr. Iott and a salesperson presenting information on athletic equipment.

P.M. The afternoon began with an initial meeting with Mr. Iott. Upon completion, he and the intern attended a meeting with Mr. Reece, superintendent and Mr.
Jacobs, high school principal. The meeting centered on financial cuts and possible personnel changes in the high school.

P.M. The intern finished the day by reviewing the high school student handbook.

July 24

A.M. The intern shared with Mr. Iott the additional administrative evaluation forms received from superintendents. Discussion again centered on merit pay for administrators. During this informal meeting, topics of discussion also included the importance of:
letters of praise for employees and salary compari­ sions of other administrators within the Wolverine Conference.

A.M. Mr. Iott and the intern traveled to Park Elementary to check on the progress of the remodeling work.

P.M. Mr. Iott was not in the office this afternoon. As a result, the intern listened to a motivational tape and reviewed material from Mr. Iott's office.

July 27

A.M. An early morning meeting was scheduled with Mr. Iott and Mr. Hawkins to discuss maintenance work progress and targeted work areas for the coming week.

A.M. Mr. Iott met with the intern to share the initial financial proposal received from the Three Rivers Education Association. The proposal was received as expected over the weekend by Mr. Peterson, school attorney.

A.M. The intern attended a meeting with Mr. Reece, superintendent; Mr. Iott, assistant superintendent; and Ms. Millet, community school director. Discussion focused on the progress of negotiations, what to do if coaches withhold services, tentative first day of school and the board of education meeting scheduled for that evening.
P.M.  Afternoon meeting with Mr. Iott and Mr. Ryan, supervisor of C.E.T.A. workers. Discussion centered on work completed and laying people off at predetermined times.

P.M.  The intern attended an evening board of education meeting. The intern was given an opportunity to present his report on contract comparisons. Mr. Jacobs, high school principal, presented a special report on grade distribution for the 1981 graduating senior class. Some concern had been recently expressed regarding grade inflation. After discussing all regular business, the board went into executive session to discuss the progress of negotiations.

July 28

A.M. The intern met with Mr. Iott to compute a salary package at 6% to present as a counter-offer to the initial salary proposal received from the teachers.

A.M. The intern attended a lengthy meeting called by Mr. Iott for all elementary building principals. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the elementary student handbook, summer maintenance work, and possible personnel transfers.
P.M. Mr. Iott and the intern traveled to Mr. Peterson's office to discuss the initial salary proposal of the teachers and the next negotiating session scheduled for tomorrow.

July 29

A.M. The intern did not report during the morning as P.M. negotiations with the teachers were to begin at 1:00 p.m. and go into the evening. As it turned out, the session lasted until 11:30 p.m.

July 30

A.M. Mr. Iott and the intern met with Mr. Reece to discuss the progress of last evenings negotiations. Mr. Iott and Mr. Reece were both disappointed in the progress thus far.

A.M. The intern was introduced to Ms. Karen Lukeman, the new distributive education teacher at the high school. Ms. Lukeman was a high school student of the intern's while attending Gull Lake High School. Time was spent sharing ideas for the program, the D.E.C.A. chapter and the school store.

P.M. The intern was introduced to Ms. Lois Seamen, director and teacher for the alternative education program at the high school. A slide presentation was shown concerning the program and an opportunity was available to ask questions concerning its daily operation and merits.

July 31

A.M. The intern spent the last day cleaning out his P.M. temporary office and sorting materials needed to be returned to Mr. Iott. In addition, sincere thanks were expressed to those who helped the intern make this experience a success.
CHAPTER IV

ACHIEVEMENT OF THE OBJECTIVES

The internship provided the intern with opportunities to fulfill all stated objectives. Shortly after the start of the experience, it became evident that most of the objectives would be readily completed. This was a result of good preplanning after the intern's initial meeting with Mr. Iott, assistant superintendent and field supervisor. However, because of the nature of two of the stated objectives, they were more difficult to achieve. The degree to which the intern successfully achieved the objectives is summarized in the following evaluation.

Conceptual Objectives

Objective I.A.

To acquire an increased understanding of a central office administrative team with special emphasis on the role of assistant superintendent.

The intern became acutely aware that regardless of the administrative position held, to be effective in individual roles and responsibilities, all administrators are dependent upon each other. This becomes increasingly true as one reaches higher levels in leadership positions. To be as effective as possible, a leader must have the help and cooperation from subordinates. With the number of teachers, parents, school board members, etc., that central office administrators are responsible to, the ability to work together and recognize the value of others is critical.

The intern participated in many administrative meetings. Often, these meetings were between other central office administrative personnel. Other times, the meetings were with faculty members, building administrators or board of education members. These members provided the intern an opportunity to examine how individuals would act or react under certain circumstances. On occasion, actions or reactions would depend on who was present at the meeting.

The intern also had the opportunity to examine an organizational chart for the school district of Three Rivers Community Schools. By quickly reviewing one of these charts, one can quickly determine the administrative positions available and lines of authority. In addition, the intern had a chance to do a comparison between Three Rivers' organizational charts and two other local districts.

Objective I.B.

To review all job descriptions of central office administrators.

This was a valuable exercise for the intern as it provided an opportunity to examine written job duties and responsibilities for all central office administrative personnel. The three job descriptions reviewed were for the superintendent, assistant superintendent and community school director.

After reviewing each job description, the intern had subsequent meetings with each of the administrators to discuss their normal day-to-day duties and responsibilities as they actually related to their written job description. In finishing these reviews, Mr. Iott directed the intern to various files and information he had on the importance of having written job descriptions for all job placements.

Objective I. C.

To acquire an increased understanding of the legal environment as it pertains to school administration.

It seems possible legal consequences of decisions are constantly on the minds of central office administrators. This was evident in the many meetings held where the intern was able to listen to discussion concerning administrative choices or decisions to be made. These administrators were constantly aware of possible reactions to a decision. Typical concerns encompassed teacher layoffs and transfers, Title IX guidelines, disciplinary procedures involving both students and employees and contract negotiations.

In addition, the intern had several opportunities to meet with Mr. Doug Peterson, attorney at law, of Kids­ton-Peterson Law Firm in Kalamazoo. Mr. Peterson represents Three Rivers Community Schools in all legal matters including teacher negotiations. Because of the many discussions the intern had with the superintendent, assistant superintendent and school attorney regarding legal matters, he believes this objective was fully achieved.

Objective I. D.

To acquire a thorough understanding of the assistant superintendent's authority and how it's delegated to others.

After reviewing the assistant superintendent's job description, it was apparent the areas for which he was responsible. However, our discussions indicated that he had "unwritten" areas of responsibility and authority also. Some of these were typically thought to be fulfilled by the superintendent but over time had been unofficially assumed by the assistant superintendent.

In order to be an effective leader, it is believed by the intern that one must be able to delegate responsibility. One cannot be an effective leader if he or she is always shouldering the burden of getting each and every task done. With this in mind, the intern believed Mr. Iott to be a very effective leader. He was not hesitant to delegate responsibility as long as he had confidence in another's abilities and past performance in seeing that tasks were completed. During our conversations, the point was made clear that regardless of how many jobs, responsibilities, etc., are delegated, if the results are not what were expected, the delegator is still going to be held responsible.

Human Objectives

Objective II. A.

To observe all central office administrators' leadership styles and techniques.

The intern spent the majority of time working directly with the assistant superintendent. As a result, he had ample opportunity to observe his leadership style and techniques. However, it should be noted that because of time limitations, it was difficult to adequately observe and assess the superintendent's and community school director's leadership styles. In spite of this disadvantage, the intern was able to draw general conclusions based upon attending meetings in which they were participants; talking with each of them on a one-to-one basis; and by interviewing other administrators within the system.

As a result, the intern believed Mr. Reece, the superintendent, to be an administrator who paid close attention to details, was good at delegating responsibilities and one who was most aware of good public relations. His concern for public relations was reflected by the amount of time and effort he spend with various community activities.

Mr. Iott, assistant superintendent, believed in the delegation of responsibilities and duties. This was not to avoid work, but he realized that to be effective, one must be able to have competent people assisting whenever possible. In addition, Mr. Iott was most definitely a "take-charge" administrator. This was apparent in his handling of people and events. Finally, because of Mr. Iott's high energy level, the intern believed this positive characteristic tended to "rub off" on others around him. Everyone knew his expectations were high and shortcuts which resulted in inferior work were not acceptable.

Ms. Lois Millet, community school director, was also believed to be an effective administrator. She was not as forceful in her approach as Mr. Iott, but still was effective as evidenced by her overall program growth and by what others had to say about her.

Objective II. B.

To attend administrative meetings when possible.
Because this internship was conducted during the summer, few of the administrative meetings involved building principals, assistant principals etc. All of these administrators were on vacation during this time and consequently were not available unless summoned. There were individual cases when certain building administrators were requested to come to the central office for a meeting with the superintendent or assistant superintendent. On one occasion, there was a group meeting of elementary building principals. However, the vast majority of administrative meetings included central office staff, occasional individual school board members or Mr. Doug Peterson, attorney.

Regardless of why a meeting was called or who it was called by, it was evident there was usually good preplanning. The meetings were never called on the spur of the moment. Advance notice was always provided with some type of agenda presented.

On several occasions, the intern was able to participate in the meetings. Most often he was asked for personal opinions or if he knew how a certain matter was generally handled in his home school district. This was beneficial to the intern as it provided him with opportunity to express himself and to feel a more welcome part of the discussion group.
Objective II. C.

To develop an understanding of how the assistant superintendent handles problems related to personnel.

Again, because of the timing of the internship, it was difficult for the intern to observe much in this area. On two occasions, the intern was able to see problems resolved. One concerned the transfer of a faculty member who did not wish to be transferred and the other with a custodian. To make these decisions, the assistant superintendent made an effort to get as much information as possible. He accomplished this by talking with building principals and to the individual employees.

Objective II. D.

To acquire a general understanding of the contract negotiation process.

The intern felt genuinely fortunate as he was able to observe the negotiation process between the Three Rivers Education Association and representatives of the Three Rivers Community Schools' Board of Education. Before the intern was able to be present at the bargaining sessions, special permission had to be secured from the local Michigan Education Association representative. After this was accomplished, the intern attended every bargaining session that occurred during the internship time frame. Some of these sessions lasted for only two to three hours.

Of particular interest to the intern was attending the strategy sessions before each bargaining session. These meetings always included the assistant superintendent, the school attorney (who did most of the actual bargaining) and two or three school board members. The superintendent never attended these sessions. On one occasion, however, the superintendent and the intern quickly developed payroll projections based on certain proposals. The intern believes this was certainly the most interesting and valuable experience during the internship.

Objective II. E.

To improve the intern's human relations skills.

Just by the nature of this objective, it was difficult to measure achievement. The intern believed this objective was met by being able to attend many meetings, having the opportunity to observe others handling themselves in certain circumstances and through several private discussions with Mr. Iott, assistant superintendent. Probably the most important point made by the intern's supervisor was the importance of making others feel the contribution they are making is important. The intern believed this was one of the supervisor's strongest qualities as a leader. He was especially good at making people feel important and what they were doing was good and worthwhile.

Technical Objectives

Objective III. A.

To acquire a better understanding of the interview and employee selection process.

For the coming 1981-82 school year, Three Rivers Community Schools needed to replace only one teacher (unless subsequent openings occurred later in the summer). The opening was at the high school level and in the Business Education Department. As no one within the system was qualified, the position had to be filled from outside.

The intern had opportunity to discuss with both the assistant superintendent and high school principal their philosophies and objectives during the selection process. In addition, interview techniques were discussed including methods and specific favorite questions to be asked.

The intern was afforded the opportunity to sit in on two actual interviews for the high school position. Although he did not participate in any actual questioning, it was regarded as a valuable learning experience.

Objective III. B.

To develop a better understanding of school finances.

Although the intern can say he has a "better understanding" of school finances, he cannot declare himself an expert in this area. Experiences included working with the assistant superintendent on the annual school budget, being with and asking questions of the team conducting the annual audit, and working with the financial secretary.

Objective III. C.

To develop an understanding of how various bargained contracts compare with one another.

This goal was instituted late as the superintendent wanted a comparison of the language in all bargained contracts within the system. It is their goal to eventually get the language in all contracts the same except for compensation. They believe it is too difficult to constantly be responsible for three completely different labor agreements.

The intern's assignment was to take all contracts and make comparisons between each in the following areas: leaves of absence, reinstatement rights after a leave, seniority and grievance procedures. After completing the comparisons, the intern presented a copy to the board of education at an open meeting.

Summary

This internship was a rich and rewarding experience.
It provided the intern with the unique opportunity to work with central office administrators in a school system other than his own. This gave the intern the chance to not only examine, but to also experience some of the problems central office administrators face. In addition, it provided the intern with many ideas, forms, procedures etc., to possibly use back in his home school district.

By completing this educational program, the intern developed a more thorough understanding of the functions and activities involved at the central office level of a school system. In addition, some of these functions and activities were experienced by the intern.

As stated earlier in this chapter, all the written objectives were met. Most of the objectives were easily accomplished. This was the result of Mr. Iott, internship supervisor, playing an active role in the development of the objectives.

The intern was grateful to all of the administrators with whom he worked for their understanding of the importance of this learning experience. Without them, the internship would not have been possible.

The intern was especially indebted to Mr. Don Iott, assistant superintendent and internship supervisor. He was the key to success for this learning experience. From the very beginning, he was genuinely interested in finding Valuable activities and experiences in which to involve the intern. Further, he spent a great deal of personal time with the intern and provided an office and secretarial help whenever needed.

Based upon the experience with this program, the intern would highly recommend it to anyone wanting to become an administrator. The internship process has been valuable in the professional growth of the intern.
APPENDIX A

ADMINISTRATIVE EVALUATION REQUESTS
Dear Mr. Superintendent,

I am working this summer on an internship through Western Michigan University. During this internship, I am to work six full weeks with an assistant superintendent. Part of this project is to secure examples of procedures and guidelines used in the evaluation of school administrators. These would normally be the guidelines a superintendent of schools would use in the evaluation of job performance, etc. of the principals or other administrators.

Would you please help me with this and send any copies of procedures, guidelines and forms you may use within your system.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Sickles
