Strategic Continuity Plan
Nonprofit Leadership Student Association & PADM 3210/3220

By: Maggie Scannell

Spring 2019
Thesis Statement: In this paper, I will explain every dimension of the Nonprofit Leadership Student Association (NLSA) and PADM 3210/3220 and describe goals and strategies for continuous improvement now and into the future.

About the author: From April 2018 to April 2019 I had the privilege to serve as the President of the Nonprofit Leadership Student Association (NLSA) at Western Michigan University (WMU). Throughout my one-year term I have utilized my educational background as a student of the Haworth College of Business to create a multi-dimensional plan for greater success and continued improvement for the future of NLSA and PADM 3210/3220.

The Project: composed of 3 main, but different parts:

1. Revised NLSA Bi-Laws within the parameters set by WMU and the Registered Student Organization (RSO) Office of Student Engagement that I think should be set for NLSA
   a. Major changes include
      i. Governmental structure / layout of student officers
      ii. Membership criteria and accountability rules
      iii. Involvement of faculty adviser

2. Strategic Business Plan outline for NLSA with specific goals
   a. Explains the Vision / Mission, and concrete goals set
   b. Answers the who, what, where, when and how of NLSA

3. Hypothetical Introduction to Best Practices for PADM 3210/3220
   a. *Proposed Instruction manual for PADM 3210/3220 including grading scale and scope of course
   b. In-depth proposed expectations for all members involved

After that, there is a conclusion and an appendix with important resources such as the Nonprofit Leadership Alliance (NLA) core competencies and a spreadsheet from early Fall 2019 stating the members interests in topics and nonprofits to learn about / connect with for the whole year.

Preface: The gap between the student-led organization and the course requirement is complex. All in all, this Thesis Project is a blend of 3 different parts focusing on every angle of NLSA and is a phenomenal tool for greater success and continued improvement into the future. Thank you.

Current Landscape: Today, every student earning a Minor in Nonprofit Leadership W/Certificate:

1. NEEDS to take PADM 3210 and 3220 which is 1 credit/no credit course that is transparent with being involved with NLSA
2. Must attend the Alliance Management Institute Conference (AMI) which happens over 3 days every January put on by the Nonprofit Leadership Alliance (NLA).
Once these two things are completed, along with a 300 hour internship (which is a credit/no credit course titled PADM 4100) students will earn the Certified Nonprofit Professional (CNP) credential / title. These letters can be put at the end of students name.

History of NLSA
For more than 15 years, there has been a direct correlation with the NLSA and PADM 3210/3220.
On the syllabus for PADM 3220 during the Fall 2016 semester, it states:

> “The purpose of NLSA is to assist members to reach competency levels provided by Nonprofit Leadership Alliance.”

The purpose of the Nonprofit Leadership Minor at WMU is to prepare future professionals to carry out the missions of the organizations they serve.

The previous semester, they had won the 2015 ‘Sprint Campus Program Excellence’ award at the AMI. Two dozen WMU nonprofit students were there representing the program. This is the biggest accomplishment on the timeline of NLSA and PADM 3210/3220 and came right at the peak of the former Master Faculty Specialists retirement.

To repeat, in 2015, NLSA at WMU stood on top of a grand stage and was “named the single program in the nation that exemplifies overall best practices in nonprofit career preparation and growth”(https://wmich.edu/news/2015/01/20904).

My History with NLSA: in 2016, my sophomore year when I was exploring the nonprofit program for the first time ever, I was so inspired by this crew and there senior leadership. I dreamed of the photo I was shown of WMU NLSA in Salt Lake City and there glass trophy. What an era, what a legacy. As years continues on, there was a gap in the timeline and some major changes were made from the top down.

    As I turn over my term of President this month, sophomore year Maggie still believes and knows NLSA has the potential and the resources to get back up on that stage.

    Current day Maggie knows it was a huge step in the right direction to have a small team up on stage this year competing and making it to the top 3, and believes in the future WMU NLSA can rise up once again.

Past: Prior to 2016 NLSA was a force to be reckoned with Present: NLSA is all student-run and doing their absolute best to work its way back up, starting by connecting with local nonprofit leaders and growing social media/on-campus presence
Future: NLSA triples in size, seriously focuses on fundraising and working on the projects set by NLA to have a robust turnout at AMI, and is recognized by the majority 501(c)3 in the local community

Strategic Plan Part 2:
Vision of the Nonprofit Leadership Student Organization

What we do / Strive to do:

The Nonprofit Leadership Student Association at WMU prepares future professionals to carry out the missions of the organizations they serve. This is accomplished through education, community service, and research designed to improve the contribution that public-serving organizations can make to society. Special emphasis is placed on individual and community development as the pivotal function of nonprofit organizations and collaboration as the central mode of public problem solving.

Goals:
1. Prepare students for entry level professional positions and nonprofit organizations
2. Ensure students have strong oral and written communication skills
3. Implement experiential learning in all aspects of the program
4. Demonstrate collaboration with business government and nonprofit sectors

Organization Policy
How we do it:
Attendance, fundraising, and fulfilling committee responsibilities are the primary criteria. All students will solicit donors to raise money for both AMI and for Spring events. Each student will take responsibility for one of the following during this semester
1. Enhance fundraising through adding additional contacts, making additional direct asks, increasing social media presence or helping to mail fundraising appeal
2. Organize speed networking with nonprofit professionals
3. Find a workshop leader and organize a workshop on one of the competencies
4. Be on the E-board

During one-hour long weekly meetings students will participate in one or more various engagement opportunities:
● Plan Fundraising activities
● Coordinate volunteering events
● Listen to and engage with local nonprofit leaders
Strategic Goals for NLSA:

Continuity Plan:

How We Will Recruit Members
- Email Blasts
- Event in Spring 2019 for the Major
- Presence tabling at WMU Admitted Student Events 2019
- Booth at Bronco Bash
- Space at the ‘Involvement Zone’ / Orientation Session throughout the summer
- Train and educate all SPAA faculty on basis of NLSA and ask if students cannot make it to the classes, the professors play the role of recruiter / Ambassador

How We Will Fundraise
- Continue growing K-Wings Concession Opportunity
- Participate in K-Wings Chuck-a-Puck (thanks to concession presence)
- Send out letters to all the MPA / CNP Alumni, with the help of Heritage Hall
- Require NLSA members to send letters to friends/family
- Coordinate single-time events throughout the year (ex: bake sale, Panera etc.)

(More information on the creation of this excel spreadsheet is in the appendix)
● Maintain good relationships with the organizations of this year’s guest speakers and continue to expand
● Ask the members what they want to learn and who they want to meet on a bi-monthly basis

How We Will Grow
● As NLSA continues to gain traction, and the Major begins in the Fall, there should be significantly more time and more energy put into implementing the ‘above and beyond’ ideas as a greater organization.
● More money, more resources, more helping hands and official members who are devoted to the group can help build a robust culture of NLSA on campus and in the Kalamazoo Community
● Pie in the Sky ideas that were talked about this year but never able to have been put into action: E-Board Retreat at a local camp, T-Shirts for the AMI attendees, Fundraising ideas like WMU vs CMU Gameday T-Shirts and Rent-a-Pup, and any additional money could be used to register for more leadership or personal development activities or conferences.

The projected Major in Nonprofit Leadership, which should be good to go for Fall 2019, will bring a lot of attention to the program and therefore NLSA.

From my experience as President of NLSA this year, and being involved or “in the know” about the Nonprofit Leadership Minor since 2016, the major next Fall is a ‘I will believe it when I see it’ deal. I hope dozens of passionate students enroll in the program. I do not know where exactly they would come from, but I hope it is at least enough to fill a classroom. That way, the NLSA could grow higher on the list of priorities for the staff and faculty in the school of Public Affairs and Administration.
Best Practices Part 3:
Instructions Manual for PADM 3210 / 3220:
I developed this hypothetical syllabus/ course outline from scratch, while been inspired by what I read in some transition binders before 2016

Background: PADM 3210/3220 are 1 credit/no credit classes needed to be taken adjacently by every student pursuing a minor in Nonprofit Leadership with Certificate. The course is involvement in NLSA for 2 semesters to plan, prepare and fundraise for AMI. Students in the minor are required to attend AMI to earn their credentials.

The only difference between PADM 3210 and PADM 3220 is that they need to be taken in separate semesters. The Fall semester focuses on fundraising for AMI, which happens every year in the beginning of January. The spring semester is more so for program and enrichment opportunities.

The point of NLSA being a RSO, meaning it is student-run, is so it can be run in a nonprofit organization fashion.

Course Description: An advanced involvement in the Nonprofit Leadership Student Association (NLSA). Topics covered will be tailored to what that particular semester of students want.

These two classes are exactly the same, and must be taken in back to back semesters. That way each student will be equally prepared to attend the Alliance Management Institute (AMI) Conference. The purpose of this course is to be directly involved with the Nonprofit Leadership Student Association (NLSA) for two semesters to plan, fundraise and prepare to attend and compete at AMI. This is put on by the Nonprofit Leadership Alliance (NLA) every January. This is the event where graduating students will earn their Certified Nonprofit Professional (CNP) credentials.

PADM 3210 / 3220 meets once a week for 90 minutes.
This course is worth 3 credits and has a final grade.
Example of Grading:
Attendance (students missing more than 2 meetings will fail the course) 20 points
Major Responsibility 60 points
Participation 20 points

Proposed Roles Reflecting Best Practices

● Serve as an Ambassador of the class with other Public Administration professors
● Build connections and share connections with local community nonprofits

Role of the President:
● Serve as the student leader of the course
● Assist the Faculty Advisor with the academic tasks while staying in student territory
● Work directly and regularly with the Faculty Advisor on ways to improve
● Run the weekly meetings / be responsible for making sure they run smoothly

Role of the E-Board:
● Students who volunteer for the Executive Board are very critical in helping sustain the organization

Role of the Student Body
● Every member is responsible AND held accountable to attend every class meeting
● Every member is responsible AND held accountable by Faculty Advisor to participate in as many extended / outside of class volunteer, fundraising or enrichment opportunity on campus or in the community
● Be a part of planning, voice thoughts and opinions freely
● Exceptional students will create and lead an initiative on there own to benefit the NLSA, the SPAA or the local nonprofit community
Conclusion

Becoming President gave me a unique opportunity to explore best practices and devote a significant amount of time prioritizing these top three goals:

1. We had to work ourselves back on the map (the map of RSO’s on this campus, and the map of NLA programs at AMI)
2. We needed to find a dependable source of fundraising to grow our finances
3. We needed to re-immers ourselves in the local nonprofit sector and connect ourselves back with the flourishing community of 501(c)3 organizations

This year long project has had many small successes and a few small road bumps. Some results include:

1. We are (slowly) moving in the right direction of becoming more recognized on campus. We have locked-in space at future Involvement Zones (which we had not done in a few years, at least since 2015) and at Bronco Bash. We began posterimg around campus for our regular events, and have grown our presence on social media. At AMI, we had a team compete in a ‘What’s the Big Idea?’ competition and make it to the top three. I am told last year at AMI no representatives of WMU went on-stage, let alone made it to the top three.

2. We have found a dependable source of fundraising with the Kalamazoo Wings Event Center. They have graciously supported us and allowed us to work there concession stands during the busiest games. NLSA worked 5 or 6 events once we joined mid-season. We look forward to continuing this next year without a doubt, and even getting involved with another platform of fundraising with K-Wings called ‘Chuck-a-Puck’.

3. We significantly increased the amount of guest speakers for our regular weekly meetings. They come from the following nonprofits: Open Doors Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo Community Foundation, Habitat for Humanity and Kalamazoo Loaves & Fishes. We also had 3 guest speakers not working directly with 501(c)3’s: Dr.Intindola, a professor of management at the Haworth College of Business who has valued experience with nonprofits helped us prepare to network and connect with employers before we went to AMI. We also had a student named MacKenzie King, who is one of the founders of the Global Leaders Project at WMU, give NLSA an informational session night for the full hour. Lastly, Dr. Schroeder from the WMU School of Public Affairs and Administration came to speak with us about grant writing. The future is bright for more collaborations.

Overall, I am proud of what I was able to accomplish for this organization. I worked very hard all year to stabilize and improve many aspects of NLSA.

I also hope that this document encourages more students to voice their opinions about the structure of PADM 3210/3220 so it can be changed. Once it is changed, it can actually have many more meaningful impacts on the Nonprofit Minor at WMU.

There is still so much work to be done in the rebuilding phase. Now is the time for student leaders and senior leaders to step up to the plate. With the brand new Major in Nonprofit Leadership starting Fall 2019, it is crucial that we (the students and the staff) work together harmoniously to build and grow the program (the class and the organization) to maximize benefits for the community at-large and utilize all of its glory for impacting students and preparing them to become brilliant agents of social change.
Thank you to my team and thesis committee.

Barbara Sagara & Monica Priest, thank you for believing in me as a student and preparing me to become a powerful women confident in her abilities who will always dream big and strive to make a difference.
