Brown and Gold
The Brown and Gold 1946

of Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, Michigan
Foreword

For you who leave the hill top this year, and for those who are coming back again, the staff has recorded a year's activities.

Our time at Western passes quickly, and as the future becomes the past and our youth becomes glorified in the pattern of age, and we find enjoyment not in the future, but in recalling old memories of things that happened in nineteen forty-six, then is when this volume will become a treasure.

It has been impossible to record all the activities that have made this a memorable year, but we hope as you glance through its pages you will find things that will freshen and perpetuate cherished memories of this year.

Throughout the book we have tried to capture the spirit of Western that makes it known for its friendliness by typical scenes and familiar activities. Only we who have attended Western know and understand its spirit because it is made up of day by day experiences and acquaintances.

If the pages of this Brown and Gold carry life long memories, become not only a memento of the past but an inspiration for the present, then the staff will feel it has accomplished its task entrusted to it.
To Miss Blanche Draper, in sincere appreciation for her cooperation and warm understanding to Western and to the Brown and Gold, we respectfully dedicate the 1946 Brown and Gold.

She has been co-publicity director of Western Michigan College for the past twenty-seven years. She is a veteran in the field of journalism, and is a favorite with both the faculty and students.

President's Message

This will express the congratulations of the faculty of the college to the staff of the Brown and Gold for their excellent production of 1946. This volume represents not only a great deal of painstaking effort and devotion to duty but a fine record of an historical period in the life of Western Michigan College.

This has been a great year. Over a thousand of our service men have returned to pursue their educational programs at Western. The total enrollment of the college exceeds that of any time in its previous history. New problems of housing and instruction have arisen, new conditions of educational interest have appeared, and new difficulties in the maintenance of the college traditions have confronted us. Students and faculty alike have met all of these challenges with vigor and determination.

The Brown and Gold staff through this volume has added its bit to the record of achievement. Congratulations again and good wishes for all of those who have been associated with the enterprise.

Paul V. Pangrun
Dr. Wynand Wichers came to Western last year from Hope College to become our first vice-president. In the short time he has been on campus, Dr. Wichers has shown active interest in the students and campus activities, and Western has right to be proud of its new vice-president.

Dr. Lofton V. Burge, director of the Placement Bureau and Principal of the Campus Training School, is of great assistance to future teachers. Dr. Burge not only gives needed advice to students during their semester of practice teaching, but assists them in securing positions in the teaching field.

Mr. Leonard Gernant, assistant registrar, aids the Dean of Administration in the many problems that arise in connection with registration and enrollment. In addition, Mr. Gernant supervises the records office where grades and scholastic ratings are recorded along with other data concerning the students.
Mr. John C. Hoekje, Dean of Administration, has had his duties doubled in these post-war days with the increasing enrollment. Mr. Hoekje's interest lies with the students, and he is well-known for his friendly spirit, encouraging advice, and his willingness to hear the student's suggestions and plans.

Dr. George H. Hilliard, Director of Student Personnel and Guidance, has, with his counseling staff, maintained the successful system for acquainting the students with what is expected of them at Western. Even with enrollment at its peak, the students are guided in their course of study with individual concern.

Dr. Elmer H. Wilds, Director of the Graduate Division and Summer Sessions, assists graduate students, and directs the entire administrative work during the summer session. In addition to graduate work, Dr. Wilds has been chairman of the assembly committee and has been active in providing entertainment for the students.
Mrs. Bertha S. Davis, Dean of Women, is a friend to all Western's co-eds. She has a sympathetic ear to all, and she gives guidance to those asking for such advice. Mrs. Davis has given her time and utmost attention to the social activities on campus as well as the co-ed's problems.

Mr. Ray C. Pellett, Dean of Men, has again this year been faced with many problems. With a large increase of male students on campus, Dean Pellett has been very busy in finding places for them to live, along with their many other problems. His friendly spirit and sense of humor have made him a friend to all the students.
Western students have right to be proud of their faculty. Although their schedules have been upset during the war, and the teaching was strained, they have all proved their loyalty to Western.

Each year we lose some important members as we did this year, but they are not easily forgotten. We owe to the faculty the spirit they give to us, and for upholding Western in its traditions and friendliness.

The Campus Training School was the first of Western's laboratories to be set up by the college. In the beginning when the Normal was founded, the training school was housed in the Y. M. C. A. and the Methodist church house. The following year it was transferred to the Vine Street School and in the fall was moved to the Training School Building. The enrollment and number of classes has gradually increased from the original three until the present eight grades were established. The purpose of the training school is to give prospective teachers an opportunity to observe and come in contact with problems they will likely meet when they get out into the teaching field. Each grade is supervised by a teacher whose qualifications would allow her to supervise teachers in three or more grades. Practice teachers are under the direct control of the supervisor who is held responsible for the work of these student teachers. The students get excellent training and are encouraged to do things for themselves. Special classroom activities are provided in such a way as to give ample preparation for students as well as the prospective teacher.
State High came into existence in 1911 in order to supply facilities for training secondary teachers when the eighth grade students were allowed to continue their studies under the direction of Miss Lavina Spindler. In 1912 these students together with the more recent eighth grade graduates were moved into the Administration Building which has since become the well known State High. It was not until 1915 that the school was organized as a school unit. Mr. Harold Blair, now of the mathematics department of the college, was the first principal. State High not only has a good academic program, but its students participate in many activities about the school. They have their own newspaper, monitor system, student council, plays and clubs which are initiated and carried out by all the students with faculty supervision. As a result of the close cooperation between the high school and our college faculty it is possible for the college students to have methods courses taught by the State High supervisors. Being located right on campus, it is an ideal situation for the prospective secondary teacher.
Paw Paw Training School

Paw Paw Training School became affiliated with Western in 1924. As Western’s enrollment increased, it became necessary to give more opportunities to the prospective teacher to observe in a variety of situations. Thus the Paw Paw School system became affiliated with Western as a model for a large village school. The practice teachers are supervised by very capable teachers in special departments such as industrial arts, music, home economics and many others.
Many of Western’s students became interested in rural education and were securing positions in the rural areas. Thus there was a real need for a model school in a small village district. In 1922 a five teacher school at Portage Center, six miles outside of Kalamazoo, was affiliated with Western to fill this need. The next year Portage School united with two other districts and organized what is now known as Portage Center Consolidated School. This unit includes all the elementary grades and a high school.
Farewell Western

As Seniors, we are leaving the Hilltop. We have spent four years here at Western in preparation, and now we are to leave.

Many changes took place at Western during these four years. We saw college life change from a normal peace time college to one where navy uniforms dominated the campus.
This year marked a climax in the college life of the members of the class of '46 for they saw ushered into Western once again the atmosphere and activities of normal college life with an increased enrollment of men students.

The seniors headed the social calendar by initiating an annual Cabaret Dance in true night club fashion - complete with bartenders, white jacketed waiters, floor show and all. "Club 46" was the first dance of its kind since '42. It was new to a lot of students, and a good time was had by all.

The traditional Junior-Senior dinner dance was revived in collaboration with the Juniors, and it proved to be one of the outstanding events of the Senior program.

Other activities in which all graduating seniors participated were: The Senior Tea given by President Sangren, the traditional Senior Swing-out, faculty reception for Seniors, baccalaureate and the Honors Convocations.

These highlights along with the friendly, happy spirit which characterizes Western's Hilltop will always be cherished memories for the class of '46. As we leave Western we know that bigger and better things are planned for the future to make Western even more dear than it is now.

Sincere thanks and appreciation are extended by the class to Dr. Floyd Moore and Dr. George Comfort for their helpful advice and work in their capacity as class sponsors.

The Junior Class

As the Junior Class looks back on another year, we can easily say that we have had a busy and successful year. In November, the class elected its officers: President, Joe Salamun; Vice-president, Phyllis Ash; Secretary, Margaret Farrell; Treasurer, Phyllis Dean; Representatives, Florence Huizenga and Shirley Anne Myers.

We had many social activities this year, some of which were traditions that were dropped during the war. We sponsored the J-Hop on March 23rd with Mardi Gras as its theme. Serpentine, balloons and confetti decorated the ballroom, and it was a gala affair. Bob Burgoyne and Lois Austin acted as co-chairmen for the dance. In May we put on the Junior-Senior dinner dance in collaboration with the Senior class. Everyone entered into the fun and work of the open houses, Homecoming, and the Saturday night dances.

The Junior class experienced for the first time a peace-time campus, and the year was one which we will not overlook in reminiscing college days.

Students Head Campus Activities of 1945-6
This year's homecoming was a special event, for many students experienced for the first time a real Western Homecoming.

Like many other activities, homecomings were suspended, but '46 brought back to campus the old spirit. Parades, fireworks, dances, teas and luncheons were only a part of the many activities that made up a big week-end for students and alumni.

The general staff planned the festivities.

The legislation of matters affecting the general welfare and betterment of the student body is the technical duty of your student council. This year's council has done its utmost to fulfill a year of achievement towards this goal.

Some of the major activities sponsored by the student council included the Homecoming dance with Art Kassel, Victory Loan, Community Chest, World Student Service Fund, Red Cross and other drives. Along with the World War Relief drive the council put forth a concentrated effort to obtain clothing, food and money for Europe's war refugees. Council and many other organizations joined the "Adopt A Child" movement, sending money for the feeding and clothing of a young war casualty. Council's child, a thirteen year old French boy, who fought throughout the war, is now in an extremely poor condition due to his youth, but the service assures that this help will aid him to regain his health.

Student Dances have been very successful this year under the leadership of our able vice-president.

1945-1946 Student Council
The Student Directory and booklet "Western Way" were compiled under the direction of the Publicity Manager who was also instrumental in checking on new revisions for the constitutional change in the spring election.

One of the most outstanding social achievements of your Student Council came with the spring Homecoming, welcoming back Veterans and Alumni. On Tuesday, April 30, council gave a big “hello” in the form of an informal coke dance in the afternoon climaxed by the “Brown and Gold Fantasies” given at night in the Central High School auditorium.

After what we hope has been a successful year, there is but one thing council wishes to do, and that is to thank the Administration, Faculty Council, Student Welfare committee, and the students of Western for their cooperation in helping the council accomplish what it has this year. We also want to wish our new council lots of luck for another good year.
Arista, the women's honorary society on campus, decided this year to work on problems of race, religion and international relations as they affected college students and the community. Accordingly, the group joined the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples and the Women's Action Committee for Peace. Cooperation was maintained with each group throughout the year.

To help place the information it received on current issues before the college, Arista initiated a coeducational group called the Committee for Social Action. Later the committee drew members from Kalamazoo College and became known as the Inter-Campus Committee for Social Action. It encouraged students and townspeople to think about and discuss international, racial, labor, religious, and political issues and then to take an active part in working toward their solution.

Arista suggested that Student Council sponsor a relief drive for peoples of war damaged countries and worked with council members on the drive. It placed before council and other organizations the Foster-Parent plan of adopting war orphans.

Other activities included entertaining the alums at a Fall Homecoming breakfast, initiating a new member, Evelyn Boettcher, in April, and combining the annual chocolate to honor sophomore women with a reunion with alums at the Spring Homecoming. Arista also suggested that various organizations entertain the wives of vets on campus.

Nineteen forty-six for Arista was climaxed at the June Breakfast with the tapping of Junior girls to become Aristians next year.

Officers for the year were: Carlene Bagnall, president; Mary Ellen Dodd, vice-president; Margery Dawe Papenguth, secretary; Ardelle McConnell, treasurer; Janice Walker, alumni secretary; Suzanne Michen, historian, and Mary Eldridge, publicity.
The Men's Union was reorganized this year at the regular fall elections. Throughout the year it made an effort to revert to its pre-war status, adding new ideas suggested by returning vets and new students on campus.

The Men's Union again put on its traditional Thursday afternoon "Open Houses," and as a variation, added a dance band to two of its functions. The Union, in line with other traditions, held the annual tournaments. The following were named champions: ping pong singles, Val Bleech, Kalamazoo; ping pong doubles, Ed Taylor, Hamtramck, and Jim Clark, Rockford; billiards, Lyle Tambling, Hart; pool, Lyle Tambling, Hart.

Other activities engaged in by the union were: the purchasing of magazine covers for the lounge; publishing of the Veterans' Homecoming program; staging and featuring the Men's Union formal dance in the Men's Gym.

On April 6th the Men's Union sponsored something new in Western's dances which they called a "sock dance." All the co-eds and their escorts checked their shoes at the door and danced the evening in their sweat socks. It was very successful and the dance proved a successful entrance on the campus.

Membership in the Men's Union include all male students and faculty members on campus. The officers and faculty advisors who took part this year were: faculty, Dean Pellett, Mr. MacDonald, and Mr. Maus. Serving as president, Don Bender; secretary, David Marsh; treasurer, James Clark; board members; Don Phebus and Jerry Lucas.
Like many other organizations on campus, V-J day and the end of the war brought several changes in the Women's League schedule of events.

With an increase in Western's male population, Men's Union was organized and began sponsoring the Open Houses held by the League last year.

A record crop of freshmen women called for an enlarged Junior-Senior Sister program, and a week of well-planned activities was arranged under the leadership of Doris Sprinkle and Kay Stimson. One of the highlights was the Who's Who Party in the form of a "Jean Jamboree."

The annual Christmas Chocolate, one of the most popular of League activities, was under the chairmanship of Margaret Baker.

A further reflection of post-war changes was the large attendance at the "Winter Wonderland" formal, held in February, with Ann Hall as chairman. Over 250 couples danced to the music of Frank Lockage's orchestra.

A second "Who's Who" party for incoming freshmen was held at the opening of the spring term, with a theme of "Western Way." Jean Smurlo was in charge.

Spring activities included the Mothers' Tea, in the Walwood ballroom, and the annual June breakfast, honoring senior women and outstanding freshmen, and was marked by fun, flowers, food and friendliness.

A Wednesday afternoon tea

Wednesday afternoon teas in the Davis room have become traditional and on one occasion special recognition was given the February graduates, while on another the South American students on campus were guests.

The return to normality has brought renewed enthusiasm and life to all campus events, and the cabinet of 1945-46 wishes as much success to the incoming group as they have enjoyed.

Entering its eighth year as an all-student edited college newspaper, The Western Herald began the new semester under the direction of Bob Burgoyne, Editor and Janet Doering, Business Manager.

With a competent staff made up of veterans of the year before, a special eight page “freshmen” edition was prepared and distributed during the freshmen orientation days to help acquaint the incoming students with Western.

Aided by Miss Blanche Draper, head of the college publicity department and former editor of the Herald, and the hard working members of the college print shop, the Herald met every deadline against many obstacles and kept abreast of the overwhelming amount of news during the year. Presenting colorful and unusual make-up through the use of catchy feature lines, many cuts, novel heads and banners, the Herald attempted to provide its readers with interesting and pertinent news and information at all times.

No ordinary contribution to the paper’s interest was Sport’s Editor Dick Kishpaugh’s complete coverage of the many athletic events throughout the year. Dick’s vast background in sports both in and out of college enabled him to turn out a top notch sport page every issue.

Working together as Feature editors throughout the year, Carlene Bagnall, Margaret Wolgamood and Anne Oas worked long, hard hours to find and present unusual and challenging material in the form of Jim Hausman’s popular column “The Campus Character” and other timely feature articles and news. The girls, supplemented by an efficient staff produced an excellent feature page consistently.

By no means the least of many jobs required to effectively produce a successful weekly paper, was the task of handling the financial and circulation business.
Directed by Janet Doering, the business staff handled the advertising, budget, bills and other business in an effective manner steadily from the first week to the last. The mailing staff, led by Joe Salamon, toiled many weary hours each week wrapping and addressing Heralds for mailing.

Highlighting the year's events involving the Herald were the "Freshmen" edition, the fall "Homecoming Supplement," the "Special High School edition, the "Spring Homecoming" issue and the "Commencement" number. The editor, together with the editor of the Brown and Gold, Lois Austin, attended the First Annual Press Conference given by the Detroit Free Press in March. The traditional Herald-Brown and Gold banquet was held late in June.

Throughout the year the Herald tried to present all the news of interest as well as supporting the student drives for Red Cross, Victory Bonds, World Student Service Fund and others, student activities and organization programs by both faculty and students. It was glad to welcome back to the campus many former men returning from the armed services as well as many new faces of veterans wishing to pursue their education at Western.

In the editor's own words, "I attempted to incorporate within the 1946 Herald items of interest for all those connected with Western including students, faculty and alumni. It was my intent to provide a medium of publicity, information, interest, enjoyment and constructive criticism through the pages of the Herald. I would not have been able to accomplish this without the wholehearted assistance of the staff. To them, for all their hard and conscientious work all year, I wish to express my sincere and unending appreciation. Through the year the Western Herald symbolized the spirit of a new and enthusiastic Western."
When school opened on October 15, much time and thought had already been placed on the 1946 Brown and Gold by the editor. During the course of the summer, ideas were gathered from other schools, and plans were laid out in dummy form of what the editor thought would represent life at Western this coming year.

Shortly after the school started we began to take appointments for the class pictures which were taken by Slocum's Studios. Many students turned out for the staff and we did not waste any time in getting started. Although materials were somewhat easier to secure this year we still encountered many problems in photography and printing. By the middle of the year most of the dummy was completed and things were well on their way.

With the return of a lot of veterans and the increase in enrollment, we were able to include more of Western's activities. Many organizations and fraternities that had been discontinued during the course of the war were reorganized. We were once again able to depict life at Western during ordinary peace-times.
Lois Austin was editor this year, and Jim Clark served as business manager. Dixie Lee Stafford was the Associate editor and did a fine job in keeping things going for the staff. Janet Goodrich, the feature editor, put in a lot of time preparing candid pages and feature pages for the book. Norm Williams acted as the chief photographer, and did a wonderful job in taking all the club pictures and many campus shots. Norm has set up a dark room in the Brown and Gold office, and all the work for the Brown and Gold was done there. He put in a lot of work and time, and all the credit for the photography of the book goes to him. Dick Kishpaugh took over the sports editorship almost in the middle of the year, and in spite of the short time limit did a fast and excellent job on the sport section.

Many other students helped as staff members, and even though at times we have felt it all hopeless, we have had a lot of fun working on the book. The staff climaxed its year by having its annual banquet at which the new editor and business manager for 1947 were announced.

Working on the book has kept us all quite busy, but it has been worth it. Our only hope is that we have picked out the things that were important this year, and that we have made this year at Western a memorable one through this yearbook. Western is a growing institution, and many changes will probably be noted in next year's book. However, we hope that this book will bring back to you many happy memories of what Western was like this year, and make a stronger tie between you and life at Western.

Traditions of Players necessarily suspended during the war became alive again this year. The first of these was in response to the revival of Homecoming at Western. For their Alumni, Players gave the grotto scenes from the "Song of Bernadette," their last year's production. The scenes were followed by a tea on the stage of the Little Theatre.

Thirty people successfully passed the tryouts in the spring semester and were accepted into Players as pledges. The Pledges presented the following one-act plays: "Two Crooks and a Lady" by Eugene Pilott; "The Powers That Be" by S. S. and E. C. McCarty; and "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg.

One of the most beloved customs of Players was realized at Christmas time when Players met at Miss Shaw's home for their seasonal party. It was preceded by the traditional Sunday Event of seniors decorating and having dinner at Miss Shaw's.

In December, Players began rehearsals for "Rossums Universal Robots," and for eight weeks the cast lived in a world of the future...a world of progress and of robots. Four alumni returned to act in the production of "R. U. R.", which was presented January 31st, February 1st and 2nd.

Following the Saturday night performance, another great tradition was reborn...that of the Players' banquet. Alumni from twenty-three midwinters, from the year 1921 to the present members, were guests at the banquet.
For the remainder of the year, Players met for recreation at Thursday afternoon teas.

Through the activities of Players, the members of the organization once more tried to live up to the preamble of their constitution:

"The Players of Western Michigan College, through study and presentation, shall strive to increase the ability of the members to analyze, interpret, and assimilate the emotional, artistic, and intellectual content of the drama. Still further, as a result of these productive efforts, there shall come an attempt to inculcate within the student body, as a whole, a sense of values and an ability of discrimination and recognition of that which is truly of worth."

Last spring many hard hours of work were put in by the cast who produced Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette." The cast was composed of Player's along with the members of Miss Shaw's play production and acting classes. Three performances were given for the public, and one for the Nuns of Kalamazoo and the State Hospital respectively. It was a hard production, but it was highly successful. It was the simple

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is a national society for those juniors and seniors who are outstanding in the field of education. Beta Iota Chapter was organized in 1929 and has always been one of the very active groups on Western’s campus. It aims at social programs and entertainment as well as educational activities. It also provides an opportunity for discussion and friendship.

Outstanding among the events of the year was Beta Iota’s presentation of Dr. Willis A. Sutton, a noted educator, as a speaker for a general assembly.
Other highlights were the traditional chocolate for those freshmen who were honor students in high school; an address by Dr. Virgil Rogers, Battle Creek Superintendent of Schools, at the winter formal initiation; and the National Convocation held this year in Milwaukee. The delegates to this meeting were Flora Kubsch and Beverly Whyment.

Dr. William McKinley Robinson served as the counselor, and officers for the year were: President, Flora Kubsch; vice president, Mary Ellen Dodd; secretary, Margery Dawe Papenguth; treasurer, Doris Sprinkle; and historian, Lillian Scott.
Sigma Tau Chi is now in its third year on Western's campus. Its enrollment comprised of students from the business education, business administration, retailing, and secretarial curricula is one of the largest of all the organizations.

This honorary commerce fraternity, which is the first chapter in the state of Michigan, has for its purposes to promote scholarship, to develop closer coordination between college training and actual business experience, and to aid in the placement of students both in the business field and in the teaching profession.

The meetings during the past year have been both educational and social. Speakers from firms in Kalamazoo have given timely suggestions to the group. Bowling, a Christmas party, and a trip to Chicago were the social events. The annual June banquet at which the officers for the coming year are installed completed the calendar of events.
Those who are looking ahead predict a rapid growth for Western and the same prediction will be true for this organization. Increased college enrollment has brought an increased enrollment in the business department which promises greater and more successful years for Sigma Tau Chi in the future.

The officers for the year were: President, Marie Van Huis; vice president, Mary Ann Zitney; secretary, Ann Radwanski; treasurer, Beverly Buckham; statistician, Maribeth Bennett; alumni secretary, Shirley Hill.
The Y. W. C. A. club on Western’s campus is open to all women students enrolled at Western.

At the beginning of the school year the "Y" club helped sponsor the Annual Friendship Breakfast held on the first Sunday of the school year to honor new freshmen and women transfer students to Western. During Homecoming week-end, "Y" held a breakfast in honor of its alumni.

The theme for the first semester was "The Problems of World Peace." Three guest speakers, Dr. Knauss, Dr. Manske, and Mr. Horton, helped carry out this theme. The annual candlelight Christmas worship service was held, at which time Frances Helen Mains, regional "Y" executive was the guest speaker. Our main service projects included the sponsoring of the WSSF drive, and the partial support of a foreign child.
During the second semester an Easter Worship service, interesting discussions and speakers, service projects, a "fun night" at the downtown "Y," and a hayride were among the activities which were enjoyed.

The annual spring banquet was held in May at which time the next year's officers were elected. The annual spring picnic, given in honor of the seniors, concluded a successful year.
Pre-Med Club

The return of servicemen to Western has increased the number of men in the Pre-Med Club; thus, like many other organizations, it has taken on the appearance of its post-war days. The club is organized to benefit students preparing for professions in medicine, dentistry, and medical technology, and has Mr. F. J. Hinds of the biology department as faculty sponsor.

One of the most instructional meetings of the year was a trip to Borgess Hospital, where the group observed the operating rooms and laboratories. The club was especially fortunate to have Dr. Joseph H. Reno lecture on bone deformities, and also present several X-rays to further explain his theories and practices.

Other events were the presentation of a film from the Upjohn Company dealing with preparations and techniques used in the manufacture of drugs, from research through the finished product; a talk by Miss Eleanor Hall on the transition from medical technology training to the actual hospital work, and a lecture by Dr. Southworth dealing with the functions of the general practitioner.

Officers for the year were: President, Marshall Morrison; vice president, Betty Lee Sweeney; secretary, Kathleen Williams; treasurer, Flora Kubsch; historian, Edith Klenk Persing.

Classical Club, one of the oldest literary clubs on Western's campus, has enjoyed many varied activities in the past year.

Highlights of the year include the open house held for the alums at Homecoming; the celebration of the Roman Saturnalia held at the home of Miss Kraft; the formal initiation dessert; the annual spring banquet; and a trip to the archeological museum in Ann Arbor. The club also sent clothing and money to aid the critical need of Greece. A campus-wide clothing drive was organized to further this project.

This year a club song was written and introduced by Mae Anna Farrell. The song expressed fully the purposes and ideals of the club.

Classical Club was organized for those students interested in Roman history, culture and language. It aims to give its members a broad cultural background and an interest in the classics.

Officers for the year were Mavis Martinson, president; Barbara Kane, vice president; Lillian Scott, secretary; Mae Anna Farrell, treasurer; and Frances Walker, social chairman. The sponsors are Miss Kraft and Miss Rix.
The Student Science Club was organized in 1921 for those students with a high scholastic average, interested in physics, mathematics, chemistry, biology, geology, and psychology. The purpose of the club is to maintain the great aspects of science, scientific attitude, scientific knowledge, and scientific method.

We had many interesting programs during the year. Dr. Rood gave a talk on "Gyroscopes," Dr. Osborn spoke on "The Atomic Bomb," Mr. Blair talked on "the Development of the Locomotive," Dr. Kenoyer spoke on "Heredity and Environment," and Jerome Bigelow and Eldon Hitchcock gave a demonstration on "colloids."

The officers for the year were: president, Paul Splitstone; vice president, Betty Lee Sweeney; secretary, Maxine Pope; and treasurer, Kathleen Williams.
Pi Gamma Mu, the national scholastic honorary fraternity for social sciences, is limited to a membership of junior and senior students. Faculty recommendation, a 2.0 average, and twenty hours in the social science field are the qualifications necessary for initiation.

The aim of Pi Gamma Mu is to instill in the mind of the individual a scientific attitude towards all social questions and so send out from colleges and universities young men and women imbued with social idealism. Paralleling this aim of a scientific attitude is one of cooperation between students of the several branches of social science, thus contributing further to the solution of social problems.

In addition to the regular business meetings, discussion groups were held during the year in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bigelow and in the Blue Room of Spindler hall. The latter, a student sponsored meeting, was highlighted by an informal address by Mr. Taylor. The spring initiations and annual banquet were also among the principal events of the year.

Mr. Leonard Gernant and Dr. Knauss served as faculty sponsors. Marie Van Huis, Anne Snyder and Mr. Gernant operated as the social committee. Officers for the year were: Jerry Lucas, president; Evelyn Boettcher, vice president; and Dr. Comfort, secretary, treasurer.
The International Relations Club of Western Michigan College dates from 1928. It is one of many International Relations Clubs found on campuses all over the United States and in many parts of the world, sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The purpose of the club, as required by the Endowment, is the study of International Relations in order to “promote that deeper understanding which may lead to wider cooperation.” At no time does the club advocate any particular policy. Members may do so but the club itself exists solely for study and investigation.

As an aid to the study of the clubs, the Carnegie Endowment sends semi-annually to each International Relations Club, a consignment of from eight to twelve books dealing with international problems. The Carnegie Endowment also promotes the holding of International Relations Club Regional Conferences to which are sent delegates from each club in the region. The I. R. C. at Western is a member of the Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin Region.

Membership to the club on Western Michigan’s campus is open to any student genuinely interested in international affairs, and willing to participate in the club discussions. The club should be of interest especially to social science majors and minors, and to pre-law students. Veterans are especially welcomed into the club because of their many and varied experiences with the peoples of other nations.

During the school year 1945-46 International Relations Club grew from a membership of twelve to one of fifty. The programs were varied. The season began with a series of student-faculty forums. A forum consisting of three students and a faculty member discussed such topics as "The Race Problem," "The Control of Atomic Power," "Russia and World Peace." Speakers were also brought in to give talks and to answer questions of the club members. Dr. Knauss spoke on "China." Mr. Bert Adams of Portage School spoke on his experiences in Italy. One program was put on by the debate teams on the topic of "Free Trade."

For the first time since the beginning of the war, the I. R. C. sent delegates to the Regional Conference meeting in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Those attending were Gordon Langley, Carlene Bagnall, Lee Rorabach, and Frank Velesz. The group was accompanied by Dr. Friedmann of the history department.

Officers for this year were: President, Gerald Eggert; vice president, Carlene Bagnall; secretary, Wilma Brenner; treasurer, Wayne Shirley. Dr. Nancy Scott, and Dr. James Knauss acted as advisors.
Le Cercle Francais

Le Cercle Francais is an organization in which students interested in French are given a chance to meet others with the same interest, and also have an opportunity to practice their French in informal conversations.

The meetings are held once each month and usually there are special programs planned for entertainment such as outside speakers, movies and games played in French.
Just before Christmas vacation, the annual chocolate was held in the Davis Room. Russell Bowman read the Christmas story from the French Bible. While waiting for le père Noël, played by Bill McGowan, old French Christmas carols were sung.

Carrying on an old tradition, Le Cercle Français took its trip to Chicago in the latter part of March. Dinner was eaten at L’Aiglon, a French restaurant, and afterwards different groups visited various places of interest.

The officers of the club for this year were: Janice Walker, president until graduation in February when Jean Slapinski was elected; Jeanne Cynar, vice president; Rosemarie Mattimore, secretary; Phyllis Woodard, treasurer, Ann Oas and Margaret Walgamood, publicity; and Lee Rorabach, refreshments.

The Country Life Club, the oldest organization at Western, is in its forty-second active year on the campus. It is affiliated with the youth section of the American Country Life Association.

The club is open to all students on campus who are interested in rural life. Dr. Wm. McKinley Robinson, director of the Rural Life and Education Department, is the faculty sponsor.

Bi-monthly meetings consisted of a book review, speakers discussing safety education and children's books, folk dancing, and a group discussion concerning compulsory military training. A discussion on "Aspects of and Experiences in Military Education" was led by a panel of seven returned war veterans of the organization. One meeting was devoted to the presentation of a typical program which could be presented in the schoolroom by rural elementary children. A highlight of the year's activities was the annual Christmas party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robinson where "Why the Chimes Rang" was presented in pantomime. Christmas gifts were sent to the Douglas Community Center. The year's activities concluded with the annual spring picnic at Milham Park.

Officers for the fall semester were: president, Maribeth Bennet; vice president, Marian Luegge; secretary, Freda Schreer; and treasurer, Dorothy Zick. Officers of the spring semester were: president, Jean Farrier; vice president, George Brower; secretary, Mary Frances Fowler; and treasurer, Margaret Snyder.

Future Teachers of America is a national organization promoted by the National Education Association, Washington, D.C. The local chapter was organized on Western’s campus in 1938, has been continuously in good standing, and in 1942-43 was cited in the United States as the “Banner Chapter.” A chapter was first organized at Western in 1938 with a few interested students, and since then it has grown in membership to one of the largest organizations on campus. This chapter, named after Dr. George H. Hilliard, head of the Department of Education, was the first chapter in Michigan to receive a charter from the National office in Washington.

The members of the club are men and women on campus who are interested in the profession of teaching. Each member is automatically a member of the National Education Association and the Michigan Education Association and is thereby entitled to the journals of both.

The program of the club this year was centered about travel. Speakers throughout the year have been outstanding and helpful, trips to local places of commerce and industry have been interesting, and a trip was made to Washington, D.C. in May.

The local chapter is sponsored by Carl R. Cooper, Alumni Secretary. The officers for the year are Lois Solomon, president; June Griffith, vice president; Katherine Frans, secretary; Rosemary Blanchard Brown, treasurer; and Marjorie Hill, librarian.
The beginning phases of a return to a pre-war campus are reflected in the Charles Van Eeuwen Command of Veterans of World War II which was established January 8, 1945, at Western. At the initial meeting, twelve veterans became charter members, and Charles Starring was named faculty sponsor. At the present time there are over one hundred members, and Carroll Vannatter is Commander.

Titled in honor of the first Western Michigan College student to die for his country after Pearl Harbor, the organization has as its purpose the following: To perpetuate the memory of the dead; to maintain true allegiance to the government of the United States, its constitution and its laws; and to foster true patriotism. It also aims at preserving and strengthening comradeship among its members, assisting in the adjustment of veterans to college life, and discussion of and participation in their problems. Each semester brings many returning veterans to Western and the members of this organization feel that to have established a criterion for such a change to a prewar campus, inculcating postwar standards, has indeed, been deemed an honor.

The Command has a roster of speakers, men active in the fields of veterans’ administration and current affairs, who, from time to time, address the members at regular meetings.

The honor of sponsoring the Victory War Loan drive at Western was presented to the Charles Van Eeuwen Command of Veterans of World War II by the Student Council. Tom Koschtial was elected chairman of the drive and was ably supported by various members of the club.

The initial event on the roster was an open “Bond Drive” dance. Admission was solely by purchase of war stamps. In the course of the evening a formal presentation of candidates for the title of “Bond Queen” was made. Ten candidates were selected on the basis of beauty, personality, and renown on campus. Student ballots, issued with bond and stamp purchases during the drive determined the final selection of Bond Queen. An additional feature of the dance was an auction, open to bidding in terms of war bonds. Various objects of interest, including sweaters, nylons, cakes, dinner and theatre passes were used to encourage bids from the crowd by an efficient auctioneer, Jerry Lucas. The quota of bond purchases set for the student body was $10,000, but the students went over the top with a grand total of $15,000.

Another social event of the Command during the fall semester of 1945 was a banquet in Walwood Hall Cafeteria. Ray Huffstetter and Ken Scheitwe headed committees in charge of the banquet. The Bond Queen candidates were guests of honor. Vice President Wickers was the speaker and Carroll Vannatter, master of ceremonies. Piano music was furnished by Doug Everhart.
Officers of the year: Ray Lorenz, Carroll Vannatter, Jerry Lucas, Fran Zinser.

Jerry Hatch, last year's Bond Queen, places the crown on Marge Luna, who was elected queen of the Vets' bond drive this year.

A Vets' meeting in the gym to decide on the courses for summer school.

A special section was reserved at the homecoming football game to honor all the returning veterans.
The Early Elementary Club is an organization for those students who are interested in teaching in the early elementary grades. The purpose of this club is not only to give to its members ideas which will help them in their teaching, but also give them an opportunity to become acquainted with other girls who have the same interests as they have. It is divided into eight groups headed by junior and senior girls, each group being responsible for one meeting.

A “Get-Acquainted” party on November 11 was the beginning of the many events of the club. At this party freshmen were introduced to the old members, officers and committee members.

At Christmas time, stories and carols around the tree were part of the seasonal entertainment. The annual Christmas sale was held and the proceeds were used to provide a Christmas basket for a needy family and to aid in the Christmas celebration in Kalamazoo’s two community centers.

In January, Reverend Howard Tensink spoke to the club on spiritual ideals for the new year. A humorous St. Patrick’s day play and stories provided the entertainment at the regular March meeting.

At the annual spring banquet the officers for 1946-47 were installed and the traditional June picnic gave a perfect ending to a very successful year.

Officers for the year were: president, Noreen Gatenby; vice president, Mary Ellen Dodd; secretary, Phyllis Dean; treasurer, Lois Dethmers; Women's League representative, Jean Case Smurlo. Other group leaders were: Lois Solomon, Joyce Timmer, Margery Dawe Papenguth, Barbara Shannon, Beverly Waterbury, Anne Snyder, and Dorothy Riddell. Mrs. Phillips and Miss Blackburn were the club’s sponsors.

The Occupational Therapy Club began its semester this year with a meeting in which the new class of forty members was introduced to the rest of the club. Games and refreshments provided the entertainment for the evening.

At one of the early meetings of the year, Eva Reed, student in the occupational therapy department and former member of a professional marionette group, presented a marionette show with the assistance of another student, Martha Buttenheim.

Not all of the programs were presented by members of the club, and Dr. Charles Van Riper of the speech clinic on Western's campus spoke to the club in one of the most interesting and educational meetings of the year. His talk concerned the various types of speech defects and their treatment.

The first meeting of the second semester served to introduce the seven students who entered the curriculum at that time to the old members, and Miss Dora Gower, a new addition to the faculty of the occupational therapy school, was the guest of honor.

With the advent of spring, the club took full advantage by having a wiener roast at Milham Park.

The final meeting, held early in June, was the annual dinner and program in connection with the occupational therapy school's clinical directors' meeting. At that time, the students and directors had an opportunity to become acquainted. These directors who are in charge of occupational therapy departments where the students affiliate, were guests of honor at dinner and a program of professional interest.

The Home Economics club has had a very successful year. It has been outstanding in all of its activities this year, handled under the capable leadership of the president, Jean Humphries Butler.

Monthly meetings were held throughout the school year with a variety of interesting programs. Some of the programs included: a hat demonstration, several book reviews, flower demonstrations, the Christmas party which was held at the new Home Management House, and a style show. A formal initiation was held which brought several new members into the club. Other events combining business with pleasure were the Home Ec supper, a dorm hot dog sale, and a cloth monkey sale.

The formal banquet was held at the Civic Theatre and was one of the climaxing events of the year. The final get-together of the year was the annual picnic which was held at Milham Park.

The officers of the year were: Jeanne Butler, president; Dorothy Bailey, vice president; Ruth Sheldon, secretary; and Betty Moerdyk, treasurer. The officers elected for next year are: president, Beverly Slover; vice president, Beverly Buckham; secretary, Martha Cross; and treasurer, Phyllis Kooistra.

The Later Elementary Club is comprised of students who have as a common interest the problems and methods of teaching in the later elementary grades. It aims both at acquainting prospective teachers with such problems and methods and also at promoting friendship and entertainment.

During Homecoming week the club sponsored the sale of homecoming buttons and entertained the alumni with a coffee. The programs for meetings included club talent nights, book reviews, discussions, and speakers. Among the speakers were Miss Guardia who related the later elementary education in Bolivia and Mrs. C. Davis who reported on girl scout activities.

Other events of interest of the year were the annual Christmas party at Miss Katherine Mason’s home and sales of special Western Christmas cards and food sales. A special highlight of the year was the visit to a progressive school of education and to Clear Lake Camp. Hikes, teas, and fun nights were included in the social limelight.

The officers for the year were: president, Lorraine Timmerman; vice president, Mary Callaghan; secretary, LaVone Billion; treasurer, Doris Koch. Miss Katherine Mason and Miss Lenora Brennan acted as sponsors.
Western's Modern Dance Club, one of the oldest organizations on campus, was organized for women students interested in the art of modern dance. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest and appreciation to all in the art of modern dance.

This club, under the capable direction of Miss Sarah McRoberts, met every Tuesday at seven fifteen. Though the club adheres to classic interpretations, there has also been adaptation to world and national affairs. In this vein an extensive and intriguing program was planned in preparation for a program in the future.

Though open to all Western co-eds, only those having a definite interest usually become members. Requirements for the club call for an original interpretation of an idea or feeling which is performed at the initiation.

Officers for the year were: President, Jacqueline Anderson; secretary-treasurer, Freda Brandt. Those not in the picture were Clara Richmond and Freda Brandt.
Art Club

Although well noted for solving many headaches, the Art Club was confronted with decorating the campus for Homecoming Day last fall to start the year off with a bang. Students were kept busy scurrying around, searching for dummies, crepe paper, odds and ends to give the buildings a new lift. The Art Club alumni were entertained at a "Chat and Chew" that afternoon.

The annual membership tea soon followed with new members expressing their desire to join. Their willingness was shown by presenting projects for approval by the club. The projects were displayed at the yearly Christmas Party which served as the formal initiation of the new group. At the beginning of the second semester, students were again invited to join the club.

At the monthly meetings this year, the club enjoyed talks by several faculty members including Miss Grace Gish, Mr. Wallace Garneau, and Mr. Ray Pellett. Mr. Harry Carpenter, well known commercial artist and former student at Western, talked about the present-day problems of the commercial artist. Sculpture was the topic of a lecture by Mr. Bryan Williams of Kalamazoo College.

Again this year, the "eatingest" club on campus prepared a dinner in May at which Mr. Alfonso Iannelli, designer and architect, spoke to the group. Among Mr. Iannelli's work is the fountain at Kalamazoo's Bronson Park.

An all-day trip to the Cranbrook Academy of Art brought the year to a successful close.

Officers for the year were: President, Mary Eldridge; vice-president, Gloria Sawmiller; secretary, Lucetta Bemis; and treasurer, Barbara Kane.

Kappa Rho Sigma

Kappa Rho Sigma was first organized by the Faculty Science club on November 17, 1920. It is the honor science society on Western’s campus. When it was first organized, it was designated as Beta Delta Nu. The name was changed later by the Science club in May, 1921 to Kappa Rho Sigma.

Students who are majoring or minoring in science or mathematics and have a high scholastic attainment as well as strong character traits are eligible for membership to the club. The members are selected only by the unanimous vote of the Faculty Science club.
Der Deutsche Verein

Der Deutsche Verein completed another busy and enjoyable year. The members began their activities by making sandwiches to sell to the students, thereby raising funds for the World Student Fellowship Fund and various other projects of the club.

The meetings included parliamentary practice, group singing, plays, readings, games, and parties such as the Christmas dessert held in the Davis Room.

Included as additions to the membership roll were several veterans from the European Theater of Operations.

Sponsors for the year were Miss Mathilde Steckelberg and Mr. Hermann Rothfuss, and officers included: president, John Karnemaat; secretary, Margaret Bullock; and treasurer, Eleanor Carter.
"W" Club

The "W" Club was organized in the fall of 1921 as an organization composed of men who have won major awards in athletics. The "W" Club traditionally takes an active part in promoting worth-while campus activities. It has as its aims fellowship, high scholarship, greater school spirit, ideals of good sportsmanship, and clean living on Western's campus.

This is an important year in the history of the "W" Club. It has been resumed after being discontinued during the war. Early in the term the returning members and those on campus who were eligible for membership met to reorganize the club and bring it back to its pre-war status.

Among the functions of the "W" Club were included the annual alumni dinner-dance, the concessions at football and basketball games, the proceeds of which go partly to the club and partly to the athletic scholarship fund which the "W" Club founded. The club helps to keep the alumni in touch with their alma mater, and has much to offer to its members interested in athletics.

The officers to lead the club during the year were: president, Ray Underwood; vice president, Mel Van Dis; secretary, Tom Krupa; treasurer, Wally Stukart.

The Nurses' Club is the organization on campus of all women who are either nurses already or who are studying to be future nurses. The club has monthly meetings which are of great interest to the members, because they feature programs which concern the problems and interests of nurses. The club joins the Bronson Hospital nurses for parties throughout the year.

Officers of the club are: President, Anita Swanson; vice president, Wilta Reiser; secretary-treasurer, Ione Bailey. Sponsors of the group are Miss Evelyn Buerger, R. N., and Miss Dezena Loutzenhiser.
Snapped as she was coming from the nurses' home at Bronson Hospital, Lois Wilson of LeMoirle, Illinois, Class of 1948, represents the thirty-five freshmen student nurses who have been taking academic training at Western Michigan College during 1945-46.

Nurses

Foremost among the reasons why many girls from Michigan and surrounding states have selected Bronson hospital school of nursing is the fact that Bronson is affiliated with Western Michigan College. Those enrolling in the three-year course receive two years of college credit in addition to their nursing diploma, while students completing the five-year course are graduated with the Bachelor of Science degree. This year eighteen were enrolled in the degree course.

To insure close cooperation between Bronson and Western, Dr. D. C. Shilling serves as chairman of the Nursing Education committee of the hospital's board of trustees.

Student nurses live in the dormitory at Bronson, but they are enrolled as regular students at Western. Classes in nursing arts are conducted at the hospital with Miss Mary B. Anderson, director of nurses, Mrs. Allen Haines, director of nursing education, and Miss Leone Sweet as instructor. Outstanding local physicians present lectures on their specialties, while various head nurses from the hospital supplement with courses related to their departments.

Men's Glee Club

After an absence from the campus of a year, because of the lack of available personnel, the Men's Glee Club again was in full swing with the beginning of the fall semester. With the return of many of the old members, along with several new men, the organization was once more able to carry on many of its old activities. With this return to normality the glee club, as before the war, visited many places in Kalamazoo, as well as in surrounding territory, besides giving its usual concert this spring in the Little Theatre.

Although still small in numbers, the glee club was tops when it came to providing good music. Also, in addition to the group singing, it possessed a quartet which performed several times during the year. This quartet consisted of Watts Johnson, and Ray Green, tenors; John Van Boven, baritone, and Dale Weaver, bass.

Under the direction of its new head, Dr. Elwyn Carter, Western Michigan’s College Choir enjoyed another successful season. With the return of many men who have been absent from the choir for several years, the number has been swelled to over sixty voices.

The choir provided the musical portion for several of the assemblies this year. Some of the other activities were its usual Spring Concert, and participation in the annual Spring Music Festival along with the rest of the music organizations on campus.
As it did in other peacetime years, the choir again went on the road giving concerts at many high schools in this section of the state. The choir also made several other appearances, one at the Kalamazoo Ministerial meeting, and another at the college mid-winter commencement. The high spot for the season was reached on June 7th when the choir presented its annual spring concert in the Little Theatre.
The Women’s Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothea Sage Snyder, has completed another year of good times, hard work, and fine musical experiences. The glee club was successful not only in its basic aim of presenting programs for the school and community, but also in its more subtle purpose of developing and enriching the lives and musical experience of each member through association with great music.

The year’s schedule was a full one. The traditional initiation banquet was first on the calendar. The Christmas season was, as usual, a busy one. It began with the Christmas party at Mrs. Snyder’s home and was preceded by caroling at the homes of various faculty members. Then followed the Christmas assembly program and the annual Women’s League Christmas Chocolate.
After four long war years the club was again able to resume its custom of traveling to various towns in southwestern Michigan to present programs for schools and local clubs. It went to Hastings, Delton, Middleville, Niles, Buchanan, and Holland.

In the spring two home concerts were given. The club also assisted in the presentation of the Spring Festival and worked with the alumni glee club in its presentation of Deems Taylor’s "The Highwaymen."

Officers for the year were: Ellen Addington, president; Dorothy Bailey, vice president; Carolyn Bamborough, secretary; Phyllis Ash, treasurer; Mary Callaghan, business manager; Mildred Leedy, and Margaret Baker, representatives; Evelyn Monroe and Lois Williams, librarians.

Western's debate squad, operating under the handicap of war time conditions came through admirably, but the reconversion to peace brought even a greater schedule, when debaters participated in 268 forensic events. Out of this number the debate team won forty-three out of sixty-three debates. The squad that achieved this success was: Gerry Carley, Richard Dunkelberger, Gerald Eggert, Robin Fastenrath, Beatrice Hamman, Paula Harrington, Edgar Hord, Anita Peterman, Roy Peterson, Jack Ryan, Connie Sargent, Bonnie Schnoor, Robert Smith and Robert Williams. Bob Williams was elected the debate manager with Miss Anna Lindbloom as Director of Forensics.

This year the debate question is of vital interest to all those who hope to see better world cooperation. Resolved: The foreign policy of the United States should be directed toward the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world.
The season opened with a bang at the discussion tournament at Kalamazoo College in which all the debaters except Jack Ryan and Robert Smith participated. Minerva Chalapis also took part in this affair.

January was a red letter month when the squad stormed Bloomington, Illinois to win nineteen, tie one, and lose five debates. Roy and Gerald were undefeated, winning over Northwestern. Anita, Robin and Dick lost only one for the affirmative. On the negative side were Bob Williams, Paul, Gerry, Connie and Edgar.

February 18, the squad traveled to Michigan State College where in spite of mid-semester exams, they won nine and lost nine to stand second in the league debates and third in the tournament debates, losing the first position in league debates by one.
Terre Haute was invaded next with fourteen wins and six losses. Gerald and Roy, defeating Minnesota, placed as one of the five undefeated teams. Roy placed among the ten best speakers and Gerry and Paula on the negative trounced Purdue.

In an assembly debate with the University of Michigan, seventy percent of the student body favored Roy and Gerald over the visiting team.

The annual national Tau Kappa Alpha discussion tournament was held at Purdue in May. Participants were Robin, Paula, Bob, Anita, Jack, Edgar and Gerald. Roy Williams placed ninth in the tournament with competition which included Rutgers University, Colorado University, University of Alabama and Notre Dame. Gerald Eggert placed high among the first ten while he remained in the competition.
Western's chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic society, had a most successful post-war year.

The first event of the season came at Homecoming when thirty alumni were entertained at a coffee held after the football game.

Western participated in the national T. K. A. discussion tournament at Purdue University May 10. Bob Williams carried off top honors by placing among the ten best speakers. Next year, with Western as host, a three day tournament will be held on our campus. The arrangements for the event were carried out by Miss Anna Lindblom, who is on the committee and the national council.

Next year, Western also plans to resume sponsoring Freshman extempore and oratory contests between local schools.

As a climax to the year's work, the annual T. K. A. formal banquet was held in May. Anita Peterman presided as toastmistress, and speakers included Jack Ryan, Gerald Eggert, Miss Anna Lindblom, and Dean Hoekje. The traditional oil can, given to a senior who has done outstanding work in forensics, was presented to Jean Morrison.

Active members were: Anita Peterman, president; Robin Fastenrath, secretary-treasurer; Bob Williams, Jean Morrison, and Miss Anna Lindblom, sponsor of the organization. Gerry Carley and Jack Ryan were the only members-elect. Pledges included Dick Dunkelberger, Gerald Eggert, Paula Harrington, Roy Peterson, and Connie Sargent.
On December 8, 1945, the initial organization meeting of the Off-Campus Girls was held in the Waiwood ballroom. A representative group of girls met beforehand to plan the meeting and to establish aims and purposes for the organization. A tentative constitution was presented which included these aims of cooperation and participation in campus activities. At the meeting, Gerry Carley was appointed temporary chairman. The following girls were appointed to draw up a constitution for approval at the next meeting: Wilma Brenner, chairman; Marge Maurer, co-chairman; Rosemary Cetlinski; Patricia Henderson, Betty Loewe, Rosemarie Mattimore, Maribeth Bennett, Doris Ellenbecker, Mitzi Stone, Linn Swanson, Jean LaDella, and Robin Fastenrath.

Gina Guidi was asked to head a committee to investigate a permanent name for the group. Pat Kingscott and Dixie Lee Stafford were appointed co-chairmen of the membership committee.

A commission type of government was chosen by the group. The members were divided alphabetically into twelve groups, each of which elected one commissioner. The commissioners and their groups are: Group I, Maribeth Bennett; group II, Barbara Bowman; group III, Gerry Carley; group IV, Robin Fastenrath; group V, Noreen Gatenby; group VI, June Kersten; group VII, Pat Marcusse; group VIII, Marge Maurer; group IX, Jean Richmond; group X, Barbara Scott; group XI, Jeanne Spurgeon; group XII, Beverly Vrany.

On March 6 the commission met to elect officers and plan the spring program. Gerry Carley was elected chairman; Noreen Gatenby, vice-chairman; Marge Maurer, secretary; Barbara Scott, treasurer; and Maribeth Bennett, publicity chairman.

The tentative schedule for the spring events included monthly business and social meetings, a spring formal, an open house honoring returned veterans and their wives, a tennis court dance, and a tea with the dorm girls as guests.

"It's a feeling grand to take you by the hand, and greet you as a brother.
There are bonds that draw the men of Sigma Tau,
And hold them to each other."

As Sigma Tau Gamma's thirty-second consecutive year of activities came to an end, the fraternity looked back on one of it's most successful years on Western's campus. With the return of many of the old members to the Sig Tau fold, and once more experiencing the keen competition offered by the reappearance of the other male social fraternities on campus, Sigma Tau Gamma has put forth a greater effort to maintain its principle of active leadership on campus.

During the year, Sigma Tau contributed many leaders in college activities, including two class presidents, editor of the Herald, business manager of the Brown and Gold, two Men's Union Board members, and five Student Council members.

Two successful pledgeships were carried on, one during the winter months, and the second in the spring, bringing in a dozen new members. With the return of many ex-service men to the frat, the active membership was brought to over thirty members.

Social activities that were held were the annual spring formal, stag parties, and hay rides. The formal, coming during the closing weeks of the year climaxed one of the most active years that Sigma Tau has enjoyed.

Officers for the year were Donavon Phebus, president; Arthur Parynik, vice president; Robert Bishop, secretary; James Clark, treasurer.

Omega Delta Phi

It was four years between the time the last member of Omega Delta Phi turned his back on Western’s campus and marched off to join his frat brothers on the field of battle and the glorious homecoming this fall.

Back to the pre-war standards of unrationed fun and friendship that was reminiscent of college before, came eighteen past members, veterans of the armed services, to reinstate the traditions and activities of the Omega Delta once more. The “Straw-Hatters” lost little time in promoting an avalanche of parties and social gatherings which has always been one of the prime motivating forces behind this independent fraternity.

Dr. George Hilliard and Mr. Charles Hicks were welcomed back into the brotherhood of the frat as their active sponsors to play host at the respective cottages on Long Lake, where both co-ed and stag parties highlighted the spring pledging and initiation. New members were formally initiated at the annual dinner held this year in the VanGogh Room of Walwood Hall and the hand of brotherhood was extended to Paul Abrams, Eugene Buechner, John Ell, George Smart, Dale Lundeen, Robert Barlow, Lyle Tambling and Alfred Johns.

Officers for the spring term were Morris Persing, president; Melvin Brown, vice president; Burton Aldrich, secretary; Charles Barlow, treasurer; Myron Sonnevilt, Sergeant-at-arms and Woodrow Creason, pledge-father. Officers chosen to serve during the summer session and fall term were Morris Persing, president; Joseph Belisle, vice president; Dale Lundeen, secretary; Dick Johns, treasurer and Woody Creason, pledge-father.

The last big activity of the year was a frat picnic held in Milham Park in early June. Married members and their wives and other members and their guests enjoyed a day of outdoor sports, plenty of good food and singing around the camp fire.

The Omega Delta looks forward to an even more active and enthusiastic year next fall and hope to see more of the old buddies back from service to help join with the other fraternities on campus in maintaining the scholarship and fraternal spirit, long a part of Western.
Zeta Delta Epsilon

Zeta Delta Epsilon, after a four year lapse, has again been reorganized and is once again participating in all of the campus activities. It is composed primarily of veterans who have served in all theaters of operation during World War II. This charter was renewed in February of 1946, and during this one semester has taken its place as one of the leading fraternities on Western's campus.

Under the able guidance of Dr. Henry Knauss and Mr. Herbert Read, the fraternity is assured of capable and successful leadership for the ensuing year.

The year 1946 saw inaugurated the first annual Sweetheart Dance where over two hundred people helped celebrate the crowning of our sweetheart of 1946. Candidates were elected from the various sororities, dormitories and off campus club. Their pictures were posted so as to acquaint them with the students, and those attending the dance were given a chance to vote on their ticket. Miss Mary Ann Nies of Holland, Michigan, was chosen queen and the other candidates assisted as her court. This dance, proving a huge success, will in time become synonomous with the name of Zeta Delta Epsilon.

The Zeta Delta Epsilon Fraternity is purely a social organization striving to promote greater fellowship on our campus. The term of activity was short this year, but next year proves to be a big year for the fraternity.

Academy

Academy, one of Western's oldest sororities, looks back once more with pleasure at the past year and ahead with new hopes toward next fall. The beginning of the year brought homecoming for Western in general, and Academy in particular when alums and actives met for luncheon at the Columbia hotel. Rejuvenated by this contact with those who have held the spirit for so long, Academy started the year with some lovely old traditions and some brand new ideas.

Rushees turned from little girls to pirates during the fall rush parties and finally were allowed to act themselves at the traditional Christmas formal dessert. Both fall and spring pledges became official members at the formal banquet in the spring.

Academy joined with the other sororities in giving the inter-sorority Chocolate in February and with the sororities and off-campus girls in adopting a war orphan. A Mothers' Day luncheon was held in the spring, and a bulletin was sent out to Acadalums telling them just what their sorority sisters had accomplished during the year.

This year came to a wonderful climax at the annual houseparty in the spring, when, for two wonderful days, everyone forgot school and did as they pleased.

Officers for the year were: Mary Waldherr, president; Elaine Kalke, vice president; Edith Klenk Persing, secretary, replaced by Betty Lee Sweeney the second semester; Jean Slapinski, treasurer; Margaret Schaeffer, marshal; Anne Oas, historian; Margaret Farrell, alumni secretary, and Jo-Ann Austin, publicity manager. Miss Matilda Steckelberg and Miss Hazel Cleveland acted as sponsors.
Pi Kappa Rho

"Pi Kappa Rho we sing to you
Our songs of praise."

In reviewing this past year at Western, the Pi Kaps look back to fun and friendship. With barn dances, theatre parties, scavenger hunts, teas and desserts heading the rushing program, everyone had a good time. Informal initiation trials were held in the Davis room as usual and formal initiation by candlelight at the fireplace in Dr. Meyer's home was very impressive. The traditional houseparty at Gull Lake topped the entertainments of the season.

The aim of the sorority for the year was to promote closer ties between the Pi Kappalums and the active sorority members. The fall homecoming and dessert given in the Davis Room with a book review by Dr. Brown helped to further this aim.

Early in the spring the traditional newspaper, "The Pi Kappa Rhorian" was published and mailed to all alums.

Pi Kap was in charge of the annual Inter-Sorority Chocolate with June Scales acting as general chairman. With the fine cooperation of the other sororities on campus regarding decorations, refreshments and guests, the chocolate was very successful.

Miss Tamin and Dr. Meyer were sponsors for the year and officers included: Marilyn Skinner, president; Dorothea Kolch, vice president; Maxine Sprik, secretary; Jeanne Cynar, treasurer. Other officers for the year were: Mavis Martinson, publicity manager, Marguerite Szakas, historian-custodian, and Rosemarie Mattimore, alum secretary.

The Senators returned to school this fall with hope and anxiety for a prosperous and full year. We knew that many traditions could again be established that had to be dropped during the war. Now as the year is closing, we look back on a very successful year.

Homecoming was the first activity of the year. A luncheon was given for all the alums in the Van Gogh room, where old and new Senators renewed acquaintances.

The two rushing periods were lots of fun for both Senators and rushees. A "State Fair," a tea, and an informal party at which everyone came dressed as they were the night before at 10:30, made up the first semester's parties. Five new pledges were taken in the first semester at the formal initiation held in the Civic theatre. The second semester's parties consisted of a tea, the annual "Ace of Clubs" party, and a picnic at Milham Park. Formal initiation at the Pioneer Tea Room brought in nine more new Senators.

The inter-sorority chocolate, the annual Mothers' day luncheon at the Coach and Four, and the inter-sorority formal were other activities of the year. As always, the Senators looked forward to the houseparty where everyone let loose and had a wonderful time this year. The Senatoriums were read and everyone brought to the close a very successful year.

Officers for the year were: Kay Stimson, president; Carlene Bagnall, vice president; Margery Papenguth, secretary; and Barbara Hawkins, treasurer. Other officers were: Marie Van Huis, alumni secretary; Doris Sprinkle, historian; Mags Walgamood, publicity manager; and Colleen Cloney, properties.
Theta Pi Alpha has had a busy and successful fifteenth year. The first event was the "Believe It Or Not" booth at the carnival arranged to welcome new students. Eleanor Proud was in charge of the event.

One of the biggest affairs of the year was the Homecoming dessert with Beverly Whyment as chairman. During the war years Homecoming was eliminated, and it seemed good to see all the alums back for another Homecoming.

Rushing the first semester was under the direction of Peg Watson. The "jeans" party and the Sunday night coffee were the outstanding events. Second semester rushing was highlighted by the "Come As you Are Party" with Adele Kuempel as rush chairman.

March 14 was the annual inter-sorority chocolate which welcomed Freshman women. Gloria Sawmiller was Theta Pi's representative on the committee. A revival of the inter-sorority formal was welcomed by all. Due to the scarcity of men on campus the past few years, there had been no sorority formals. This gala affair was held in the ballroom on April 13th.

In the spring one of the nicest things we did was to have an inter-sorority cook-out at Milham Park.

Our regular meetings were highly enjoyable to all of us. Dr. Brown's review of James Hilton's "So Well Remembered" and Mr. Cooper's exhibition of his collection of precious stones were two of the outstanding meetings.

The annual Mother's luncheon and the houseparty at Gull Lake climaxed the year. Truly this was one of our best and most pleasant years.

The officers this year were: President, Betty Holton; vice president 1st semester, Marie Babinec, 2nd semester, Noreen Belden; secretary, 1st semester, Kay Gilbert, 2nd semester, Dorothy Rose; treasurer, Janet Doering.

Another year of life in Spindler has come to an end. Looking back we see that we had a pretty full calendar of social events, each a success in its own way.

We started the year with a tea for Vandercook and Walwood girls. Next came the Homecoming chocolate for students, alums, and faculty. Our first “Open House” was held November 16th.

Marge Hill represented Spindler as co-chairman of the inter-dorm formal, the Crystal Ball.” We had our second “Open House” on January 25th with the theme “It Might As Well Be Spring” and Rudy Vogelreuter’s orchestra furnished the music for dancing in the dining room.

We had a very lovely Christmas breakfast, and a senior dinner, both of which are traditional in the dormitory.

At the beginning of the second semester, our group of girls was greatly enlarged by the new Spindlerites moving in from Vandercook Hall. They became very active also and participated in the teas and dinners given for the faculty. A coke party was given to honor the Vandercook girls and get them acquainted with the old Spindlerites.

The year’s activities were rounded up with a dorm formal, “Sea Fever” and another Senior dinner, honoring June graduates. The year was fun for all, and each one gained a lot from living in Spindler this past year.

Mrs. Hoyt was the new housemother for the year, and counselors assisting were Miss Mary Doty, Miss Margaret Feather and Miss Rita Kohn. The nurse in the dormitory was Miss Whitney. Officers for the first semester were: Evelyn Boettcher, president; Ellen Addington, vice president; Lois Solomon, secretary; and Georgia Frasher, treasurer. A new election was held at the beginning of the second semester so as to give the new girls a chance to elect their officers who were: Marjorie Sorensen, president; Marge Hill, vice president; Lois Solomon, secretary; and Mary Callaghan, treasurer.
The spacious Blue Room, Club rooms, and lobby of Spindler Hall were continually in a whirl of activities this semester, and gay, enthusiastic groups of co-eds were always together planning and enjoying some new event as pictured above.

The Brown and Gold photographer caught them grouped about the blonde baby grand in the lounge, holding dorm council, signing in guests at the desk and catching the early spring sun on the front steps.

All this constituted "life at Spindler" for the year 1945-46 and as such will remain in each girl's memory as one of the most thrilling and pleasant years of her life.
Walwood Hall Residence

Back to normality! Once more the Walwood girls are living and entertaining in traditional fashion with faculty dinners, open houses, teas, and before dinner speakers on the social calendar.

Walwood had a full year in the dormitory. The three dorms combined and gave a formal at Christmas time in the ballroom. Also at the same time the annual Christmas breakfast was held with seniors leading the caroling to breakfast. In addition to the regular teas, one was given for off-campus girls.

At the close of the first semester everyone prepared for the great change to come in the second semester. Bunks replaced one of the single beds, and when we came back from vacation we were living three in a room, which has proven quite successful.

Some of the second semester activities were the Easter breakfast, Mothers' day dessert and a dorm dance. The real spirit of Walwood girls appeared when they adopted a child through the Federation of Youth Society, giving financial support during the crisis in war-torn Europe.

Two sets of officers were elected for the year. Officers for the first semester were: President, Gerry Gordon; vice president, Marilyn Kurschner; secretary, Evria Smith; and treasurer, Marion Howe. Those for the second semester were: President, Shirley Anderson; vice president, Norma Woodard; secretary, Betty Chinnow; and treasurer, Mary Ann Nies.
Typifying the true spirit and friendly attitude of Walwood Dorm, the above scenes show the residents as they spent informal afternoons and evenings in the Green Room, lounges, and lobby throughout the year. Many an enjoyable hour was spent in group singing, bull sessions and reading and will always remain fond memories to the alumni of Walwood.
Vandercook Hall

Like the return of so many pre-war activities and events that were discontinued throughout the war on Western's campus, this year was witnessed the return of regular male students to the rooms of Vandercook Hall. Since the last resident packed his books and left to join his buddies in the armed forces in the spring of 1942, the dorm housed a Navy V-12 unit for seven semesters and three hundred coeds for one semester. Now the men have returned to take up their education and college life where they left it before the war.

To those returning to the familiar halls and rooms, being greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Towner Smith, dorm directors, meeting old acquaintances, and making new friends, it seems good to be back. To those entering Western for the first time or living in Vandercook for their first semester, it has all been an interesting and exciting experience. The annual traditions of the dorm were soon reactivated and after the semester began many dorm parties, open houses and the “Teepee Tango” were planned and carried out. Athletic teams were selected from each hall and as always, many a heated game of basketball and softball was played during the spring months.

Returning again with the fellows, after serving in the army came Mr. Harry Hefner as counselor. Mr. Devere Curran and Mr. Raymond Scholfield were added as new staff members, all of whom helped share responsibilities with Towner Smith.

Officers selected by the votes of their dorm mates were: Louis Rizzardi, president, John Hart, secretary-treasurer and Harry Wilson as chief proctor. Hall representatives were: Robert Fitch, Alfred Faloney, John Hart, Norman Anderson, Edward Moorhead, Rene Belisle, Louis Rizzardi, Jerry Lucas, Ivan Fleser, Harry Wilson, Maurice Sumney and Duane Lord.

For the first time in the history of Vandercook Hall for men, co-eds occupied the dorm for the first semester of the year. As the last of the Navy V-12 unit moved out after the war, the increased enrollment of women students and the lack of male students to fill it caused the Administration to house women in the only men’s dorm on campus.

At the end of the semester, the increased demand for rooms by men returning from service, the women were given the opportunity to move either to Spindler or Walwood, each room housing three roommates instead of the usual two.

While living in their rather unusual residence, the girls in Vandercook participated in the annual Inter-Dorm Formal and held a gala “open house” in November.
Coffees for faculty and friends each Sunday afternoon, Saturday sporting events, and a regular swim hour for Vandercook women were some of the activities enjoyed this year.

Directing the dormitory while the women lived there was Mrs. Towner Smith, whose husband had formerly been in charge of the dorm before the war and who was then serving in the Navy. Working with Mrs. Smith on a dorm council were elected officers and a representative from each hall.

The officers were: Dorothy Perry, president; Marian Miller, vice president; Nelda Mills, secretary; and Thelma Morrison, treasurer. Hall representatives were:
Beatrice Lewis, Joyce Shouldice, Pamela Clark, Helen Meadows, Wilta Reisner and Jean Donaldson.

October of 1945 saw the Arcadia Brook Golf Club converted into a miniature dormitory to accommodate the ever increasing number of male students on the campus.

From the twenty members living there, the A. B. C. Club was formed, with Don Bender as president, and Jim Niccum as social chairman. Each student at “Arcadia,” as it came to be called, was a member of the club, and contributed generously to its ultimate success. Club meetings were held every Monday evening, in which matters pertaining to the past and to the future were taken care of.

Four “Open Houses” were held during the semester, each being an “occasion” for those who attended. The music for dancing was provided by a combination radio-record player owned by James “Buster” Walsh, and cokes and sandwiches usually rounded out the bill of fare . . . let's have no more dubious raising of eyebrows when Arcadia becomes the topic of conversation.

The ABC club organized a basketball team and entered league play. The club also sang Christmas carols shortly before Christmas vacation began, to which the girls in all three dorms can testify. The carolers were par excellence!

The crowning event of the semester was the open house just before Christmas. Arcadia was well decorated, even to the candles over the fireplace and the Christmas tree. It put everyone into the right spirit for the holidays and the final weeks of the term.

Walwood Hall

Walwood Hall has seen quite a change this year as the college reverted to normal times. One hundred fifteen girls came back in the fall to a clean dormitory and full of pep. Everyone looked forward to holding some of its traditions again that had been lacking during the war.

The policies of the dormitory are determined largely by the dorm council which is made up of the officers, corridor representatives, and the housemother. They make such rules as they feel are needed and guide the social activities of the year. Quiet hours and campus regulations of closing hours are enforced by this group.

The dormitory has its own cafeteria where the girls can eat, having cafeteria in the morning and at noon, and having a served dinner in the evening. A nurse is also provided for in the dorm to take care of all illnesses.

At the beginning of the second semester, the residents of Walwood were forced to triple up, but even though it is a great change for those who were used to the old Walwood, the spirit still remains for which it is known. Mrs. Florence Tyler was the housemother, and Miss Carrie Stoeri, and Miss Hester Pellegron served as counselors.
Vandercook Hall

Vandercook Hall had a complete turnover this year. During the first semester the co-eds of Western occupied its rooms, but during the second semester it went back to the fellows and resumed its natural pre-war spirit.

The government of the dorm is handled by the council which is made up of its officers and precinct representatives. This group works out the activities for the year and the policies of the dorm as a whole.

Vandercook does not have its own cafeteria, but the men are able to secure their meals in the cafeteria at the Union. It does have its own coffee shop where they can get hamburgs and cokes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Towner Smith act as director and housemother of the dormitory. Mr. Dever Curran and Mr. Raymond Schofield are the counselors who assist in the absence of Towner Smith.

Lavina Spindler Hall

Mrs. Dorothy Hoyt came to Spindler Hall this year as its new housemother and assistant Dean of Women. She has had a full year at Spindler with the change from two girls per room to three.

Spindler has its own cafeteria where the girls are able to secure their meals. A council, composed of officers and corridor representatives governs the dorm and plans the activities of the year.

Mary Doty, Margaret Feather, and Rita Kohn act as counselors and assist in making Spindler a friendly and pleasant place to live.
The purpose of Western's Religious Activities Committee is to promote activities that will meet the religious demands of the student body.

This year its efforts have been devoted to the continuation of weekly chapel hour services which have been held in the Union Building during the noon hour on Thursday. These services have centered around inspirational talks given by Kalamazoo ministers, members of the faculty and students. Special music, selections of scripture and sacred poetry with appropriate prayers have been used to complete the services. The original objective in the establishment of these services was to form the nucleus of a religious program which could be transferred to Western's memorial chapel upon its completion. It has been toward the realization of this goal that this year's members of the committee have been devoting their efforts.

The committee is appointed by the student council, and is made up of students as well as a faculty advisory committee.
The Inter-Chapter Council of Alpha Beta Epsilon was organized at commencement time, June 23, 1926. Since then regular business sessions have been held in Benton Harbor, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Jackson. Zeta Chapter of Lansing was the hostess organization March 16, 1946.

The purpose of the council is to coordinate the work of the various chapters. In addition to the geographic centers mentioned above, the other two are at South Bend, Indiana, and Midland, Michigan. Twenty-six regular delegates were present in Lansing with representation from every chapter. Fifty-seven attended the banquet. The total membership in the sorority is now more than 500.

A final paragraph is welcomed to list some of the activities of the members of Alpha Beta Epsilon. Their collective endeavors include scholarships to worthy students, local benefits, community cooperation, support of the Western Michigan College magazine, organization of new chapters and a comprehensive plan for raising $10,000 for the campus chapel organ fund.
The Union Building is the center of activity for Western's students with its soda bar, ballroom, lounge, game and club rooms.

Mr. Cornelius MacDon-ald is general director of the union as well as the three dormitories on campus. He has charge of all the financ-ing of the dormitories and sees that living expenses are kept at a minimum rate. He is a friend of all the dormi-tory gals and he sees that they get the new improve-ments they need.

The cafeteria in the Union provides a place for those students on campus who cannot eat in the dormitory or live off campus.

The demand for dances on campus in these post-war days keeps the ballroom well occupied. The other rooms in the Union are always in use for organizations and committees, and it has become almost necessary to requisition these rooms weeks in advance.

The Men's Union room and the Bertha Davis room provide a place to relax and chat with friends or play a few hands of bridge.

"See you at the Union" has become the pass-word for all of Western's students. In fact, the use and popularity of the Union has become so great that an expansion program for it has been started to increase the soda bar and committee rooms.

The government of Western's athletic activities rests in the hands of the Athletic Board, which meets weekly to settle current issues in athletic matters.

Members of the Athletic Board are Dean John C. Hoekje, chairman ex-officio, Mr. Gary, Dr. William Berry and Dr. George Comfort of the Faculty, Mr. Cornelius McDonald, Miss Elaine Eddy, president of the Student Council, and Mr. Ray Underwood, president of the "W" club.

The board has a variety of duties, including the approving of schedules, the awarding of varsity letters, and the decisions of eligibility.

Athletic Director Judson Hyames very capably presides over activities of the Athletic Department, but during his absence this winter, Mitchell Gary, assistant Athletic Director, has taken over his duties.
Western's pre-war coaching staff was back on the campus in its entirety in the spring of 1946 with the return of five members who were serving in the armed forces.

Mitchell J. "Mike" Gary was the first to return in the fall of 1945 and his return marked a new shift in the administration of the athletic department, as he was named Assistant Athletic Director in cooperation with Athletic Director Judson Hyames. During Mr. Hyames' absence in the winter of 1946, Mike was in charge of the entire department.

Charles Maher, pre-war baseball coach, returned to take over his old position, and he was in charge when the Broncos turned out for the diamond sport in the spring of 1946. Maher's return to the baseball post left John Gill in charge of football alone.

Towner Smith, the Bronco's track mentor in peacetime days, was back in time to take over the trackmen for the 1946 season. Roy Weitz, who had served as track coach during Smith's absence, remained in the capacity of assistant football and track coach.

One of the other two men to return to the Hilltop was Frank Noble, former State High Coach, whose various duties in the post-war organization were not clearly defined as the Brown and Gold went to press. The organization of a swimming team under Noble's direction is one of the post-war aims.

Dave Arnold was the last of the five absent coaches to return. Arnold took over the reins at State High, where Bob Quiring had been head coach of all sports since Arnold's departure.

Of the coaches who remained on the campus during the war, Buck Read was the only major coach who stayed in the position that he held at the war's onset. Buck turned out another excellent basketball outfit in 1946, while Clayton Maus handled the basketball "B" team and all intramural sports.

Frank Householder carried on as Western's tennis coach, and Fred Huff remained in the capacity of golf coach throughout the war.

With the athletic department personnel back to normal, the resumption of cross-country and freshman sports forthcoming, and the organization of a swimming team all within the present plans of the athletic department, the future will see Western far exceed its pre-war status as an athletic power.
Football, 1945

A mingled group of Navy trainees, civilian lettermen, and newly enrolled freshmen who didn't even go to school until the season was well under way greeted Coach John Gill in mid-August when he issued the first call for the Bronco's fall grid practice. A month of hard work under Gill and line coach Roy Weitz and the Broncos were ready for the opener of a seven-game campaign that eventually saw them come out on the winning side of the ledger with four wins and three losses, and a point total of 147 to their opponent's 105.

WESTERN 21; ALMA COLLEGE 13 . . . Three long runs sent Alma College down to a 21-13 defeat in the season's opener at Waldo Stadium before a sparse crowd of 2,000 fans. Harold "Rookie" Throop, erstwhile Bronco baseball star, sparked the Western offense that handed Alma its fourth straight loss of the year.

The date was September 22, and a steady rain that fell throughout the second half kept the Broncos' offensive efforts at a minimum. Throop started wide to his right on the sixth play of the game and rambled 43 yards to the initial score, Bill Perrin adding the extra point from placement to give the Broncos a 7-0 lead with the game hardly started. Before the first period had ended, however, Alma had come back, and with Nate VanOsdol on the tossing end, uncorked a passing attack that ended with Ernie Strawman taking a flat pass from VanOsdol to score standing up. Bill Clements added the placement to tie the game at 7-7.

The Broncos hit their strike in the second period, with Throop going 33 yards to paydirt shortly after the start of the period, Perrin again adding the point, and Bob White taking an Alma punt on his own 33 and sprinting 67 yards to the clinching touchdown. Perrin's third placement gave Western a 21-7 halftime lead.

An unexciting third period passed with neither team threatening, and then midway in the final stanza, Coach Bill Lear's Scots managed to score again, Si Hempel plowing over for the last six yards after VanOsdol had set up the score with a 41-yard pass to Don Matheson. Clements missed the point, and the final score was 21-13, Western.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN 6; WESTERN 0 ... The Broncos’ gridiron jinx over the Chippewas of Central Michigan came tumbling to an end on Sept. 29 at Mt. Pleasant at Central tripped Western, 6-0, after thirteen straight setbacks at the hands of the Broncos since 1928. One of the best Central teams in many years pulled the old “statue of liberty” play to score the winning touchdown in the second period of the game.

After recovering a Western fumble on the Bronco’s 26-yard line, the Chippewas moved to the six yard line in five plays, and then halfback Bob Welch cut around his own left end on the trick play for the touchdown. Welch’s placement went wide of its mark, and the day’s scoring was ended.

Following the Central touchdown, the Broncos staged their only real offensive drive of the game, moving all the way to the Central 14 after the kickoff, only to lose the ball on downs at that point as three passes fell incomplete.

Coach Ron Finch’s Chippewas went on to their most successful season in many years, the win over Western highlighting their season. Only the youthful Broncos’ inexperience cost Western a chance to come out on top of a rough and hard-fought contest, but with this game under their belts, the Broncos traveled to Ohio the next week bent on making the powerful Bobcats the victims of their compensation for the setback at Mt. Pleasant.
WESTERN 21; OHIO UNIVERSITY 20 . . . Rated the underdogs because of the 6-0 defeat at Central the previous week, the Broncos upset the Bobcats from Ohio University at Athens on Oct. 6, with the point-after-touchdown combination of Homer Doxey and Bill Perrin spelling the difference between victory and defeat, as Perrin split the uprights with three conversions in a row.

Art Gillespie galloped 75 yards to score on the first play of the game, Perrin adding the extra point to give Western a 7-0 lead. Ohio returned the kickoff, and on the first play from scrimmage, Jake DeVries intercepted Louie Vendetti’s pass and rambled 35 yards to Western’s second score with less than two minutes gone in the game. Perrin’s second conversion made it 14-0.

In the second period, Western marched 85 yards to score, with Rookie Throop and Bob White sparking the drive, White going the last 27 yards off tackle for the score. Perrin’s third point gave the Broncos a big 21-0 lead, but Ohio wasn’t beaten yet as the second half proved.

The Bobcats moved 80 yards to score early in the second half, Venditti plunging over from the one, with Ruszkowski adding the extra point to make it 21-7. A 76-yard march that started late in the third period resulted in the second Ohio score early in the fourth period, with Bob Rojeck taking a pass for the last 19 yards, Ruszkowski again adding the point to make it 21-14.

There were five minutes left to play in the game when Ohio started from midfield and scored in six plays with Sayre going over from the four, and the score was 21-20 at that point.

Ruszkowski re-entered the game to try for the tying point with his third straight conversion. The kick was straight - and two inches too low, and the Broncos’ margin of victory was safe.
MIAMI UNIVERSITY 21; WESTERN 13 . . . A powerful Miami team from Oxford, Ohio, invaded Waldo Stadium on Oct. 13 and went back home on the long end of a 21-13 score for its fourth straight win of the season, although Western was the first opponent to cross the Redskins' goal line.

Miami's first score came midway in the first period, when Ed Weber recovered a Western fumble in the Broncos' end zone, and Tom Harp placekicked the extra point to make the score 7-0.

With Art Gillespie and Bob White doing most of the ball-carrying, Western came right back and tied the score, with Rosie Mazyck going around end for the last ten yards and a touchdown. Bill Perrin added the extra point, and the score was 7-7, the first half ending without further scoring.

Miami marched 72 yards to score early in the third period, Don Couch scoring, and Harp adding the extra point, giving Miami a 14-7 lead. On the ensuing kickoff, Bob White returned the kick 84 yards, only to be brought down from behind on the Miami three-yard line. The Broncos couldn't muster enough scoring strength to shove the ball across, and the Broncos chance for a tie was gone.

In the final period, Miami marched 56 yards to another touchdown, with Couch going over left tackle for the score, and Harp again adding the extra point to make the score 21-7 with six minutes left to play. Western scored again late in the game when Hilt Foster went over from the one yard line on a quarterback sneak, but Miami's margin was still safe after Perrin missed the extra point, the game ending with score 21-13 in Miami's favor. Perrin's miss was the first in nine consecutive attempts by the Doxey-Perrin combination.
GREAT LAKES 39; WESTERN 0 . . . Oct. 26, and the Bluejackets of Great Lakes moved into Kalamazoo to battle the Broncos. For fifteen minutes, the Broncos held the Bluejackets at every turn, but lightning struck with the start of the second period.

In that period, the Sailors marched 52 yards in four plays to score, Frank Aschenbrenner going over. Four more plays and Aschenbrenner returned a punt 55 yards to score, Ettson Wilkins adding the point that made it 13-0. Two passes, Bob Terlep to Bill O'Connor and Bud Salvatore to Bill Chandler, and other conversion by Wilkins and the score at half was 26-0.

The same Salvatore to Chandler combination added the fifth score early in the third period to make it 32-0, and in the final stanza, Harry Grant went 52 yards with a pass to Great Lakes' final tally. Sullivan added the point and the final score was 39-0.

Forty-one men entered the game for Great Lakes and twenty-five for Western. Despite the score, Western had what it took in fight and spirit, and the 8,000 fans had an afternoon of good football. The game was the last in which Navy trainees were to appear for the Broncos.

WESTERN 26; VALPARAISO UNIVERSITY 6 . . . Hopes of an unbeaten season climaxed by a win over Western's Broncos were smashed into the turf of Valparaiso's stadium on Nov. 3 as the invading Broncos smashed out a 26-6 victory over Valpo for the Crusaders' only loss of the year.

Western got off to a quick start and had built up a 13-0 lead by the end of the first period, as the Crusader defense crumbled before the hard-charging Bronco line. Starting from the opening kickoff, Western marched straight down the field to the first score, with Homer Doxey plunging over for the touchdown. Later in the period, the Broncos started moving again and marched 52 yards to score, Rosie Mazyck tallying and Doxey adding the point.

Valparaiso's lone score came in the third period when Carl Kuchan tossed a 17-yard scoring pass to Harry Hines, but the kick was blocked and the score stayed 13-6.

In the final period, Western climaxed a drive that started late in the third period with Jay Formsma going over from the one, and Alex Loiko adding the point. A few minutes later, Loiko tossed a touchdown pass to Dick Dunn and the Broncos had a 26-6 triumph under their belts.
HOMECOMING DAY, NOVEMBER 10

Western's first homecoming game in three years found the Broncos matched against Wooster College of Ohio, and a gay homecoming crowd in perfect football weather saw Western roll over the Wooster Scots, 66-0. The game was only one part of a big week-end of festivities that were climaxd by the Homecoming dance on Saturday night after the game.

The night preceding the game, signs that Western was well on the way back to normal peacetime ways were shown by the big pep meeting, the parade, and the bonfire that started the week-end’s events.

WESTERN 66; WOOSTER 0 . . . A top-heavy victory over a weak Wooster team ended Western’s 1945 grid season as the Broncos finished with a winning record of four wins and three losses.

Eight Broncos scored against Wooster, Bob White opening the scoring with a 31-yard jaunt in the first period, and Alex Loiko adding the point. Homer Doxey scored from the three before the period ended, and again Loiko converted. In the second period, Loiko passed to Jay Formsma for a score, Don Boven fell on a fumble in the Wooster end zone for another, and White went 39 yards to a third score. Loiko added the point after the last touchdown to make it 33-0 at the half.

In the third period, Loiko passed to Gene Rucinski for 30 yards and a touchdown, Homer Doxey passed to Dewey DeVine for another, Boven fell on a blocked punt for No. 3, and Rosie Mazyck fell on a Wooster fumble in the end zone for the fourth tally. Loiko and Doxey each converted once. Art May went 11 yards in the last period for the final score, Doxey converting to make the final count 66-0.

Formsma Scores Against Wooster

Action in the Wooster Game
This year's cheerleaders did a good job in keeping the crowd and team out with a high fighting spirit. They took care of all the yell sections at both the football and basketball games.

The cheerleaders are appointed by the Student Council, and they are directly in charge of displaying a lot of pep and fight by the crowd. It is their duty to keep at the crowd and pep up the spirit of the team when it is needed. The cheerleaders found that at the basketball games this year there was plenty of excitement and pep without need of much cheer-leading.

The students are not always conscious of the hard efforts the pep team must have to make a successful season. They have tried to give us new yells and routines, and so it is hats off to the cheerleaders this year; Jackie Skidmore, Betty Rentner, and Audrey Brailsford.
Only one player with previous collegiate experience answered Buck Read's call for cage practice in November of 1945, and the Silver Fox of The Broncos had a tough job on his hands before the Broncos were ready for their opener against Percy Jones Hospital on Nov. 27. Mel VanDis, letterman from the 1943 team, was the only experienced player on hand, and he was named honorary captain for the year.

A month of hard work, and the Broncos had the beginnings of a good ball club, but there were weak spots by the dozens that had to be smoothed out before the cagers were ready for the tough 22-game schedule that faced them.

PERCY JONES HOSPITAL 66; WESTERN 50 . . . Nov. 27, and Percy Jones came to Kalamazoo for the opener of the 1945-46 season. Western's freshmen led early in the first half, but soon the General's experience began to tell, and by halftime, Percy Jones had run up a 32-20 lead. In the second half, it was pretty much the same story, and the Generals outscored Western 34-30 to finish up on the top end of a 66-50 score.

Corp. Ray Johnson, ex-Carbondale (Illinois) Teachers star, led Percy Jones to their victory with 16 points, while Erwin Fitzgerald looped in four field goals and a free throw to lead Western with nine points.

WESTERN 65; CALVIN COLLEGE 38 . . . The first win of the year for the Broncos was recorded at Grand Rapids on Nov. 29 when Western romped to a 65-38 win over the outclassed Knights from Calvin College.

Western started out strong and had rolled up a 29-13 halftime lead before Calvin got back into the ball game. In the second half, Western kept right on rolling, outscoring the Knights 36-25 in the second stanza, although Coach Read substituted freely all the way through the half.

Andy Moses rang up nine points for Western, and so did Don Boven and Erwin Fitzgerald, while Bob Fitch hit five field goals for ten points. Johnny VanderMolen scored 13 for Calvin.
WESTERN 60; ST. JOHNS 57 - Madison Square Garden, Dec. 5 - and the Broncos of Western Michigan handed St. Johns of Brooklyn a 60-57 defeat in a thriller of an overtime contest, with Don Boven leading the way with 14 points.

Far behind at halftime, 32-23, Western started rolling early in the third period, but St. Johns, sparked by the giant Harry Boykoff, kept right on moving, and the New Yorkers still led, 43-36, midway in the final half. Then White hit one from far out, and Moses, Fitch, and Boven connected, and Boven added a free throw to tie the score at 45-45. With twenty-five seconds to go, St. Johns led, 53-51 until Andy Moses drove in for the tying score. With the score 53-53 going into the extra period, VanDis and Fitch scored, VanDis added a free throw, and White hit a long tom to make it 60-53, and Western had the winning points despite the fact that Larry Zaslofski counted twice for St. Johns after that.

Jubilant over the Broncos' unexpected victory, the Hilltop took Friday morning off from school and went down to the New York Central station en masse to greet the train bringing the boys back from New York. The unbounded enthusiasm shown by the entire school was the occasion for a great celebration - until Saturday night.

MICHIGAN 69; WESTERN 49 - Saturday, Dec. 8, Western invaded Ann Arbor to meet the Wolverines, and came back on the short end of a 69-49 score. It was Michigan's game all the way, as Glen Selbo, former Bronco star and Bob Harrison led the Michigan victory with 15 points each. Michigan jumped into a 27-7 lead early in the game, and then matched the Broncos point for point after that.

At halftime, the Wolverines led, 36-19, and then they outscored Western 33-30 in the final half. Bob Fitch and Mel VanDis led the Broncos in defeat as they each counted 13 points. Western was far from the peak that they had hit at New York earlier in the week, and they came home tired and ready for a few days' rest.

WESTERN 77; CALVIN COLLEGE 30 - Wednesday night, Dec. 12, and Calvin College came to town with hopes of revenging the earlier setback that the Broncos had inflicted on them at Grand Rapids, but although Bill Kool opened the scoring for Calvin, Western quickly countered and then went on to a 33-8 halftime lead. Substitutes in the second half outscored the Knights, 44-22, Swift Noble leading the parade with 12 points for Western.

WESTERN 54; UTAH UNIVERSITY 51 - Dec. 18 - Utah's touring cagers stopped here bent on winning the last game of their eastern tour, but a fighting Bronco cage team fought back from the brink of defeat to whip the former N. C. A. A. champions in overtime, 54-51.

Utah was off to an early lead, and at halftime, they had built a 27-19 margin over the Broncos. The Redskins kept the lead early in the second half, and then Western began to click. Behind 43-40, the Broncos started hitting as Bennett and Fitch connected to give Western the lead. Leon Watson hit for Utah, Noble scored, and Bennett added a free throw, and Gordon Smith sent the game into overtime as he tallied for Utah to make the score 47-47.

Fitch and Moses made it 51-47 in the extra session, but Utah climbed to within one point, 52-51, before VanDis slipped in for the clinching basket.
NORTHWESTERN 47; WESTERN 46 . . . The Broncos appeared in Chicago Stadium on Dec. 21, and came home on the short end of a 47-46 score with Northwestern after leading most of the way. In the first half Western was hot and had rolled up a 30-22 halftime lead. Early in the second half, the count was 37-22, but then Northwestern started rolling. With five minutes left, Northwestern took the lead for the first time, 43-42, and with 45 seconds left, they led 47-44. Bob Fitch popped in a long one to make it 47-46, but the gun sounded as Western had the ball out of bounds a few minutes later.

WESTERN 51; CENTRAL MICHIGAN 49 . . . Sweet revenge for the setback that the Broncos suffered at Central last year was gained as the Broncos edged out the Chippewas, 51-49, in a thriller at Mt. Pleasant on Jan. 5. The Broncos led, 31-29 at halftime, and at no time was Central ahead. With less than a minute left, the score was tied at 48-48 until Andy Moses hit a long tom and Mel VanDis got a free throw to insure victory. Bob Fitch rolled in six field goals and seven free throws to lead the Broncos to victory with nineteen points, as Western recorded victory No. 5 as against three losses.

BOWLING GREEN 56; WESTERN 37 . . . Jan. 7, at Bowling Green - a tired Bronco team was outclassed by a big and speedy Falcon outfit that sped to a 31-15 halftime lead and then coasted through to a 56-37 victory over the Broncos. Bob Fitch’s eleven points led the Western scoring, but Jim Kneirim and big Don Otten of Bowling Green were the stars of the game. The Falcons, later ranked as the number two team in the nation for a large part of the season, had too much height and too much speed for the Broncos.

WESTERN 51; BELOIT COLLEGE 41 . . . Jan. 11, and the Broncos’ supporters piled into Western’s gym to have a look at Bill Klay, Beloit center who measured just one inch under the seven foot mark. One field goal and two free throws comprised Klay’s work for the evening, and Western went from a 27-25 halftime lead to a 51-41 triumph. Only the work of John Erickson, who scored 12 points, kept Beloit in the game. Bob Fitch had 12 points, and Johnny Cawood, playing his first game for the Broncos since 1944, scored eight points as a substitute.
Marquette 47: Western 46 ... Jan. 18 - The Hilltoppers from Milwaukee stop in Kalamazoo on their way to Detroit, and edge out a 47-46 decision over the Broncos. Western was out in front, 28-20, at halftime, but the Hilltoppers never gave up, and with Western ahead 46-41 with three minutes left. Then Howie Kallenberger connected, Ken Weisner added a bucket, and in the last minute, Johnny Millunzi popped in a long one, and Western was beaten. Despite the loss, Western played brilliant ball against a team that had whipped Great Lakes the previous week. Bob White tallied eleven points for the Broncos, and Andy Moses scored ten, while Weisner led Marquette with eleven markers.

Western 54; Valparaiso 43 ... The night after the Marquette game, Western moved to Valpo to meet the tallest team in the nation, and upset the Crusaders by a 54-43 score. Big Bob Dille, star of the Crusader team, was held to two buckets as Western took a 26-23 halftime lead and then went on to outscore Valpo 28-20 in the final half. Johnny Cawood hit his stride in this game, and he collected six baskets and three free throws for fifteen points to lead the scoring. Western's band, and a good number of students, had a happy trip back home as the Broncos avenged the two losses at the hands of Valpo the previous year.

Western 44; Percy Jones Hospital 41 ... In Battle Creek on Jan. 22, the Broncos made up for the loss in the season's opener by whipping the Generals, 44-41, in a rather loosely played game.

The Broncos jumped into an early 14-1 lead, but Percy Jones came back to make a real ball game of the contest. Still ahead 26-16 at halftime, the Broncos didn't slip until the last few minutes, when Percy Jones counted seven points in two minutes to almost catch Western. Bob Fitch rolled in six field goals and a free throw to lead Western with 13 points. One of the features of the game was the appearance of Louie Lang, who returned from the Navy just a few days previously. Lang, out of condition, appeared for just a few minutes, but he showed signs of coming back to his former peak with a little practice.

Western 51; Central Michigan 41 ... On Jan. 26, at Kalamazoo, the Chippewas came down from Mt. Pleasant bent on upsetting the high-flying Broncos. At halftime, it appeared that the game was going to be a repetition of the close one three weeks previously, but Western started from a 23-23 halftime tie and gradually built up a lead that was too much for the Chippewas to overcome. Despite the fact that Don Boven rolled up 20 points for the Broncos, the floor play of Jackie Mott, Central guard, was the feature of the game.
WESTERN 56; CAMP GRANT 54  Another thriller in the Broncos' gym - the Warriors of Camp Grant and the Broncos hooked up in a see-saw battle here on Jan. 30, and Western edged out a 56-54 margin. Ten times the score was tied, and on seven occasions the lead changed hands. At halftime, the score was tied at 25-25, and in the last half, the lead swayed back and forth until Camp Grant took a 52-50 lead with three minutes left. Then Boven and Cawood hit baskets, Boven added a free throw, and Western was out in front to stay. Cyril DeLay of Camp Grant carried off high-scoring honors for the game with 15, while Don Boven had 12 for Western, and Mel VanDis collected 10.

WESTERN 57; BELOIT COLLEGE 28  Friday night, Feb. 1 - Western hit the road for two games, the first with Beloit at Beloit, and the Broncos walked all over the Hosts, 57-28. Not until seven minutes of the second half were gone did the Broncos allow the Blue Devils a field goal, and for the whole game, Beloit netted only six field buckets. At halftime, Western led 28-7 as Beloit scored only seven free throws, and in the second half, it was pretty much the same story as Western outscored Beloit 29-21. Johnny Cawood was hot and he looped in six baskets and a free throw for 13 points. Beloit's leading scorer, Johnny Ray, didn't even score a field goal as he netted eight free throws to lead the Blue Devils.

WESTERN 51; BRADLEY TECH 50  Feb. 2, and the Broncos invaded Peoria to meet the Braves of Bradley Tech. A thriller of a game went to Western as Johnny Cawood hit 22 points to lead Western's triumph. At halftime, Western had built up a 27-22 lead, and all the way through the second half, Bradley couldn't quite take over the lead. Three times during the last half, the score was tied, but the Broncos hung on, and eventually came out on top. With Western ahead, 50-48, Bob Garber tallied for Bradley, but with 38 seconds left, Swift Noble was fouled, and he tossed in the winning free throw for the Broncos.

MARQUETTE 56; WESTERN 47  Western's six-game win streak came to end at Milwaukee on Feb. 9, when the Hilltoppers pounded out a 56-47 victory over the Broncos. Marquette was ahead by only two points at halftime, 19-17, but in the second half, Johnny Millunzi and Orlando Palesse started hitting, and the hosts pulled out to a ten-point lead which they held most of the way. Johnny Cawood was tops again for the Broncos as he scored five field goals and three free throws for 13 points, but Palesse scored 16 for Marquette and Millunzi tallied 17 to lead the Hilltoppers. The loss was Western's sixth of the year against twelve victories, and was the last road contest of the season.
A large crowd despite that fact that many Western students were home between semesters saw the Broncos trounce the boys from Windsor, Ontario, here on Feb. 16. Assumption was never in the game after the first few minutes, as the Broncos rolled to a 47-27 halftime lead and then to a 68-32 victory. In spite of their defeat, the Canadians boasted the outstanding player of the game in Fred Thomas, who scored nine baskets and a pair of free throws to lead the scoring for the game with 20 points.

The Broncos hit their peak for the season on Feb. 19 when they entertained the Crusaders from Valpo and ran up a 75-59 victory. Don Boven starred for the Broncos with 17 points, while John Janisch led Valpo with 16.

Two new scoring records were set during the game - one for total points for Western, and one for total points for the Broncos' opponents for a season. Midway in the second half, Swift Noble popped in a bucket and set the new Western record, breaking the old standard of 1,073 points for a season.

Western played beautiful basketball all the way through, and after leading at the half, 35-25, they kept right on clicking in the second half to outscore the Crusaders, 40-34, in the final half.

In a game surprisingly slow despite the high score, the Broncos rolled up a 58-51 victory over Bradley Tech here on Feb. 24. The Broncos took a 27-25 halftime lead, and then went on to outscore Bradley by a 31-26 count in the final half to emerge as the victors by a seven-point margin.

Johnny Cawood led Western with 12 points, and Max Norman starred for the visitors with 11 points. The big difference between the two teams was Western's height and the resulting control of the backboards.

A free throw in the last few seconds spelled defeat for the Broncos in the season's finale on March 2, as Western came within a single point of upsetting the powerful Falcons of Bowling Green before a capacity crowd in the Bronco's gym. The Broncos led at the halftime, 30-25, but the smooth Bowling Green outfit, led by Don Otten, kept right on coming, and four times they tied the score in the late minutes. Western missed a free throw in the final minute, and then Howard Hartin came through with the winning point. Boven scored 23 for Western, and Otten rolled up 19 for Bowling Green. The loss brought Western's final record to 15 wins and 7 losses for the season, and gave them a new record point total of 1,205 to their opponent's 1,065 points.

WESTERN'S B TEAM, under Coach Clayton Maus, rang up seven wins in eleven starts, with Frank Gilman, of Kalamazoo, leading the scoring for the season.

All eleven of the boys in the above picture were awarded freshman numerals, in addition to Chuck Perkey, Kalamazoo Central; Donald Sutton, Wayland; Norbert Fleckenstein, Muskegon and Tom Tober, Sturgis.

In their first game, a preliminary to the Calvin game Dec. 12, the Bees were whipped by the Sutherland Co. team, 44-37, and in the second game, at Great Lakes on Dec. 21, the boys dropped a 54-40 decision to the Naval Hospital team. On Jan. 8 the Bees broke into the win column, trouncing Sutherlands, 71-19, and in the prelim to the Beloit game, Jan. 11, they hit their top score with an 80-27 win over the Upjohn Co.

The Bees accompanied the Varsity down to Valpo on Jan. 19, and took a 45-43 defeat at the hands of the Valpo B Team. Returning home to play the opener before the Central Michigan game Jan. 26, the Bees clipped the Louie's Restaurant team, 44-36. Then, in the preliminary to the Camp Grant game Jan. 30, their last defeat came at the hands of the Great Lakes Naval Hospital, 65-53, after Western had left at halftime, 32-27.

Four straight wins closed out the season. On Feb. 13, the Bees were host to the Decatur American Legion team, and a 50-33 victory by Western snapped the visitors' unbeaten record. Next came the Shepherd Fuel Co. team, beaten 62-52 in the preliminary to the Assumption game on Feb. 16. Sweet revenge for the loss at Valpo came when the Bees clipped the Valpo Bees 52-38 while Western's varsity was trimming Valpo here on Feb. 19, and in the season's finale against the W Club before the Bradley Tech game Feb. 23, the Bees closed out their season with a 73-39 triumph to finish with seven wins and four losses.
COACH HERBERT (BUCK) READ rounded out a quarter century as the mentor of the Bronco cage teams this winter by performing one of his most outstanding jobs of coaching in molding a winning team from the most inexperienced group of candidates ever to greet him at the start of a season.

The 1946 record of fifteen wins and seven losses brought Read's all-time record to 311 wins and 141 losses since he took over in the middle of the 1922 season when Bill Spaulding left for Minnesota. The 300th win of his career came, fittingly enough, in the 54-51 overtime win over Utah here on Dec. 18.

Bob Fitch, of Three Rivers, led the Broncos' scoring for the season with 194 points, while Don Boven, one of the most improved players that Read developed through the season, seconded him with 177 points. Third was Johnny Cawood with 134, Andy Moses finishing fourth with 129, and Captain Mel VanDis fifth with 123.

VanDis was the only player with collegiate experience on hand at the start of the year, but Bob White's aggressiveness, Andy Moses' one-hand shots, and Don Boven's work at center sparked the Broncos until Johnny Cawood and Louie Lang returned to bolster the team. Even then the whole team clicked as one unit, with the other three men - Erwin Fitzgerald, Ralph (Bud) Bennett, and Swift Noble all three helping to make the 1946 outfit one of Western's finest in history.

Western was the highest-scoring team in the state of Michigan for the year, as they tallied 1,205 points to their opponents' total of 1,065. A total of 480 field goals whipped through the nets for Western along with 245 free throws to set a new all-time record for one season for the Broncos.

Only one point stood between Western and the climax to a great season when Bowling Green defeated the Broncos 59-58 in the season's finale, but even though the Falcons whipped the Broncos, the capacity crowd that jammed Western's gym was seeing a team play that had started from scratch and worked into a fine basketball unit. One of Buck Read's finest teams, and one of the most aggressive outfits in recent years, carried the Brown and Gold to a great season.
Western’s 1946 track team was under the direction of two coaches - Roy Weitz, who coached a State Intercollegiate Championship winner here in 1945, and Towner Smith, pre-war track coach, who returned to the Hilltop shortly after the start of the school year in the fall of 1945.

Eddie Taylor, the Hamtramck star high-jumper, captained the thinclads, and was the leading scorer most of the season. Taylor, who won a letter here in 1943 before entering the Army, returned to school after two and a half years of Army service.

NOTRE DAME 74; WESTERN 21 . . That was the score of the Bronco’s first indoor meet, a dual meet with the Irish of Notre Dame at South Bend on Feb. 2. Captain Ed Taylor scored 15 out of the Bronco’s 21 points as he captured three firsts. In the 440-yard dash, George Westfield took second and Herman Hawkins third, and in the 60-yard dash, Simmons of Western took a third place for the other Western points. Taylor tied the Notre Dame fieldhouse record for the 60-yard high hurdles with a 7.4 seconds mark, and he also won the 60-yard low hurdles in 7.1 seconds.

Taylor’s third first place came in the high jump, as he won easily with a mark of six feet, four inches. Notre Dame had too well-balanced a team for the Broncos to down, as the Irish scored slams in the 880, the mile, the pole vault, and the shot put.
Western's 1946 outdoor track schedule had not started at the time that the Brown and Gold went to press. The indoor season ended on March 30 with competition in the Chicago Daily News Relays, and the outdoor season was scheduled to start on April 26th and 27th when the Bronco trackmen entered the Drake Relay Meet at Des Moines, Iowa.

On Saturday, May 4, Marquette University, victor over the Broncos, 62-33, at Milwaukee in an indoor dual meet, is scheduled to come to Kalamazoo for a dual match in Waldo Stadium. On Thursday, May 9, the Broncos will travel to Albion for a dual meet with Albion College under the lights, and the following Saturday, May 11, Western will enter the Elmhurst Relay Meet at Elmhurst, Illinois.

Two more dual meets are carded for the outdoor schedule. On Saturday, May 18, Wayne University and Western will meet in a dual affair at Detroit, and the following week, on May 25, the Broncos will be host to Loyola University of Chicago for another dual meet.

The State Intercollegiate Meet, sponsored for almost 30 years by Michigan State College, will be held at Kalamazoo on June 1st, under the auspices of Western's Athletic Department. The Central Collegiate Conference Meet at Milwaukee on June 15 and the National Collegiate Meet at Minneapolis on June 22 will bring the track season to a close.
MICHIGAN STATE RELAYS ... On Feb. 9, the Bronco trackmen competed in the 24th annual Relay meet at Michigan State College, and again Ed Taylor was the star. The Bronco captain was the meet's high scorer, winning two first places. He took the 75-yard high hurdles in 7.5 seconds, and he cleared 6 feet, two and an eighth inches in the high jump. The University of Michigan walked off with all the team honors, despite the competition from Michigan State.

THE NATIONAL A. A. U. meet at Madison Square Garden in New York saw Western represented by just one athlete, Ed Taylor. Against the best competition from all colleges and independent organizations, Ed came back with a second place in the high jump. In the CENTRAL COLLEGIATE CONFERENCE MEET at East Lansing on March 9, Western scored two firsts and two seconds to finish fourth in the team standings. Michigan State and Notre Dame waged a stiff battle for first place, with the Irish edging out State for the team title, with Drake University's defending titlists in third place. Marquette trailed just behind Western. Bill Pope took second in the broad jump, and Taylor took first in the high jump and the low hurdles, and second in the high hurdles.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY 62; WESTERN 33 ... The Broncos' second dual meet defeat of the season came in the form of a 62-33 beating at the hands of Marquette at Milwaukee on March 16. Ken Weisner, beaten the week previously by Eddie Taylor in the Central Collegiate Meet, high-umped six feet, six inches to set a new gym record.

Only a tenth of a second kept Taylor from new gymnastic marks in the 45-yard high hurdles and the 45-yard low hurdles. Taylor recorded a time of 5.9 seconds in the highs, and 5.6 seconds in the lows. Bill Pope won the 40-yard dash, with John McCarger third, and Chuck Hacklesly turned in a good 2:9.4 time in the 880 for another first. Harold Humble finished second in the 440, Lloyd Hartman took third in the shot put, and Johnny Zeilinski took second in the mile and third in the two-mile run.

PURDUE RELAYS at Lafayette on March 23 saw Miami University of Ohio beat Western for the team title in the college division, 30-17, with Baldwin-Wallace just behind Western with 16 points. Taylor cleared six feet, five and seven-eighths inches in the high jump for Western's only first. Western's teams in the spring medley relay and in the distance medley relay each took second places.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS RELAYS at the Chicago Stadium ended the indoor competition for the Bronco trackmen. Western's only points came in the mile relay, in which the Broncos finished third, behind Loyola of Chicago and Lawrence of Wisconsin. Casimir Ryniak, Herman Hawkins, Chuck Hackley, and Harold Humble made up the point-scoring relay team.
The 1946 outdoor track season had not started at the time that the Brown and Gold went to press. Coaches Towner Smith and Roy Weitz had a large squad of candidates ready for the nine-meet schedule which opened on April 26th at the Drake Relays. Few lettermen were on hand at the start of the outdoor season, but there was promising material to work with. Freshmen dominated the team, with a few pre-war lettermen on hand to start the season, and the Broncos’ coaches had a lot of work to do before the thinclads would be ready for the coming season.

Among the more promising candidates are Captain Eddie Taylor, the Hamtramck boy who led the indoor track team; Chuck Hackley, a fine half-miler from Kalamazoo Central, who was one of the few returning lettermen; Bill Pope, the former Texas Christian athlete, a sprinter and broad jumper; Johnny Zellinski, Kalamazoo, and Bob Carter, Benton Harbor, both lettermen prior to their entry into service; and Elf Pedler, back on campus working on post-graduate work. Pedler was a star two-miler on the Bronco track teams in 1941 and 1942, and may be of great value to the cinder team this year. Post-graduates, freshmen, and all other athletes are still eligible for varsity teams under the wartime eligibility rules, thus enabling Pedler and Pope to be eligible for varsity competition.

Herman Hawkins, Hackley, and Harold Humble all ran on the relay teams during the indoor season, and may form the nucleus of the Bronco relay squad for the outdoor competition. The manager - Bob Hagelshaw - was manager of the Bronco’s frosh and varsity cross-country and track teams before he entered service, and he returned to school at the start of the winter semester and took over his old job.

Nine meets - including four dual meets, two relay meets, the State Intercollegiate meet, and the Central and National Collegiates, are carded for the outdoor schedule. Marquette, Albion, Wayne, and Loyola, will be met in dual meets, and Western will enter the Drake and Elmhurst Relay meets.

The Broncos will be hosts to the State Intercollegiate Meet, and will also compete in the Central Collegiates at Milwaukee, and the National Collegiates at Minneapolis in the season’s finale.

Quite different from the meager war-time turnouts for the Bronco tennis team was the squad which greeted Coach Frank Householder at the initial tennis practices late in March. Accustomed to having no experienced men turn out at the season’s start during the war, the Bronco’s genial net mentor would only smile at the team’s prospects.

Back from the Marines was Wally Stuckert of Milwaukee, one of the Broncos’ top-notch performers before the war, and close behind him in competition for the Number 1 spot was Arnold Brown of Detroit, another excellent competitor. Andy Moses, star at Dowagiac last year, and one of the top high school netters a year ago, is among the candidates, and so is Johnny Milroy, letterman from 1943, and Hal Retan, No. 1 on the 1945 team until his transfer by the Navy.

Jim Serrin of Evanston, Illinois, was the only out-state candidate besides Stuckert. Kalamazoo had Don Worth, also of Kalamazoo College, and Worthy DeBoer, among the aspirants to the netter’s squad. Muskegon had Ray Postema from Muskegon High and Johnny Minarovic from the Heights, and Cliff Moulton of Dowagiac, and Bob Fitch of Three Rivers were on the team.

A fourteen-match schedule faced the Bronco netters as the Brown and Gold opening with Grand Rapids Junior College at Kalamazoo. Four Big Ten teams - Michigan, Purdue, Indiana, and Northwestern, appear on the schedule, along with home-and-home series with Detroit, Michigan State, and Illinois Tech. Notre Dame, Wayne, and Central Michigan were scheduled for single matches.
Golf, 1946

Golf, a wartime casualty in 1944, was back on the Bronco sports schedule in 1945, and this spring the turnout more than warranted its place in the list of competitive athletics at Western. Coach Fred Huff found a dozen or more candidates for the four-man team, and prospects for a winning season look good even though only one letterman is out for the squad.

Ray Lorenz of Hart, a pre-war letterman, was the only player with collegiate experience, but there were other candidates of note. Among these were Norm Stickney, former Kalamazoo Central star; Dick Hanna, a former State Class B champion while at State High; and Val Bleech, another former Kalamazoo Central ace.

The golfers had a full month of practice before the opening meet, scheduled with Detroit and Wayne at Detroit on May 4. The usual April rain seemed to be conspicuously absent, and the boys had plenty of opportunity to work out at Arcadia Brook. Coach Fred Huff was attempting to add more meets to the schedule at the time that the Brown and Gold went to press, including possible meets with Marquette and Muskegon Junior College.

The turnout for golf was similar to the turnout for all other Bronco teams this spring—one of the largest in recent years. With material abundant to choose a team from, the Broncos should be well represented this spring.
Western's 1946 golf schedule was still shorter than the pre-war schedules, but six meets were carded for the linksmen as the Brown and Gold went to press. In the opener at Detroit on May 4, the Broncos will engage in simultaneous dual meets with Detroit and Wayne in a three-way affair.

On May 11, Detroit will come to Kalamazoo for a return match, and on the 18th, Wayne will meet the golfers here. A home-and-home series with Illinois Tech fills out the schedule, the Techawks entertaining the Broncos at Chicago on May 24, and a return match to be played at Kalamazoo on May 28.
One of the largest squads to turn out for baseball in years greeted Coach Charley Maher in preparation for the 1946 baseball season. So many prospective diamond stars turned out, in fact, that a "B" team was formed under the direction of Coach Frank Noble, and a separate schedule arranged for them. A host of candidates appeared at the start of the spring semester, to join those who had already been working out in the gym since mid-winter.

Nineteen games, including seven with teams from the Big Ten, faced the baseball team, and no candidate clinched a starting berth for the openers at Northwestern on April 12 and 13 without a stiff battle for his position.

WESTERN 5; NORTHWESTERN 3 . . . In the opening game at Evanston on April 12, the Broncos turned back the Wildcats of Northwestern, 5-3, although Western totalled only three hits for the afternoon. Northwestern errors and the breaks did the work for Western, and Ed Rossi, the Arkansas lefthander, was credited with the victory although Gordon Bowdell finished the game on the mound. Fred Stevens, the veteran first sacker, collected two of the Broncos' safe blows, and Ken Stillwell connected for the other.

WESTERN 9; NORTHWESTERN 6 . . . On the following day, April 13, the Broncos showed that they could hit the ball when they had to as they clipped four Wildcat pitchers for eleven singles and a 9-6 victory. Tom Krupa led the parade in this game with three safe hits in six trips to the plate, with Walt Shy being credited with the win. Shy had followed Ernie Victor and Jack Klacking on the mound, and was in the game when the Broncos' three-run rally in eighth inning clinched the ball game. Tied up at 6-6 going into the eighth inning, the Broncos broke loose for three runs with Oren Davis delivering the timely hit that sent in the clinching runs after Walt Young had batted in the run that put Western ahead.

In the two-game series, Western showed little power at the plate on occasions, and yet collected for solid hits all over the lot on other occasions. At times the pitching was shaky, and the Bronco hurlers issued too many walks, but when the chips were down, the Broncos had what it takes in the pinches. With the smoothing out of some of the rough spots, the team showed great potentialities.
NO EXPERIENCED PITCHERS with the exception of Warren "Red" Biddle were on deck for the Broncos' mound corps this spring. Biddle did not return to school until after the semester had started, and he was not in shape to pitch until after the season had started. Biddle's return gave the Broncos a flock of good southpaw pitchers, as Ed Rossi, Ernie Victor, Jim Post, and Tom Cummings, are all leftys. Jack Klacking, Walt Hansen, Gordon Bowdell, and Walt Shy appeared to be the best of the right handers.

FOR CATCHERS, Coach Maher had Walt Young, Tom Hill, and Ned Stuits, with Young winning the starting position in the Northwestern series after a lot of competition from the other two candidates. Hill was first baseman here last spring, and was converted to a catcher this year.

IN THE INFIELD, Fred Stevens, senior veteran, started in the Northwestern series at first, with John Cawood giving him lots of competition. At second, Harold "Rookie" Throop, letter-winner a year ago, and Texan Oren Davis battle it out for the starting nod, with Davis drawing the starting job at Northwestern. Dick Groggel of Kalamazoo started in the opening series at third base for the Broncos, but Ted Plaza of River Rouge and Don Boven of Kalamazoo were close behind. At shortstop, Wayne Terwilliger of Charlotte started the first games, with Melvin Markowitz seeing action also.

THREE EXPERIENCED OUTFIELDERS appear to be on the inside track to the starting positions in the gardens this spring, with a fourth candidate close behind. Tom Krupa, who collected three hits against Northwestern in the second game, is a veteran left-fielder, while Ivan Fleser, letterman from 1941, is in center field, and Ken Stillwell, in right. All three of these men are seniors, while their nearest competitor is a sophomore, Joe Cooper. Fleser and Stillwell are both two-time letterwinners, while Krupa had three letters in baseball.

There are other candidates who could alter the lineup, but at the start of the season with the Northwestern games, the varsity squad is pretty well set with these players in the spots listed.
Seventeen games remained on the Broncos’ schedule following the double win over North-Western (5-3 on April 12, and 9-6 on April 13), with ten games scheduled for presentation at Kalamazoo and seven on the road.

THE 1945-1946 SCHOOL YEAR was perhaps one of the most unique in Western’s history for athletics. When the football season started back in August, Navy trainees and civilians made up the gridiron squad, and then in October, the Navy moved out, and the civilians took over. It was nothing uncommon for a player to join the squad in mid season and play in the very next week’s game, as some pre-war lettermen reported with only a few games left to play and then stepped right into the lineup. The same was true for basketball, as Louie Land and Johnny Cawood both joined the team in the middle of the season and then worked right into the lineup. All of Western’s pre-war coaches returned during the year, and by April everything was pretty much back to normal.

WESTERN’S ATHLETICS don’t consist of just the varsity games and the boys that play in them, nor does the interest lie solely in varsity competition. There’s a lot more that goes to make up an athletic system, and without it, sports wouldn’t be half the fun. Indoor football in the form of intramural basketball games saw the W Club team sweep to the championship over some good opposition. The night that the W Club rolled up a 105-35 score over the Independents was the big night. Then there was the night that the W Club played Dunham, and when it was all over, no one knew who had won.

THE SODA BAR and all the gab sessions that took place there all added to the scene. Every Western game, and a good many more athletic events were won, lost and tied over a coke in the soda bar. There was a lot of talk about, too. High school regionals returned to Western’s gym this winter, and Jake DeVries didn’t stop talking for weeks about what Holland did to Benton Harbor. Even the Herald Editor, Bob Burgoyne, yelled in vain for his beloved Berrien Springs.

SOME SPECIAL GAMES won’t be easy to forget. The 66-0 win over Wooster at homecoming saw Western score with monotonous regularity, and the football win down at Valparaiso, 26-6, was a happy occasion. When the radio brought the news that Western had whipped St. Johns in overtime, it sounded almost too good to be true. Those one-point games here with Marquette and Bowling Green were of the heart-failure variety, and the Camp Grant game wasn’t far behind. And when the Broncos hit their peak against Valparaiso in beating them 75-59, the victory was even sweeter than the win at Valpo when the band and a huge crowd of Westernites went down to see the Broncos win, 54-43. All in all, it was a year that the boys will hash over for many months to come. More seasons will come and go, but they’ll not exceed 1946 for color and interest.

Noble and Dunham at the bench

Kishpaugh turns out copy
NOT EVERYONE who is a part of the athletic setup coaches or competes. Western wouldn't get very far without trainers, and Don Scott handles this department with efficiency. "Scottie" is on leave for the second semester to work on his master's degree this spring, but he'll be back. Then there's the towel room, where Ed Leak holds forth, and issues equipment with an eagle eye. Everything from towels to parkas go out from Ed's store of equipment, and rare is the towel that doesn't return. And when it comes to talking about ex-Western athletics, Ed's just the boy to see.

THE FRONT OFFICE has its share of the work to do, too. Here the only feminine atmosphere invades the otherwise masculine air of the athletic department, as Mrs. Vanderberg, more commonly known as Glenadine, holds down the job of secretary to the department. Typing, mimeographing, and a thousand and one other miscellaneous jobs find their way into Glenadine's hands. There's too much for one person to handle in the department, so Maurice (Suds) Sumney and his big black cigars are there to help.

WRITING AND PHOTOGRAPHY has to be done if the students on the Hilltop are to keep up with what's news in the world of sports, so here the students themselves come in. Norm Williams handles most of the photography angle, and does a good job of it. Norm and his darkroom are an integral part of the campus by now, and the Brown and Gold owes a debt to him for a lot of the excellent action shots in the sports section.

THE HERALD is Dick Kishpaugh's particular pride and joy, and here Dick and Jack Moss each week turn out the sports page. Moss, more often called "Modoc" from his days in State High, talks a good game of golf, and so he handles all the golf and tennis news that the Herald prints. Kishpaugh seems to have a mania for statistics and records, so on the few occasions when his mind leaves the world of sports, he'd probably be thinking of statistics anyway. Moss has a particular affinity for the studios of the local radio station, while Dick is liable to be traveling anywhere in the state in quest of sports dope.

THE FUTURE is the only unknown quantity in the athletic department. Talk of a new fieldhouse is a common subject in the office, and so is the possibility of the organization of a swimming team. Plans for extensive additions to the physical education curriculum are being formulated, and many improvements in many departments are on their way. The whole picture is a pretty rosy one, and optimism runs high down around the men's gym. It's the general feeling that there's a bright future ahead for Western athletics, and unless indication that are present in the spring of 1946 change radically, the future of the Brown and Gold in athletics should bring fame and glory to the Hilltop.
How would you like to see an exciting color movie of the exacting but thrilling sport of field archery? Scenes of the north woods, frozen white lands where the deer lives, perilous canoe trips in icy, turbulent waters; the swift flight of an arrow; the hunted game finally trapped.

Perhaps you enjoy a get-together of old friends and members; the shadowed Van Gogh room filled with tables set for dinner; tiny flames from the many tall candles making flowing colors of red and gold on the girls seated there; voices blended in song, some old, some new, some gay some reminiscent.

Or how about a lively box social? Girls in cotton dresses bringing a delicious lunch for two packed brightly and tied with a huge soft ribbon; the call of the square dance, “grand right and left, and promenade home,” shouted about the laughing voices of the swinging dancers; then the auctioneer calling out briskly, “Do I hear fifty? Who will make it fifty?”; and boys in knee-rolled pants and plaid shirts shouting, “fifty!” and bidding with round chips of shiny metal.
And would you like to roll up your blankets, and in blue jeans and sweat shirt head for the yellow sands of Lake Michigan, or splash and yell in the cool blue water under a hot sun? Evening and then night merge the sea and the sky into one blackness; soft humming fills the dark air; the bonfire gives the only light, weirdly beautiful; burnt weiners and charred marshmallows fill hungry stomachs. Finally drowsy goodnights answer one another, and the moon comes out to keep watch with the stars.

All these images and others become actualities in the course of a P. E. A. year. With cooperation, Miss Mary Bottje, Miss Crystal Worner, and every member of the association plan and carry out the fun through to a final spring breakfast for alums and all.

The following pages in this book have been purchased by many of the merchants of Kalamazoo, who are taking this means of acknowledging the patronage of Western students, and are actively supporting the college. They really have done their share in helping to make this book the success it is. Without them, a book of this quality and size would have been impossible.

In return, may we ask that you show your appreciation of these merchants by keeping them in mind when contemplating future purchases. Take time to show them that you are appreciative of the finer yearbook made possible only through their generous co-operation.

IT TOOK the disaster of war to bring home to America the importance of giving every youth a full opportunity to make use of special talents. Mediocre academic students often became high ranking technical officers. For many, it was the first time their mechanical skills were fully recognized and encouraged. They "flowered" overnight.

American education will now be challenged as never before to make the most of individual aptitudes. In vocational departments this will mean ADEQUATE equipment — enough machine tools so that each student can acquire practical working skills.

Atlas compact bench tools are ideally suited for class room work. They encourage precision. They include all operating safeguards. They are made by advanced mass production methods which reduce costs so that more machines can be included in your equipment budget. For full information and tool specifications send for latest catalog.

Of All the Wonders of Our Age

Since time began man's chief desire has been to rid himself of the burdensome chores of existence — to find more time for the things that make for a richer, broader, better life.

Of all the wonders of our age no one thing has contributed more toward the attainment of this goal than electricity.

To the extent that man has made use of this great power do we find him realizing his ambitions for a more useful and complete life.

REMEMBER . . . The Person who does the work ELECTRICITY will do is working for less than ONE CENT per hour.
