February 6, 2017: Buff Visit Next Ellis Series Event

Department of English

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/english_blog

Part of the Creative Writing Commons, Digital Humanities Commons, English Language and Literature Commons, and the Linguistics Commons

WMU ScholarWorks Citation
https://scholarworks.wmich.edu/english_blog/245
Dr. Allen Webb is a professor of English who specializes in teaching secondary education, African literature and postcolonial studies, and literature and climate change. He has nine published books and a new book in press as well as 30 published articles. Webb has presented at over 100 conferences, including several keynote addresses, maintains 10 websites, and has won five grants totaling 1.5 million dollars. He is a past president of the Michigan Conference on English Education, and past member of the executive committee of the National Conference on English Education. Webb designed the "Classroom of the Future" English Education Labs and his virtual world for teaching literature won the A+ Award by Web English Teacher. He has received both the Faculty Achievement Award for Teaching as well as the Faculty Achievement Award for Research from the WMU College of Arts and Sciences. Webb’s most recent book (co-authored with Richard Beach and Jeff Share) is Teaching Climate Change to Adolescents: Reading, Writing, and Making a Difference (Routledge/NCTE, 2017).

“Climate Change and the Humanities”

Thursday, Jan. 26, 7 p.m.

3025 Brown Hall
For more information, please contact: cnagle@wmich.edu

Co-Sponsored by the University Center for the Humanities