Mallinson, Dykstra to be honored at reception

Members of the University community are invited to attend a reception honoring George G. Mallinson, distinguished professor in the College of Education, and Sidney Dykstra, associate dean of the Graduate College. The event is sponsored to honor their retirements by the Office of the Provost and the Graduate College.

No News next week

There will be no Western News next week, due to the Thanksgiving holiday. The next issue will be published Thursday, Dec. 3, for which the deadline is noon Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Accounting group is tops

Western's chapter of Beta Alpha Psi has been selected as a "superior chapter" by its national organization for the 10th consecutive year.

There are 182 chapters of the professional accounting fraternity in the country and only 50 achieved superior status in 1987. The organization has a goal to excel academically and to be involved in professional activities and service to qualify for the honor, chapters had to earn at least 88 percent of the total points possible in the competition.

"We are proud of all of the activities our chapter is involved in," said president. "We are addressing this open letter to the University community to review what we do for safety and what is involved."

Haeinicke reviews security measures and outlines precautions for WNU community

"The key ingredients to any safety precautions are to make as realistic as possible about what we do," President Haeinicke told members of the University community in a letter Nov. 18.

The letter, published in the Western Herald, was in response to the Nov. 14 murder on campus of Julie K. Cunningham, a WMU freshman from Vicksburg.

"Julie's death reminds us all of the vulnerabiliy of the student body and staff in spite of all our efforts to provide a safe environment. I must be straight forward and address this open letter to the University community to review what we do for safety and what is involved."

Haeinicke listed a number of "doo" and "darn" things, for example, the lack of emergency lights in some areas of campus.

"Do walk with a friend, if at all possible. Do stay alert and be wary of suspicious looking activity and people. Do avoid passing close to shabby, dark doorways and other places of possible concealment. Do avoid short-cuts, especially through wooded areas. Do not hitchhike or pick up hitchhikers. Do not leave campus without advising friends where you are going and when you expect to be back. Do not assume because someone is young they are necessarily a student member of the University community. Do not accept rides from strangers."

The letter also included a call to action for students.

Haeinicke said that long before the Nov. 14 murder occurred, the University was concerned about safety on campus and had taken several actions. Those included installing additional lighting and initiating efforts to replace burned out lights on campus. In addition, 24 students were hired to patrol the campus on foot in three pairs between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m. seven nights a week. A student-run escort service was established, warnings in campus media about after-dark travel were made and a task force was formed to coordinate the investigation of the Nov. 14 murder of Julie K. Cunningham, a freshman from Vicksburg.

The task force, to be headed by WMU Police Chief R. Carpenter, will include representatives of seven agencies including Western. The others are the Kalamazoo County Sheriff's Office, Kalamazoo Fire Department, Kalamazoo Department of Public Safety, the University, Kalamazoo Township Police Department, Portage Police Department, Michigan State Police and the Kalamazoo County Prosecutor's Office.

"Each agency will identify a liaison person to work with University police in the investigation," said Lanny H. Wilde, public safety. "It will make the sharing of information and resources much easier."

The task force was to have its first meeting Nov. 18 at WMU police headquarters to identify procedures for collecting evidence and following up on it by placing it in a computerized data base, Wilde said. The Michigan State Police are providing the computer resources, which will be located at WMU police headquarters.

The task force, which will meet daily until after the crime is solved, will meet until the crime is solved, Wilde said.

Cunningham's body was found nude at 2:03 p.m. Nov. 14 by a passerby in a wooded area near the Coyote Branch. An autopsy conducted Nov. 16 confirmed that Cunningham, 18, had been sexually assaulted and strangled.

Time of death was put between 7 p.m., when she was last seen, and midnight. University police said Cunningham, 18, was reported missing at 10:50 a.m. Nov. 15.

"The University community stands in shock at the news of this brutal assault of one of our students," said President Haeinicke. "The death of Julie Cunningham is a terrible tragedy that deeply impacts everyone on Western's campus. We join her family in their grief over the loss of this fine young woman."

She was the daughter of Dennis and Margot Cunningham of Vicksburg.

Cunningham had received a four-year $6,000 Board of Trustees scholarship to attend Western this fall. She competed for the award in Western's Medallion Scholarship competition last February.

As of Nov. 17, a total of 40 responses has been received by University police in connection with the murder, Wilde said. Fifteen have come from the University office, five fromKalamazoo Department of Public Safety and 20 have come directly to Western.

"Each lead will, of course, be followed up," Wilde said. "There are no leads in the case."

The leads have come in response to postcards for information by University police and to the offer of rewards that now total $20,000, he said. On Nov. 15, University officials offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone responsible for the murder.

It has since been decided that Western's reward would be for information leading only to an arrest. That means criteria for rewards of $5,000 each offered by the Silent Observer program and William Van Domen, owner of HOT 'n NOW Hamburgers Inc., a Southwest Michigan fast-food chain based in Kalamazoo.

"Maybe by working together, we can solve this terrible crime," said Ruth Hoag, vice president and director of security for First of America Inc. in Kalamazoo and president of Silent Observer.

A flyer announcing the combined reward and seeking relevant information is to be distributed through three HOT 'n NOW locations in Kalamazoo, as well as throughout the Kalamazoo community for a total of 35,000 copies, Hoag said.

The flyer is being produced by Media Services and Printing Services at Western in cooperation with Silent Observer.

Several counseling and safety measures have been implemented since the crime. Residents of the third floor of Siedschlag Hall, where Cunningham lived, were informed of the murder at a meeting at 10 p.m. Nov. 15. A second meeting for residents of the entire Draper-Siedschlag complex took place a half-hour later. Professional staff members of the Counseling Center were available to assist students in small groups after both meetings.

On Nov. 16, locks to the entrances of the residence hall complex where Cunningham lived were changed because no keys were found with the victim or in her clothing, University officials said. Those exterior doors were guarded throughout Sunday night.

This fall, a number of new safety measures have been implemented, including improved campus lighting, a student escort service and a student foot patrol. Additional measures will be put in place immediately (see related story Nov. 19).

University flags will be flown at half-staff and the Western Michigan University memorial service, which is scheduled for noon Tuesday, Nov. 24, at Kanley Chapel. The service will be part of the annual Western Michigan University and Kalamazoo County Memorial Day programming.

Spruced up…..

The west end of the circle drive in front of the Bernard Student Center has some new landscaping, thanks to the efforts of the Kalamazoo area alum- nus of Mortar Board. With co-ordination from the student chapter of the honor society, a Norway spruce was purchased and planted, as well as other improvements made in commemororation of the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. Members of the organization dedicated the tree to the University Nov. 10. Participating were Lisa L. Schaffner, a senior from Jackson, who is the student chapter president; Maria A. Perez-Stable, Education Librarian, who is the faculty advisor; and Lisa E. Green, Bernard Student Center program- mings, who was the dedication coordinator. The tree was "potted" by; and Jean Horneffer, pres- ident of the Mortar Board Alumni Club of Kalama- zoo. The idea for the memorial came from the 1986-87 student chapter of Mortar Board which was advised by Jane S. Cottrell, communication.
Western tops United Way goal; fund-raisers honored

The final figures for Western's United Way Drive are in and the University topped the $90,000 goal by some $9,000. Two Western groups crossed the $90,000 mark, topped the $99,000 goal by some $9,000. Two November 19, 1987 Western News and Robert M. Beam, vice president for business and finance, were honored for their efforts in an "Over the Top" victory celebration Nov. 12. Given in their honor by the University and Robert M. Beam, vice president for business and finance.

Western News

The University raised $108,292 to achieve 109.3 percent of the goal. A total of 1,310 active employees or 51.4 percent of the payroll participated. In addition, 641 retirees gave.

The amount raised this year is 14 percent more than last year, when $94,914 was collected and the goal was $90,000. The percent participation this year is slightly higher than last year's rate of 50.1 percent.

Four units will or more employees in their units and high participation rates included: Stanley W. Kelley, president for Special Services, 22 employees, 100 percent; Randall K. Lang, Printing Services, 16 employees, 94 percent; Linda L. Petersen, student services area's, 23 employees, 74 percent; Geraldine A. Schma, continuing education, 22 employees, 74 percent; Doralee N. DeFyke, College of Business, 15 employees, 54 percent; Elizabeth H. Lutin, College of Health and Human Services, 33 employees, 40 percent; Charles A. Carson, academic records and registration, 15 employees, 71 percent; Molly W. Williams, mechanical engineering, 23 employees, 70 percent; Alicia J. Yeagley, Office of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, 26 employees, 69 percent; Diane Sopjes and Donald A. Weaver, both Valley I dining services, 19 employees, 68 percent; Charles A. Carson, academic records and registration, 31 employees, 68 percent; Debra K. Marveja, student financial aid, 100 percent; 24 employees, 67 percent; and Chester C. Arnold, student service units in Ellsworth Hall, 23 employees, 65 percent.

New $1,200 awards offered by Honors College

Nurturing future creative and research activities by outstanding undergraduate students at the University is the goal of a new award program announced by the Honors College.

The Undergraduate Research Award Program will provide a $1,200 stipend for the first semester, with the possibility of one-time renewal. The deadline for the first set of these awards to be made during winter semester is 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 4.

The program will be administered by the Honors College and will combine the goals and resources of the Russell H. Seibert Fund and the Waldo-Sangren Scholarship Fund. While the resources will be combined, each award will retain the names of the titles of one of the founding programs.

Under the program, a student will work closely with a faculty member on some academic enterprise of mutual interest. "An essential feature of the program is the student/faculty mentor relationship established between a student and a faculty member," said Larry D. Oppelger, Honors College. "This relationship begins when the student and faculty member agree on a research project and submit a joint proposal. "During the project," he continued, "the student's role should evolve from that of helper to that of a more independent researcher, from that of apprentice to that of an emerging scholar." To be eligible, students need not be members of the Honors College. However, membership is encouraged. In many cases, the project could result in a senior Honors College thesis.

Students must have at least a 3.3 grade point average and have completed at least 60 credit hours. They must be enrolled for at least 12 credit hours during each semester the project is funded.

The award can be renewed once if there is significant justification. The renewal award could be used for such things as disseminating the results of the student's research.

For more information, persons should contact the Honors College at 3-1578. Award-winners for the winter semester will be announced Friday, Dec. 21.

Four approved in campus planning, libraries

The appointments of a director of campus planning, extension and engineering and of three assistant deans in the University libraries were approved Nov. 6 by the Board of Trustees.

Charles A. Davis was named director of campus planning, extension and engineering. His appointment begins Jan. 1. Davis will head the campus planning area. His appointment was made effective Oct. 26. He replaces Edward Markward, who resigned to become director of the design division of the Michigan Office of Facilities. His resignation, effective Sept. 4, also was accepted at the meeting.

The three new appointments in the libraries are: Necia A. Musser, assistant dean for technical services; Elnida S. Rolls as assistant dean for public services; and Mary L. Taylor as assistant dean for access services. All were made effective July 1.

The appointments represent redefined positions, according to Dean Charles Kenner, University libraries. "All three are taking over greater administrative responsibilities," she said.

Davis was a faculty member in the Department of Electrical Engineering Technology from 1967 until 1974, when he joined the Department of Electrical Engineering. Before coming to work at Western and during leave from the University, he has worked as an engineer at the Bendix Corp., Ford Motor Co., Kellogg Co. and Bell Laboratories. Since 1986, Davis has been associate director of WMU's Office of Faculty Development.

Musser will be responsible for the processing areas of the libraries, such as acquisitions, cataloging, serials, check-in

APLA holiday party planned

Members of the Administrative Professional Organization and other professional/administrative staff members were invited to attend the organization's holiday party Dec. 12. The program will be entitled "Changes, Challenges and Choices" as the theme for the conference, which is scheduled for March 25.

Attendance is open to the campus community and planning already has begun. Volunteers are always welcome. Interested persons should contact 1988 conference co-chairs Vonceal Lawrence at 3-0974 or Linda Teeter at 3-0757.

Michigan poet to speak

Michigan poet Thomas Lynch will present two programs at Western Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 1-2.

Lynch, whose first book of poems was published by Alfred A. Knopf, a New York firm, will read from his own works at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. in 332 Brown Hall. A reception will follow in the English Center, 3323 Brown Hall.

Lynch will discuss "The Work of Creative Writing" at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 2, in the 10th floor lounge of Spray Tower.

A graduate of Wayne State University, Lynch has been employed at WMU since 1967, where he is a funeral director.

He will read from his own works at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. in 332 Brown Hall. A reception will follow in the English Center, 3323 Brown Hall.

Lynch will discuss "The Work of Creative Writing" at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 2, in the 10th floor lounge of Spray Tower.

A graduate of Wayne State University, Lynch has been employed at WMU since 1967, where he is a funeral director.

He will read from his own works at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. in 332 Brown Hall. A reception will follow in the English Center, 3323 Brown Hall.

Lynch will discuss "The Work of Creative Writing" at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 2, in the 10th floor lounge of Spray Tower.
Four to retire with 103 years of service

The retirements of three faculty members and one staff member with a combined total of 103 years of service were approved by the Board of Trustees. Approved for retirement with emeritus status were: William H. Kanzler, education and Gifts, grants reported

The University received a total of $489,231 in gifts and $1,288,248 in grants for the months of August and September, according to reports presented to the Board of Trustees at its meeting Nov. 6. Gifts totaled $267,570 for August and $221,661 for September. Donations to the WMU Foundation during both months accounted for $387,148 of the total. The year-to-date gift total for fiscal 1987-88 is $679,230, which is nearly $300,000 more than last year’s figure for the comparable period.

Grants totaled $693,272 for August and $594,975 for September. Since the fiscal year began July 1, WMU has received more than $2 million in grants, which has raised its annual dollars from a half billion dollars ahead of last year’s figures at the same time.

Highlighting the grant report were four grants from the Michigan Department of Mental Health. The Evaluation Center received the grants, totaling $301,251, to fund a program aimed at assisting severely mentally ill persons with suitable employment. Housed at Western, the statewide program selects, prepares, places and maintains these persons in supported employment environments.

German awards available

Faculty and staff members are asked to remind their students that the deadline to file for the German Fulbright Awards and Universities Exchanges Scholarships is Tuesday, Dec. 1. These programs are available for qualified students for a year of study at either the Free University of Berlin in West Berlin or at the University of Passau in southeastern Germany. More information can be obtained by contacting the Office of International Education and Programs.

Communication program set

The Department of Communication’s Center for Communication Research will present a colloquium from 12:45 to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, in the Faculty Lounge of the Bernhard Student Center. The "Theatre in the Round," which is more than a half million dollars ahead of last year’s figures at the same time.

A seminar on "Practical Approaches to Ethnic Differences'Recruitment presents a challenge to health providers" will make presentations: Steven C. Lewis, sociology; Louise S. Little, data processing; Paul L. Maier, history; John M. McKeg, Counseling Center; Betty McNeese, Davis Hall dining student; John M. McKeg, Counseling Center; and Necla A. Musser, assistant dean for technical services in the University libraries; Josephine Smith, Western’s Campus Bookstore; George K. Stegman, engineering technology; and Paul Vollertsen, custodial services division of the

On campus

MAKING ENDS MEET—Assisting in the administration of the largest academic budget on campus is the job of Tulla (pronounced TOO-tah) Kaz, a WMU employee for 13 years. She’s an administrative assistant in the College of Arts and Sciences. Tulla Kaz, also known to all of her friends as Kaz, is a familiar sight in the halls of the Administration Building. Agenda items include the consideration of a request for a policy change in the thesis/dissertation definition, of the University Graduate Admissions Policy and of financial aid recommendations.

McKeg Schmaltz

professional development; Dorinne L. McKeg, Counseling Center; and Lloyd L. Schmaltz, chairperson of the Board of Trustees.

Kanzler has been a WMU faculty member since 1961 and his retirement is effective Jan. 4.

Loretta E. Farrand, Graduate College, will retire Jan. 8 after 24 years of service.

Longevity feted with induction into 25 Year Club

A total of 30 faculty and staff members will be inducted into Valume University’s 25 Year Club at a banquet Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the North Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. This is the largest group to be inducted since the club was founded in 1982 with 98 charter members. The club, which will now have 125 active and 77 retired members, recognizes those employees who have 25 or more years of continuous service to WMU.

Members and guests will be welcomed by Stanley W. Kelley, employment relations and personnel, and members will be inducted by President Haenicke. Gold Company will provide the evening’s entertainment and will be introduced by Robert M. Bean, vice president for business and finance.

Those to be inducted include: Donald C. Berndt, chemistry; John A. Gandy, accounting; Phyllis B. Bumbar, University Libraries; R. Keith Hild, development; Mary R. Hanes, collections; Mary A. Cain, education and professional development; Thomas J. Lott, associate vice president for operations; William W. Combs, English; Thomas E. Coyne, vice president for student affairs; John W. Cameron, engineering technology; Henry F. Dierksen, maintenance services department of the physical plant; Joseph E. D. Green, geography; Joseph S. Ellin, philosophy; Louise S. Little, data processing; Robert R. Meisler, English; and president for student services; William Garland, anthropology; Donald L. Glancy, Printing Services; O. J. W. Griggs, landscape services department of the physical plant; Art Hebert, health, physical education and recreation; Dean Darrell G. Jones, business administration; and active members are guests of the University for the banquet and reception.

The club is the cornerstone of the University’s 25 Year Club at a banquet Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the North Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. The "Theatre in the Round," which is more than a half million dollars ahead of last year’s figures at the same time.

A special "Newsviews Call-In," titled "A Kid’s Christmas," will air on WMUX-FM (102.1) at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 24. Host Tony Griffin will discuss appropriate toys and other holiday gifts for children with Hal Reams, clinical psychologist, and Donald L. Glancy, Printing Services.

When not in the office, Kaz enjoys spending her spare time travelling. Some of her tours have been more exciting than others -- she was part of the study group from Russia during the Chernobyl nuclear accident in 1986.

The Graduate Studies Council of the University’s 25 Year Club at a banquet Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the North Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. The "Theatre in the Round," which is more than a half million dollars ahead of last year’s figures at the same time.

A special "Newsviews Call-In," titled "A Kid’s Christmas," will air on WMUX-FM (102.1) at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 24. Host Tony Griffin will discuss appropriate toys and other holiday gifts for children with Hal Reams, clinical psychologist, and Donald L. Glancy, Printing Services.

When not in the office, Kaz enjoys spending her spare time travelling. Some of her tours have been more exciting than others -- she was part of the study group from Russia during the Chernobyl nuclear accident in 1986.

The Graduate Studies Council of the University’s 25 Year Club at a banquet Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the North Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. The "Theatre in the Round," which is more than a half million dollars ahead of last year’s figures at the same time.

A special "Newsviews Call-In," titled "A Kid’s Christmas," will air on WMUX-FM (102.1) at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 24. Host Tony Griffin will discuss appropriate toys and other holiday gifts for children with Hal Reams, clinical psychologist, and Donald L. Glancy, Printing Services.

When not in the office, Kaz enjoys spending her spare time travelling. Some of her tours have been more exciting than others -- she was part of the study group from Russia during the Chernobyl nuclear accident in 1986.
Calendar
NOVEMBER 19

Thursday

Four November 19, 1987 Western News

(Thu) 21 Geography Awareness Week,
(20) Book sale, Business Library, North Hall; Thursday, 8 a.m.-midnight
(20) Exhibition, prints by Sidney Dykes, associate dean, Graduate College, College, the Oaks, 7-3 p.m.
(19) Exhibit, “Communications Graphics, 1968-87,” Gallery II, Sangren Hall, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.
(18) Workshop for professional counselors, counseling and family therapists.

Department of Counseling Psychology, Tate Center, 1:30-3 p.m.

Department of Counseling Psychology, Tate Center, 1:30-3 p.m.

(Thru Dec. 9) Exhibition sculpture by Marcia Lf.

Tuesday/24

Monday/23

Personnel department seminar on optional supplemental retirement program, 10-10:30 a.m. in Building, 3:30 p.m.

Mathematics and statistics colloquium, University Conference Room, first floor, Seibert Administration Building, 1 p.m.

Visiting Scholars Program lecture, “Reorienting Accounting Education,” William Shatford, School of Education, University of Virginia, 3760 Knau Hall, 6:30 p.m.

Student recital, bassoon, Marianne White, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 5:30 p.m.

Department of Communication research colloquium: “Writing Workshop for the Preparation of Doctoral Dissertations, Specialist Year,” 204 Seibert Center, 1:30-2:30 p.m.

Department of English poetry reading by Thomas Lynch, poet from Milford, Mich., 3321 Brown Hall, 8 p.m.; reception following in 3323 Brown Hall.

SEPTEMBER

Thursday/1

(Thu) 14) Book sale, Business Library, North Hall; Thursday, 8 a.m.-midnight
(13) Exhibit, prints by Sidney Dykes, associate dean, Graduate College, College, the Oaks, 7-3 p.m.
(12) Exhibition, prints by Marcia Lf.

Tuesday/26

(Thu) 11) Exhibition, prints by Sidney Chatzef, Gallery II, Sangren Hall, and Fridays, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., studio, Tuesday, Dec. 1, 3304 Sangren Hall, 7 p.m.; reception, Thursday, Dec. 1, 8 p.m.

Retirement reception honoring George C. Mallinson, distinguished professor, College of Arts and Sciences, 204 Bernhard Student Center, 8:30-11:30 a.m. ($15 fee)

Department of English poetry reading by Thomas Lynch, poet from Milford, Mich., 3321 Brown Hall, 8 p.m.; reception following in 3323 Brown Hall.

25 Year Club banquet for members and guests, North Ballroom, Bernhard Student Center, 6-11 p.m.

(Thru Dec. 10) Exhibitions, prints by Marcia Lf.

Wednesday/25

(Thu) 20) Book sale, Business Library, North Hall; Thursday, 8 a.m.-midnight
(19) Exhibit, prints by Sidney Dykes, associate dean, Graduate College, College, the Oaks, 7-3 p.m.

Department of English poetry reading by Thomas Lynch, poet from Milford, Mich., 3321 Brown Hall, 8 p.m.; reception following in 3323 Brown Hall.

SUNDAY NAMED -- The sundial located between Kanley Chapel and Wood Hall was named for Haym Kruglak, emeritus in physics, in ceremonies Nov. 9. Kruglak, center, was a faculty member from 1954 to 1977 and initiated and coordinated the sundial project. Participation in the ceremonies were, from left: President Haenicke; Trustee James S. Brady of Grand Rapids; Trustee Richard Y. St. John of the Board of Trustees; and Chauncey J. Brinn, vice president for development and administrative affairs and secretary to the Board of Trustees. Brian presented Kruglak with a resolution approved by the Board, Nov. 6 recognizing Kruglak for "the depth and breadth of his life’s work’s outstanding dedication and service to this University.

Two contribute to new volume on families

Two faculty members in the Department of Counseling Education and Counseling Psychology have contributed to a newly-published monograph.

Alan J. Hovestadt, chairperson of the department, served as co-editor and author of "Family of Origin Therapy," which was published by Aspen Publishers of Rockville, Md. Joseph R. Morris, associate professor and director of the Counseling psychology program, wrote a chapter titled "Family-of-Origin and Family Therapy Considerations with Black Families." The monograph explores the nature of the impact of early life experiences and how they affect later life functioning. It compares the approaches of leading counselors and family therapists.

"Pausing and the Determination of Dis­

Two contribute to new volume on families

Two faculty members in the Department of Counseling Education and Counseling Psychology have contributed to a newly-published monograph.

Alan J. Hovestadt, chairperson of the department, served as co-editor and author of "Family of Origin Therapy," which was published by Aspen Publishers of Rockville, Md. Joseph R. Morris, associate professor and director of the Counseling psychology program, wrote a chapter titled "Family-of-Origin and Family Therapy Considerations with Black Families." The monograph explores the nature of the impact of early life experiences and how they affect later life functioning. It compares the approaches of leading counselors and family therapists.

"Pausing and the Determination of Dis­

Two contribute to new volume on families

Two faculty members in the Department of Counseling Education and Counseling Psychology have contributed to a newly-published monograph.

Alan J. Hovestadt, chairperson of the department, served as co-editor and author of "Family of Origin Therapy," which was published by Aspen Publishers of Rockville, Md. Joseph R. Morris, associate professor and director of the Counseling psychology program, wrote a chapter titled "Family-of-Origin and Family Therapy Considerations with Black Families." The monograph explores the nature of the impact of early life experiences and how they affect later life functioning. It compares the approaches of leading counselors and family therapists.

"Pausing and the Determination of Dis­

Two contribute to new volume on families

Two faculty members in the Department of Counseling Education and Counseling Psychology have contributed to a newly-published monograph.

Alan J. Hovestadt, chairperson of the department, served as co-editor and author of "Family of Origin Therapy," which was published by Aspen Publishers of Rockville, Md. Joseph R. Morris, associate professor and director of the Counseling psychology program, wrote a chapter titled "Family-of-Origin and Family Therapy Considerations with Black Families." The monograph explores the nature of the impact of early life experiences and how they affect later life functioning. It compares the approaches of leading counselors and family therapists.

"Pausing and the Determination of Dis­

Two contribute to new volume on families

Two faculty members in the Department of Counseling Education and Counseling Psychology have contributed to a newly-published monograph.

Alan J. Hovestadt, chairperson of the department, served as co-editor and author of "Family of Origin Therapy," which was published by Aspen Publishers of Rockville, Md. Joseph R. Morris, associate professor and director of the Counseling psychology program, wrote a chapter titled "Family-of-Origin and Family Therapy Considerations with Black Families." The monograph explores the nature of the impact of early life experiences and how they affect later life functioning. It compares the approaches of leading counselors and family therapists.

"Pausing and the Determination of Dis­