Tuition from record-high enrollments this year has helped University officials that the budget may be moderately up. This should not come as a surprise to anyone who has looked at the three-year forecast that I showed last year. "What we hear in Lansing is that the governor's cut this year will necessitate a tuition raise," Haenicke said. "This should not come as a surprise to anyone who has looked at the three-year forecast that I showed last year." (Continued on page four)
Two
January 21, 1988
Western News

Haenicke issues proclamation on health promotion

President Haenicke issued a proclamation Jan. 21 supporting a health awareness effort called "Zest for Life." The event, which marks the beginning of health promotion programs, is "a Zaster for Life," the University's wellness program. Haenicke signed the proclamation on behalf of Haenicke at a health promotion presentation sponsored by the Western News Committee. The committee was formed in 1982 by President Emeritus John T. Bernhard.

The committee, chaired by Christine G. Poorman, director of the Office of Alumni Affairs and director of public relations and public affairs, represents the Local 1668; R. Wayne Fuqua, psychologist, represents the AFSCME Administrative Professional Association; Thomas A. Coyne, vice president for student services, represents the University's wellness program; and Roger M. Zabik, health, physical education and recreation and chairperson of the public relations planning committee.

This event, aimed at campus leaders, is part of our effort at enhancing the effectiveness of health promotion at Western," Zimmer said. "We want to celebrate the birth and growth of health promotion here, to review its history, philosophy, and significance, to collect suggestions and to deepen the commitment that we all must embrace if health promotion is to have individual and organizational value for all of us."

More than 150 people representing offices across the campus as well as University Alumni Association groups were invited to attend the Jan. 21 presentation. Its goal is to encourage awareness and support for health promotion among campus leaders and, thereby, throughout the University community.

Another part of the effort, Zimmer said, is the development of a "greenhouse" area on the campus.

"We hope to create at Western an asset, and care of that asset is of our foremost concern for us all," he said. "Health is the cornerstone of the entire University family, from the student to retirees."

"The committee, chaired by Christine G. Poorman, director of the Office of Alumni Affairs and director of public relations and public affairs, represents the Local 1668; R. Wayne Fuqua, psychologist, represents the AFSCME Administrative Professional Association; Thomas A. Coyne, vice president for student services, represents the University's wellness program; and Roger M. Zabik, health, physical education and recreation and chairperson of the public relations planning committee.

The committee, chaired by Christine G. Poorman, director of the Office of Alumni Affairs and director of public relations and public affairs, represents the Local 1668; R. Wayne Fuqua, psychologist, represents the AFSCME Administrative Professional Association; Thomas A. Coyne, vice president for student services, represents the University's wellness program; and Roger M. Zabik, health, physical education and recreation and chairperson of the public relations planning committee.

The appointment of two persons to the planning committee will involve significant fund-raising experience to his and considerable past work with major corporations and foundations," said Lee Myers, whose appointment was made June 1, 1987. Myerson replaces Russell A. Strong, who was retired Jan. 15.

In another action, the Board approved the resignations of Wendy L. Cornish as chairperson of the School of Music, effective June 30. Both will return to full-time teaching.

The Board also approved a leave of absence for Mushab Lamquani, marketing director for the University's Wellness Program, effective this past Jan. 4. He had been an employee since 1962.

"We are further considering expanding the University's wellness program in the future. Among the possibilities is a "mini mall," possibly featuring pizza, hamburgers and ice cream vendors, to be constructed in the basement of the BSC."

"The architects tell us that the volume and quality of people using the facility has to do with the fact that the space in the basement has been underutilized," Haenicke said. "We can't afford to have such a giant area of this student center just sit there without any services offered to students and without any income being produced from that area," he said.

He described it as a "greenhouse" area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.

Retirements approved

The retirement of one faculty member and one staff member were approved Jan. 21. Keith D. Bailey, education and professional development, was granted retirement with emeritus status, effective Jan. 2, 1989. He has been a faculty member since 1955.

Henry P. Dieterman, maintenance services department of the physical plant, was approved for retirement, effective this past Jan. 4. He had been an employee since 1962.

Bailey

Dieterman

BSC RENOVATION -- The proposed renovation of the Bernhard Student Center basement may include a "greenhouse addition" on the east side of the building facing Western Hall. The new area would provide a brighter area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.

BSC renovations may include mini mall

"The architects tell us that the volume and quality of people using the facility has to do with the fact that the space in the basement has been underutilized," Haenicke said. "We can't afford to have such a giant area of this student center just sit there without any services offered to students and without any income being produced from that area," he said.

He described it as a "greenhouse" area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.

Retirements approved

The retirement of one faculty member and one staff member were approved Jan. 21. Keith D. Bailey, education and professional development, was granted retirement with emeritus status, effective Jan. 2, 1989. He has been a faculty member since 1955.

Henry P. Dieterman, maintenance services department of the physical plant, was approved for retirement, effective this past Jan. 4. He had been an employee since 1962.

"We are further considering expanding the University's wellness program in the future. Among the possibilities is a "mini mall," possibly featuring pizza, hamburgers and ice cream vendors, to be constructed in the basement of the BSC."

"The architects tell us that the volume and quality of people using the facility has to do with the fact that the space in the basement has been underutilized," Haenicke said. "We can't afford to have such a giant area of this student center just sit there without any services offered to students and without any income being produced from that area," he said.

He described it as a "greenhouse" area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.

Retirements approved

The retirement of one faculty member and one staff member were approved Jan. 21. Keith D. Bailey, education and professional development, was granted retirement with emeritus status, effective Jan. 2, 1989. He has been a faculty member since 1955.

Henry P. Dieterman, maintenance services department of the physical plant, was approved for retirement, effective this past Jan. 4. He had been an employee since 1962.

"The architects tell us that the volume and quality of people using the facility has to do with the fact that the space in the basement has been underutilized," Haenicke said. "We can't afford to have such a giant area of this student center just sit there without any services offered to students and without any income being produced from that area," he said.

He described it as a "greenhouse" area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.

Retirements approved

The retirement of one faculty member and one staff member were approved Jan. 21. Keith D. Bailey, education and professional development, was granted retirement with emeritus status, effective Jan. 2, 1989. He has been a faculty member since 1955.

Henry P. Dieterman, maintenance services department of the physical plant, was approved for retirement, effective this past Jan. 4. He had been an employee since 1962.

"The architects tell us that the volume and quality of people using the facility has to do with the fact that the space in the basement has been underutilized," Haenicke said. "We can't afford to have such a giant area of this student center just sit there without any services offered to students and without any income being produced from that area," he said.

He described it as a "greenhouse" area where faculty, staff and students could gather and eat.
Levin, Wolpe to speak here Jan. 25

The theme for the day is "Current Issues in Political Science." All lectures will take place in the Fetzer Center and are open to the public free of charge.

Levin's speech will be videotaped on campus on Sunday, Jan. 24, and shown at 9:30 a.m. Monday. He originally intended to participate in the day's activities, but now is required to be in Washington, D.C. Monday to participate in hearings on the Intermediate Nuclear Forces treaty as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The public is invited to attend the Sunday videotaping at noon in Studio A in the basement of Dunbar Hall. Levin will address the topic "Congressional Power: The Making of American Foreign Policy."

Following the videotaping presentation Monday, Peter Kobrak, Center for Public

Libraries

With the beginning of a new semester, the reference departments of Waldo Library and the branch libraries would like to remind faculty members that instruction in library use is available for students.

This instruction includes not just tours of the libraries, but specialized education geared to specific class assignments. For this purpose, a faculty member planning the assignment should attend the presentation.

The information is tailored to the needs of each individual class, from the introductory level through intermediate to advanced. Sessions include formation of search strategies in traditional print sources as well as electronic sources.

Western's Research Assistance Program (WRAP) sessions, individual research by appointment, are sometimes an excellent follow-up to the class instruction.

One way it is to take advantage of your students of this specialized help is a phone call. The number is:

Waldo Library, 3-1572; Business Library, 3-1926; Education Library, 3-1666; Music and Dance Library, 3-1817; Physical Sciences Library, 3-1634; and reference service, 3-1642.

A call now will assure you of a time most suitable to your class plans.

Administration Programs, and Alan C. Isaak, political science, will comment on his talk.

Wolpe's address is set for 11 a.m. Monday. He will speak on "The Congress and American Foreign Policy."

A round table discussion on "The President, Politics, Pressure Groups and Nominees to the Supreme Court" will begin at 1:30 p.m. Participating will be U.S. District Court Judge Richard Enz, and Peter G. Rensmich, Ph.D., professor of political science, and Jane H. Philips, political science chair.

The event is being sponsored by WMU's Institute of Government and Politics and Department of Political Science. Its coordinator is Lawrence Ziring, director of the institute.

U.S. Savings Bonds -- a great investment

Western's U.S. Savings Bond drive offers the students this year's payroll savings plan for purchasing bonds is a convenient method of saving regularly that offers tax advantages and near-market interest on small sums of money, and lets you feel good about loaning some of your savings to Uncle Sam.

If you can sign up to buy bonds anytime, if you are interested in the smaller denomination bonds, it is necessary to sign up by Monday. Effective Feb. 1, the $50 and $75 denominations will no longer be offered to new participants.

Jeanne M. Jacobson, education and professional development, discusses how to encourage their child's creativity on "Focus," a five-minute radio interview produced by the Office of Public Information. "Focus" is scheduled to air Saturday, Jan. 23, at 6:00 a.m. on WKRP-AM (1420) and at 12:25 p.m. on WKZO-AM (590).

A special "Newsviews Call-In" will air on WMUK-FM (102.1) at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26. Host Tony Griffin will discuss "Abortion: Who Is Really Pro-Life," with Dr. IDDward Loehr, a pastor at the First United Methodist Church of Robert Nienhaus, a pastor at Bethel Baptist Church, and John S. Sadusky, a staff member at Waldo Library.

The topic for a Jan. 27 "Newsviews Call-In" will be "Zest for Life_. How should we have their blood cholesterol levels, and what are the new national guidelines for adults in this area?"

The questions will be answered during a Noon Hour Health Enhancement program. Those noon shows, 12:45 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26, in Red Rooms A and B of the Bernhard Student Center.
Conference set on improving writing skills

Aspiring authors interested in improving their writing skills should plan to attend the Weekend Michigan Writers Conference scheduled for Thursday through Sunday, April 7-10, at WMU's Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo College, and National Public Radio, as well as readings by Gilchrist, faculty members and students.

The charge for the workshops is $15 for consortia students or $50 for others. Additional costs will be placed in Sprague Tower and Brown Hall.

Additional events

The charge for the workshops is $15 for consortia students or $50 for others. Additional costs will be placed in Sprague Tower and Brown Hall.

All workshop participants will attend a seminar, the Upton Foundation and the Southern Michigan University film series, "The Congress Pressure Groups and Policy," U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, 9:30 a.m. Monday, Feb. 15.

The guest reading by Gilchrist that is open to the public will be from 8 to 9 p.m. Saturday, April 9, in 2750 Knauss Hall.

Other public events will include: faculty readings from 8:45 to 10:15 p.m. Thursday, April 7, and from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, April 8; and student readings from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 10. All readings will be in the 10th floor lounge of Sprague Tower.

The conference is made possible by grants from the consortium, WMU, the Herrick Foundation, the Sage Foundation, and the Michigan Council for the Arts. For more information on the workshops, conferences and other events, contact the Office of Conferences and Institutes in the Division of Continuing Education.