Festivities and football—all part of Homecoming

Western's Homecoming '86—a week filled with festivities, football and fond memories—will be celebrated Sunday through Saturday, Oct. 12-18.

The theme for this year is "Broncos on Broadway," a wide variety of student and alumni activities are planned. Faculty and alumni groups are invited to observe and participate.

Student groups will receive points for participation in special activities during the week-long spirit contest. The first-through-fourth-place winners will split $30,000 in prize money donated by Mead Company.

Contests will begin with the Homecoming king and queen contest at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 12, in the West Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. The theme for the contest is "Audition Night." Candidates will be required to dress in a costume associated with a particular song that goes with it, pretending they're auditioning for a show.

Contestants will be judged on creativity, and their abilities to communicate well and conduct themselves well in front of an audience. The contest is sponsored by the Associated Student Senate.

At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14, the "That's Entertainment" campuswide talent show will be presented in the main auditorium of the Bernhard Student Center. Prizes worth $150, $75 and $50 will be awarded to the top three contestants in this popular showcase of Western's talent. More than 150 students and faculty have registered to compete.

A hat spin, a raw egg toss and a white bubbling frog are among the events scheduled for Wednesday night at Main McGinnigle's Olympics at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the first floor of the Bernhard Student Center.

Waldo Stadium will resound with cheering beginning at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 16, during the "Yell Like Hell" and spirit banner competition. Teams will have 90 seconds to show their Bronco spirit. The loudest, most creative team will win official "Yell Like Hell" tambourines. WMU football coach Jack Harbaugh or one of his assistants will be there to talk about Bronco spirit and the Homecoming football game.

The final student competitions of the week will be the frizzer fest at 1 p.m. and the soap box derby at 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17. Teams will have two minutes to dance as many jolly, creamy and custard-filled donuts as they can during the frizzer fest, which will take place at the Goldsworthy Valley intramural field.

In the derby, student-built vehicles will race down a hill on Rankin Avenue. The cars must meet certain specifications and be registered.

Friday evening will mark the beginning of activities planned by the Office of Alumni Relations. A 25th reunion dinner for members of the class of 1961 will be scheduled for 7 p.m. in WMU's Fetzer Center.

The Homecoming celebration will culminate Saturday, Oct. 18, beginning with registration for returning guests at 9:30 a.m. on the second floor of the Bernhard Student Center.

An "Indoor Tailgate" reception is scheduled for 10 a.m. to noon in the East Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. Snacks and a cash bar will be available. There will be a champagne brunch served from 10:45 a.m. to noon in the same room.

Tickets for the brunch are $7 per person for Alumni Association members, faculty, staff and emeriti, or $8 per person for others. The kick-off for the Homecoming festivities will take place at 2:30 p.m. in the West Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. Tickets for both events are $7 per person, $2 of which are designated for the Carlson L. Lee Loan Fund.

At 6 p.m. dinner in the Fetzer Center on Saturday, Distinguished Alumni Awards (see related story on this page) will be issued.

An alumni handout of the week will be announced at a student dance beginning at 9 p.m. Saturday in the West Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center. Music will be provided by Gemini Productions and admission is free.

For more information on Homecoming and for tickets, persons may call the Office of Alumni Relations at 61-6660.

Four to receive Alumni Teaching Excellence Awards

Four faculty members have been named recipients of 1986 Alumni Teaching Excellence Awards by the WMU Alumni Association.

They are: John M. Fisher, paper and printing science professor; Roy Oron, engineering technology; Gregory B. Hutchings, engineering technology; and Shirley Clay Scott, English.

The awards will be presented to participants by Richard G. Carlson, current serving as treasurer of the Alumni Association, at the seventh annual Academic Convocation Wednesday, Oct. 21. The convocation begins at 3 p.m. in the Dalton Room.

Recipient of this year's Distinguished Faculty Scholarly Distinguished Service Awards will also be honored at the convocation.

Western thanks AMBUCS for scholarship program

The College of Health and Human Services has honored a distinguished benefactor, the American Business Club (AMBUCS) of Kalamazoo, with a luncheon and plaque.

The club has awarded more than $12,000 in scholarships to more than 300 students in the College of Health and Human Services, Department of Occupational Therapy and Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology in the past 15 years through its Kalamazoo Living Endowment Fund.

"We thank you not only for your support but especially for the continuity of that support," Philip Denenfeld, provost and vice president for academic affairs, told club members at the luncheon Oct. 1.

"What a difference your gifts have made. We are proud to know our contributions have enriched lives," said Marion J. Dodge, a member of AMBUCS and president of the endowment fund.

"Those in need of any college are just as numerous as ever and we are honored to have this major benefactor in our midst," said Dean William A. Burian, health and human services dean. "Your generous scholarship program helps Western to attract the best students in the country."

"We appreciate your spiritual support as well as your financial support," said Dr. Clair Callan, chairperson of occupational therapy. "The real beneficiaries of your generosity are the clients and patients served, making us all part of a wonderful process."

"We thank you for your long-lasting, continuous support," said Dean of the College of General Studies, Dean of the Graduate College and enter for Health Promotion Research. "We are proud to know our contributions have enriched lives."

The Department of Occupational Therapy has 245 bachelor's degree students and 60 master's degree students. It prepares professionals to provide clients with a therapeutic use of self-care, work and play to increase independent living.

The Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology has 90 bachelor's degree students and 62 master's degree students. It prepares professionals to help clients deal with a wide variety of speech, language and hearing impairments.

Personnel
Questions/answers on MIP
Due to the importance of making the best individual decision on MIP, the Michigan Member Investment Plan, the Michigan Public Schools Employees Retirement System (MIPERS) is issuing bi-monthly lists of answers to the most commonly asked questions on MIP. These menus will be posted on the bulletin board outside the staff benefits office, according Richard K. Schaper, director of the System. Comments and questions with MIPERS coverage will share answers and questions with us. If we don’t have the answer, we will find it.

Schaper said, “Does the proposed tax reform affect the MIP?” is one of the questions frequently asked. MIPERS answers, “No.” Since the section of the IRC code which authorizes the tax deferral is not mentioned in the digest of the federal tax reform legislation, the Michigan Member Investment Plan is not affected.

Throughout the fall semester, 15 orientation meetings on MIP are being conducted by the staff training office. All faculty and staff members covered by MIPERS will make a one-time irrevocable choice between MIP or the Basic Plan before Dec. 31. To facilitate this decision, each employer is being invited to a specific information meeting.

Attendance will be scheduled in such a way as not to deplete a work area of all personnel. This means that some employees will still not be affected, and some other work areas may be scheduled before others. Prior to the end of the semester, all employees will be offered a chance to attend a session.

SURVIVAL SKILLS—Giving international students the English skills they need to survive at an American university is the goal of Laura Latulippe, director of the Career English Language Center for International Students (CECILIS). Latulippe is responsible for recruiting students, maintaining the quality of instructional programs and providing non-instructional service to students. The CECILIS academic and personal counseling and activities designed to integrate CECILIS students into the university community and Kalamazoo area. Seven persons teach in the program, instructing some 350 students a week in academic reading and writing, academic reading and writing, academic and small group discussion. Extracurricular activities include field trips and presentations by CECILIS students to area schools. Social activities are designed to students a chance to practice the skills they learn in class. About three-fourths of the international students at Western did not attend CECILIS before they were admitted because they passed an English examination before they attended Western. Participants study reading and writing skills while they are in CECILIS, and then go on for more education or employment. "About one-third of our students go to track and field and one-third go to Kalamazoo Valley Community College and then to Western, and one-third go to another university or home to jobs," says Latulippe, who has been part of the CECILIS for 10 years and director for the last two. About 25 percent of the international students who are now attending Western have participated in the CECILIS program. CECILIS students live in the residence halls and attend classes in Brown Hall. New sessions begin every eight weeks and the length of study varies, depending on the students’ abilities. The largest group of students now is from Japan, with the next largest group from Spain. "Part of my job is that of a diplomat," says Latulippe. "I represent CECILIS and the community in 1 work with embassies and students, and I represent our students in the community. It is a rewarding challenge."
