Meeting dates changed
The dates for the regular monthly meetings of the Board of Trustees have been changed for the winter semester, according to Chancellor J. Brice, secretary of the Board and vice president for University relations.

The new dates are Jan. 24 and March 14. The Feb. 21 meeting has been cancelled. The April 25 meeting date remains unchanged. All meetings are on Fridays and begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Board Room of the Bernhard Student Center.

Coupon entitles faculty, staff to $1 admission
Faculty and staff members will be receiving through campus mail a coupon which will enable them to attend the Wednesday, Jan. 15, men's and women's basketball games between Western and Northern Illinois for $1. The coupons can be redeemed at the athletic ticket office anytime before the games. The women's contest starts at 5:30 p.m. and the men's game begins at 7:45 p.m. in Fieldhouse.

Elliott to be on CBC
Anthony Elliott, music, will be the featured cells soloist in "A Canadian Symphony," the television documentary filmed by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The program will air or repeater stations across Canada, Thursday, Jan. 18. Also featured on the program will be folk singer Yolanda and tenor William Brown. In addition, Elliott will appear as cells soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Sunday, Feb. 9, in its "Classical Roots" concert series.

Haenicke pledges support to all constituencies in inauguration address at Dec. 21 commencement Accepting the presidency of the University, Dieter H. Haenicke made four commitments to the Board, to the students, to the faculty and to the staff of the University.

"I am (also) . . . counting on all those who have helped build this institution in the past—emiri, alumni, legislators, donors and many other good friends of Western," he said.

"I make (these commitments) with great confidence," said Haenicke, who told 3,200 graduating seniors, faculty and staff members during one of two commencement exercises Dec. 21 in Miller Auditorium that included his inauguration.

"I have sensed a genuine readiness to support any effort I will make to strengthen and advance the Western University."

"I know we all want essentially the same thing," he continued, "a University of which all can be truly proud. In this task I am counting on the help of all members of this University. I am counting on their trust and goodwill, and on their best efforts.

"A total of 1,280 students received degrees from Western at commencement, including 17 doctoral recipients."

"It is our desire," said Board chairman Fred W. Adams of Grosse Pointe, "that this maintain an administrative environment conducive to building a faculty dedicated to truth and service of mankind, a student body equally concerned with knowledge and moral principles and a University whose light is unfailing."

Haenicke promised the Board he would work to "promote the interest of all (the University's) constituencies." He described students as "the central concern of this University" and the faculty as Western's "most valuable institutional asset." He also pledged to "befriend carefully" to staff members "when we talk about how to make out University an even better place to teach, to study and to work.

"I bring to our joint task great enthusiasm, an appreciation and expectations of high academic standards, a strong commitment to fairness and a genuine dedication to hard work," he said. "I expect nothing less from those who work with me, and I know for sure that I will not be disappointed."

Haenicke had asked that no inauguration be held so that the savings could be allocated to the University libraries. The Board of Trustees compromised by having the inauguration combined with commencement and the estimated $30,000 to $55,000 savings is to be used for the libraries, as Haenicke had requested.

Commencement exercises, including the inauguration, will be carried on Fetler Cablevision channel at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 14, and at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Jan. 17. The program was produced by media services and the Office of Public Information.

Staff visits campus
Blanchard approves $27.1 million for construction
Gov. James B. Blanchard Jan. 2 signed a capital outlay bill that provides $27.1 million in new construction for WMU—$11 million in major modifications and an addition to Waldo Library and $12.1 million for a new building for the College of Business.

Both house and the Michigan legislature had passed the bill Dec. 18. Jan. 2 was the deadline for the governor to sign the bill; otherwise, the bill would have become law without the Governor's signature.

In the interim, the three members of the Blanchard administration—Philip J. Joune-d, chief of staff; Robert H. Nafaty, director of the Department of Management and Budget; and Lynne C. Schaefer, executive assistant to Nafaty—visited the campuses of WMU, Ferris State College and Central Michigan University Dec. 30. Their fact-finding visits were to personally assess the need for such new construction.

After spending two and a half hours with President Haenicke, Board of Trustees Chairperson Fred W. Adams of Grosse Pointe and other key administrators, they told local news media representatives that Western had presented "an excellent case" for the two major construction projects: State Rep. Mary Brown, D-Kalamazoo, also joined the campus tour of Waldo Library and East Hall; she had been invited by Nafaty's office.

"In delighted. This is a great way to start the New Year," said Haenicke.

"I have been following the project through campu mail a coupon which will be mailed to the students who have a "MAKET" account at the University. The coupon can be redeemed Jan. 15, men's and women's basketball games between Western and Northern Illinois, the Jan. 19 MLK banquet. The coupon also entitles faculty, staff to $1 admission to the Feb. 21 and March 14 basketball games.

"I bring to our joint task great enthusiasm, an appreciation and expectations of high academic standards, a strong commitment to fairness and a genuine dedication to hard work," he said. "I expect nothing less from those who work with me, and I know for sure that I will not be disappointed."

"I have sensed a genuine readiness to support any effort I will make to strengthen and advance the University."

"I know we all want essentially the same thing," he continued, "a University of which all can be truly proud. In this task I am counting on the help of all members of this University. I am counting on their trust and goodwill, and on their best effort.

"A total of 1,280 students received degrees from Western at commencement, including 17 doctoral recipients."

"It is our desire," said Board chairman Fred W. Adams of Grosse Pointe, "that this maintain an administrative environment conducive to building a faculty dedicated to truth and service of mankind, a student body equally concerned with knowledge and moral principles and a University whose light is unfailing."

Haenicke promised the Board he would work to "promote the interest of all (the University's) constituencies." He described students as "the central concern of this University" and the faculty as Western's "most valuable institutional asset." He also pledged to "befriend carefully" to staff members "when we talk about how to make out University an even better place to teach, to study and to work.

"I bring to our joint task great enthusiasm, an appreciation and expectations of high academic standards, a strong commitment to fairness and a genuine dedication to hard work," he said. "I expect nothing less from those who work with me, and I know for sure that I will not be disappointed."

"Haenicke had asked that no inauguration be held so that the savings could be allocated to the University libraries. The Board of Trustees compromised by having the inauguration combined with commencement and the estimated $30,000 to $55,000 savings is to be used for the libraries, as Haenicke had requested.

Commencement exercises, including the inauguration, will be carried on Fetler Cablevision channel at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 14, and at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Jan. 17. The program was produced by media services and the Office of Public Information.

Senate
The Faculty Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 9, in the Fetzer Center. The agenda items include the final readings of and voting on the constitutional amendments and bylaw amendments.

Library and $325,000 for the business building—in the 1984-85 fiscal year. Construction on these two projects probably would start sometime in 1985.

MLK banquet Jan. 19
Paul N. Mohr Sr., president of Talladega College in Talladega, Ala., will be the keynote speaker at the 17th annual Martin Luther King Jr. Program banquet at 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 19, in the North Ballroom of the Bernhard Student Center.

The banquet is open to the public. Tickets are $10 and are available through Monday, Jan. 13, from the MLK Program office, 228-A Ellsworth Hall, 3-4079. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Mohr will address the theme of this year's banquet: "Only We Can Make Our Dreams a Reality: Let's Protect It and Pass It On." The event will serve as a celebration of the late Dr. King's birthday, which is Jan. 15. King's birthday will be observed with a day of service for the first time in 1986 on Monday, Jan. 20.

The banquet also will recognize the ma-jor accomplishments, both academic and creative, of those students enrolled as freshmen in the MLK Program at WMU.

Mohr has been president of Talladega since 1983.

He has served as an industrial specialist for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, as an evaluator of education books for PI Lambda Theta Publications and as an educational consultant for the Florida Association for Supervision and Curric-ulum Development.
On campus

Two new Medallion Scholarships established

Prestigious Medallion Scholarships have been established by the Alumni Association and a member of the WMU Board of Trustees and his wife, bringing to 15 the number of such awards at Western.

The two new scholarships, each worth $30,000 over four years, have been established by Charles Ludlow of Kalamazoo and by the board of the Alumni Association.

The scholarships, among the largest merit awards in American higher education, are intended to recognize academic achievement and leadership among high school seniors, primarily from Michigan. They are the crown of a comprehensive program through which prospective students compete for $1 million in scholarships to attend Western each year.

Both of the Ludlow scholarship graduates at Western, Charles Ludlow, who graduated from Western with high honors in 1986 in business education, has been a member of the Board at Western since 1986. He received a Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1984. Ludlow is now vice president and treasurer of the Upton Oil Co. in Kalamazoo. Marion Ludlow graduated in early education in 1947 and taught school for five years.

"This is one way we can return to Western something for Western," Ludlow said. "We have been impressed with the quality of students that Medallion Scholarships have attracted to Western, and we wanted to be a part of that experience."

"This is a proud moment in the history of the WMU Alumni Association," said Keith A. Pretty of Alto, president of the Alumni Association. "It is hoped to be a part of the growing Medallion Scholarship program.

The Medallion Scholarship program was established in 1983 under the leadership of J. Michael Kemp of Kalamazoo, a former member and chairperson of the WMU Board of Trustees. Since then, these individuals, businesses and organizations have sponsored a Medallion Scholarship: Elizabeth and Guido Binda of Battle Creek; Merze Tate of Washington, D.C.; Boudah Kendall of Battle Creek; John T. and Ramona B. Berard of Kalamazoo (honorees, two scholarships); First of Michigan, Kalamazoo; W.K. Kellogg and Howard and Howard law firm of Kalamazoo; the Upton Oil Co.; the WMU Foundation; and Kalamazoo Savings Bank.

Each Medallion Scholarship is established in the name of a donor or honoree for four years, after which it expires unless renewed by donor or honoree. Exemplary individuals are named in honor of the Bernhards, who are permanently endow-

Jevert elected secretary of athletic foundation

Joseph A. "Art" Jevert, health, physical education and recreation, has been elected secretary of the recently formed Wolverine Athletic Foundation.

Dedicated to serve amateur athletes, the $16.5 million organization is involved in the delivery of a program on "Chemical Health for Athletes" to Michigan high school athletes, coaches, parents and athletes.

$75,000 grant for technology network received

Western has received a $75,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Commerce for its role in the development of the Michigan Technology Transfer Network (TTN). The computerized information network is designed to link the state's five major research universities and the Departung of Commerce, providing a common resource base for state industries and local units of government in need of technical assistance.

"The object of the TTN is to help provide for a more diversified economic base and the expansion of job opportunities within Michigan," says Dr. Jack S. Wood, Western's College of Michigan Public Technical Service (WESTOPS). "The network accomplishes this by making the vast technical resource base of the state's higher education system readily accessible to industries and people in need.

TTN offices have been or are being established at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Wayne State University, Michigan Technological University and Western. WMU's TTN office is in place as part of WESTOPS.

Wood says WESTOPS was used as the model in developing the initial TTN proposal three years ago. WESTOPS was established in 1981 and has fielded about 2,300 requests for information and technical service from businesses, local units of government, service organizations, individuals and the media.

WESTOPS has been utilized for questions dealing with such topics as the identification of toxic chemicals, the role of commercial uses of Meadow Scotch pines and how to locate public forests in Michigan.

The Department of Commerce grant will enable WESTOPS "to do more intensive work with business and industry," according to the Department of Commerce grant's first to include money for the budget is the first to include money for the Office of Trustee at WMU meeting Dec. 20.

Since the 1985-86 fiscal year began July

1985, Western has received more than $4,000 million in grant, which is almost 300,000 more than the $4,000,000 of 1986-87.

The 438-page volume is organized into two new books written by faculty members in the Department of Political Science.

Co-authors of "The Political Dictionary" are Eugene Kim and Ziring, who served as editor. "The book number among 10 published 1984, the same year he retired as vice preston, who served as director of the Center for Government and Politicy Science, which is now the name of the Center for Human Services in the WMU Center for Human Services in the mental and political processes, and political parties and elections. More than 300 terms are examined in each of the books, which utilize a two-paragraph defined, significant format for each entry. The books are designed for use by instructors, students, librarians, government officials, journalists and researchers.

Ziring, Rossi and McCrea also have had a hand in the writing of several volumes in the Chio Dictionaries in Political Science.

Rossi, Ziring and Jevert have had a hand in the writing of several volumes in the Chio Dictionaries in Political Science.

Ziring, who serves as director of the Institute of Government and Politics, says that the "Asian Political Dictionary" was an "Asian Political Dictionary"; Rossi and Plano wrote "The Latin American Political Dictionary"; and McCrea, Plano and the late Dr. George Klein, a former WMU professor of political science, wrote the "Eastern European Political Dictionary."

Bronco volleyball squad to be honored at banquet

A banquet honoring the members of the Western Michigan University women's championship volleyball team is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 16, at the Kalamazoo Center Hilton Inn.

The social hour will begin at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 and are available through the Gary Fund office, 5-0975.
Board approves faculty, staff retirements

The retirements of four faculty members and one staff member were approved by the Board of Trustees at its meeting Dec. 20.

"We are known, we are respected, we are very welcome and we have some pros-" said Philip Denenberg, vice president for academic affairs, in summing up a trip to Malaysia by a team from Western in November. Denenberg reported the results of the trip to the Board at its Dec. 16 meeting. "We accomplished everything we had planned on and more," he said.

Besides Denenberg, members of the team that visited the Southeast Asian nation Nov. 10-23 included Jolene V. Jackson-Groh, international student services, Dean Darrell G. Jones, business, and Dean James B. Matthews, engineering and applied sciences.

"We went largely on the urging of Vice President Coyne and Jack Jackson, who kept reminding us that it was probably a pretty good time to go," said Denenberg. "We currently have close to 100 Malaysian students on our campus. We will have probably the largest group of international students here for the past five years and nobody from Western had ever visited that country representing the University."

Of the 298 students, Malaysia provides 27.4 percent of Western's 1,088 international students. Western ranks fourth among midwestern four-year colleges and universities in the number of international students currently enrolled.

"Essentially, we went to solidify what has been a good and long-standing rela-" said Denenberg. "We also wanted to see what kinds of productive relationships could we establish with the government of Malaysia, with the schools and with the agencies that subsidize the students who come here.

The team met with the Minister of Education and the heads and staff members in the agencies involved in the selection and subsidizing of Malay-" said Denenberg. "We found out what their interests were difficult to tell. But if those two things are on what Western has to offer to Malaysian students and how successful we have been with them for some 15 years," Denenberg reported.

He said that the government in very "government-oriented," as evidenced by the large number of suggestions that supports and sends to the United States. Currently, Malaysians are the largest group of international students in this country, number-" said Denenberg. "We said there are a lot of U.S. schools competing for Malaysian students: "We have an edge on most of them because we've been involved with Malaysian students for a long while and because so many of our graduates are there and are supportive," Denenberg said.

MALAYSIAN VISIT—Two members of the Western faculty visited Malaysia. Philip Denenberg, center, vice president for academic affairs, and Jolene V. Jackson-Groh, international student services, met with Datuk Abdullah Ahmad Badawi, the Malaysian Minister of Education, at a luncheon in Kuala Lumpur. students who come here.

The group met with those alumni on two occasions: at a reunion dinner in Penang with alumni from the 1985 trip, and at the first official meeting of the WMU Alumni Association of Kuala Lum-" said Denenberg. "It was going to be there, if anyone, and close to 100 people at-" said Denenberg. "We have a lot of friends here and a lot of interest and they really have very warm feelings about this institution and Western University.

The group also visited seven colleges and universities, met with the president of an eight-year project to establish a sister city in another two-year school. "They were all cordial, open and useful exchanges," said Denenberg. "People all know Western and that was nice. It gives you a leg up when you go to these institutions." Denenberg said the schools are interested in establishing a campus-level relationship focused on some of the 60-90 and 90-day training programs—here to which they could send students.

He said the team also learned about factors which could affect Western's role in Malaysia, and which is moving toward a two-and-two-year— situation. "We're going to be looking at advanced education and sending people over for the last two years or for graduate study abroad. They would allow them to keep sending thousands of people over for long periods of time as long as they are not concerned about their students being vulnerable to change that they don't find particularly attractive, and they change because they think it's better for education and the United States.

With 298 students, Western is the third largest among the U.S. campuses to 200. "At the same time, we've been working on new policy that was imminent; we were asking for applications to send people to Western. So now that the new policy has happened, they could have an impact."" We sent a lot of people.

The Policy Research Council of the "We have a lot of good contacts and we're planning to follow up with the University relax. In addition, Denenberg said the chool are interested in establishing a campus-level relationship focused on some of the 60-90 and 90-day training programs—here to which they could send students.

He said the team also learned about factors which could affect Western's role in Malaysia, and which is moving toward a two-and-two-year— situation. "We're going to be looking at advanced education and sending people over for the last two years or for graduate study abroad. They would allow them to keep sending thousands of people over for long periods of time as long as they are not concerned about their students being vulnerable to change that they don't find particularly attractive, and they change because they think it's better for education and the United States.

With 298 students, Western is the third largest among the U.S. campuses to 200. "At the same time, we've been working on new policy that was imminent; we were asking for applications to send people to Western. So now that the new policy has happened, they could have an impact."

The staff training classes currently being offered are: "Equal Employment Opportu-" The latter event was a highlight of the Denenberg aid the chool are interested in establishing a campus-level relationship focused on some of the 60-90 and 90-day training programs—here to which they could send students.

He said the team also learned about factors which could affect Western's role in Malaysia, and which is moving toward a two-and-two-year— situation. "We're going to be looking at advanced education and sending people over for the last two years or for graduate study abroad. They would allow them to keep sending thousands of people over for long periods of time as long as they are not concerned about their students being vulnerable to change that they don't find particularly attractive, and they change because they think it's better for education and the United States. With 298 students, Western is the third largest among the U.S. campuses to 200. "At the same time, we've been working on new policy that was imminent; we were asking for applications to send people to Western. So now that the new policy has happened, they could have an impact."" We sent a lot of people.

The Policy Research Council of the "We have a lot of good contacts and we're planning to follow up with the University relax. In addition, Denenberg said the chool are interested in establishing a campus-level relationship focused on some of the 60-90 and 90-day training programs—here to which they could send students.

He said the team also learned about factors which could affect Western's role in Malaysia, and which is moving toward a two-and-two-year— situation. "We're going to be looking at advanced education and sending people over for the last two years or for graduate study abroad. They would allow them to keep sending thousands of people over for long periods of time as long as they are not concerned about their students being vulnerable to change that they don't find particularly attractive, and they change because they think it's better for education and the United States. With 298 students, Western is the third largest among the U.S. campuses to 200. "At the same time, we've been working on new policy that was imminent; we were asking for applications to send people to Western. So now that the new policy has happened, they could have an impact."" We sent a lot of people.
Calendar

Thursday/9
(thru 17) Exhibit, paintings by Don King, art gallery, HI, Sangren Hall, Mondays-Fridays, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; reception Friday, Jan. 10, in the gallery, 5-7 p.m. (thru 29) Photographs of famous photographs by Deirdre Monk, Antonell School of Art, Cincinnati, ar departmen corridor, Sangren Hall.
ACADEMIC COMPUTER CENTER workshop, re Introduction to the VAX 8600," 203 Maybee Hall, 3-4:50 p.m.
Meeting, Faculty Senate, Fetter Center, 7 p.m.
Friday/10
Staff training seminar, "EEO/AA I!" (first of three sessions), 212 Bernhard Student Center, 8:30-11:45 a.m.
Writing workshop for preparation of doctoral dissertations, special project, master's theses, Graduate College, Seltzer Administration, 10 a.m.
ACADEMIC COMPUTER CENTER workshop, "Introduction to the DEC System," 203 Maybee Hall, 1:25-2:50 p.m.
Reception honoring Denise L. Gipson-Tyvisya, minority student services, President's Dining Room, Bernhard Student Center, 3-5 p.m.
Saturday/11
GM and GMA workshops, Academic Skills Center, 9 a.m.-3 p.m.
WMU women's track invitational, Read Fieldhouse, noon.
Sunday/12
Music faculty recital, "Concert of Old Music," Dalton Center Recital Hall, 3 p.m.
Monday/13
(through) Photographic exhibit, "The Many Faces of Iran," Reinhold Leoffler, anthropology, Space Gallery, Knauss Hall.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ-MACINTOSH," 100 Maybee Hall, 4-6:30 p.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO APPLES-MACINTOSH," 102 Maybee Hall, 8:30-10:30 a.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO MS-DOS MICROCOMPUTERS," 109 Maybee Hall, 9-11 a.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO WORD PROCESSING-MACINTOSH," 203 Maybee Hall, 11 a.m.-1 p.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO LOTUS 1-2-3-ZENITH," 109 Maybee Hall, 1-3 p.m.
(14 Auditions for The Love of Don Perlimplin and Belisa in the Garden/Venus and Adonis, York Arena Theatre, 7 p.m.
Western turns classroom to workplace at GM-BOC

Western is taking its show "on the road."

In a new venture begun this past fall, the University is offering classes toward a bachelor's degree for employees of the General Motors-Buick Oldsmobile Cadillac (GM-BOC) plant on Cork Street in Kalamazoo.

"Basically, we're offering the same courses we offer on campus only we're taking them to the plant," says Jane H. Vander Weyden, Office of Evening and Weekend Programs, through which the classes are offered. "The classes are of the same academic quality and students use the same textbooks as on campus."

According to Vander Weyden, the "classroom in the workplace" is a growing trend in industry. New technology, she says, is creating a greater need for retraining workers and a more educated workforce.

"For example," she says, "take tool and die makers. New technology is changing their jobs. In many places, tool and die making is becoming computerized, so companies are looking for people who can manage a computer system and do the engineering rather than the old-time tool and die maker. That job requires more education and training."

And that's where Western comes in. "About 275 people responded saying they retrain or provide more education to those workers it already employs," says Vander Weyden.

GM United Auto Workers-GM employees are provided with training dollars through their contract. Salaried employees are eligible for a tuition grant which provides funds for education. Western is所提供的an opportunity for a joint venture and contact GM-BOC. "As long as business and industry are indicating a need for a greater pool of people, particularly that colleges and universities develop links with the companies," says Vander Weyden.

Western is concentrating on offering classes toward a bachelor's degree in general University studies--that's our most flexible curriculum," says Vander Weyden. "It offers the widest variety of subjects that students can develop concentrations in subjects ranging from community relations to computer applications, and including many other areas."

This past summer, WMU distributed surveys to the 3,500 employees at the plant. About 275 people responded saying they would like to take WMU courses at the plant toward a bachelor's degree.

The program started out small last fall with one course being offered on an experimental basis. About 20 persons were of degrees interest most employees and how they would like to take classes.

"We're making a real commitment of University resources," says Vander Weyden.

Besides Western, Kalamazoo Valley Community College and the Comstock Community Schools offer classes in the plant. However, Vander Weyden's is the only program that leads directly to a bachelor's degree.

"I'm honored by the board of Education program that leads directly to a bachelor's degree."

Western's Division of Continuing Education, of which the Office of Evening and Weekend Bernard Student Center, 9-11 a.m.
ACADEMIC COMPUTER CENTER workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO THE VAX 8600," 203 Maybee Hall, 3-4:50 p.m.
*Appearance charged.

BACHELOR'S DEGREE AT GM-BOC--David A. Ed., left, religion, was one of the faculty members who recently participated in an academic advising session at the General Motors-Buick Oldsmobile Cadillac plant on Cork Street with Jane H. Vander Weyden, office of Evening and Weekend Programs. Here, they explain Western's program to Geneva Little, a diemaster apprentice at the plant, who is interested in pursuing a bachelor's degree.

Enrolled in Psychology 194, General Psychology. But Vander Weyden says she expects course offerings and enrollment to increase in the next year.

Western recently conducted academic advising sessions at the plant and is offering three classes there winter semester. Classes and advising sessions are offered once a week, and employees who shift their jobs can easily attend.

Western is further exploring what kind

Applications available for education scholarships

Applications are now being accepted for 15 College of Education undergraduate scholarships available for the 1986-87 academic year. Currently enrolled sophomores, juniors and seniors in the College of Education who have overall grade point averages of 3.0 or higher may apply for the scholarships. Applicants also must be enrolled full-time during the 1986-87 fall and winter semesters. The 15 scholarships include six $1,000 and nine $500 awards. Applications are available at 206 Sangren Hall. The application deadline is Friday, Feb. 28. For more information, persons may call the College of Education, 3-1690.

Meeting, Research Policies Council of the Faculty Senate, 2010 Dinnerhams, 3-5 p.m.
Academic Computer Center workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO EDIT," 203 Maybee Hall, 3:30-5:30 p.m. (prerequisite: Introduction to VAX Computers or equivalent experience.
*Crewe Philharmonic Orchestra, featuring Yo Yo Ma, Miller Auditorium, 8 p.m.
Tuesday/14
Staff training seminar, "Business Principles and Practices I," (first of four sessions), 204 Bernard Student Center, 8 a.m.-1 p.m.
Meeting, Black Caucus, Faculty Dining Room, Bernard Student Center, 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO APPLE MACINTOSH," 100 Maybee Hall, 2-4 p.m.
Academic Computer Center workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO THE VAX 8600," 203 Maybee Hall, 3-4:50 p.m.
Physical research lecture, "Atomic Physics with Heavy Ion Accelerators," John A. Tani, physics, 11:10 Rod Hall, 4:10 p.m.; refreshments 3 p.m.
Wednesday/15
Staff training seminar, "Printing and Publications," Printing Services, 9-11 a.m.; 204 Bernard Student Center, 1-3 p.m.
School of Music convocation series, Johnny Pherego, horn, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 a.m.
EXCITE Potpourri workshop, "Zenith 2-100 (IBM Compatible)," "Galadad," 109 Maybee Hall, 2-4 p.m.
Coping with Teaching workshop, "What is a Course?" Faculty Lounge, Bernard Student Center, 3:30-5:30 p.m.
"Men's basketball, WMU vs. Northern Illinois, Read Fieldhouse, 7:45 p.m.
Thursday/16
Academic Computer Center workshop, "INTRODUCTION TO THE VAX 8600," 203 Maybee Hall, 3-4:50 p.m.
*Appearance charged.

Weaver receives awards

Donald C. Weaver, emeritus in educational leadership, has received both of the top leadership awards offered by the Michigan Association of Community and Adult Education.

Weaver received the Distinguished Service Award for outstanding service to the association. He was awarded the Life Membership Award for "being an outstanding educator and spokesman for the cause of adult and community education and for modeling the ideals which he teaches regarding educational leadership." Weaver retired from Western in 1983 after 22 years with the University. He has continued his service to the field of community education by directing the Most Foundation Training Project Network, serving on the board of directors of the National Center for Community Education Corp. and chairing a national task force on community education endorsements. He resides in Delton.

Smoking policy implemented

The College of Health and Human Services has implemented a no smoking policy as its New Year's resolution. The new policy prohibits smoking throughout the college and its units.

The policy was suggested by a committee of faculty members as part of a health promotion and disease prevention project, for which the college has been awarded a $300,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The grant has been working to integrate the principles of health promotion and disease prevention into the training of allied health professionals.

Fraternity honors Emmons

Western's chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma has named Allen C. Emmons of College of Education, 2010 Dinnerhams, 1983 Outstanding Alumnus.

The accounting fraternity recently presented Emmons, who earned his bachelor of business administration degree from Western in 1965, at a banquet. For the past 14 years, Emmons has been employed at the University of Michigan in Grand Rapids where he currently is vice president of finance. Emmons is the immediate past president of the WMU Alumn Association.

Ziring teaches in Bangladesh

Lawrence Ziring, Institute of Government and Political Science, has accepted an assignment with the Asia Foundation and currently is teaching in Bangladesh. Through March, he will be a consultant to the Department of Interna tional Relations at Dhaka University, the principal university in Bangladesh. He will be responsible for redesigning the interna tional relations curriculum with the chairman of the department and select faculty.

Four January 9, 1986 Western News