TWO Western seniors and two faculty members will be recognized for outstanding achievement by the Michigan Association of Governing Boards at its third annual awards convocation Wednesday, April 11, at the Kellogg Center at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Barbara Bonilla, a senior management major from Quincy; and Debra Reid Holland, a computer science and applied mathematics major from Richland. The faculty members are Marion Holley Wijnberg, social work, and Ramon Zupko, music.

Bonilla has been a WMU academic scholarship, a State of Michigan Competency Scholarship, the American National Bank Award, the D.C. Shilling Award in Public Administration, the Cliff-Cor-Across-the-line Senior Scholarship and the Department of Management Achievement Award. He will graduate from Western on April 21; his career goals include working in corporate management and obtaining an advanced degree in business.

... Bean has served on the House Council of his residence hall. In addition, he has been a volunteer in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program, and has worked in community service at the Sara Swickard Preschool at Western. Recently, he was named a WMU Presidential Scholar in Management, the University's highest undergraduate award.

... Valdez has been the justice professor in mathematics last year, and has received a merit scholarship from the WMU College of Arts and Sciences and a Grover Bartoo Mathematics Scholarship. She also will graduate in April and intends to work in industry for a few years, and complete a master's degree and eventually a doctorate.

Holland has participated in the WMU Fortran Programming Team, the WMU Music Department and the computer-science fair. She was recently named a WMU Presidential Scholar in two departments, computer science and mathematics.

Wijnberg has a B.S. degree from Cornell University, an M.S.W. degree from the University of Buffalo and a Ph.D. degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo, where she also was a faculty member. She has been a faculty member at Western since 1978, when she was appointed professor and social-treatment coordinator in the School of Social Work.

She has acted as a consultant to 15 agencies, departments of social services and colleges. In addition, she has been a leader of several workshops, a presenter of many papers at conferences and the author of articles for professional journals. She is a consulting editor of "ARETE," the Journal of the College of Social Work at the University of South Carolina.

Wijnberg serves on the Kalamazoo Consultation Center board of directors and is a member of the Council on Social Work...

Briefs

The Office of Faculty Development will sponsor the fifth meeting of the Anton Group from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, on the 10th floor of Sprau Tower. Michael D. Swords, natural science, will brief the group on "The Turning Point" by Fritjou Capra by Giuseppe Verdi at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, on the 10th floor of Sprau Tower. The master of ceremonies will be WMU alumnus Terry MacAllister, president of MacAllister and Associates, an advertising agency in Muskegon.

In addition, Bernhard will be the guest on "MESC Job Shows" to be carried at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and Sunday, April 15, on Cable Ch. 12 in Muskegon.

"The purpose of this luncheon is to let people in Muskegon and surrounding counties know that Western is here to serve them," said Bernhard. WMU has had a regional center in Muskegon since 1957, through which the University offers a variety of credit and non-credit programs. The center, located at 2810 Glade St., Muskegon Heights, is headed by Eugene D. Paulson, a Muskegon native who holds a bachelor's and master's degrees from Western. He has been director of the center for 17 years.

"The center offers undergraduate programs in applied liberal studies, job training and manufacturing," Paulson said. Graduate programs are offered in counseling and personnel administration, educational leadership, elementary education and continuing teacher certification.

The manufacturing degree, established about a year ago, requires more than 50 students annually. The computer science degree is offered in the Muskegon Regional Center, with the cooperation of the Muskegon Manufacturers and Employers Association.

With the exception of some courses in counseling and personnel, all courses can be taken in Muskegon. Many such courses are offered in the surrounding counties of Newaygo, Oceana and Ottawa.

The Muskegon Regional Center is one of six such centers operated by the Division of Continuing Education, serving more than 40,000 students annually. The other centers are in Battle Creek, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Lansing.

History Day here April 7

Junior and senior high school students from across Southwest Michigan will gather in Knaus and Friedman halls Saturday, April 7, to participate in a nationwide "History Day Program.

Approximately 40 students are expected to enter papers, projects, media presentations and performances of reenactments in the state and regional level competition at Western. The topic of the program is "Family and Community in History." A panel of judges will serve as hosts and judges for the regional program.

Serving as hosts and judges for the regional program will be faculty members of the History Department. Members of Phi Alpha Theta, the history honorary fraternity, will serve as guides and informal counselors for regional contestants.

New PA scholarships to be awarded Tuesday

As part of the 10th anniversary celebration of the first graduating class of the Physicians' Assistants program, the first two John J. Josten scholarships will be presented to two senior students in the PA program at ceremonies at 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, in the President's Dining Room of the Center for Continuing Studies.

The award, based on scholastic achievement, is named for John J. Josten, a former director of the PA program and Department of Biology faculty member.

Mathematicians, computer science to give awards

The Department of Mathematics and Department of Computer Science will hold their annual joint awards luncheon Saturday, April 7, in the University Student Center West Ballroom.

Math students will be recognized in 11 categories, while computer science students will be cited in four areas.
Display to feature black women's achievements

The Office of Special Programs and the women's studies program in the College of General Studies will present an art display titled "Black Women's Achievements Against the Odds" from 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday, April 12, in the Space Gallery, Knauss Hall. Persons are invited to view the display and to reception at the same time.

The exhibit on black women and their contributions to American history, culture and society is a set of 20 posters produced Thursday, April 12, in the Space Gallery, Knauss Hall. "Against the Odds" from 4 to 6 p.m. to acquaint viewers with black women by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES). It is designed to acquaint viewers with black women whose accomplishments have changed Americans' lives.

Originally researched and developed in the Smithsonian Institution's Naacal Museum and circulated nationally by SITES, the exhibit was the first serious museum study on this topic. The 120 women selected for this new version of the exhibition represent 200 years of black women's achievement in 16 subject areas: religion, military, civil rights, art, sports, education, labor, journalism, entertainment, government, business, law, music, literature, science and mathematics, and business.

Editorial writers, faculty members interact

Editorial writers from six of the state's daily newspapers participated in a two-hour conference here early this week at which eight faculty members gave presentations.

Titled "Anchored in the Lord," the album was recorded live before an audience of more than 100 WMU, Kalamazoo College and Kalamazoo Valley Community College students, has released its first record single.

The presentation will consist of a videotaped segment with commentary by members of the MULTICLINIC team.

Notes

Jorge M. Feldes, languages and linguistics, read a paper at the Southeast Conference on Computers and Languages and Literature at Kalamazoo College. The title of the paper was "El cierto a la originalidad y la técnica de narrar en Pekoe Gaceta."

Robert J. Griffin, languages and linguistics, participated in the "Community Clinics" sponsored by the Paw Prow Board of Education with a presentation titled "The Incas: History and Mystery."

Elizabeth G. Giedeman, languages and linguistics, presented on "Treadwell: A Classical Spectrum" at the WMU Classics Club meeting.

Kenneth A. Dahlberg, political science, recently had an article, "Biotechnology and the Social Sciences: A Critique" published in Politics and the Life Sciences. The article was a commentary on Sanford Lakoff's essay on "Biotechnology and the Developing Countries" in the same issue.

Lyne C. McCannley, intellectual skills development program, presented a paper titled "Intellectual Skills Development at Western Michigan University: A Model for Determining the Usefulness of Standardized Tests" at the annual conference of the National Association for Development Education in Philadelphia, Pa. Also attending the conference was Barbara A. Treadwell, mathematics.

Nancy C. Greenberg, dean of international education and programs, has been invited to participate in a panel titled "Teaching New Students in the Undergraduate Curriculum" at a conference on international education sponsored by the Michigan Institute of State Universities and the Southern California Consortium for International Studies in Long Beach, Calif.

G. R. Kogulur, economics, presented a seminar at the Population Research Center of the University of Barcelona, Spain, on "Demographic Aspects of the Urbanization Processes and Policies in Developing Countries with Special Reference to India." The presentation was based on a joint research project of G. S. Tolley of the University of Chicago, Michael R. Payne, economics, and Kogulur. A program in which the Office of Placement Services uses the main-frame computer to match students at Western with potential employers was featured in the March 14 "Chronicle of Higher Education." John P. Pennington, assistant director of placement who maintains the program and who was quoted in the article, says that more than 900 students have completed the necessary forms to participate and there is a growing stack of testimonial letters from employers applying the program.

Sidney Dykstra, Graduate College, was recognized "for distinguished leadership" by the board of the Kalamazoo Alumni and Drug Abuse Council in 1978-84. He served as a board member in 1978-84 and as chairman in 1981-84.

Gade Wilcox, professor emeritus of electrical engineering, recently was honored for his outstanding contributions to his profession by the Institute of Electrical Engineering. The award was presented by the Western Michigan section of the organization. Wilcox holds five patents, has written five textbooks, has served as chairman of the technical editorial board of IEEE, Bellingham and Washington publishers and edited the Allyn and Bacon electrical technology series.

Ben C. Wilson, black American studies, will be the keynote speaker for the Minority Teachers' Association Critical Issues Assembly in South Bend, Ind. His topic will be "A People Who Do Not See Their Children as a Priority Are a Foolish People Not Worthy of Greatness Nor Respect."

Robert L. Smith, communication arts and sciences, has been named vice chairman-elect of the Theatre Division of the national Speech Communication Association. Smith will become vice chairman in 1985 and vice chairman in 1986.

Robert L. Smith, communication arts and sciences, has been named vice chairman-elect of the Theatre Division of the national Speech Communication Association. Smith will become vice chairman in 1985 and vice chairman in 1986.

John L. Michael, psychology, gave a presentation titled "Training Teaching for Mainstreaming: Why Don't It Work?" at the conference on Teaching Exceptional Children at Gonzaga University in Seattle, Wash.

Also D. Poling, psychology, and Carol Parker, a recent WMU school psychology program graduate, co-authored a chapter titled "Empirical Strategies" in the book "Assessing the Mentally Retarded."

ROGER L. COLE: Languages and linguistics, wrote an article titled "Ban-de-Ia-Roche: Ein Held der Alt-Sachsen") which was published in "Alamannisches Jahrbuch.""
Four April 5, 1984 Western News

ADVERTISING AWARD—Roger Rosman, second from right, president of Marketing/Advertising Roundtable and partner in the Battle Creek firm Owen Rosman Slocum, recently presented a $500 check to Dean Darrell G. Jones, business, second from left, establishing the Marketing/Advertising Roundtable academic scholarship. Also accepting the award are at left Robert B. Trudor, chairperson of marketing, and at right Zane Cannon, marketing and advertising advisor. The scholarship will be presented annually to an advertising major. Marketing/Advertising Roundtable is a professional member of the American Advertising Federation, of which the WMU Ad Club is a college chapter.

MAGB to honor (continued from page 1)

Zupko was one of five national finalists in the Kennedy-Friedheim Awards of the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., with his piano concerto "Windings," which placed third in the competition. He received a Berkshire Music Center-Fromm Foundation commission to write an orchestral work for the 1981 Tanglewood Festival and received his second National Endowment for the Arts grant to write another orchestral work in 1982.

In addition, Zupko was the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1981-82, a Koussevitzky Foundation Award to write a work in memory of Serge Koussevitzky in 1981 and the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters in 1982. He was named a WMU Distinguished Faculty Scholar in 1983.

Zupko earned bachelor's and master's degrees at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

The package price of $1,385 includes Sorbonne, excursion and museum fees, room and breakfasts, but does not include air fare and WMU tuition. For more information, area residents may contact Joseph G. Reich, languages and linguistics, 3-1293.

Study in Paris offered

Western is offering a "Summer Study in Paris" program from July 3 to 31. Courses at the Sorbonne, historical walks through Paris, theatre tickets and a weekend trip to Mont Saint-Michel will be among the program highlights.

The package price of $1,385 includes Sorbonne, excursion and museum fees, room and breakfasts, but does not include air fare and WMU tuition. For more information, area residents may contact Joseph G. Reich, languages and linguistics, 3-1293.

Baseball, WMU vs. Michigan State, doubleheader, Hyames Field, starting at 1 p.m. Tuesday/10

The Antgon Group meeting, "The New Engineering Paradigm: Macromos, Microcosm and the Brain," Michael Swords, natural science, 10th Floor Sprau Tower, 3-5:30 p.m.

Black Caucus meeting, Faculty Dining Room, Student Center, 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m.

Softball, WMU vs. Central Michigan, doubleheader, Softball Field, starting at 3 p.m.

Seminar, "Accounting, Taxation and the New Business," David L. Reszel, accountancy, Fetzer Center, 1-5 p.m.

Wednesday/11

"An appreciation luncheon, guest speaker Shirley Woodward, communication arts and sciences, North Ballroom, Student Center, 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m.

Spring schedule adjustments

Concert, Jazz on the Run, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Seminar, "Hedging the Futures Market," Sandra L. Plaskett, finance and commercial law, Fetzer Center, 3:30-4:30 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "Understanding Development and State Capitalism: A Cross-National Study," Massoud Chalabi, sociology, 2512 Sangren Hall, 1-3 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "A Comparison of the Career Aspirations, Job Seeking Experiences and Career Patterns of Male and Female Doctoral Recipients in Educational Administration," Alice Hallhorst, educational leadership, 3-0452.

Thurday/12

Exhibit, "Black Women: Achievement Against the Odds," Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, Space Gallery, Knauss Hall, 4-8 p.m.

Annual dance concert to be presented

The Department of Dance in the College of Fine Arts will present its annual dance at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, April 12 and 13, in Miller Auditorium.

Featured guest artists will be professionals, including dancers, teachers and choreographers Kathryn Karipides and Kelly Holt, both on the faculty of the graduate dance training program at Case Western Reserve University. They will perform two modern duets choreographed by Holt.

Two student-choreographed dances also will be on the program. In addition, several pieces by dance faculty members will be performed.

Tickets are $5 for general admission and are available by calling the Miller Auditorium ticket office, 3-0933.

An illustrated book on costume design of particular value to drama teachers and costume designers who insist on historical accuracy in their productions has been published by New Issues Press at Western.

"Costume Design," authored by Daniel J. Fleishacker, theatre, and illustrated by the late Rose Nezorg Kerr, who directed the Department of Art at Western from 1913-1921.

The illustrations originally were published in 1926. Kerr worked as a freelance artist with her husband, James Wilfrid Kerr, and examined many of the costumes in the collection at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, before proceeding with her illustrations.

The result of her study was a series of 60 costume plates depicting authentic clothing from the ancient Egyptians to 1860. The work, "Interpreted Costume Design," was published in 1926 in five different folios, each with 12 costume designs representing a major period of dress.

Kerr went on to complete the history of American dress from 1850 to 1950 in her book, "100 Years of Costume in America," for which she received a Pulitzer nomination in 1952. Her interest in historic costume design continued until her death in 1974.

Kerr graduated from Western Michigan Normal School (now WMU) in 1912. She conducted further studies at the Chicago Art Institute and the Parsons School of Design. She also served as art director of the Grand Haven (Michigan) Public Schools and held positions with Binney & Smith and the Harry Doehla Co.

Two years ago, James Kerr suggested that his late wife's plates be bound and published as a book to commemorate her work and to make the designs more readily available as a resource in costume history.

John Link, current chairperson of the Department of Art, invited Fleishacker to write a description and commentary to accompany the illustrations.

"The book provides a quick reference for costume history up until 1850," said Fleishacker, who has been a costume designer for the University Theatre and worked on more than 30 productions. He currently is a teacher of stage performance, a director and a playwright.

Proceeds from the book's sale will be directed into the Rose Nezorg Kerr and James Wilfrid Kerr Educational Trust, established at Western by James Kerr in order to enhance student and faculty involvement in creative activities.

The book is dedicated to Rose Nezorg Kerr, the late Andra Gail Kerr, their daughter, and to Mary Kerr, James Kerr's present spouse.

The book will be available at the Campus Bookstore and at several local commercial bookstores for $15, or $10 for faculty, staff and students.

Calendar

APRIL

Thursdays/5

(thru 13) Exhibit, Pennsylvania State University Faculty and Student Print and Paper Exchange, Gallery II, Sangren Hall. Mon.-Fri., 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Jim Miller Day beginning in the Red Rooms Student Center, 9 a.m.; projects completed at 3:30 p.m.; ceremony 4 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "Community Mental Health Attitudes," Fenimore Johnson, psychology, 338 Wood Hall, 1 p.m.

"Equus," Multi-Media Room, Dalton Center, 8 p.m. (Specific scenes may be offensive to certain patrons.)

Faculty Senate annual dinner, Fetzer Center, reception 5:30 p.m. and dinner, 6:30 p.m.

Concert, University Concert Band, piano soloist by Stephen Zeger, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Teleconference, "Weapons in Space," 2750 Knauss Hall, 8 p.m.

Friday/6

"Equus," Multi-Media Room, Dalton Center, 8 p.m. (Specific scenes may be offensive to certain patrons.)

Men's tennis, WMU vs. Ferris State, Sorensen Courts, 9 a.m.; WMU vs. Western Illinois, Sorensen Courts, 9 a.m.; WMU vs. Notre Dame, Sorensen Courts, 2 p.m.

(thru 16) "1984 Home Exposition," Read Fieldhouse. Fieldhouse is closed to through traffic and jogging.

Saturday/7

History Day Program, "Family and Community in History," Knauss and Friedmann Halls.

Women's outdoor track, WMU Invitational, Kanley Track, 10 a.m.

"Equus," Multi-Media Room, Dalton Center, 8 p.m. (Specific scenes may be offensive to certain patrons.)

University Chorale, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Sunday/8

"Food-co-op sponsoring class, "Good Nutrition for Your Children."

Monday/9

Lecture, "We See Ourselves: The Figure in Recent Painting and Sculpture," Hope Palmer, Detroit Institute of Arts, 1213 Sangren Hall, 8 p.m.

Study in Paris offered

Western is offering a "Summer Study in Paris" program from July 3 to 31. Courses at the Sorbonne, historical walks through Paris, theatre tickets and a weekend trip to Mont Saint-Michel will be among the program highlights.

The package price of $1,385 includes Sorbonne, excursion and museum fees, room and breakfasts, but does not include air fare and WMU tuition. For more information, area residents may contact Joseph G. Reich, languages and linguistics, 3-1293.

Baseball, WMU vs. Michigan State, doubleheader, Hyames Field, starting at 1 p.m. Tuesday/10

The Antgon Group meeting, "The New Engineering Paradigm: Macromos, Microcosm and the Brain," Michael Swords, natural science, 10th Floor Sprau Tower, 3-5:30 p.m.

Black Caucus meeting, Faculty Dining Room, Student Center, 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m.

Softball, WMU vs. Central Michigan, doubleheader, Softball Field, starting at 3 p.m.

Seminar, "Accounting, Taxation and the New Business," David L. Reszel, accountancy, Fetzer Center, 1-5 p.m.

Wednesday/11

"An appreciation luncheon, guest speaker Shirley Woodward, communication arts and sciences, North Ballroom, Student Center, 11:45 a.m.-1 p.m.

Spring schedule adjustments

Concert, Jazz on the Run, Dalton Center Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Seminar, "Hedging the Futures Market," Sandra L. Plaskett, finance and commercial law, Fetzer Center, 3:30-4:30 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "Understanding Development and State Capitalism: A Cross-National Study," Massoud Chalabi, sociology, 2512 Sangren Hall, 1-3 p.m.

Doctoral oral examination, "A Comparison of the Career Aspirations, Job Seeking Experiences and Career Patterns of Male and Female Doctoral Recipients in Educational Administration," Alice Hallhorst, educational leadership, 3-0452.

Thurday/12

Exhibit, "Black Women: Achievement Against the Odds," Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, Space Gallery, Knauss Hall, 4-8 p.m.

Seminar (and 13) Department of Dance Concert, Miller Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Presidential Scholars Dinner, Fetzer Center, reception, 6 p.m.; dinner 7 p.m.

Slide-lecture, "We See Ourselves: The Figure in Recent Painting and Sculpture," Hope Palmer, Detroit Institute of Arts, 1213 Sangren Hall, 8 p.m.

*Admission charge.