Kresge Foundation awards $100,000 challenge grant for Fetzer

The Kresge Foundation of Troy, Mich., has awarded a $100,000 challenge grant toward the construction of the John E. Fetzer Business Development Center here at the University, according to the Kresge Foundation. The Fetzer Center is the focal point of WMU's $6.8 million "Partners in Progress" capital campaign, Bernhard observed.

"We are deeply grateful to The Kresge Foundation for this very generous grant and we are confident that we can meet the terms of the challenge," said President John T. Bernhard. "This grant will prove to be the motivating factor for those donors currently considering proposals." The Fetzer Center has a project cost of $4.6 million.

"The Fetzer Center is the focal point of our $6.8 million 'Partners in Progress' capital campaign for priority projects essential to educational and public-service excellence," Bernhard explained. "The center will provide vital continuing educational opportunities for business, industrial, governmental and educational organizations. Construction is underway and is expected to be completed in the fall of 1983. Darrell G. Jones, dean of the College of Business, said, "The Kresge Foundation has acknowledged that we have the kind of product that will enhance our educational delivery system for business and industry in West Michigan."

"The center will enable WMU to enlarge the dimensions of its professional preparation for students in business while expanding educational and research resources to meet the management and executive-development needs of Michigan's business and industrial communities," said Jerry Drews, director of corporate and foundation relations.

After considering 1,449 proposals in 1982, the Kresge Foundation has awarded new grant commitments totaling $28,260,000 to 132 charitable organizations in 32 states and the District of Columbia. The majority of these grants was toward projects involving construction or renovation of facilities.

Final registration day will be Aug. 31

The final day of registration for the fall semester will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 31, in Read Fieldhouse. It will follow an alphabetical schedule that starts at 8 a.m. for persons with last names which begin A to Be registering in the first half hour; it will continue in half hour intervals until 3:30 p.m. when late arrivals may register. Students may not register before their assigned alphabetical times, and fees must be paid in full at the time of registration, according to Mary Kay Leamy, director of registration.

Tuition this fall for Michigan residents will total $42.75 a credit hour for freshmen and sophomores; $46.75 a credit hour for juniors and seniors; and $56.75 for graduate students. For non-residents it is $102.75, $112.75 and $137.50 respectively.

Persons aged 62 or more may register for classes free of charge. Persons presently attending Western Michigan will be entitled to a 20% discount on non-resident tuition.

Summer 'Flextime' hours will end Friday

Summer 'Flextime' hours will end Friday, Aug. 27, according to Stanley W. Kelley, director of employee relations and personnel. Regular University business office hours will resume on Monday, Aug. 30. They are 7:45 to 11:45 a.m. and 12:45 to 4:45 p.m. Policy provides that summer 'Flextime' hours will begin the first working day in May and remain in effect through the last Friday before the beginning of fall semester.

Information tent to be open first week

The Division of Student Services and the Switchboard/Information Center will sponsor a canopy-tent "Welcome to Western" information center during the first week of fall semester, located between McCracken Hall and Kanley Chapel. It will be open noon until 3:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 30; 7:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Aug. 31, Sept. 1, 21 and 7:45 a.m. to noon Friday, Sept. 3, to assist students, faculty and staff with directions, maps, bus schedules, handouts and other materials.

COUNTDOWN--Conda Kane of Kalamazoo, left, a fifth grade teacher in the Delton-Kellogg Middle School, is about to launch a mini rocket under the direction of Phillip F. Larsen, director, Science and Mathematics Education (SAME) Center. The launching was part of a space science workshop conducted on campus this summer by the SAME Center to give teachers a better understanding of rockets and this country's space program.
Student Center hours limited until Sept. 1

The Student Center will be closed all day Saturday and operate on limited hours until classes begin for the fall semester on Sept. 1. This Sunday, the building and counter will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and the public cafeteria from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. with all other areas closed. Next week, Aug. 23 to 27, the building and counter will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; the public cafeteria will be closed all week with the exception of Saturday and the weekend (Saturday and Sunday). Advertisements are written to include position title, a brief description of duties, qualifications, preferred skills, experience, educational information, and any other special information pertinent to the position (i.e., "females and minorities are encouraged to apply"). Advertising information is taken from the requisition for employment (R-003) form and is reviewed with the department prior to placing the ad with the publisher.

Libraries to have limited hours for "break"

All University libraries will be open limited hours from tomorrow through Sunday, Aug. 29. Waldo Library will open at 8:45 a.m. tomorrow and close at 5 p.m.; all other libraries will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except the Cistercian Studies Library which will be closed until Sept. 1.

On both weekends, Aug. 21 and 22, and Aug. 28 and 29, all libraries will be closed. Next week, Aug. 23 to 27, the Waldo Library, Business Library and the Educational Resources Center will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Aug. 30 and 31. During those same days, the Music Library in the Fine Arts Center and the Physical Sciences Library in Rood Hall will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. All will return to regular hours on Sept. 1.

Announce special hours for Health Center

The Health Center hours for Monday, Aug. 30, and Tuesday, Aug. 31, will be for the Urgent Care Clinic only and will be from 7:45 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. The same hours will apply for the Labor Day holiday, Sept. 6.

Faculty Senate Policies Council to meet

A proposed policy for the protection of human subjects is one of the agenda items for the 3 p.m. Sept. 2 meeting of the Faculty Senate's Research Policies Council in Conference Room A, Seibert Administration Building.

Commencement regalia must be picked up

Those who will receive degrees at tomorrow's commencement exercises are reminded that regalia may be picked in the basement of East Hall at the southeast end of the building, next to the Department of Management, from 1 to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Today's is final edition for summer session

Today's issue marks the final Western News for the summer session. The next edition will be published Thursday, Sept. 2. As usual, the deadline for items will be noon on the preceding Tuesday. The Sept. 2 Western News will return to the tabloid-sized newspaper format for the fall and winter semesters.

Notes

Hand L. Starcher, College of Health and Human Services, is a member of the board of directors of the Hospice of Greater Kalamazoo, Inc. and has been appointed to the hospice board’s executive committee and chairperson of its community outreach committee. Dennis C. Clark, admissions director, presented a position report at the Michigan chapter of the American College Testing Council's meeting on "The Status of Enrollment and Enrollment Projection Within the University." "The Staff also was elected to a three-year term on the council's executive board.

Nicholas V. Hagen, speech pathology and audiology, was on a panel which included "Maximal Hearing Loss" at a meeting sponsored by the St. Joseph County (Indiana) Health and Human Services Council's "Ear, Nose and Throat Hearing Association at South Bend.

Laurel A. Grotzinger, dean of the Graduate College and chief research officer, presented a paper on "Biographical Research" at the annual meeting of the American Library Association in Philadelphia.

Jan E. Bachman, Center for Human Services, served as editor of the publication "The Place of Hospice: Family Caregivers Review: Proceedings of the Third American Hospice National Team Care Conference.

Kathleen Drzick, English, has been appointed acting director of Waldo Library for the 1982 National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards in Writing Program.

Western News (USPS 260-320) is published by the Office of Information Services, 2-27 Elizabeth Hall, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49030. Second-class postage is paid at Kalamazoo, Mich. 49008.

Copyright 1982 by Western Michigan University. All rights reserved. Waldo Library holds all rights and privileges for faculty and staff members, enor faculty, members of University community and others friends of the university; others may get copies at several locations.

Items to be considered for publication should be submitted to the Office of Information Services on Tuesday of the week of publication. Joe Freeman, editor; Neil Hamaki, photographer. WMU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Institution.

Lawrence B. Schlack, educational leadership, will be the guest on "Focus on West Michigan" at 12:15 p.m. Sat- urday on WKZO Radio. He will discuss "Lifetime Planning for the Handicapped" with program host Terry A. Anderson, broadcast coordinator in information services. On Aug. 18 at the same time, the guest will be Donald P. Sellen, special education, who will speak on "Programs for the Talented and Gifted Students in Michigan."