— Call For Papers —

Technology in Occupational Therapy and Occupational Science: Evidence, Education, and Impact

OJOT announces a Call for Papers for a special issue on Technology in Occupational Therapy (OT) and Occupational Science (OS). This special issue welcomes quality research and discussions on how technology influences participation in occupation across the spectrum of disability, health, and well-being throughout the life span and on the role of technology in enhancing OT and OS education.

Goals:

- Disseminate current research on the use of technology in OT assessments and interventions of different populations and age groups.
- Expand awareness on how technology is accessed and used globally in OT practice and OS research as it relates to the promotion of health, well-being, and occupational justice.
- Propose future directions on the use and influence of technology in the delivery of OT services to its different stakeholders.
- Facilitate conversations and sharing of best practices on how technology enhances teaching and learning in the OT and OS educational curricula.
